RULES OF ORDER OF THE GENERAL CONFERENCE

SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS

First Day—(Monday, May 2, 1932) 10:00 A. M., Administration of the Lord's Supper, followed by the organization of the Conference and business appointed for the opening session. Organization of Committees arranged in Group A and Group B, in designated places, under direction of Bishops and Secretaries respectively assigned: Committees in Group A meet at 2:30 to 3:30 P. M. and Group B at 4:00 to 5:00 P. M.

Second Day—(Tuesday, May 3) Business session, 8:30 A. M. Report of organization of Committees in Group A and Group B; nominations, if any, from the General Superintendents and the Committee of Elected Chairmen. Episcopal Address. Committees meet: Group A, 2:30 to 3:30 P. M., and Group B, 4:00 to 5:00 P. M. for sub-committee assignments, completing organization, distribution of memorials, etc.

Third Day—(Wednesday, May 4) Business session: privileged business. First Call of the Conferences completed. Memorial Address. Adjournment at 10:15 A. M. Committees meet: Group A, 10:30 A. M., and Group B, 3:00 P. M.

Fourth Day—(Thursday, May 5) Business session: Fraternal Addresses: No addresses to exceed 30 minutes, except by Delegates of Churches outside the United States. Adjournment, 10:10 A. M. Committees meet: Group B, 10:30 A. M., and Group A, 3:00 P. M.

Fifth Day—(Friday, May 6) Business session: Fraternal Addresses. Adjournment, 10:00 A. M. Committees meet: Group A, 10:30 A. M., and Group B, 3:00 P. M.

Sixth Day—(Saturday, May 7) Business session: Fraternal Addresses. Adjournment, 10:00 A. M. Committees meet: Group B, 10:30 A. M., and Group A, 3:00 P. M.

Seventh Day—(Monday, May 9) Business session: Fraternal Addresses. At 11:00 A. M. Special Order—exercises appropriate to the retirement of General Superintendents, Missionary Bishops and other General Conference Officers. Committees meet under the Rules of Order.

Whenever the above special assignments are not filled as appointed, the business of the Conference should be immediately taken up under the Rules of Order. All Rules of Order that conflict in any way with this Special Order of Business and Procedure are hereby suspended.

☞ All Special Programs, or Formal Addresses, shall be arranged for during sessions prior to May 14, 1932.

Evening Sessions shall be set apart for presentation of reports by the General Superintendents who have administered Mission fields outside the United States.

Introduction of and addresses by distinguished visitors shall be limited to the first fifteen minutes of each session.

ORGANIZATION

RULE 1. When a General Conference shall have been convened in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution, after the devotional services, the call of the roll shall be made by the Secretary of the preceding Conference in the following manner:

I. The names of the General Superintendents elected by the General Conference, Missionary Bishops and Bishops or General Superintendents elected by Central Conferences who have died during the quadrennium, and the names of Delegates-elect who have died.

II. The names of the General Superintendents elected by the General Conference, Missionary Bishops and Bishops or General Superintendents elected by Central Conferences.

III. The roll of Delegates by Annual Conferences. Whenever a Conference is called, the Chairman of the Delegation shall report the name of any Delegate who is absent. All Delegates, not reported absent, shall be recorded in their respective Annual Conferences as present.

IV. The final roll call shall be made under II and III.

V. If a quorum is present, the Conference shall organize by the election of a Secretary (who shall perform during the quadrennium the duties assigned him), by ballot if there be more than one nomination, otherwise by acclamation and by election of such Assistant Secretaries, upon nomination of the Secretary, as it may deem necessary.

TIME OF MEETINGS, RECESS, AND ADJOURNMENT

RULE 2. After the first business day, the Conference shall meet at 8:30 A. M., and adjourn at 12:30 P. M. From 8:30 to 9:00 A. M. the Presiding Officer or some person designated by him shall conduct the devotional services. A recess of ten minutes shall be taken at 10:30 A. M.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER

RULE 3. The Presiding Officer shall take the chair at the hour to which the Conference stood adjourned, and bring forward all business according to the order of the Conference.

RULE 4. The Presiding Officer shall decide all Questions of Order, subject to an appeal to the Conference. In case of such appeal the question shall be taken without debate, except that the appellant shall state the grounds of his appeal, and then the Presiding Officer shall state the grounds of his decision.

RULE 5. On assigning the floor to a Delegate and before he speaks, the Presiding Officer shall ascertain and distinctly announce his name and the Annual Conference which he represents.

ORDER OF BUSINESS

RULE 6. The Regular Order of Business shall be:

I. DEVOTIONAL SERVICES.

II. APPROVAL OF THE JOURNAL.

A Committee on the Journal consisting of five Delegates shall be elected which shall examine the daily Journal of the Secretary, comparing it with the stenographic record, and shall report to the Conference in either of the following forms:

1. "We have examined the Journal and it is correct;" or,

2. "We have examined the Journal and it is correct except in the following particular or particulars:"

If the report of the Committee be in form (1) the question shall be submitted, "Shall the Journal be approved?" If the report of the Committee be in form (2), the question shall be submitted:

a. "Shall the report of the Committee be adopted?"

b. "Shall the Journal as corrected in accordance with the report of the Committee be approved?"

Any error subsequently discovered shall be reported by the Committee to the Conference.

III. REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON QUESTIONS OF PRIVILEGE.

On the second business day the Conference shall elect nine Delegates who shall be the Committee on Questions of Privilege. To this Committee any Delegate shall submit what he considers a question of privilege relative to the business of the Conference. The Committee shall determine whether the matter so submitted is or is not a question of privilege. All matters approved by the Committee as matters of privilege shall be reported to the Presiding Officer and acted upon each day immediately after the approval of the Journal. The appointment of this Committee, however, shall not be construed as abridging in any measure the right of any Delegate to bring forward at any time such matters of urgency as involve the rights or welfare of the individual Delegate or of the Conference. (See Rule 10.)

The following Calls shall be made in the order herein given, and shall be severally completed before the introduction of other business, except by a suspension of the Rules. They shall be repeated, in the same order, until dispensed with by a formal vote.

IV. Call of the Conferences.

The Annual Conferences shall be called in alphabetical order, for the presentation of written resolutions for immediate passage.

1. When a resolution has been presented and read under the Call of the Conferences, and before the Delegate who introduces the resolution speaks, the question of consideration shall be raised by the Presiding Officer, who shall ask: "Is there objection to consideration?" If objection be raised, the question of consideration shall then be put without debate, and, if there is a two-thirds vote against consideration, the resolution shall not be entertained, and only the subject of the resolution shall be recorded in the Journal and The Daily Christian Advocate; if consideration be not denied, the Delegate introducing the resolution may then speak.

2. If, after the Delegate introducing the resolution has spoken, a motion of reference be immediately made, it shall be decided without debate. This motion to refer may be amended and such amendments shall be decided without debate and in the reverse order of their presentation. If no motion to refer be made, or if a motion to refer has been negative, the proposition shall be regarded as in possession of the Conference.

3. A motion to defer consideration and print in The Daily Christian Advocate shall be decided without debate. If sustained by one hundred and fifty Delegates it shall prevail; in which case the resolution shall be given precedence immediately after recess of the day it appears in The Daily Christian Advocate.

V. Call of the Calendar.

Following every completed Call of the Conferences, the reports of the several Standing and Special Committees and Commissions shall be called in the order in which they are filed with the Secretary.

VI. Miscellaneous Business.

Miscellaneous Business may be introduced immediately after recess unless debate continues or Orders of the Day are called.

DUTIES AND PRIVILEGES OF DELEGATES

Rule 7. No Delegate shall absent himself from the sessions of the Conference without leave, unless he be unable to attend.

Rule 8. When a Delegate desires to speak to the Conference he shall arise at his assigned seat, respectfully address the Presiding Officer, and, after recognition, proceed to the speaker's platform.

Rule 9. No Delegate shall be interrupted when speaking, except by the Presiding Officer to call him to order when he departs from the question, or uses personalities or disrespectful language; but any Delegate may call the attention of the Presiding Officer to any improper statement when he deems a speaker out of order; and any Delegate may explain when he thinks himself misrepresented.

RULE 10. When a Delegate desires to speak to a question of privilege he shall state briefly the question in open Conference, and it shall not be in order for him to speak to the Conference until the Presiding Officer shall have decided that it is a question of privilege. Questions of privilege are limited strictly to matters relating to the rights and welfare of the individual Delegate or of the whole Conference; and must be of such immediate urgency as to justify the interruption of the regular order. (See Rule 6, III.)

RULE 11. No Delegate shall speak more than once on the same question until every Delegate who desires to speak shall have spoken; nor shall any Delegate speak more than twice on the same question, nor more than ten minutes at one time. (See also Rule 27 on Alternation.)

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

RULE 12. Resolutions shall be presented in triplicate. A motion shall be reduced to writing if the Secretary or a Delegate requests it.

RULE 13. Reading. All resolutions, written motions, reports, and communications to the Conference shall be read by the Secretary.

RULE 14. When a motion is made and seconded, or a resolution introduced and seconded; or a report read by the Secretary or stated by the Presiding Officer, it shall be deemed in the possession of the Conference.

RULE 15. The following motions shall be taken without debate:

I. To adjourn.
II. To suspend the rules.
III. To lay on the table.
IV. To take from the table.
V. To raise the question of consideration.
VI. To call for the previous question.
VII. To reconsider a non-debatable motion.
VIII. To refer, only under Rule 6, IV, 2, and Rule 18.
IX. To defer for printing, only under Rule 6, IV, 3.

RULE 16. No new motion, resolution or subject shall be entertained until the one under consideration has been disposed of, but one or more of the following motions may be made, and they shall have precedence in their order, namely:

I. To fix the time to which the Conference shall adjourn. This motion may be amended, substituted, or laid on the table.
II. To adjourn.
III. To take a recess.
IV. To order the previous question. This motion cannot be laid on the table.
V. To lay on the table.
VI. To postpone to a given time.
VII. To refer.
VIII. To substitute.
IX. To amend.
X. To postpone indefinitely.

RULE 17. Only one amendment to an amendment shall be in order, but it shall be in order to move a substitute for the main question, and one amendment to the substitute, and if the substitute is accepted, it shall replace the original proposition.

RULE 18. Order of Voting. In voting when there is a substitute and amendments have been proposed to the original resolution and an amendment to the substitute has been moved, the Conference shall pursue the following order: The main question shall first be perfected by voting on the amendments proposed thereto, and then the Conference shall vote upon the amendment to the substitute, then upon the question of substitution, and finally upon the question of adoption.

RULE 19. It shall be in order to move the previous question on any measure pending, except those which involve character, but the previous question shall operate only on the motion pending. If the call for the previous question be sustained by two-thirds of the Delegates voting, the motion shall be put; nevertheless, after the previous question has been ordered, it shall be in order to lay on the table or to refer.

RULE 20. It shall not be in order for a Delegate, after discussing the pending question, to make any motion that closes debate.

RULE 21. When a vote is about to be taken any Delegate shall have the right to call for the division of a question, if it be divisible into distinct propositions.

RULE 22. The motion to adjourn shall be taken without debate, and shall always be in order, except

I. When a Delegate has the floor.
II. When a question is actually put, or a vote is being taken, and before it is finally decided.
III. When the previous question has been called and sustained and action under it is pending.
IV. When a motion to adjourn has been negatived, and no business or debate has intervened.

V. When a motion to fix the time to which the Conference shall adjourn is pending.

RULE 23. Reconsideration. When any motion, resolution, or report shall have been acted upon by the Conference, it shall be in order for any Delegate who did not vote with the minority to move reconsideration; a motion to reconsider a non-debatable motion shall be decided without debate.

RULE 24. Changes of Discipline. All resolutions proposing changes of the Discipline shall state the words in the paragraph to be changed and the wording to be substituted, and shall be referred to a Committee or Commission: no such change shall be considered until at least one day after the report proposing it shall have been printed in The Daily Christian Advocate. While the report is under consideration, amendments which are germane shall be in order.

RULE 25. When any Delegate shall move the reference of any portion of the Journal of an Annual Conference, Central Conference, Central Mission Conference, Mission Conference, or Mission to any Committee he must furnish at the same time a copy of the portion he wishes to have referred, prepared as provided by Rule 33.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES AND COMMISSIONS

RULE 26. I. Reports signed by the Chairman and Secretary, and minority reports signed by at least ten members of the Committees of Groups A and B, and minority reports of other Committees and Commissions signed by at least one-fourth of the number of members thereof shall be considered to be in the possession of the Conference after they shall have been printed in The Daily Christian Advocate for at least one day. In a minority report from the Committee on Judiciary one signature shall be sufficient. Minority reports shall bear the same serial numbers, with proper alphabetical notations, as the Committee reports for which they are offered as substitutes. If there be two or more such reports they shall be considered in their alphabetical order. All Committee reports shall be presented to the Conference upon paper bearing at the top the number of the report, the name of the Committee, the total membership of the Committee, the number present at the time the report was adopted, the number voting for the report, and the number voting against the report. Reports of Commissions and all the Committees except the Committees on Complimentary Resolutions, on Credentials and on Questions of Privilege and those not listed in Group A and Group B shall be printed in The Daily Christian Advocate before being presented to the Conference, and they shall not be read unless by its order.

II. When the Chairman of a Committee is not in harmony with a report adopted by the Committee, it shall be his duty to state the fact to the Committee, which shall elect one of its members to represent it in the presentation and discussion of the report in the Conference; but, if in such a case the Committee fail to select a representative, the Chairman shall designate a member to represent the Committee, and said representative shall have all the rights and privileges of the Chairman in relation to such report.

III. The Delegate selected by the signers of a minority report to present their report shall have all the privileges in reference to the minority report that are given to the Chairman presenting the Committee report; except that the Chairman presenting the Committee report shall have the right of closing the debate on the question of substituting the minority report for the Committee report.

RULE 27. In considering reports of Committees and Commissions the Delegate securing recognition shall announce from his assigned seat upon which side he proposes to speak. If that side of the question has been presented by the Delegate preceding, and if the floor be immediately claimed by a Delegate upon the other side, the latter claim shall be recognized. If a Delegate reaches the platform without challenge he shall be entitled to all the rights of debate.

Provided, however, no report shall be finally decided or debate on a question closed without an opportunity for the presentation of that side of the question which has not been previously discussed by at least two Delegates.

Provided, moreover, that a Chairman making a report for his Committee or one of its members selected by the Committee or by its Chairman, shall be entitled to ten minutes to close the debate. The Chairman shall not be deprived of his right to close the debate even after the previous question has been ordered, and when a report consisting of two or more propositions has a seriatim consideration, the Chairman or representative of the Committee shall be entitled to the same rights and privileges on each proposition, thus decided separately, as he would have had if the report had been considered as a whole. A similar privilege is granted to the Delegate in charge of a minority report. See Rule 26, II and III.

VOTING

RULE 28. Every Delegate shall vote who is within the bar of the Conference at the time a question is put, unless for special reasons he is excused by the Conference.

RULE 29. I. Voting shall be by the uplifted hand, but a count vote may be ordered, when the Delegates shall rise from their seats and stand until they have been counted. Delegates voting in the minority may have their votes recorded.

II. Votes may be taken also by ballot or by Ayes and Noes; and in either case they shall be duly collected from Delegates officially engaged outside the bar of the Conference. It shall be in order for any Delegate to call for the Ayes and Noes on any question before the Conference, and if sustained by one hundred Delegates, the vote thereon shall be so taken in the following manner: The Secretary shall prepare uniform ballots upon which each Delegate shall write his name and vote. These shall be passed to the several Chairmen of the Annual Conference delegations, who shall inspect them and report the totals and pass them to the Secretary for record. The detailed vote by Conferences shall be published in the Conference Journal and The Daily Christian Advocate.

RULE 30. A call for a vote by orders must be made and seconded by Delegates of the same order, which call must be supported by one third of the Delegates of that order voting.

RULE 31. When voting by orders, the taking, announcing, deciding, and recording the vote of each order shall be separate. Any incidental question bearing upon such vote shall be decided by the Conference acting as one body. A vote by orders shall be a count vote, in which the vote of the order making the call shall be taken first and then that of the other order.

MEMORIALS, RESOLUTIONS, AND PAPERS FOR UNANNOUNCED REFERENCE

RULE 32. Memorials, resolutions, and miscellaneous papers for reference to a Committee must be sent in triplicate, without announcement, to the Secretary.

RULE 33. I. Delegates presenting such memorials, petitions, and other papers for reference shall fold them and write plainly on the back the items in order, as follows:

1. Name of Delegate presenting paper.
2. Conference to which the Delegate belongs.
3. Conference, Society, Board, Delegate, Ministerial or Lay Member, Church, or Organization from which the paper comes.
4. Subject to which it relates.
5. First name on the petition.
6. Number of other petitioners.
7. Committee to which it is to be referred.

II. Memorials, petitions, etc., for reference to Committees may be mailed to the Secretary at any time within four months previous to the General Conference session, for early classification and reference to the several Standing Committees and Commissions.

III. Memorials, resolutions, and other papers, indorsed according to Rule 33, I, must be delivered by the Secretary to the Committee on Reference (Rule 36) and published in the Jour- nal. In the case of memorials and documents of unusual length, not intended for publication, one complete copy shall be furnished and two copies of the indorsement.

RULE 34. There shall be the following Standing Committees:

American Bible Society,
Book Concern,
Boundaries,
Complimentary Resolutions,
Credentials,
Education,
Episcopacy,
Federation,
Foreign Missions,
Fraternal Delegates,
Home Missions and Church Extension,
Hospitals, Homes, and Deaconess Work,
Itinerancy,

Pensions and Relief,
Questions of Privilege,
Reference,
Revision,
Rules,
State of the Church,
Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals,
Temporal Economy.

I. The Committee on The American Bible Society shall consist of one Ministerial and one Lay Delegate from each Episcopal Area.

II. The Committee on Complimentary Resolutions shall consist of seven Delegates.

III. The Committee on Credentials shall consist of seven Delegates. It shall report on the membership of the Conference, the absence of Delegates and the seating of Reserve Delegates, together with all other questions directly related to the attendance or excuse of Delegates. The report of this Committee shall be the basis of settlement with the Delegates for their per diem allowance.

IV. The Committee on Federation shall consist of seven Ministerial Delegates and eight Lay Delegates. To this Committee shall be referred all memorials, petitions, papers and other documents relating to Denominational co-operation, Community Churches and all other interests centering in Federation and Union.

V. The Committee on Fraternal Delegates shall consist of seven Delegates, who shall extend the courtesies of the Conference to Fraternal Delegates, and shall present and introduce them to the Conference at the time designated for their respective addresses. To this Committee shall be referred all communications of greeting from Churches and religious bodies. Replies to such communications shall be prepared by the Committee, and, if adopted by the Conference, shall be forwarded by the Secretary.

(The entertainment of fraternal delegates shall be arranged for by the Commission on Entertainment of the Conference.)

RULE 35. The Committee on Judiciary shall consist of twenty-five Delegates. To it shall be referred all appeals coming to the Conference under the provisions of the Discipline, Rulings of the Bishops and all other questions specifically assigned to it by the Conference. It shall not be in order to lay on the table or to postpone indefinitely reports of this Committee, except reports on questions specifically assigned to it by the General Conference.

RULE 36. The Committee of Reference shall consist of the Secretary of the Conference and two Ministerial and two Lay Delegates, of which Committee the Secretary of the Conference shall be Secretary.

I. The Secretary of the Conference may also appoint an Assistant Secretary to co-operate with him in keeping the records of this Committee, which records shall be made a part of the Journal of the Conference. To this Committee shall be referred all petitions, memorials, appeals, and other documents, not otherwise provided for, which have been presented to the Conference and require its action.

II. The Committee of Reference shall refer and distribute as expeditiously as possible all petitions, memorials, appeals, and other documents referable to the Committees and Commissions. This reference shall be made as indicated generally by the names of the respective Committees and Commissions and their specified duties.

III. The Committee of Reference shall number consecutively its references to the several Committees and shall publish in The Daily Christian Advocate the number, subject, and Committee reference of all documents assigned.

IV. The Committee of Reference shall have power to withdraw a reference, either upon request or upon its own initiative, and to refer the same to another Committee. The Committee of Reference shall also have power to withhold from reference and publication any document which it shall deem personal. It shall also have power to withhold any document which is not properly referable to any existing Committee, and such paper shall be submitted to the Conference.

RULE 37. The Committee on Revision shall consist of seven Delegates. To it shall be sent, for the correction of verbal errors and infelicities only, all Committee reports (except the reports of The Committee on Boundaries and the Committee on Judiciary) as finally passed and before their final printing in The Daily Christian Advocate. To the Committee on Revision the Conference may refer any resolution or report for clarification and definiteness of statement.

RULE 38. The Committee on Rules shall consist of five Delegates, to which Committee shall be referred all matters pertaining to the Rules of Order and parliamentary procedure in the business of the Conference and Committees.

RULE 39. The following Standing Committees, arranged in two Groups, designated Groups A and B, shall meet on the days and at the hours fixed in the Special Order of Business, and after the sixth business day, at 3:00 P. M., on the following days:

GROUP A—Monday, Wednesday, Friday.

Boundaries,
Episcopacy,
Hospitals, Homes, and Deaconess Work,
Itinerancy,
State of the Church,
Temporal Economy.

GROUP B—Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday.

Book Concern,
Education,
Foreign Missions,
Home Missions and Church Extension,
Pensions and Relief,
Temperance, Prohibition, and Public Morals.

I. To the Committee on Book Concern, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to the Book Concern, the Book Committee, publications and publishing interests.

II. To the Committee on Boundaries, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to the Boundaries of Conferences.

III. To the Committee on Education, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to the Board of Education, our Institutions of Learning, Courses of Study, and all other questions affecting the educational interests of the Church; relating to Education for Negroes and all other matters affecting the educational interests of the Negro people; relating to Church Schools, Methodist Brotherhood, Church School literature, and all other matters affecting our Church School work; relating to our Young People's work, the literature of the Epworth League, and all other matters affecting the interests of the Epworth League.

IV. To the Committee on Episcopacy, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to the General Superintendency, Missionary Episcopacy and the Superintendency of Central Conferences.

V. To the Committee on Foreign Missions, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to the Board of Foreign Missions, Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, and all other matters relating to Missionary Work outside the United States.

VI. To the Committee on Home Missions and Church Extension, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, Woman's Home Missionary Society, City Evangelization, the Rural Church, and all other matters relating to Home Missionary work.

VII. To the Committee on Hospitals, Homes, and Deaconess Work, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to Hospitals, Homes, and Deaconess Work.

VIII. To the Committee on Itinerancy, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to the Pastorate, the District Superintendency, Organization of and Membership in the Annual, Central, Central Mission, Mission Conferences, or Missions, Ratio of Representation, Conference Claimants, except matters relating to Pensions and Relief, Local Preachers, and, also, the Journals of Annual, Central, Central Mission, and Mission Conferences.

IX. To the Committee on Pensions and Relief, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to the subject of Pensions and Relief for our Preachers, Missionaries, their widows and dependent children, Deaconesses, and other Church workers.

X. To the Committee on State of the Church, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to social service, labor, Sabbath observance, divorce, amusements, and the social and spiritual welfare of the Church not clearly belonging to other Committees.

XI. To the Committee on Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to Temperance, Prohibition, Habit-Forming Drugs, the Social Evil, and other questions involving the attitude of the Church toward Public Morals.

XII. To the Committee on Temporal Economy, all memorials, petitions, and documents relating to the business and administration of the Quarterly, District, Lay, Central Mission, Mission, Annual, Central, and General Conferences, and all temporal matters relating to Church membership, property, finance, and other temporal interests, including statistical reports.

RULE 40. Assignment to Committees in Groups A and B. As soon as practical after the election of Delegates the Secretary of each Annual Conference shall call together the Ministerial Delegates and Lay Delegates for organization. They shall elect from their number a Chairman and a Secretary, and shall assign their Ministerial and Lay Delegates, in such manner as they may determine, to the Committees in Groups A and B so that no Annual Conference shall be without a Delegate of each Order in every Committee, and so that every Delegate of each Order shall be assigned to at least one Committee. When the number of Ministerial Delegates shall exceed the total number of Committees in Groups A and B, the Ministerial Delegates and Lay Delegates shall be assigned to the Committees so that not more than two Delegates of each Order shall be assigned to any Committee, and such double assignment shall be made to Committees only to the number to which the Delegates of each Order exceed the total number of the grouped Committees. The Chairman shall forward to the Secretary of the Conference immediately after the assignments have been completed, the names and addresses of the Delegates, arranged alphabetically, indicating the order to which each belongs and the Standing Committees in Groups A and B to which each is assigned; and from these returns the Secretary shall prepare the roll of these Committees, as far as possible in advance of the opening of the Conference.

Rule 41. The quorum of every Committee in Groups A and B shall be thirty-five; in all Commissions and other Committees it shall be a majority of their members. Each Committee and Commission shall organize with such officers as may be required, and all business shall be conducted according to the Rules of Order of the Conference as far as they can be applied. Immediately after the organization of Committees and Commissions, the officers shall be reported to the Conference, and their names, with the local address of both Chairman and Secretary, shall be printed under the Roster of Committees in The Daily Christian Advocate.

II. Committees shall not originate business, but shall consider only those subjects referred to them by the Conference, and those memorials and petitions which are received by the Secretary not later than the tenth business day of the Conference. They shall report on all the subjects before them.

III. After a subject has been referred to a Committee it shall not be in order for any other Committee to consider that subject. But should a committee ascertain that a subject which was intended for and belongs under the Rules to it, has been sent to another Committee, it shall report the fact to the Committee of Reference, which shall assign all the papers to the proper Committee. Should there be doubt about the reference, the same shall be reported at once by the Committee of Reference to the Conference.

IV. Whenever in any Committee any change in the Discipline is adopted which will affect the work of any of the Boards of the Church whose work is under consideration by one of the Standing Committees, there shall be a Committee of Conference composed of three members from each Standing Committee involved, appointed by the Chairman of each Committee; which Committee of Conference shall consider said proposed legislation and report back to their respective Committees before any report on the proposed legislation is made to the General Conference.

V. Committee reports changing the Discipline shall recite not only the line and paragraph to be amended, but also the sentence, section or paragraph as amended.

VI. Committees and Commissions whose hours of meeting are not specifically fixed by the Conference, shall organize as soon as possible after their members have been elected, and shall meet for the prompt performance of their duties.

VII. On the first and second business days, nominations for the Committees on the American Bible Society, Complimentary Resolutions, Federation, Fraternal Delegates, Journal, Judiciary, Questions of Privilege, Reference, Revision and Rules shall be presented by the General Superintendents for action by the Conference.

RULE 42. There shall be a Committee of Elected Chairmen, composed of the Chairmen elected by the Committees of Groups A and B, Judiciary, Revision and Rules, of which Committee the Secretary of the Conference shall be Chairman ex-officio; and one of the Assistant Secretaries shall be designated for the Committee's Secretary. This Committee shall meet on the first business day at 8 P. M. and thereafter on order of the Conference or on call.

MISCELLANEOUS

RULE 43. Demonstrations of approval or disapproval during the progress of debate shall be deemed a breach of order.

RULE 44. No persons, except Delegates, ushers, pages and officers of the Conference, shall stand in the open spaces of the Conference room or enter within the bar of the Conference.

RULE 45. The ushers shall keep the aisles clear for the exclusive use of Delegates, ushers, pages and officers of the Conference, and none but Delegates shall be seated within the bar of the Conference.

RULE 46. In all matters not specified herein, the proceedings of the Conference shall be governed by established common parliamentary law.

RULE 47. These rules may be suspended at any time by a vote of two-thirds of the Delegates.

The Address of the General Superintendents to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Session at Atlantic City, New Jersey, United States of America, 1932

To the Members of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, assembled in Atlantic City, New Jersey, United States of America, May 2, 1932:

Grace be unto you, and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

We give thanks to God always for you all, making mention of you in our prayers; remembering without ceasing your work of faith, and labor of love, and patience of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ, in the sight of God and our Father.

We pause to speak reverently the names of our nine brethren who have departed in the Lord since the last session of our General Conference:

Joseph Flintoft Berry
Luther Barton Wilson
Frank Milton Bristol
Theodore Sommers Henderson
William Orville Shepard
Richard Joseph Cooke
Francis Wesley Warne
Joseph Crane Hartzell
Isaiah Benjamin Scott

We give God hearty thanks for the good examples of all these, His servants who, having finished their course in faith, do now rest from their labors.

We present our message to the Church under the threefold division: The Problem, The Program, The Power.

The Problem

Looking out upon the world of his day, the Beloved Disciple exclaimed: "And we know that we are of God and the whole world lieth in wickedness." So sweeping a generalization would not be true to facts after nineteen centuries of Christian history. But certainly a bitter conflict between the powers of darkness and the powers of light marks the life of the whole wide world in this hour in which we gather for our Quadrennial World Conference. The forces of evil were never more aggressive, never more defiant. Surely, no assembly in all the history of the world ever had greater need for the wisdom which cometh from above than this General Conference. We need a message from God for the world.

It is well to remember that periods of great religious awakening have usually been preceded by general indifference and the decay of spiritual earnestness. History teaches us that an age conscious of self-exhaustion presents the most favorable opportunity for the Gospel. Ours is such an age. In the first chapter of Romans, in which Paul lays bare the intolerable conditions of the world, he cries exultantly, "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." In the same chapter in which John declares that the whole world lieth in wickedness he also proclaims, "This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith." What, then, is our hope?

Until about the middle of the sixteenth century human knowledge was under the tutelage of antiquity, but the Renaissance, followed by the Reformation, developed the critical movement with its far-reaching influences. It was indeed a sound principle that the foundations of all knowledge should be thoroughly examined. As was to be expected, the Christian faith, including the documentary sources of its origin, came in for careful scrutiny, with the result that the Christian religion has been brought to high intellectual vantage ground.

Consider the findings of the critical study of the original sources of Scripture teaching. No words ever written have been subject to such severe review as have the texts of both the Old and New Testaments. This scholarly criticism, which our fathers feared would destroy our Scriptures, has necessitated a changed point of view, but has in effect made the Scriptures all the more impregnable. It is cause for thanksgiving that biblical criticism has achieved a result so helpful to a right understanding of biblical facts. With this powerful vindication of its genuineness, the New Testament has entered upon a new era of authority and conquest. The sum total is that the old Book which we learned to reverence and love at our mother's knee has passed through the alembic of the world's critical thought, and by the consensus of intelligent judgment it now emerges from the test clarified and shining with a new luster. The method of approach is different, but in all matters essential to faith we may still exclaim with Isaiah: "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth, but the word of our God shall stand forever."

Many members of this General Conference will recall the fierce controversy between science and theology. The victory of physical science was widely proclaimed as fully accomplished. Some of the leading scientists espoused this view. In the flush of their early discoveries not a few of them, departing from the scientific method, became as intolerant as any of the theologians. Not content to dogmatize in their own realm, they became hypercritical of all religion. But a great change has come over the leaders in the field of scientific research. In the broadening and deepening of their knowledge they have developed a chastened spirit of openmindedness. The recent upheaval in the mood and method of science has given pause to the dogmatic intolerance of yesterday, when it was taken for granted that science held the key to all mysteries and had spoken the last word upon all these controversial subjects. We cite the utterances of three leaders in evidence of this change.

Sir James Jeans writes: "To-day there is a wide measure of agreement, which on the physical side of science approaches almost to unanimity, that the stream of knowledge is heading toward a nonmechanical reality: the universe begins to look more like a great thought than like a great machine. Mind no longer appears as an accidental intruder into the realm of matter; we are beginning to suspect that we ought rather to hail it as the creator and governor of the realm of matter."

Sir Arthur Eddington, in a recent radio message to the civilized world, said: "I would say that when from the human heart the cry goes up, 'What is it all about?' it is no true answer to look only at that part of experience which comes to us through sensory organs and reply, 'It is about atoms and chaos, it is about a universe of fiery globes moving on to impending doom; it is about noncomputed algebra.' Rather it is about a spirit in which truth has its shrine, with potentialities of self-fulfillment in its response to beauty and right."

Professor Robert A. Millikan declares, in his discussion, "Science and Life": "The most important thing in the world is the belief in the reality of the moral and spiritual ideals. It was because we lost that belief that the World War came, and if we do not find a way to regain and to strengthen that belief, then science is of no value." Thus Professor Millikan deliberately hands over the leadership of the world's progress from science to religion.

Religion and science are the twin sisters of the world's progress. It is not too much to say that we have to-day a formidable group of most distinguished scholars who proclaim that the physical is ever glorified by the spiritual and that beyond the realm of the physical material order, and forever linked closely with it, is another order of spiritual reality in the understanding and development of which is clearly lodged the further progress of the human race.

Chesterton declares: "We have found all the problems there are; it is now time we started to find some of the answers." Profoundly true, but with keener prophetic insight and clearer vision, John Wesley set forth both the problem and its answer in one arresting sentence: "The problem of problems is to get the principles of Christianity put into practice."

The Program

Application of this Principle Within the Church

In the effort to achieve this high purpose the first method of the Methodist Founder was an insistent emphasis upon personal religion. Early Methodism was an organized, continuous, sustained effort to seek out the last individual man, woman, and child with an offer of the Gospel of the living Christ. With such power was this Gospel proclaimed and experienced that it shook the British Isles to their very foundations and, according to the testimony of one of Britain's most brilliant historians, saved England from the horrors of the French Revolution. The redemption of the individual ever must be the basic unit in the Christian program. It still remains that "the soul of all improvement is the improvement of the soul."

Strongly as he emphasized personal salvation, Wesley insisted just as vigorously upon the social interpretation of the Gospel and the application of its teachings to the whole range of human life. This also is our task and the Wesleyan charter for modern Methodism's efforts to proclaim the Gospel as the cure for every ill.

The Scriptures declare that "judgment must begin at the house of God." If, in harmony with Wesley's teachings, we insist upon the application of the principles of Jesus in other phases of life and fail honestly to accept those principles for ourselves we are likely to hear the critical rejoinder—"Physician, heal thyself." We have countless volumes upon the Christianizing of the social, the economic, the political orders. Is it not fitting that we should strive earnestly to make the church program more truly Christian? Do our methods in evangelism, education, and missionary effort square themselves with the teachings, purpose and spirit of our Lord? The answer to these questions leads to the very heart of the problem as it concerns our fitness for the task which we face.

Evangelism

The word Evangelism is one of the richest words in the Christian vocabulary. It means, "the proclamation of good news." What is this good news? It is, that God hath visited and redeemed His people. This He accomplishes by incarnating Himself in human life. The place of Jesus of Nazareth is absolutely unique and supreme. He presents and reveals God. Jesus sets a new standard, gives a new meaning to our lives. Here is the incarnation. He becomes the example. He furnishes the motivation. He leads the way in demonstrating how life may be uplifted by the inflow of the divine into the human and the human into the divine. Thus Jesus was hailed as Immanuel—"God with us"—which in the light of Pentecost becomes "God in us."

It remains for the Christian forces to achieve the world's redemption by making actual the fact that God lives and moves and has His Being in man, in both personal and corporate life. All the features of man's earthly existence are thus to yield to the divine persuasion until the life of man shall be lifted to the level of God's life. Here, then, will appear the positive method of the evangelistic enterprise—to reveal God to men. A child once prayed, "Help me to be good and to grow up to God." To help people to be good and to grow up to God is precisely the task of the Church.

At the heart of this redemptive purpose we behold the heavenly Father whose very name and nature are love, a God who is all love and always love, "whose punishment is pardon, whose retribution is reconciliation, whose revenge is forgiveness"; in proof of whose infinite concern for His children He manifests the extent of His love in the death of Christ upon the Cross. We frequently hear the judgment that our generation has little sense of sin. Is this not due to our failure to realize vividly the holiness of God? Think of Isaiah who, when he received the vision of God's purity, cried, "Woe is me! for I am undone; because I am a man of unclean lips, for mine eyes have seen the King, the Lord of hosts."

The "good news" is both personal and social. It finds its personal significance in the actual experience of forgiveness, regeneration, assurance, fellowship, and complete surrender to God. Atonement thus ceases to be a matter of speculation and becomes the deepest fact of human experience as the at-one-ment of God and man is realized in the experience of believers.

The social significance of the good news is found in the ideal of the kingdom of God. The Holy City is beheld coming down from God out of heaven, accompanied by the proclamation, "Behold the tabernacle of God is with men and he will dwell with them and they shall be his people and God Himself shall be with them and be their God." A new and surprising world order is to be attained. God in Christ reconciling the world unto Himself, is the very center of the picture. Man, his creature, stands by his side as coworker. So God and man work to achieve for man a life like unto the life of God. No wonder that with such a vision as this the early disciples went everywhere crying with bold earnestness "Repent, repent"—"Change your mind,"—for the kingdom of heaven is at hand. The discouraged belief that God had forgotten is now supplanted by this ideal of the Kingdom, the most transcendently appealing vision ever revealed to men.

The broad content of this marvelous message of Good News needs to be strongly stressed. The whole idea has been cheapened by narrowing its meaning. An emotional appeal without the background and content of the good news is utterly unworthy of any servant of God. The salvation thus offered is deeply personal, the personal God offers himself through the personal Christ to the personal believer. With a due appreciation of the supreme worth of this message some basic principles must ever be remembered.

Evangelism is not something added to the Christian program. The Christian religion is evangelism.

The pastor and his people are the rightful leaders in any truly effective effort to upbuild the church. In the main it is the pastor's obligation. We urge our pastors everywhere to think in terms of a sane, steady, day-by-day effort which shall include appeal, pastoral care, instruction and sympathetic oversight week in and week out through the church year.

Childhood is a marvelously rich field for the propagation of this good news. We are deeply thankful that Methodism has come to see the significance of Jesus' action when He placed a little child in the midst. Our children must be made familiar with this good news of the Gospel. When its divine truths are firmly implanted in the garden of a child's heart his nature will respond and quickly yield the fruits of the Spirit. At this point Christian evangelism and Christian education meet. We are discovering that it is possible to teach a child to love God and to wish to please Him even as it is to teach him to love and to wish to please his earthly parents. The home is the unit of society. No environment is comparable to that of a Christian home for the religious nurture of child life. A home without religion is like a rose without a perfume. It becomes, therefore, an important responsibility that the minister do all in his power to cultivate family religion.

There is deep significance in the question asked of candidates for full membership in Annual Conference—"Will you diligently instruct the children in every place?" If we could have a generation of pastors who would pursue this course with thoroughgoing evangelistic faithfulness the spiritual results would be incalculable. Whenever a pastor meets a child the occasion should prove the child's opportunity, the pastor's opportunity, the church's opportunity, God's opportunity. It is likewise essential that the greatest possible care be exercised that teachers of intelligence and kindling Christian experience be selected for the church schools, and that these teachers be properly trained. Our churches should also support both morally and financially the work of week-day religious instruction.

We have been hearing much in recent years about the "revolt of youth." We believe the phrase overstates the fact. Nevertheless the subject calls for careful consideration. Wise tactful methods are needed when dealing with this important group. These young people, having emerged from childhood into the stage of life which abounds in idealism, reveal three outstanding characteristics—the love of reality, the call to self-expression, and the urge to the heroic. To do its work with this generation the gospel message must meet these needs. Some would have us believe that the modern youth movement tends to reject approved standards of morality long held in high honor, especially those governing sex relationships and marriage. But the whole problem in its true significance is deeply religious and spiritual. Judged in the light of its fullest meaning, the Youth Movement, where hostile to Christianity, is sometimes only a protest against the inadequate interpretation of the Christian religion. We have heartening news that the statistical reports from the Conferences in the United States for 1931 show gratifying increases among the Church schools and Epworth Leagues in all vital facts. If we make religion consist in some outer form or profession, youth will have none of it. But if we succeed in teaching them that the mind of Christ is the real approach to the best that life has to offer the appeal will prove effective. With the spirit of the true Shepherd we can help them through the difficulties which they are almost certain to meet in their educational pursuits by enabling them to see the biological and psychological as well as the ethical reasons for the fundamental obligations of Christian morality, and we can clearly interpret to them the courage and beauty of the life of Christ, so appealing to their innate religious idealism. Let us ever hold before them the challenge of finding life by losing it for the sake of Christ's great Kingdom of love.

At the present time two phases of evangelism are enlisting special attention—personal evangelism and preaching missions. Both are truly scriptural. No effort is adequate unless it be aggressively personal. By this method the Gospel won its first triumphs. Witness the opening chapters of John's Gospel. We have scriptural authority likewise for stressing preaching: "For after that, in the wisdom of God, the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believed." Continuing earnestly our evangelistic programs for children and youth, we should also hold fast to the Wesleyan emphasis upon adult conversion. The story of the child in the midst should not lead us to overlook the stories of Nicodemus, Simon Peter, and Saul of Tarsus. The power of salvation in Christ is equal to the transformation of those whose habits seem to be fixed. New faith in the gospel comes to our churches whenever they witness men and women, who have reached the middle or later years of life, yielding to the saving power of Christ and standing before their communities as trophies of redemption. Miracles of this nature have always attended our ministry and are to-day occurring in many places. It is both our reproach and our challenge that this adult field still offers us millions of opportunities for real evangelism. Whatever the method or to whatever class the appeal be made it is important that the sense of immediate expectance be present in every approach. The call to acceptance of Christ is always urgent. Christ becomes our message and our message becomes Christ. The technique of the true pastor shepherd demands that he discover and experience in himself the depth of the riches, both of the wisdom and knowledge of God which are found in Christ and that he learn to present these truths of the Gospel to the minds and hearts of men with compelling winsomeness. Do we actually offer the personal Christ in our preaching as often as we should? Let us give serious thought to the question.

With the spirit of the Lord upon him, with a dynamic like this pulsing in his soul and burning on his lips, the true prophet pastor and shepherd sees a new glory in the vision of Isaiah—"How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings; that publisheth peace!" And in that other passage: "Ho, every one that thirsteth come ye to the waters and he that hath no money come ye, buy and eat, yea, come buy wine and milk without money and without price." The proclaimer of the good news feels the thrill of a reality deep as the life of God as he beholds Jesus fulfilling all prophetic aspiration when, with outstretched arms, he cried to all who heard him in Galilee and to all future generations: "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn of me for I am meek and lowly in heart, and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy and my burden is light."

Our Educational Program

Methodism dates its beginnings in Oxford University. The educational impulse which marked those days continues a positive force. The early circuit rider flashed upon the scene a character of heroic mold and adventurous spirit, his saddle bags filled with Bibles, hymnals, and other publications of The Methodist Book Concern. He rode forth, a Knight of the Cross, to lay the foundations of the New Republic in the teachings and spirit of Jesus. His work abides. In the United States evangelism and education have always been regarded as the handmaidens of progress in the program of the church. Here we have evangelism and education on horseback.

A cultured, devoted, progressive ministry is imperative for the church in our day. For the training of such leadership we are dependent upon our theological seminaries. The value of these schools is beyond all reckoning. They should receive the most generous support from the entire church.

The Conference Course of Study linked with the Book Concern constitutes an educational system of great worth. This is one of the largest schools for the training of preachers in the world, and is now offering graduate as well as under-graduate courses. The Conference Course has never been so highly approved by competent critics as it is to-day. It has been the instrument of educating thousands of our preachers who otherwise would have been ill-fitted for their calling.

The Methodist Book Concern never took so outstanding a position among publishing houses as it does in the year 1932. Underlying the whole Book Concern enterprise, with its amazing success through nearly one hundred and fifty years, we find the deep conviction of its founders that it could do a most important work in the education of Methodists and in molding Christian public opinion and likewise that the institution could bring needed financial help to retired ministers. Supplementing, therefore, the publication of books, church papers were launched, with the idea of sowing the gospel seed as widely as possible, and bringing the influence of religion to bear upon every home. Is there less need of this ministry to-day than there was a century ago? We answer, "no," and hasten to add that there is an even greater call at the present time for the dissemination of Christian truth than obtained in the days of the fathers. It is now proposed, nevertheless, largely for financial reasons, to consolidate the Advocates and reduce their number. Not a few leaders see in the proposed move a retreat whose effect will be felt in every activity of the church. Would not many of our local churches be closed if they were required to pay dividends to a figure beyond their own expenses? Is it not fair, also, to consider the immense influence of our Advocates in gaining income for all our causes? It is our conviction that the whole problem should be viewed primarily, not from the standpoint of financial profit and loss, but from the angle of the influence of Methodist papers upon the total life of the church and Kingdom. Is there not danger in leaving large areas of the church to the standards of the secular press?

The Liberal Arts College is America's unique contribution to higher education. This type of institution has been well characterized by President Hoover as "the seedbed" of leadership. One half of the million college and university students in the United States are in the smaller colleges, which often possess meager equipment as compared with the larger institutions of learning.

There are credited to the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States the following—

Universities	5	Graduate Schools of Theology	4
Colleges	38	Training Schools for Foreign-Speaking Ministers	2
Affiliated Colleges	1	Graduate Schools of Theology	1
Junior Colleges	4	Medical School	1
Secondary Schools	23	Hospital and Nurse Training School	1
Training Schools	8
Schools for Negroes:
Colleges	9
Secondary Schools	1

The student enrollment at our schools for 1930-31 was as follows:

Colleges and Universities	63,350
Junior Colleges	637
Secondary Schools	4,681
Theological Schools	852
Total	69,520

This list will show that Methodism has at the present time one school for every nineteen months of its entire history. As a Church, we are expending annually $25,000,000 for Christian education. Probably no phase of our work has yielded more gratifying results than our efforts for education among our colored people. The Negro possesses traits which should be conserved for their high value in the determination of our ultimate national character. The educational policy of the church has this aim constantly in mind and eagerly seeks to discharge its responsibility.

The Board of Education began its work of loans and gifts to students in 1873. From that year to December 31, 1931, the total sum of $6,411,183 has been distributed to 44,043 young men and women to help them secure an education. Only the records of eternity will make known the significance of such an achievement.

The educational standards of our schools and colleges are safeguarded by the University Senate whose personnel includes picked leaders from all parts of the country.

In recent years our educational movement has been marked by a developing interest in the Wesley Foundations. For a long period the church was slow to appreciate the religious opportunity offered by state and privately endowed institutions, but now the Foundation work has become one of the most fruitful of our activities. Here we have a field which commands our closest attention. At the present time Wesley Foundation programs are in operation at sixty of the larger student centers, reaching an aggregate Methodist following of 40,000 in a total enrollment for this type of approximately 300,000.

The Christian Student for October, 1931, gives church preferences in ninety-eight publicly controlled colleges and universities in the United States with a student population of 293,811 as follows:

Methodist	57,964
Presbyterian	34,541
Baptist	27,488
Congregationalist	22,966
Roman Catholic	20,674
Protestant Episcopal	15,843
Lutheran	11,645
Hebrew	9,434
Christian Science	4,440
Mormon	3,357
Reformed	1,443
Evangelical	1,263
Brethren	1,152
Disciples	1,111
Unitarians	1,047
Friends	515
All Others	6,722
No Preference	32,206

In numbers the Methodist students rank first in two-thirds of these institutions. The followers of Wesley, the Oxonian, take education as a matter of course. This enthusiasm for education marks particularly our ministry. Our preachers and their wives educate their children no matter at what sacrifice. Their record in this regard is a story of heroism. It compels admiration from those who know the facts.

The work of religious education in the Foreign Field carried on by the joint commission representing the Board of Foreign Missions and the Board of Education is most promising. It has attracted wide attention, and there is earnest appeal for its enlargement.

Education is everywhere held in high regard—the very atmosphere of our modern life—but the great need is for a stronger Christian emphasis in all its processes. "The problem of problems" once more is "to get the principles of Jesus put into practice." If our own educational institutions do not carry this emphasis there is little excuse for their existence and no real appeal for their support.

Certain recent developments of our educational life clearly point the way. The study of the student personnel in Methodist institutions in the United States shows that those colleges which stand pre-eminently for the Christian spirit and ideals are attracting students from all parts of the country and the whole world. It is significant that the great educational foundations which at the beginning of their work objected to denominational oversight, more recently have learned deeper wisdom. They have come to see that a church affiliation which affords academic freedom is an asset of the greatest value.

The National Educational Association, at its meeting in 1928, declared, "The individual self, nature, society, and God—these four, and in particular the adjustments which the individual must make—constitute the objectives of education. No greater task rests upon the secondary school than to help its pupils find their God." If this deliverance had been made by our Board of Education, it would have caused no surprise, but coming from the National Education Association, which is independent of all denominational and even Christian affiliation, it is a most remarkable and encouraging utterance.

A preliminary paper on Religious Education at the Jerusalem Conference, by Drs. Luther A. Weigle and J. H. Oldham, states that "there are a good many signs that educators are coming more and more to recognize that education without religion is incomplete and that this truth has been too much forgotten in the past. It is not necessary to reconcile ourselves to the thought that the great historic achievements of Christian education in non-Christian lands belong to the past. Christian education may only now be entering on its greatest opportunity. Its future may be even greater and more splendid than its past, if among Christians of this and coming generations there is a worthy response to the call of a great adventure. The Christian purpose in education is to inspire men with faith to fight life's battles, to fill their minds with hope and to enable them to meet the demands and problems of life with a song of victory in their hearts." It is earnestly hoped that this noble and authoritative utterance upon the deepest meaning of Religious Education will so inspire the leaders in this field that mere pedagogic method shall ever be regarded as incidental to the fundamental spirit of true religious education.

The sum of it all is this: there is a new, urgent and widespread need for a stronger Christian emphasis in the training of the young.

Missions

Missions form the channel through which the Gospel has flowed as it has encircled the world. Jesus went to the Syro-Phœnecians; Peter broke down the barriers between Jew and Gentile; Paul planted the church among the Greek and Roman peoples. These newly developed churches in turn took up the great enterprise. Part of their missionary task was the winning of the barbaric tribes of Northern and Central Europe, whose conversion to Christianity has turned out to be a matter of deep interest to us, their progeny. We ourselves are deeply indebted to the missionary zeal of the earlier followers of Christ who were not satisfied simply to enjoy their new faith, but earnestly desired to share it with the rest of the world. This spirit has sometimes found expressions which have hindered rather than advanced the Kingdom, as in the case of the Inquisition. But wherever the methods of promotion have been in harmony with Gospel teachings, the spread of genuine Christianity has been the result.

This vital Gospel has proved to be a barrier-breaking power overcoming obstacles between nations, races and classes, whether at home or abroad. Indeed, it never can be content with anything but a condition of brotherhood in which there are neither Jew nor Greek, Barbarian nor Sythian, bond nor free. Modern civilization owes the belief in the possibility of a world Christian internationalism largely to the work of missions in non-Christian lands. No other influence has made so powerfully for breadth of world outlook, world vision and world sympathy. In the first century Paul said, "We preach Christ . . . the power of God and the wisdom of God." In the twentieth century, the Jerusalem Conference said, "We believe in a Christlike world. We know nothing better; we can be content with nothing less." In so stating its faith the Jerusalem Conference has brought us back to the historical missionary motive and to the only one that can justify the continuance of our endeavor.

During the past twenty-five years changes so far-reaching in their implications as to stagger the imagination have taken place. We live in a smaller world, a sophisticated world, a new world. And it was this world which the Jerusalem meeting of the International Missionary Council faced in 1928. That great gathering marked the emergence of a new technique, a new method, a new statesmanship. At the World Missionary Conference, held in Edinburgh in 1910, twenty out of 1,200 delegates, or only one-sixtieth, were nationals; at Jerusalem eighteen years later there were 120 out of 240 delegates, or one-half of the Conference. Edinburgh thought in terms of paternalism; Jerusalem, in terms of fraternalism. "Fraternalism" is the new word in the missionary movement. The General Conference of 1928 entered upon a new era of world conquest in which it linked arms with the nationals in every field. The "Central Conference" legislation provided for the election of bishops by Central Conferences and gave to mission fields larger freedom, independence and autonomy. With its fresh emphasis upon human brotherhood in actual practice this measure sent a thrill to the very ends of the earth, and its daring pioneering arrested the attention of every Christian denomination. We are under obligation to accept the logic of our leadership. What next? As fast as possible we must make way for indigenous organizations. We face two lines of development in foreign missions. By giving larger independence to the churches in China, India, South America and other fields we have made possible emergence in the days to come of a kind of International United States of Methodism to be governed by an Ecumenical Conference with certain specified general powers. Or we may proceed to encourage the establishment of independent churches after the pattern of the Japan Methodist Church, with friendly relations with the Methodist Episcopal Church in America. Both developments have been going on before our very eyes, especially during the past four years. In China, India and South America, the Central Conferences have elected bishops as follows: In China, John Gowdy and C. P. Wang. In India, Jashwant Rao Chitambar. In South America Juan E. Gattinoni. In Mexico and Korea independent national Methodisms have been established. We should give most careful consideration to both these developments. Which will bring promise of the larger success in terms of the kingdom of God? Here is the fundamental question which this General Conference must face with most earnest prayer and painstaking thought. It is the conviction of the Bishops that, whatever course we follow, we should be careful to bind the various sections of Methodism by living ties; and to provide a federal plan lest we lose our ecumenical character.

But while our representatives on these fields have been learning new and improved methods of carrying on the great work, and have been meeting decreased appropriations with genuine loyalty and sacrifice, the church on the home field has been gradually moving from under the load. We still remember the thrill of triumph which came to Methodism as it rallied to the Centenary cause. Since that time our aspirations to advance have been unsuccessful. There has been no end of cultivation, but a tragic and growing lack of response from our membership. All honor to those churches which have held the line for an advance.

What is the cause of the decline? Is our approach too indirect because of an over-elaborate organization? Have we, for the sake of the simplification of our appeal, sacrificed essential personal contacts between the sources of supply and the needy fields? Have we been so absorbed in securing money for missions that we have failed to follow up the collection of funds with a program of missionary education? Have we overlooked the training of our people in stewardship? Have we imperiled our future by making too extravagant claims for the accomplishments of Centenary and World Service dollars? In pointing to the great needs of a waiting world have we implied that a few years of good giving would accomplish things which only a century of steady growth could produce, thereby sowing seeds of disappointment among our people? Have we become too engrossed in local building enterprises or in meeting current budgets with decreasing receipts?

Whatever the causes of our present predicament we must discover a new spiritual dynamic. We must remind ourselves that a church which ceases to be missionary in spirit is a church which is already dead at the heart. We must come to a new understanding and evaluation of the Good News as it is proclaimed by Jesus. We must realize that institutional loyalty, important as it is, cannot constitute the primary motive for our continued efforts toward world redemption. We can clarify our vision by trying to imagine what this world would be without the faith, purity and love which have their source in Christ. In contemplating the sin and hatred which now threaten the happiness and safety of mankind, we shall find new incentives for spreading the gospel. Preaching has accomplished miracles in the past and holds promise of still greater things in the future until God's "will shall be done on earth as it is done in heaven." "He shall not fail nor be discouraged till he hath set righteousness in the earth," was the word of Isaiah, who had far less warrant for his unwavering faith than we possess in this day. The church of Christ is committed to that faith and to the effort necessary to make it a reality. God calls us; we must not fail. Christ leads on; we must follow. "Our starting point is fixed; it is the creative love of God. Our goal is fixed; it is the realized kingdom of God. Our way is fixed; it is found in Him who said 'I am the way.'" The command of our Lord to make disciples of all nations has lost none of its lure or luster. For bold, sheer adventure, nothing in all history is comparable to the commission to build among all nations a Kingdom of universal love. Never did its uniqueness appear so compelling as to-day. The centuries have developed no other integrating ideal about which the moral forces in the life of mankind can rally for a better world. Here and now we dedicate ourselves anew to the great gospel enterprise, with prayer for guidance and strength to him who sealed his commission with the promise "Lo! I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world."

Other Important Activities

It is said that because John Wesley was a practical mystic nothing could daunt him. We have been viewing our task and the needs of the world from the mountaintop of gospel vision, and have indicated that gospel's movements in the broad fields of evangelism, education, and Christian missions. But we are under obligation to become realistic idealists. We must come to close grips with other actual situations and perplexing problems. The gospel must be made to walk among men. We need organization for conquest and victory. Let us review, then, the work of some of the other boards and societies through which Methodism functions in actual contact with the world's needs. Much of the discussion of missions in general applies to the home fields as well as to the fields abroad. But a further emphasis should be given to the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, to which fall such tasks as the redemption of great cities, the uplift of vast rural populations, the care of thousands of non-English speaking men, women, and children, the building of new frontier churches, the sustenance of underpaid ministers and workers, the encouragement of work among the Negroes, the care of the remnant of our Indian population, the building up of the Goodwill Industries and co-operation in Evangelism, Education, and general missionary enterprises. These form a challenge which requires the gearing of the resources of the church efficiently for a wide field of service.

The urge toward practical philanthropy finds expression in the building of our network of hospitals and homes. Less than fifty years ago we built our first Methodist Hospital in Brooklyn, New York City. Now we have seventy-seven hospitals, with an investment of $56,000,000, and an annual budget of $12,500,000. Last year 287,000 patients were treated in these homes of healing.

The work of the Woman's Home Missionary Society has been marked with high intent and realization. During the quadrennium this Society celebrated its fiftieth birthday. This anniversary had been preceded by a five-year building program of institutions and organizations. Over a million dollars were thus expended in buildings. An intensive citizenship program was also carried on whose results cannot be computed. Participation in all the activities of the local church has been especially emphasized during the past four years, and co-operation with other Boards of the church has been helpful to the Society. The value of Stewardship both as a method of finance and as a way of life has always been stressed by this organization and is probably one of the principal reasons for the unique financial success of the Society. A survey of the institutions under its care and of its organizational plans is still under way. As a result of this study various changes have been made which promise increased efficiency in carrying forward its share of Methodism's program in bringing the world to Christ by making America more nearly a Christian nation.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society has filled another quadrennium with devoted and fruitful service. In spite of lowered incomes and hardships at the home base, these noble women are determined, as the secretary from Germany writes, "to put our Lord's missionary command above our economic conditions." The receipts of the four years are $9,692,079.29. This represents an increase over the preceding quadrennium of $168,100.00. The members of the Society always count the pennies. Their bigs are made up of many littles, and represent both saving and sacrifice. Their slogan for the current year is Simplicity and Sacrifice, and they see to it that both fructify in Service.

The Society has 727 active missionaries and nearly 6,000 indigenous workers in its service. It has more than 200,000 women and girls under religious instruction and 64,467 pupils in its schools. To every missionary teacher there are 105 national teachers. Four hundred and twelve national doctors and nurses minister to many thousand patients a year. College and hospital administrators, writers, social workers, leaders of great movements are among the nationals whom the Society has trained. It celebrated its sixtieth anniversary in 1929, in Columbus, Ohio. At that time, workers both at home and abroad co-operating, there was launched a movement which promises to be fully as significant as was the original undertaking of the Founders in 1869. The aim of the forward movement is the enlistment of the Methodist women of all lands in a crusade for Christ.

There are many other matters relating to administration. What type of Episcopacy is best adapted to the present situation and the future development of the church? Should we abandon the Area System or intensify it? Should we go back to a more general superintendency? Should we adopt a diocesan form? This General Conference should surely make provision for the care of an Area in the case of the decease or permanent disability of an effective bishop. Under the law the bishops have authority, in case of a vacancy, to provide for the superintendency of Annual Conferences, but not for Areas as such, unless it be by redistribution of the Conferences.

The District Superintendency constitutes another issue concerning which there is strong divergence of opinion. Some insist that we should reduce the overhead expense of supervision. The simplification of our benevolent program; the present unsatisfactory law of the church touching marriage of divorced people; right standards for the admission of men into our ministry; a more equitable adjustment of support; the question of dealing with ministers who are continually ineffective; the care of retired preachers and their families by the Board of Pensions and Relief; the status of laymen in the Annual Conferences; the style of ecclesiastical architecture; the cost of church edifices; the deplorable lack of dignity in worship, in correcting which we risk a tendency toward excessive ritualism—these and a multitude of other subjects will suggest themselves to the members of this General Conference as requiring careful study. It is likely that the proceedings of this body will develop other problems of pressing interest. Adaptiveness has been one of the marks of the genius of Methodism. We should preserve that characteristic at all hazards, but our procedure should be based upon carefully considered conclusions. For many years our system of supervision has been under discussion. Many changes have been proposed. Some of them have merit, others are mere novelties. Some features of the problem are too large and important to be settled by hastily prepared proposals. The General Conference, as a great deliberative body, will be on guard against the danger of speedy and piecemeal legislation.

One abuse has grown up in recent years which gives the bishops deep concern. It centers about that recent legislation embodied in Paragraph 58 of the Discipline, touching nonresident members. It has been abused so extensively as to reduce the total membership of the church by hundreds of thousands. We believe this accounts very largely for the reported decline in our membership. We recognize that the carrying of "deadwood" is no benefit to the church or the Kingdom, but pastors and members of our Quarterly Conferences should understand that church membership among us is inviolate. Membership in the church can be vacated only by one of three methods—by voluntary withdrawal, by expulsion after trial, or by transfer to the Church triumphant. The practice of Official Boards has so generally disregarded the rights of members and so often failed to indicate the Shepherd heart that we regard it as imperative that at this session of the General Conference positive and mandatory legislation should be enacted upon this highly important matter.

Christian Unity

The attitude of our church toward Christian unity has been unvarying. John Wesley gave generous character to Methodism in that great saying, "I desire a league offensive and defensive with every soldier of Jesus Christ." In thought and spirit we acknowledge loyalty to that catholic standard. We have never proclaimed ourselves "The Church." We do glory in the privilege of being one branch of the true church of Christ. In our organization and spirit we are well situated for unity with other Christian bodies. We strictly repudiate all conceptions of prelacy. Our bishopric, as we see it, is only an office for service. Recent years have witnessed a very evident trend toward union, particularly within denominational families. Our Commission on Interdenominational Relations, which will make a full report to the General Conference, has been actively engaged in conversations with representatives of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South; the Methodist Protestant Church; the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America, and the Protestant Episcopal Church. Definite results have not yet been secured, but genuine progress has been achieved in mutual understanding and good will. We are ready and eager to go forward toward a more general realization of the highest ideals of the kingdom of God. We recognize that such large movements require time for their development and we desire to maintain a patient attitude. We are giving generous support to the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, the organization through which at present we are enabled to gratify the strong urge which we feel toward closer co-operation with the different branches of the church of God. We therefore proclaim to all the world the words of our human founder that "We desire a league offensive and defensive with every soldier of Jesus Christ."

Application of the Principle in Certain Aspects of Our Social Life

It is our purpose now to show that the standards of Jesus must be applied to all the institutions of modern civilization. We are often met in such an undertaking with the rejoinder that it is our business "to preach the simple Gospel." That is precisely what we are doing. In our better understanding of the meaning of the Christian revelation we have come to see that its message is social as well as individual. Nothing which concerns human welfare can be foreign to this Gospel. We make no apology, therefore, for holding firmly to a broad application of Jesus' teachings. Besides all this under free government every citizen must bear his share of responsibility for existing conditions. It is said that Frederick D. Maurice felt "a sort of self-reproachful complicity in every sinful tendency of his age." So does every man of sensitive conscience. In his immortal second inaugural, Abraham Lincoln set the North and South side by side in their responsibility for slavery, though most people blamed only the South. He said, "God gives us, both North and South, this terrible war, as the woe due to those by whom the offense came." It is as much our business to be engaged in making a better world as it is for each of us to seek personal purity and holiness.

We add to all these considerations an appeal to high patriotism. No civilization which ignores the Christian ideals can endure. The nation that sinneth—it shall surely die. Responsiveness to the divine standards is the only guarantee of perpetuity to any nation, people or civilization.

The most common failure of modern institutions is their neglect of human values. Life has become appallingly cheap as the frequent abductions and startling figures of homicide witness. A report by the Southern Commission on the Study of Lynching reveals that out of twenty-one victims of lynching in 1930, two were "certainly" innocent and eleven others were "possibly" so. While there were twenty lynchings in 1930, twice as many as in 1929, the rate has decreased from 225 in 1892 to an average of 17 annually during the past six years. Lynching is an unpardonable blight. We pray earnestly for the day when it shall utterly cease.

During the period of eighteen months in which we participated in the World War members of the American Expeditionary Force who were killed in action and died of wounds totaled 50,150. In a recent period of the same length 51,400 persons were killed by automobiles in the United States. In 1930, 33,000 persons were killed in such accidents and an additional 990,000 were injured. What avails our high speed if we kill people by the thousands and injure them by the hundreds of thousands? When will State Welfare departments in charge of automobile traffic learn wisdom from the experience of the railroads and deny absolutely to drinking or incompetent persons the right to drive? The safeguarding of human life calls for such action. The steel rails hold a locomotive to a well-defined course, but an automobile with a drunken or reckless driver is a frightful peril. Police Commissioner Herbert Wilson, of Boston, says, "This is an age of speed and of machines, but remember that gasoline and alcohol will not mix."

When Jesus expounded the law of the Sabbath in the words, "The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath," he stated a principle of universal value. Human life is of supreme worth. In the final analysis every phase of life is to be adjudged by its sensitiveness to human welfare. Money is for the making of manhood; man should never be degraded by a method of making money. Business is for man, not man for business; national and international policy is for man, not man for national and international policy; government is for man, not man for government; the state is for man, not man for the state; civilization is for man, not man for civilization. Jesus Christ is always for man. With this basic principle in mind we now propose to apply the Christian standards in some large areas of our modern life. Again the problem is to get the principles of Jesus put into practice.

The Christian Standard in Industry

The American Republic is only a little more than a century and a half old. In the great cities of the Middle West people still live who as children were carried there in covered wagons, and who remember vividly the perils of wild beasts and savages which threatened their households. But the seventy-five years since these early pioneers found their "better country" have transformed America. The inventive genius of the last century, by perfecting machinery, has laid the treasures of the world at our feet. This fact is true not for America only, but for other lands as well. Changes have been rapid. The church did not anticipate them; often did not recognize them when they arrived. Organized Christianity, through the early periods of industrialism, tolerated as apparently necessary many sordid standards in the business world. But the church has awakened. It has discovered that the industrial standards of a new machine age hold the world in a firm grip, providing big profits for those at the top, while often disregarding the welfare of the common man. The conscience of the church has been increasingly stirred with regard to this issue. The adoption of the Social Creed at the General Conference of 1908 gave wide official recognition of the claims of the social gospel, an emphasis which has since found parallel expression in our sister churches, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish. It is to our honor that the Methodists officially pioneered this modern movement. The gospel of social reconstruction has had to fight its way against many powerful adversaries. The path of its progress is stained with the blood of its warriors, some of them far-famed and "millions who, humble and nameless, the straight hard pathway trod."

It required two events of recent history to sharpen our insight into the ruthlessness of the pagan forces which now so largely rule the affairs of men and nations. We refer, of course, to the Great War and to the present world-wide industrial depression, with its millions of unemployed. We recognize clearly to-day that these events represent the logical conclusion to which the system under which we live was sure ultimately to bring the world. As we contemplate the present sorry plight of the children of men there is being born a new, deep conviction in our hearts—that the hope of the world lies in Jesus Christ and His Gospel, and that to build a world on anything else but His teachings and His spirit of love is to build on the sand. This conviction is based not on the experience and faith of a previous generation, not even upon the faith of the apostles, but on the rude, costly, cruel, awakening experiences of our own age. In dealing with questions of nationalism, industry and business the church has always been accused of getting outside its legitimate field; now we need no vindication other than the deplorable facts of our contemporary life to demonstrate convincingly that whether in the field of nationalism or business the choice which lies before the world is either "Christ or chaos."

The followers of Christ have the task of remaking the world upon the Christian teachings of brotherhood, and we recognize as sacred no system which would stand in the way of the free and unfettered development of manhood at its best. In taking this attitude we must also be ready to assume our share of the blame for things as they are. But now that we are awake to the seriousness of the situation and to the need of the gospel for making over the institutions of society as well as for the transformation of individual lives, we have put our hand to the plow and we dare not turn back, lest we become unfit for the kingdom of God.

Our agricultural people have been not only an economic, but a moral and religious mainstay of society. From our farms have come many of our sturdiest leaders. Methodism has been incomparably enriched by the preachers and laymen who were reared and inspired in our rural churches and communities. There is, therefore, a religious as well as a commercial reason for maintaining the agricultural life of our various states and countries on a basis that will provide such prices for the products of the land as may insure proper living conditions and comforts for our farmers and their families.

Analyzing the situation as it is to-day, we find granaries bursting and thousands starving; cotton piled high in warehouses, millions insufficiently clad and prices so low as to be the despair of the planter; banks bulging with money and widespread poverty; machinery equipment standing idle with multitudes in need of the things the machines could produce; mountains of coal and people freezing; able-bodied men and women, eager to work and not too particular about the amount of their wage, forced to take the necessities of life for themselves and their children from charity. It can not be denied that the industrial practices of past decades have given us the deplorable conditions of to-day. Industry has as a rule given labor a grudging, insufficient wage, keeping it down by child exploitation, by suppression of legitimate organizations, and by other expedients, while at the same time huge fortunes have been amassed for the favored owners of the resources of production. To-day the burden is without conscience shifted to the worker who, after giving his labor for miserable financial results, is turned off to starve or beg. Thus, the machine, which might have been used to lift the load of poverty from the backs of all the people, has been used selfishly for the benefit of the few. Such a situation is intolerable.

According to the estimate of Dr. W. I. King, of the National Bureau of Economic Research, 1 per cent of the people own 33 per cent of the wealth of the country; 10 per cent own nearly two-thirds, while the poorest 25 per cent possess only about 3.5 per cent of the wealth.

Only 3,000,000 of the 51,000,000 legally employable workers of the country get a living wage, and over 16,000,000 of the total receive less than $25 per week.

We as a church recognize that the wicked saying, "Might makes right," is the complete antithesis of the religion of Jesus, and yet we are forced to confess with shame that the system of business which has grown up side by side with the church has proceeded largely on the basis of this un-Christian maxim.

It is a satisfaction to note the increasing disposition on the part of industry to feel a responsibility for the worker. We heartily commend those who are trying to conform their business policies to Christian principles. The worth of human life lies at the root of the social teaching of Jesus. When industry has violated that ideal it has been anti-Christian. And more! It has demonstrated that anti-Christian practices are not only bad religion, but that they are also bad business. We as a church stand ready to share the blame for these conditions. But we know now that the kingdom of God cannot be built upon the poverty of the many and the absurd and cruel wealth of the few. From the viewpoint of citizenship we of America know that the democracy for which our fathers died may be destroyed by the inhuman and un-Christian monopoly of great wealth. Such a monopoly would destroy business itself. And if not corrected it would destroy society and the state. In no uncertain terms and with deep conviction we call upon the leaders of both capital and labor to remake the whole structure of industrial life upon the teachings of Christ, who said, "Whosoever heareth these sayings of mine and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man which built his house upon the sand. And the rain descended and the floods came and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell; and great was the fall of it." Those who refuse to listen to the demands for such reconstruction constitute a most dangerous threat to the development of orderly civilization. For if by their continued resistance this needed reconstruction is made impossible as an orderly development, a breaking point is sure to come, as a result of which much that is good in our present civilization will perish in the attempt to do away with much that is evil.

Temperance and Prohibition

We are confronted to-day with a serious crisis in our work for a sober world. It is proposed by the wets that we abandon Federal Prohibition and turn back to local and state control. Guided by the events of history let us see what this would mean.

More than fourscore years ago the right of the American people to outlaw the alcoholic drink traffic was asserted by state legislation and established by Supreme Court decision.

For a century the Temperance Revolution was an idea working on public opinion outside law and government. To-day it is a fact fully approved by law and government, armed with every resource of legal action. A century ago the alcoholic drink traffic had every right of property, of free contract and police protection, and appeared to be forever secure. To-day it is a hunted outlaw bearing the mark of Cain. Between the old social order characterized from center to circumference with drink customs and traffic, and the new social order, still in the making, there lies a century of mighty changes.

The prophets and statesmen of the early temperance movement saw clearly the necessity for this battle with intemperance. Washington, on the eve of the presidency, had pronounced strong drink "the source of all evil and the ruin of half the workmen of the country." Legal action by the state to abolish drinking was a principle unrecognized. But men of thought and action, battling against heavy odds, reached out beyond moral suasion and temperance education to establish the right of temperance legislation. At the first World Temperance Convention, Horace Greeley exclaimed: "Temperance advocates, carry your prayers into politics—deposit your temperance convictions in the ballot box."

As early as 1847 it was decided that there is nothing in our Constitution to prevent the people from regulating or prohibiting the liquor traffic. The decisions of the Supreme Court from the time of Chief Justice Taney, a distinguished son of Maryland, until now form the legal dictionary of the temperance movement. Chief Justice White in 1917 climaxed these in the immortal words: "The absolute power of government over the whole liquor business is a closed question. It reaches to the prevention of personal use by destroying the means of obtaining intoxicants."

Acting upon the early interpretation of the Supreme Court, as written by Taney, the Pine Tree State voted to make the great experiment, and the Maine Law was enacted. The Supreme Court had already blessed the principle of state prohibition. Henceforth, the temperance forces for more than forty years pursued the outlawry of the drink traffic exclusively under the principle of local self-government, while holding to National Prohibition as the distant goal of their strategy. The movement against intemperance by political and legal action advanced during the first great period of railroad building to statewide action and, finally, during the second great period of railroad building and with the advent of the automobile, proceeded to a federal policy. And here we come upon a fact of history which is also a sentence of judgment During these times the liquor people were the foes of local or state control. They withstood every effort to fasten the collar of the law about the neck of the liquor business. They relied upon national regulation to keep the channels of commerce wide open to the liquor traffic and to block every advance of the temperance movement. The liquor interests have been driven at length from their legal strongholds and have lost control of the Federal government. They have recently experienced a radical change of heart and have now turned to State Rights. Thus a total revolution in political doctrine and strategy has taken place. The temperance forces and the liquor interests have changed sides completely.

Why this radical change of front? Why have the temperance forces, after a half-century of effort to organize their movement into municipal and state law, advanced from local to national principles? Why has the opposition, after resisting for seventy years every form of local control, repudiated national and adopted local principles? The answers to these questions are vital.

State prohibition is a deposit of the national temperance awakening in the second quarter of the nineteenth century. Massachusetts recommended legal action in 1820. Six years later the temperance movement became aggressive. The policy of local option was established in the thirties, and the principle of prohibition received in 1847, as already stated, the approval of the Supreme Court. Armed with the highest legal assurance that the people have power to outlaw the alcoholic drink traffic, the temperance cause won victory after victory until within five years (1851-1855) thirteen states abolished brewery and saloon. The temperance forces were on the march. There was for a brief time hope that the wave of temperance sentiment would cover the land.

Then suddenly the movement halted. The repeal of the Missouri Compromise revived the discussion of slavery and the cause of temperance suffered greatly. Ten out of thirteen states reversed themselves. As an exigency of war finance a close business alliance between the Federal government and the liquor traffic was formed in 1862, for revenue purposes. This was part of a war measure to tax everything. Despite the fact that it would be impossible to devise a more effective form of legal and political security or a more fatal barrier to the progress of the temperance cause than this economic alliance of the government with the liquor business, the liquor men, with incredible blindness, organized nationally to resist these tax burdens. For fifty-five years the government received an immense revenue from the liquor traffic. The Federal authority set up a nation-wide licensing system which laid the hands of national law on the whole liquor business, not to suppress it, but exactly the opposite, that it might become a partner in the business.

The temperance cause well nigh perished under these conditions. It reached the low-water mark of its influence in the seventies, when it had no voice in legislation and no influence upon the administration of government. The liquor interests were everywhere in political ascendancy. Flushed with domination, the organized traffic blacklisted all aspirants for public office who were total abstainers. Against these they declared a political boycott. Federal officials sat in annual conventions bearing the greetings and congratulations of the government over the growing prosperity of brewery, distillery and saloon, and gave assurance of active co-operation to promote the business at home and abroad. In sinister consistency with all this, corruption in politics, cynicism in morals, deadness in religion, incapacity for great idealism settled down upon an exhausted nation.

Again the Supreme Court spoke. In a decision, which marks the beginning of the epoch of national prohibition, it ruled that the people of a state could not close the gates of interstate commerce against the liquor traffic. Of course, the Supreme Court did not make this law. It simply interpreted the law. The people, under the principle of local self-government, could not, even in self-defense against so great an evil, forbid railways or other carriers from transporting alcoholic drinks across town and state lines.

The liquor business thus came out of one of the greatest of legal battles, completely master of the situation. State control had been swept away in fact in the maelstrom of the Civil War; it was now swept away in principle by judicial authority. In view of the enormous advantages of the liquor interests, in view of the immense benefits which they derived from national control and their business alliance with the government, in view of the ultra-political and legal security of the whole business against local interference, well might temperance men and women ask, whether the temperance cause had a future.

It proved to be a turning point in the history of the movement when friend and foe alike knew that state control had been done to death. All the liquor business had to do with respect to a no-license community was to locate at a convenient point outside and announce business as usual. And states were no better off. Temperance workers in state legislatures before 1917 will recall how representatives of the liquor interests argued that it simply was a waste of time for any state to prohibit the liquor traffic. State authority could only stultify itself in prohibiting a business which the national government stood ready to legalize anywhere and everywhere. Who to-day could believe this but for the fact that thirty years ago there were more than three thousand nationally licensed liquor dealers in the prohibition State of Kansas, a typical case, and that Uncle Sam received big revenues by selling liquor-lawlessness in temperance communities

The temperance forces were thus driven by the very failure of state prohibition to seek a national Constitutional Amendment as a method of doing what could not be done otherwise. The Church of God girded itself again for the struggle. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union gave tremendous re-enforcement. There ensued thirty more years of political war (1887-1917) between the temperance and the liquor forces. The "drys" gained steadily as the evils of the liquor traffic burned their way into men's consciences. Town after town, county after county, state after state voted dry despite the difficulties of local enforcement. As a result, by 1917, out of the 3,072 counties in the United States, all but 461 were dry by their own vote. Attempts were also made to win back the substance of state and local control through Acts of Congress. The Wilson Act of 1891, which forbade receipt of imported liquors in a dry area for sale purposes; the Webb-Kenyon Act of 1913, which forbade receipt for personal use; the Reed Bone Dry Amendment of 1917, which forbade all interstate commerce in alcoholic drinks in prohibition states, are three stages in the struggle of temperance communities to recover local control. Consent of Congress was secured to uphold local prohibition by locking the gates of interstate commerce against the outlawed business. The sole design of these Congressional statutes was to restore the rights of self-government in temperance communities. But the effort was futile, because the liquor traffic, then as now, was lawless.

When the repealists to-day attack the national outlawry of the liquor traffic on the ground that it is national and does not respect public opinion in certain states, they must be sharply reminded that from 1862 until 1917 the dry sentiments of people in many states and thousands of communities were disregarded by a Federal policy which the liquor dealers themselves promoted.

The most ardent advocate of the temperance cause will gladly admit that if communities and states, where public opinion demanded it, could have outlawed the alcoholic drink traffic effectively without nationalizing prohibition, there would have been no provocation for taking this final step of constitutional amendment.

Prohibition has proven itself embarrassing in certain regions, where public opinion protests, just as in the previous order of things dry states doing their utmost to outlaw the liquor traffic had liquor imposed upon them against their will. This dilemma is the crux of the opposition to the Eighteenth Amendment. In view of two very dynamic things, namely, the commercial power of Congress and our present travel and transportation facilities, cities and states can neither in law nor in effect restrain the liquor traffic without nationalizing prohibition.

We are now, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico, closely knit together in one common life. Each unit of local self-government is so instantly and easily accessible to every other part that dry towns, cities and states must either submit again to have the liquor traffic imposed upon them against their will, or insist that prohibition be enforced wherever public opinion lags behind. One or the other social system must go. There is no room in our national household for two antagonistic systems, one legalizing the liquor traffic, the other outlawing it. We can no more have a nation half drunk and half sober than in the days of Lincoln it was possible to have a nation half slave and half free. If choose we must, surely the choice of the American people will be dictated by reason, conscience, patriotism and the interests of the family and the home.

Yet around us to-day the repealists are demanding that we renounce the policy slowly hammered out upon the anvil of education, agitation, and counsel; slowly constructed by a century of legislation and judicial interpretation. The object of that policy has been and is to put the use of alcoholic drinks in the course of ultimate extinction. We are asked to forget all the wide and varied experiences of by-gone days and to abandon all the good work of a century.

As a possible substitute for national prohibition the repealists have not been able in fourteen years to think out anything better than the reactionary proposal to turn the whole liquor question back to local control or the desperate expedient of having the government go into the alcoholic drink businses. What we commonly hear is, "Leave it to the communities that want the traffic back again to solve the problem for all of us." Leave it to the sidewalks of New York and the slums of Chicago!

Lincoln said that resistance to the national control and solution of the slavery question in the name of the sacred right of local self-government was a device to debauch public opinion. We have a like condition to-day.

A form of state control is now proposed which is said to be different. In what respect different? It is represented to possess all sorts of political magic. The temperance communities are asked to surrender every political bond of security. Allow the wet states to get out from under the Eighteenth Amendment and then trust them implicitly to protect the dry states? How absurd! Let the government go into the alcoholic drink traffic! The picture of the Stars and Stripes floating over brewery, distillery and retail liquor houses is utterly repugnant to all right feeling and extremely offensive to patriotic sentiment. It shall never be.

What could better expose the utter political, intellectual and moral bankruptcy of the liquor interests than their inability to submit anything more significant? National outlawry has its difficulties. Who expected anything else? But can they be compared to the dangerous implications of these counter-proposals? The liquor interests refuse to be controlled by any law. The sooner the government recognizes that fact the better. Ours is a government by the consent of the governed. It never has been a government by the consent of those who defy law and order. National prohibition has the support of the sober, industrious, God-fearing, law-abiding element of the nation. Have faith in the American people! As between an enlightened, constructive, forward-looking national policy, the purely reactionary proposal of state control or the desperate expedient of putting the government into the liquor business, the millions of American people who were responsible for the Eighteenth Amendment can be trusted to make wise choice.

Meanwhile we do well to remind ourselves of certain outstanding features of the present situation.

First—The Eighteenth Amendment has closed the American saloon. Any law which accomplished that is entitled to the gratitude of the American people. If we still have the speak-easy, is it not true that long before prohibition the lawless resort was both the breeder and the parasite of the liquor traffic?

Second—It is clear that the liquor interests refuse any and every form of restraint or control. When local or state procedure goes against them they demand Federal intervention. When Federal authority bids fair to do them harm, they urge state control. Through all the years of this long struggle, their course has been one of insincerity and hypocrisy. They have never been interested to discover the best form of control, but have always sought to evade every regulation. They acknowledge no law save that of avarice and appetite.

Third—When we consider the forces arrayed against it we conclude that the Amendment has made remarkable progress. No law of our country has been called upon to resist a propaganda so conscienceless and so vast. During this conflict to preserve the sanctity of law, the Metropolitan Press, with rare exceptions, has written one of the most shameless chapters in the history of the Republic. All honor to the papers, whether in city or town, that support the Constitution. The liquor interests of Europe have been invoked by the wets and are active in co-operation for repeal. A small but outstanding group of some of America's rich men are now seeking, by the expenditure of vast sums of money, to secure the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. This would evidently shift the burden of taxation from their own shoulders to the backs of the poor.

Through the better part of eight years, prohibition enforcement was largely in the hands of its enemies. Considering this fact we must conclude that there is a vast power of public opinion behind it or it would not have survived. The present administration has given the Eighteenth Amendment the best enforcement it has had, but the government must deal with it in more vigorous fashion. We urge that this law, adopted for the welfare of the nation, may be allowed to make full proof of its worth.

It seems to be necessary in these days of muddy thinking to remind the public that behind the activities of temperance forces has been a sincere ethical interest. They have fought liquor, not because it has made men happy, but because it has made men unhappy. Back in the license days the evils of the liquor traffic were manifest. Alcohol and poverty, crime, under-privileged children, disease and corrupt politics were all of a piece and their connection was as apparent as that of a knot of snakes in a glass cage. With the passage of the Eighteenth Amendment this connection became less obvious, and the enemies of prohibition becloud the thinking of many by creating the impression that it is prohibition rather than liquor which is the breeder of evils. The "wets," whose law-breaking proclivities are a matter of long history, are now playing the role of reformers. They are concerned for the law of the country and the welfare of its people. They would have us go back to license so that the laws may be better observed, so that hard times may be ended, so that people may cease to drink alcoholic beverages. What a spectacle!

There are honest "wets," we admit. They are not those described above. They are men who will frankly state that they want liquor back so that they may drink it themselves. These men are to be respected for their honesty, and pitied for their weakness. Our answer to them is that their appetites can be satisfied only at too great a social cost; our appeal to them is that they put the general good above self gratification and that they should be law-observers instead of law-breakers.

As a church we can follow no course except the one that will reduce the consumption of beverage alcohol to the minimum. We are convinced that national prohibition is that method.

Shall the citizenship of the United States barter the souls and bodies of its youth, and the homes of its people in any effort to legalize the liquor traffic again? In the name of God and humanity, we protest. We stand with the Anti-Saloon League, our own Board of Temperance and with the overwhelming majority of church people, against this insidious effort to restore the reign of John Barleycorn. With millions of other citizens we are committed to the permanency of the Eighteenth Amendment with all the patriotic, humanitarian, and moral earnestness of which we are capable. And we object to attempts to repeal an article of the Constitution by clamor, straw votes and propagandism. We urge a new, vigorous educational campaign by civic and Christian bodies among the youth of our land that they may know the truth in this matter—the truth that shall make and keep them free from the deadly scourge which threatens all sacred human values. It is the time to hold steady; the time to re-enforce morally and financially the established agencies arrayed against the demon rum. Let all who believe in a sober nation stand together. Victory for the right is sure in the end.

Peace or War?

The principle of world progress is stated in a verse of Scripture, "Be not overcome of evil but overcome evil with good." This does not refer simply to personal sin. It is a universal principle of action suggesting the difference between the negative and the positive attitudes in the midst of the forces of human life. The nations of our contemporary world have allowed the evils of fear, superstition, competition and hatred to overcome the higher values of international co-operation and good will. There is crying need just now for an integrating moral center about which the constructive forces of national and international life may gather. It is clear that the President of the United States holds this view. Nothing could be more to the point than his radio address delivered to the Methodist Ecumenical Conference assembled in Atlanta, Georgia. He says: "May I close this brief message with a word upon the theme very close to my heart and, I believe, equally close to yours? I refer to peace among all men that dwell on the earth, to a future free from the horrors, the wrongs, and the results of wars between nations. It seems strange and incredible that after all the centuries of man's experience with war we still have to discuss it and argue against it."

"It seems even more strange that with all the crushing burdens resting upon every nation because of wars we still make progress against them at snail's pace. The nations groan under taxation, people of all lands suffer daily from economic depression, governments are perplexed—and yet we go on using incalculable sums in evident dread of those that may come upon us. A new mind must be made in the world on this subject; a new spirit must be created within the nations and between the nations. I appeal to you as representatives of Methodists everywhere to unite with all other lovers of good will and followers of the Prince of Peace for the making of human brotherhood, in which the peace of God shall prevail in the lives of men." The burden of the President's heart is that, notwithstanding the unbearable oppressions of war, we make progress against them all too slowly. The recent history of the American diplomacy illustrates this fact.

Presidents Wilson, Harding and Coolidge have likewise spoken vigorously to the same general effect—so much so that their utterances could be used to confirm the words spoken by President Hoover on his accession to office—"Our foreign policy has one primary object and that is peace."

How, then, may the snail's pace be made to give way to a speed more consistent with our times? Human progress advances in epochs. The length of an epoch depends upon the great moral ideal about which its forces revolve. When the fullness of time for the ideal has come that particular epoch gives way to a new development. This must have been in the mind of Victor Hugo when he declared, "Nothing is quite so powerful in this world as an idea whose time has come." We stand at the end of an epoch in which war-mindedness was the center. That era has brought modern civilization to the brink of ruin. The whole world is a-tremble in the balance between hope and despair. Our present situation is surely sufficiently serious to show thinking men what war will do to a generation of human beings.

In our endeavor to reach life's highest ideals we have gone beyond the day when war-mindedness is of any value in our program of progress. From an economic point of view war is insanity. From the viewpoint of world morale it is chaos. In a word, war, from every viewpoint, "is hell," as Sherman declared. At the close of every conflict there is always much discussion upon the question, "Who won the war?" Under modern methods of conflict, no nation can ever again win a war. A nation may demonstrate its military superiority, but no power can ever win any war, without such vast costs as are bound to outweigh the gains. Science, by making possible mass destruction of life and property, has forever put an end to war-winning. The nations of the earth are ready for a new epoch with friendly co-operation and good will at its center. The idea of world peace has come to its own. All civilization eagerly awaits action consistent with the demands of the new day.

In the Kellogg-Briand treaty the nations of the world are officially on record that they have abolished war as an instrument of national policy. The Geneva Conference now in session is endeavoring to carry to further effect the promise of this treaty and to consider all proposals for the reduction of armaments. This would seem to be the next rational move. Otherwise the promises will be adjudged as worth nothing at all. In the reduction of armaments any nation should be proud to participate. Let us make a bold adventure in behalf of human weal. Let the nations be born anew to this great vision and before the world covenant to safeguard human values.

To act decisively for world peace would be in fulfillment of the deepest law of life for men and for nations. "Whosoever will save his life must lose it," and whosoever shall lose his life to serve a high moral ideal shall save it. Let us take a course consistent with this idealism, readjust our policy on war debts which are impoverishing Europe as well as ourselves, and then let us take the lead in the reduction of war machinery. Let us declare to all the world that our dominant interests are not economic, industrial, political, imperial, but that we respond earnestly to the sacredness of human values. It is a time to put into practice the teachings of Jesus. Such course on the part of the United States would lift the whole world to a new hope and brighter outlook. Thus, and thus only, can America preserve herself, and in preserving herself, help to save the world.

We therefore repeat with renewed emphasis the action found in paragraph 598 of our last Discipline, as representing another alliance for peace that our country may add to our participation in the Kellogg-Briand Treaty and the Geneva Conference: "We call upon our members as citizens to exert themselves to the utmost to secure the participation of their respective governments in a World Court, which shall have affirmative jurisdiction over all international disputes and shall develop and administer international law upon the basic principle that war is a crime. We urge upon our members their duty as citizens to secure the participation of their respective governments in an effective Association of Nations which shall undertake to remove the causes of war and to lead the world into the ways of peace."

Recognizing militarism as a chief enemy of humanity, we cannot escape the conviction that another war might confront our people, in one country or another, with a definite choice between Christ and anti-Christ. We would not seek to interfere with the consciences of our individual members and ministers. The right of private judgment is a part of our Christian heritage and should be protected against both Church and State. Nor would we, as a Church, seek to bind the consciences of our people with reference to possible future situations which may involve undue individualism or unworthy corporate pressure. But our convictions compel us to declare ourselves against the manufacture for profit and the sale of munitions of war by private corporations; against all forms of militaristic propagandism that make for the mind toward war rather than the mind toward peace; and against all movements that tend to create larger armaments or to hinder international agreements which are calculated to decrease and finally to banish the war system. Our supreme thought and determination are, and we trust ever will be, directed to the fulfillment of the most noble utterance of history, the Sermon on the Mount, and to the establishment on the most permanent foundation of the kingdom of the Prince of Peace.

The Power

We see now the magnitude of the task to which we must dedicate ourselves. To make the practices of our church square themselves with the spirit of Jesus and to secure the dominance of His principles in such vast areas as industry, temperance reform and international affairs is a gigantic undertaking. It is no less a task than to fill the words Christianity and Civilization with the content of the mind of Jesus. Oh, that it might be done! The very dream of it is enough to make us cry out with Paul, in agony of soul, "Who is sufficient for these things?" Where, then, may we hope to discover the power adequate for such an undertaking?

The discovery and release of power is one of the amazements of scientific progress. A distinguished experimenter tells us that in a tiny lump of coal there is sufficient power, if it could all be released and conserved, to drive the steamship Mauretania from Liverpool to New York and back again. If God has so compacted his material universe with energy, certainly he must have provided power for the higher work of spiritual conquest. That power does exist and awaits release. It is nothing less than the energy of his own infinite life which he imparts to men for personal and world redemption.

For the needs of a distressed world God in Christ must be rediscovered and reaffirmed. We must somehow make the resources in him available for human need. He must become actual in thought, in life, in program. Perhaps we are in a better way than we are aware for the realization of a Christ-filled world. We are witnessing to-day a most remarkable revival of interest in God, the fact of God, the reality of God, the certainty of God, the helpfulness of God. This interest in God is nowhere more evident, strange as it may seem, than among those who are forever proclaiming that there is no God. If they are so sure in their atheism, why do they persist in agitating the subject? If they are fully convinced, why do they not rest quietly content in their philosophy? One is reminded of the professed atheist who arose to speak and began his address as follows: "My grandfather was an atheist, my father was an atheist, and, THANK God,

I am an atheist." This incident recalls the observation of Isaiah, "He that is so impoverished that he hath no oblation chooseth a tree that will not rot. He getteth unto him a cunning workman to prepare a graven image that shall not be moved." Saint Augustine stated a truth that is universal when he said, "Thou hast made us for thy self and our souls are restless until they find rest in thee."

Probably never in the history of the world has that fine saying of Plato had such remarkable fulfillment as in our own day, "Whether a man wants to be a philosopher or does not want to be a philosopher, he has to be a philosopher; and whether a man wants to be religious or does not want to be religious, he has to be religious, because the universe—its mysteries, its allurements, its beckonings—will never let him alone."

From far down below all the restlessness of our age we hear deep calling unto deep in the heart cry of humanity, "Oh, that I knew where I might find him!"

In the realm of Christian philosophy we find the same condition greatly accentuated. God is now the theme of the thinkers urgently, insistently. He is the subject of their constant research, whether He be infinite or whether He be limited.

These facts are full of encouragement as a background, but they will not suffice as a weapon of warfare for the church of God in our day. The real friends of God are supposed to have passed beyond speculative attitudes into the realm of certainty, into an actual fellowship with the great Companion which is more deep, more real than any human friendship can possibly be.

Calvary

The lifting power of two great manifestations of God must be made available for the rescue of our age. These are the revelations of Calvary and of Pentecost. World redemption is the measure of the mind, the purpose, the wisdom, the love, the power of God. God centers His vast undertaking in Jesus Christ. Here was an approach entirely unlike anything in human experience. The lowliness of Christ's life and the manner of his death as redemptive elements were the principal causes of surprise and offense. Nevertheless, Paul takes his bold stand upon the declaration, "But we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumbling block and unto the Greeks foolishness, but unto them which are both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God." In the gospel record Caiaphas the High Priest spoke more truly than he knew when he gave counsel to the Jews that it was expedient that one man should die for the people. That is a continuous principle in human progress. Always somebody must be dying for the common weal. It is God's way. He summons the noblest souls of every generation to this lofty sacrifice. Where there is no response decay sets in. This divine principle holds in every age and among all nations. The gift of life is the price of redemption. No other way will suffice to redeem a race from moral corruption. It is God's costly method of uplift.

Hence, the centrality of the cross. Modern Christianity has gone sadly astray at this point. In trying to further the work of the Kingdom we have tried everything else —organization, publicity, programs, social service, ethical culture, apportionments, everything except the cross. The weakness of modern Christianity is that it has so largely neglected the cross. Kagawa declares that the cross is the only fundamental doctrine of Christianity. But some, alas, have made it only incidental.

In a moment of vision Paul exclaims, "God forbid that I should glory save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ."

So also our Saviour set his face steadfastly to go to Jerusalem, knowing well that he was going to Calvary. He said to his disciples that the Son of Man must suffer and be killed. He did not try to evade his male-factors. Escape would have been easy, but He chose the path of courage and sacrifice, at the same time denying that he was a helpless victim. The meaning of it all is that our Lord welcomed the cross as an opportunity. He went to it triumphantly, not through any artificial compulsion nor through any meaningless martyrdom, but that by it he might reveal to men the depth of God's love and the price necessary, owing to the hardness of the human heart, to deliver mankind from bondage to sin. The author of the Epistle to the Hebrews gives us a passage which should cause every man to hide his face in the dust for shame. Speaking of Jesus, he says, "Who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God." Jesus is the hero of all the ages. Before such strength we stand awe-stricken in wonder, love, and praise.

Theology, perhaps without intending to do so, has greatly weakened the effectiveness of the meaning of the cross by referring it so largely to the court of heaven and by making it a doctrine to be believed instead of a life to be lived. This has given it a far-awayness which makes it seem unreal. God will take care of that aspect of the matter. Leave it to Him. We should accept the cross naturally as Jesus accepted it, as the divine method of redemption operative here and now—the acme of life's privilege—the deepest secret of life's meaning.

But the spirit of the cross goes even deeper. In our study of the character of God we are getting new glimpses of the meaning of the cross as it reveals the divine nature. The cross is at the very heart of the Father as truly as at the heart of Jesus. If God be a Christlike God, as we believe, and if the cross best symbolizes Christ, then it follows that it best symbolizes God also. The great truth of the cross pervades God's universe. No man can sense the meaning either of the cross or of the universe who has not learned the lesson of the gift of self, of life, of all.

whole creation as groaning and travailing in pain in earnest expectation, yearning to be delivered from the bonds of corruption into the glorious liberty of the sons of God. Waiting! Waiting! How long, O Lord, how long will we keep thee and thy creation waiting? When will the sons of God claim their heritage to leadership? When will we actually dedicate ourselves to the great business of making sure that Christ "shall see of the travail of his soul and be satisfied?" When? "Behold, now is the accepted time; now is the day of salvation."

When the mother of Zebedee's sons came to Jesus asking that each of them might have a position of honor, Jesus said to them, "Are ye able to drink of the cup that I shall drink of and to be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?", thereby pointing to his sufferings and death. And they said, "We are able." Little did they know what it all meant.

As we face our task we acknowledge that our burden often seems greater than we can bear. We, too, like those of old, have stumbled at the cross. But seeing its place in God's plan of human redemption we would today "present our bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God which is our reasonable service." Thou Master of us all, we would share thy agony, live thy life, breathe thy spirit. We do earnestly pray, according to the measure of strength which thou dost impart to the sons of men, "Lord, make us able." "Make us worthy."

The writer of the Apocalypse portrays a scene of discouragement and offers a cure. "And I saw in the right hand of him that sat upon the throne a book written within and on the back side, sealed with seven seals. And I saw a strong angel proclaiming with a loud voice, Who is worthy to open the book, and to loose the seals thereof? And no man in heaven, nor in earth, neither under the earth, was able to open the book, . . . and I wept much. . . . And one of the elders saith unto me, Weep not: behold, the Lion of the tribe of Judah, the Root of David, hath prevailed to open the book. And I beheld, and Lo, in the midst of the throne stood a Lamb as it had been slain. . . . And he came and took the book out of the right hand of him that sat upon the throne. And when he had taken the book, the four beasts and four and twenty elders fell down before the Lamb. . . . And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood . . . and hast made us unto our God kings and priests. And I beheld, and I heard the voice of many angels round about the throne, saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing."

It required for the stupendous task none other than the Lion of the tribe of Judah himself transformed into the Lamb slain. No man was adequate. The Lamb slain is the center of every picture. Before him the beasts and the elders fell down and worshiped. About him gathered the mighty chorus which sang the new song: Unto him, the Lamb slain, rang out the hallelujahs of the skies. The cross! The glorious cross! The eternal cross!

Pentecost

Suppose now it be possible to make the cross really dynamic. This was the very thing which took place in the experience of the disciples at Pentecost when their great commission of world conquest was sealed by the promise, "Lo, I am with you alway, even to the end of the world." When Calvary and Pentecost meet it is for world redemption. Such coincidence represents the fullness of God's time. The cross gives purpose to Pentecost. Pentecost gives dynamic to the cross. This baptism was given for the specific purpose of world conquest in the name of Christ.

Nothing has been more harmful to the church than the neglect of Pentecost. Jesus pointed to Pentecost as holding greater possibilities than all the achievements of his ministry in the flesh when he declared, "Greater works than these shall ye do because I go unto the Father."

Not long ago we celebrated the anniversary of Pentecost—once within a century. Have we forgotten that Pentecost was the birth of the early church? We have too long been content with an intellectual persuasion of a far-away God and a theologically interpreted Christ. These beliefs are valuable as a background, but they are not adequate to the redemption of such a world as ours in such a day as ours. God must be realized. Jesus must be re-lived. The Holy Spirit must be graciously received, joyously and continuously expressed, the very life of our life, the very power of our Christian profession. We have lost the radiance of that presence. The fathers had it. We must regain it. Otherwise we perish as a living force for God and his Kingdom. God is seeking a church which will gladly become the revelation of his power for individual and world salvation. The great happening of Pentecost was the empowering of men. This came about through the gift of the Holy Spirit which gave the sons of God an overwhelming consciousness of God's presence. This was their power.

The Holy Spirit is the Spirit of God as he enriches and guides the religious experience of believers. The Spirit of God achieving his redemptive purpose completely infills the receptive personality of Jesus. The Spirit of God thus attains a new experience in the human. The life of God in Jesus is perfect, the life of Jesus in God is perfect. This life becomes the conscious possession of those who gladly accept it. The Spirit of God has ranged and infilled the realms of divine and human personality. It is not strange, therefore, that the disciples used the term Holy Spirit with the content of a personal, intimate, beautiful tenderness. We feel the glow of it as we hear their joyful words; the power of it as we observe their boldness in the presence of every enemy.

We see our problem clearly. We feel the appeal of it. We earnestly desire to do our duty, but alas, "That which we would, we do not." Our lack is motivation. How shall we acquire it? It is deeply wrought into all our thinking that the motive power for Christian living and achievement is in the living Christ of Pentecost. But unless it become actual for service through his believing children his work languishes. "Jesus Christ alone can save the world, but even Jesus Christ cannot save the world alone." He summons his Church to his enterprise.

Where did the disciples and the early church find power? They found it at Pentecost. We must find it there. God has provided no better way for us. But that way is wide open.

It is a mistake to regard Pentecost as separate and apart from the other events and experiences of the Christian life. Every doctrine of Scripture and of experience demands Pentecost for its deepest realization and crowning. In one of the councils of our church recently an honored servant of God asked whether the church still believes in immortality. It seemed to him we were neglecting that important truth. Only the experience of Pentecost, giving us a vivid realization of the eternal life here and now, can work in us the faith and power of an endless life. Whenever we fail to experience a doctrine we cease preaching it. When we cease preaching it we and our people cease believing it. In our treatment of the great fact of immortality we must not be content to stop at Athens, we must go on to Jerusalem and from Aristotle and Plato to the Risen Christ of Pentecost.

Harnack said thirty years ago, "There is no other fact in all history which mankind needs so much to have brought home as this—a man of the name of Jesus Christ once stood in our midst." That is a fine appreciation of the historic Jesus, but it is not enough. Professor Harnack himself has recently taken a more advanced position. Asked by a distinguished minister of our own Church where may be found the seat of authority in religion he replied, with glowing countenance, "It is found when the Jesus of History becomes the Christ of experience." Here is a truly Wesleyan utterance. It is suggestive of the strange warming of John Wesley's heart in Aldersgate Street.

Only Pentecost can assure this great fact to our souls. Pentecost makes Christ present, living, real, vibrant. A man of the name of Jesus Christ stands in our midst, to-day—closer than language can portray or imagination can conceive; close as our very deepest self in our soul's hunger for God. And that manifestation signalized Pentecost. There is wide complaint in our day regarding the lack of the note of certainty in religion. Nothing but the experience of Pentecost in our own hearts and in the heart of the entire church can give us a conviction of certainty as regards the great doctrines of our faith. Convincing, satisfying certitude in matters of religion does not come from without. It results only from the blessed ministry of God's good Spirit in the hearts of believers.

This, then, is our immediate imperative call—to experience in our innermost souls the actual presence and indwelling of the ever-living mystical Christ, guiding us in our perplexities, strengthening us in our weakness, supporting us in our discouragements, leading us on unafraid in our efforts to realize his glorious vision of the kingdom of God.

We observe a marked change of strategy in the Christian procedure after Pentecost. Human plans give way to a waiting for the mind of the Spirit. Human instrumentality becomes less conspicuous—divine leadership and direction more dominant. God took charge of the Christian enterprise. The early church acknowledged in Him full right to command. Dare we accept and apply the lesson? A cultivated Christian young woman with a radiant experience has written, "If Christians had ever been brave enough to make Christ alive, nobody would now be saying that Christianity is dead." How, then, may we hope to attain so deep, so great, so rich a secret? The early church found it in Pentecost. So must we. How is it that we have failed so largely in our aspirations for this attainment?

"The world is too much with us; late and soon, Getting and spending, we lay waste our powers."

We have been too self-reliant, depending upon our human resources, forgetful of our divine riches. "It is not by might nor by power, but by my spirit," saith the Lord.

We have been too much absorbed in temporal concerns. As we have been busy here and there, the truly important values of life have slipped from us.

We have been too noisy. How little heed does this raucous generation pay to the exhortation, "Be still and know that I am God." We have neglected all too long the secret place of the Most High—the place of prayer; of deep quiet consciousness of need, of mutual suffering with our Lord, of secret, blissful aloneness with God.

There are choice souls who somehow carry with them the atmosphere of eternal worlds. To be with them is to find one's self thinking of abiding verities—of duty, of destiny, of God. That secret is entrusted only to those who make it a habit to practice the presence of God.

The church must attain such an experience and create such an atmosphere. It will never conquer in this bewildered and bewildering world unless it find that secret and hold it priceless above every other thing. Our God is not the God of the dead, he is the God of the living, and his church must prove it by becoming the tabernacle of his continuous indwelling, of his ever-guiding, sustaining, inspiring presence.

If now this General Conference could come to the consciousness of the open heavens; if we bring to all matters of discussion and decision the moral, quiet meditation and earnest prayer, making sure that we have discovered the mind of the Spirit; if delegates, aware of their sacred responsibility, bring to the session of each day the priceless possession of the presence of God in their hearts, it would lift the entire church to a higher level of life and devotion. It would send us back to our homes and to our world-wide fields with a song of victory in our hearts, assured that God lives because he lives in us.

And why not? Why not now? Behold, God is here! God is here!

GENERAL CONFERENCE OF 1932

MONDAY MORNING, MAY 2, 1932

MAY 2 FIRST DAY. Morning.

THE THIRTY-FIRST SESSION OF THE DELEGATED GENERAL CONFERENCE OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH convened in the Municipal Auditorium, Atlantic City, New Jersey, on the second day of May, nineteen hundred thirty-two, at ten o'clock A. M.

Bishop William F. McDowell, senior effective Bishop of the Church, called the Conference to order, saying:

Devotions.

In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, the Thirty-first General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church is now called to order for worship and service.

O come let us sing unto the Lord, let us make a joyful noise unto the Rock of our Salvation. O praise the Lord, all ye nations, praise Him all ye people. Enter into His gates with thanksgiving and into His courts with praise.

The Bishop announced Hymn 1, beginning "O for a Thousand Tongues to Sing," which was sung.

The Apostles' Creed was recited by the entire assembly, followed by the singing of the Gloria Patri.

Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was then administered under the direction of Bishop William F. McDowell and Bishop Ernest G. Richardson, the complete Ritual Service appropriate to such administration being employed, after which the sacramental elements were distributed to the Bishops and to the members of the General Conference.

The Conference was then in recess.

Recess

During the recess, Hymn 19, beginning, "Come, Thou Fount of Every Blessing," and Hymn 310, beginning, "And Can It Be That I Should Gain," were sung, Musical Director Earl E. Harper leading the singing.

The Conference later reconvened with Bishop McDowell presiding.

On motion of Wallace H. Finch, Report No. 1 was adopted.

He then presented Report No. 2 of the Commission, as follows:

REPORT NO. 2

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL CONFERENCE:

In order to perfect the organization of the General Conference, the MAY 2 FIRST DAY. Morning. Conduct of Business.

Commission on Entertainment offers the following for the conduct of business:

Resolved:

1. That the Rules of Order of the last General Conference be adopted by this General Conference until changed.

2. That the program submitted by the Commission on Entertainment be approved.

3. That the lists of members of the Standing Committees as printed in The Daily Christian Advocate be recognized as the official roll of the Standing Committees.

4. That when vacancies occur in the Standing Committees, they shall be referred to the individual delegations and that changes or corrections in membership shall be certified in writing by the Chairman of the delegation affected to the Secretary of the General Conference and be reported by him to the Secretary of the Standing Committee involved.

5. That those Bishops designated by the Bishops be requested to preside at the organization of each of the Standing Committees until the Committee shall choose its chairman; and that the Secretary of the General Conference be requested to assign an assistant secretary to each Standing Committee to act until the Committee shall elect its secretary.

6. That the Secretaries of the several Standing Committees be instructed to return to the Secretary of the General Conference, after they have been considered, all memorials, etc., referred to the Committees, and also the records of the Committee meetings.

7. That the Secretary of the General Conference be authorized to edit the Journal of this Conference for publication; that he be authorized to make such verbal changes in the phraseology of the Journal as may be necessary to correctness and uniformity, but not so as to change the meaning of any action of the General Conference; and that the published copy, properly certified by him, be the Official Journal of this Conference.

8. That the Publishing Agents be directed to place each morning three copies of The Daily Christian Advocate on the chair of each delegate, and that copies be supplied for the use of the representatives of the press.

9. That the members of the Commission on Entertainment be constituted a Committee on Expenses of Delegates and are hereby authorized to pay the same.

10. That the courtesies in the matter of seating distinguished guests of the General Conference in the special sections be referred to the Secretary of the General Conference and the Secretary of the Commission on Entertainment, and that the names of those to whom such recognition is given shall be entered in the Journal as a matter of record.

WALLACE H. FINCH, Chairman;
FRED D. STONE, Secretary.

H. L. Jacobs moved to amend the report by inserting after the word "Journal" in § 10, line 10, the words, "and in The Daily Christian Advocate," so that the Rule, as amended, shall read, "be entered in the Journal and in The Daily Christian Advocate as a matter of record."

This amendment was accepted by the Chairman of the Commission, and, on his motion, Report No. 2 was adopted.

Special Committee on Procedure, Report No. 1.

On motion of Wallace H. Finch, the Conference gave immediate consideration to Report No. 1 of the Special Committee on Procedure, entitled, "Proposed Special Order of Business with the Rules of Order."

MAY 2
FIRST DAY.
Morning.

H. L. Jacobs, on behalf of the Special Committee, presented and explained the report, which is as follows:

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL CONFERENCE:

FOREWORD

Foreword Explanation.

"Expedite business!" was the cry of the General Conference of 1928. It was made an order for the General Conference of 1932. The action taken was:

". . . that for this purpose a Special Committee be created . . . authorized to study and recommend a procedure for future General Conferences which will facilitate the transaction of business . . ." (Discipline, 1928, Par. 593 (8).)

Every recommendation in the 1928 resolution has been included in the Special Order of Business either on or within the days fixed. This Special Order advances intensively all business specifically mentioned. Besides, by every Standing Committee of groups A and B meeting daily for the first six days, the General Conference has the right to expect, and should be assured of, very early reports. Note the number of events and proceedings provided for within the first seven business days! All of these can be disposed of properly by strict adherence to this Special Order. Business starts on the first day and proceeds in orderly fashion. The plan of this Special Order has been worked out with the hope that it will meet the order for expediting business.

The Rules of Order have been assembled: some rephrased in the interest of brevity, simplicity and clearness. The terminology conforms to the Constitution.

The major changes in the rules are:

Provision for miscellaneous business after recess;

Subjects of resolutions, denied consideration, to be recorded in the Journal and The Daily Christian Advocate;

Questions of privilege, raised from the floor, to be stated in open Conference;

Reconsideration can be moved by any delegate not voting with the minority;

All reports to be printed in The Daily Christian Advocate at least one business day before action can be taken thereon;

All listed committees are now made Standing—twelve, arranged in alphabetical order, have been assigned in Group A and Group B;

Assignment of delegates to the Standing Committees now provides for delegations whose members of each order exceed twelve;

Functions of the Standing Committees, and subjects belonging to them, show very few changes.

The duties of the Committee of Elected Chairmen—slightly increased in membership—have been somewhat enlarged. No committee is so democratic in its composition! Its contribution in advancing the business of the 1928 Conference established and commended its usefulness.

In a test of their application to and in the proceedings of the General Conference of 1932, it is confidently believed that the Rules of Order will prove their adequacy and efficiency, and that the Special Order will stand as "a procedure for future General Conferences which will facilitate the transaction of business."

FRANCIS J. MCCONNELL, Chairman;
MORRIS S. DANIELS, Secretary;
JOHN M. ARTERS,
HORACE LINCOLN JACOBS,
The Special Committee.

The Special Committee has designated Horace Lincoln Jacobs, Chairman of the Committee on Rules of the General Conference of 1928, to present its report "to the General Conference of 1932 at its opening session."

MORRIS S. DANIELS, Secretary.

MAY 2
FIRST
DAY.
Morning.
Special Order of Business.

RULES OF ORDER OF THE GENERAL CONFERENCE

SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS

First day—(Monday, May 2, 1932) 10 A. M., Administration of The Lord's Supper, followed by the organization of the Conference and business appointed for the opening session. Organization of Committees arranged in Group A and Group B, in designated places, under direction of Bishops and Secretaries respectively assigned: Committees in Group A meet at 2:30 to 3:30 P. M. and in Group B at 4 to 5 P. M.

Second day—(Tuesday, May 3) Business session, 8:30 A. M. Report of organization of Committees in Group A and Group B; Nominations from the Committee of Elected Chairmen. Episcopal Address. Committees meet: Group A, 2:30 to 3:30 P. M., and Group B, 4 to 5 P. M., for sub-Committee assignments, completing organization, distribution of memorials, etc.

Third day—(Wednesday, May 4) Business session: privileged business. Memorial Address. Adjournment at 10:15 A. M. Committees meet: Group A, 10:30 A. M., and Group B, 3 P. M.

Fourth day—(Thursday, May 5) Business session: Fraternal Addresses: no address to exceed 30 minutes, except by Delegates of Churches outside the United States. Adjournment, 10 A. M. Committees meet: Group B, 10:30 A. M., and Group A, 3 P. M.

Fifth day—(Friday, May 6) Business session: Fraternal Addresses. Adjournment, 10 A. M. Committees meet: Group A, 10:30 A. M., and Group B, 3 P. M.

Sixth day—(Saturday, May 7) Business session: Fraternal Addresses. Adjournment, 10 A. M. Committees meet: Group B, 10:30 A. M., and Group A, 3 P. M.

Seventh day—(Monday, May 9) Business session: Fraternal Addresses. At 11 A. M. Special Order—exercises appropriate to the retirement of General Superintendents, Missionary Bishops and other General Conference Officers. Committees meet under the Rules of Order.

Whenever the above special assignments are not filled as appointed, the business of the Conference should be immediately taken up under the Rules of Order. All Rules of Order that conflict in any way with this Special Order of Business and Procedure are hereby suspended therefor.

☞ All special programs, or formal addresses, shall be arranged for during sessions prior to May 14, 1932.

Evening Sessions shall be set apart for presentation of reports by the General Superintendents who have administered Foreign Mission fields.

Introductions of and addresses by distinguished visitors "limited to the first fifteen minutes of each session."

RULES OF ORDER

ORGANIZATION

Rules of Order.

Rule 1. When a General Conference shall have been convened in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution, after the Devotional Services, the call of the roll shall be made by the Secretary of the preceding Conference in the following manner:

I. The names of the General Superintendents and Missionary Bishops who have died during the quadrennium, and the name of every Delegate-elect who may have died.

II. The names of the General Superintendents and Missionary Bishops.

III. The roll of Delegates by Annual Conferences. Whenever a Conference is called, the Chairman of the Delegation shall report the name of any Delegate who is absent. All Delegates, not reported absent, shall be recorded in their respective Annual Conferences as present.

IV. The final roll call shall be made under II and III.

V. If a quorum is present, the Conference shall organize by the election of a Secretary (who shall perform during the quadrennium the duties assigned him), by ballot if there be more than one nomination, otherwise by acclamation, and by the election of such Assistant Secretaries, upon nomination of the Secretary, as it may deem necessary.

FIRST
DAY.
Morning.

TIME OF MEETINGS, RECESS, AND ADJOURNMENT

Rule 2. After the first business day, the Conference shall meet at 8:30 A. M., and adjourn at 12:30 P. M. From 8:30 to 9 A. M. the Presiding Officer, or some person designated by him, shall conduct the Devotional Services. A recess of ten minutes shall be taken at 10:30 A. M.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER

Rule 3. The Presiding Officer shall take the chair at the hour to which the Conference stood adjourned, and bring forward all business according to the order of the Conference.

Rule 4. The Presiding Officer shall decide all Questions of Order, subject to an appeal to the Conference. In case of such appeal the question shall be taken without debate, except that the appellant shall state the grounds of his appeal, and then the Presiding Officer shall state the grounds of his decision.

Rule 5. On assigning the floor to a Delegate and before he speaks, the Presiding Officer shall ascertain and distinctly announce his name and the Annual Conference which he represents.

ORDER OF BUSINESS

Rule 6. The Regular Order of Business shall be:

I. DEVOTIONAL SERVICES

II. APPROVAL OF THE JOURNAL

A Committee on the Journal consisting of Five Delegates shall be elected, which shall examine the daily Journal of the Secretary, comparing it with the stenographic record, and shall report to the Conference in either of the following forms:

1. "We have examined the Journal and it is correct;" or,
2. "We have examined the Journal and it is correct except in the following particular or particulars:"

If the report of the Committee be in form (1) the question shall be submitted, "Shall the Journal be approved?" If the report of the Committee be in form (2), the question shall be submitted:

a. "Shall the report of the Committee be adopted?"
b. "Shall the Journal as corrected in accordance with the report of the Committee be approved?"

Any error subsequently discovered shall be reported by the Committee to the Conference.

III. REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON QUESTIONS OF PRIVILEGE

On the second business day the Conference shall elect nine Delegates to the Committee on Questions of Privilege. To this Committee any Delegate shall submit what he considers a question of privilege relative to the business of the Conference. The Committee shall determine whether the matter so submitted is or is not a question of privilege. All matters approved by the Committee as matters of privilege shall be reported to the Presiding Officer and acted upon each day immediately after the approval of the Journal. The appointment of this Committee, however, shall not be construed as abridging in any measure the right of any Delegate to bring forward at any time such matters of urgency as involve the rights or welfare of the individual Delegate or of the Conference. (See Rule 10.)

The following Calls shall be made in the order herein given, and shall be severally completed before the introduction of other business, except by a suspension of the Rules. They shall be repeated, in the same order, until dispensed with by a formal vote.

IV. CALL OF THE CONFERENCES

Annual—in alphabetical order, for the presentation of written resolutions for immediate passage.

MAY 2
FIRST DAY.
Morning.

1. When a resolution has been presented and read under the Call of Conferences, and before the Delegate who introduces the resolution speaks, the question of consideration shall be raised by the Presiding Officer asking: "Is there objection to consideration?" If objection be raised, the question of consideration shall then be put without debate, and, if there is a two-thirds vote against consideration, the resolution shall not be entertained, and only the subject of the resolution shall be recorded in the Journal and The Daily Christian Advocate; if consideration be not denied, the Delegate introducing the resolution may then speak.

2. If, after the Delegate introducing the resolution has spoken, a motion of reference be immediately made, it shall be decided without debate. This motion to refer may be amended and such amendments shall be decided without debate and in the reverse order of their presentation. If no motion to refer be made, or if a motion to refer has been negatived, the proposition shall be regarded as in possession of the Conference.

3. A motion to defer consideration and print in The Daily Christian Advocate shall be decided without debate. If sustained by one hundred and fifty Delegates it shall prevail; in which case the resolution shall be given precedence immediately after recess of the day it appears in The Daily Christian Advocate.

V. CALL OF THE CALENDAR

Following every completed Call of the Conferences, the reports of the several Standing and Special Committees and Commissions shall be called in the order in which they are filed with the Secretary.

VI. MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

Miscellaneous business may be introduced immediately after recess unless debate continues or Orders of the Day are called.

DUTIES AND PRIVILEGES OF DELEGATES

Rule 7. No Delegate shall absent himself from the sessions of the Conference without leave, unless he be unable to attend.

Rule 8. When a Delegate desires to speak to the Conference he shall arise at his assigned seat, respectfully address the Presiding Officer, and, after recognition, proceed to the Speaker's platform.

Rule 9. No Delegate shall be interrupted when speaking, except by the Presiding Officer to call him to order when he departs from the question, or uses personalities or disrespectful language; but any Delegate may call the attention of the Presiding Officer to any improper statement when he deems a speaker out of order, and any Delegate may explain when he thinks himself misrepresented.

Rule 10. When a Delegate desires to speak to a question of privilege he shall state briefly the question in open Conference, and it shall not be in order for him to speak to the Conference until the Presiding Officer shall have decided that it is a privileged question. Questions of privilege are limited strictly to matters relating to the rights and welfare of the individual Delegate or of the whole Conference; and must be of such immediate urgency as to justify the interruption of the regular order. (See Rule 6, III.)

Rule 11. No Delegate shall speak more than once on the same question until every Delegate who desires to speak shall have spoken; nor shall any Delegate speak more than twice on the same question, nor more than ten minutes at one time.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Rule 12. Resolutions shall be presented in triplicate. A motion shall be reduced to writing if the Secretary or a Delegate requests it.

Rule 13. Reading. All resolutions, written motions, reports, and communications to the Conference shall be read by the Secretary.

Rule 14. When a motion is made and seconded, or a resolution introduced and seconded; or a report read by the Secretary or stated by the Presiding Officer, it shall be deemed in possession of the Conference.

Rule 15. The following motions shall be taken without debate:

I. To adjourn.
II. To suspend the rules.
III. To lay on the table.
IV. To take from the table.
V. To raise the question of consideration.
VI. To call for the previous question.
VII. To reconsider a non-debatable motion.
VIII. To refer, only under Rule 6, IV, 2, and Rule 18.
IX. To defer for printing, only under Rule 6, IV, 3.

Rule 16. No new motion, resolution or subject shall be entertained until the one under consideration has been disposed of, but one or more of the following motions may be made, and they shall have precedence in their order, namely:

I. To fix the time to which the Conference shall adjourn (may be amended, substituted, or laid on the table).
II. To adjourn.
III. To take a recess.
IV. To order the previous question (cannot be laid on the table).
V. To lay on the table.
VI. To postpone to a given time.
VII. To refer.
VIII. To substitute.
IX. To amend.
X. To postpone indefinitely.

Rule 17. Only one amendment to an amendment shall be in order, but it shall be in order to move a substitute for the main question, and one amendment to the substitute, and if the substitute is accepted, it shall replace the original proposition.

Rule 18. It shall be in order to move the previous question on any measure pending, except in cases in which moral character is involved. If the call for the previous question be sustained by two thirds of the Delegates voting, the main question shall be put; nevertheless, after the previous question has been ordered, it shall be in order to lay on the table or to refer.

Rule 19. It shall not be in order for a Delegate, discussing the pending question, to make any motion that closes debate.

Rule 20. When a vote is about to be taken any Delegate shall have the right to call for the division of a question, if it be divisible into distinct propositions.

Rule 21. The motion to adjourn shall be taken without debate, and shall always be in order, except

I. When a Delegate has the floor.
II. When a question is actually put, or a vote is being taken, and until finally decided.
III. When the previous question has been called and sustained and action under it is pending.
IV. When a motion to adjourn has been negatived, and no business or debate has intervened.
V. When a motion to fix the time to which the Conference shall adjourn is pending.

Rule 22. Reconsideration. When any motion, resolution, or report shall have been acted upon by the Conference, it shall be in order for any Delegate who did not vote with the minority to move reconsideration; a motion to reconsider a nondebatable motion shall be decided without debate.

Rule 23. Changes of Discipline. All resolutions proposing changes of the Discipline shall state the words in the paragraph to be changed and the wording to be substituted, and shall be referred to a Committee or Commission: no proposed change shall be considered until the report thereon shall be in the possession of the Conference for at least one day after printing. While the report is under consideration, amendments which are germane shall be in order.

Rule 24. When any Delegate shall move the reference of any portion of the Journal of an Annual, Central, or Central Mission Conference or Mission to any Committee he must furnish at the same time a copy of the portion he wishes to have referred, prepared as provided by Rule 33.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES AND COMMISSIONS

Rule 25. I. Reports signed by the Chairman and Secretary, and minority reports signed by at least ten members of the Committees of Group A and Group B, and one fourth the number of members of other Committees and Commissions shall be considered to be in the possession of the Conference after they shall have been printed in The Daily Christian Advocate for at least one business day. In a minority report from the Committee on Judiciary one signature shall be sufficient. Minority reports shall bear the same serial numbers, with proper alphabetical notations, as the Committee reports for which they are offered as substitutes. If there be two or more such reports they shall be considered in their alphabetical order. All Committee reports shall be presented to the Conference upon paper bearing at the top the number of the report, the name of the Committee, the total membership of the Committee, the number present at the time the report was adopted, the number voting for the report, and the number voting against the report. Reports of Commissions and all Committees not listed in Group A and Group B shall be printed in The Daily Christian Advocate before being presented to the Conference, and they shall not be read unless by its order.

II. When the Chairman of a Committee is not in harmony with a report adopted by the Committee, it shall be his duty to state the fact to the Committee, which shall elect one of its members to represent it in the presentation and discussion of the report in the Conference; but, if in such a case the Committee fail to select a representative, the Chairman shall designate a member to represent the Committee, and said representative shall have all the rights and privileges of the Chairman in relation to such report.

III. The Delegate selected by the signers of a minority report to present their report shall have all the privileges in reference to the minority report that are given to the Chairman presenting the Committee report; except that the Chairman presenting the Committee report shall have the right of closing the debate on the question of substituting the minority report for the Committee report.

Rule 26. In considering reports of Committees and Commissions the Delegate securing recognition shall announce from his assigned seat upon which side he proposes to speak. If a Delegate reaches the platform without challenge he shall be entitled to all the rights of debate.

No report shall be finally decided or debate on a question closed without an opportunity for the presentation of that side of the question which has not been previously discussed by at least two Delegates; Provided, however, that a Chairman making a report for his Committee or one of its members selected by the Committee or by its Chairman, shall be entitled to ten minutes to close the debate. The Chairman shall not be deprived of his right to close the debate even after the previous question has been ordered, and, when a report consisting of two or more propositions has a seriatim consideration, the Chairman or representative of the Committee shall be entitled to the same rights and privileges on each proposition, thus decided separately, as he would have had if the report had been considered as a whole. A similar privilege is granted to the Delegate in charge of a minority report. See Rule 25, II and III.

VOTING

Rule 27. Every Delegate who is within the bar of the Conference at the time a question is put shall vote, unless, for special reasons, excused by the Conference.

Rule 28. I. Voting shall be by the uplifted hand, but a count vote may be ordered, then the Delegates shall rise from their seats and stand until they have been counted.

II. Votes may be taken also by ballot or by Ayes and Noes; and in either case they shall be duly collected from Delegates officially engaged outside the bar of the Conference. It shall be in order for any Delegate to call for the Ayes and Noes on any question before the Conference, and if sustained by one hundred Delegates, the vote thereon shall be so taken in the following manner: Each Delegate shall write his name and vote on the official ballot, to be inspected and the totals reported by the several Chairmen of the Annual Conference Delegations, and passed to the Secretary for record. The Secretary shall prepare uniform ballots and shall publish the detailed vote by Conferences in the Conference Journal and The Daily Christian Advocate. Delegates voting in the minority may have their votes recorded.

DAY.
Morning.

Rule 29. Order of voting. In voting when there is a substitute, and amendments to the original question have been submitted, the Conference shall perfect the original question by voting on the amendments and then upon the substitute (to which one amendment may be made) and finally upon the question of adoption.

Rule 30. A call for a vote by orders must be made and seconded by Delegates of the same order, and shall require in support of the call one third of the Delegates of that order voting.

Rule 31. When voting by orders the separation shall be merely with regard to the taking, announcing, deciding, and recording the vote of each order on the question on which the separate vote is called. Any incidental question bearing upon such vote shall be decided by the Conference acting as one body. A vote by orders shall be by a count vote, first of the order calling for the separate vote and then of the other order.

MEMORIALS, RESOLUTIONS, AND PAPERS FOR UNANNOUNCED REFERENCE

Rule 32. Memorials. Three copies of memorials, resolutions, and miscellaneous papers for reference to a Committee, shall be sent without announcement to the Secretary.

Rule 33. I. Delegates presenting such memorials, petitions, and other papers for reference shall prepare the papers by writing plainly on the back of them, after folding, the items in order, as follows:

1. Name of Delegate presenting paper.
2. Conference to which the Delegate belongs.
3. Conference, Society, Board, Delegate, Ministerial or Lay Member, Church or organization, from which the paper comes.
4. Subject to which it relates.
5. First name on the petition.
6. Number of other petitioners.
7. Committee to which it is to be referred.

II. Memorials, petitions, etc., for reference to Committees may be mailed to the Secretary at any time within four months previous to Conference session, for early classification and reference to the several Standing Committees and Commissions.

III. Memorials, resolutions, and other papers, endorsed according to Rule 33, I, must be delivered through the Secretary to the Committee on Reference (see Rule 36) and published in the Journal; provided, that in the case of memorials and documents of unusual length, which are not intended for publication, one complete copy shall be furnished and two copies of the indorsement.

Rule 34. There shall be Standing Committees as follows:

American Bible Society,
Book Concern,
Boundaries,
Complimentary Resolutions,
Credentials,
Education,
Episcopacy,
Federation,
Foreign Missions,
Fraternal Delegates,
Home Missions and Church Extension,

Pensions and Relief,
Questions of Privilege,

MAY 2
FIRST
DAY.
Morning.

Reference,
Revision,
Rules,
State of the Church,
Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals,
Temporal Economy.

I. The Committee of The American Bible Society shall consist of one Ministerial and one Lay Delegate from each Episcopal area in the United States.

II. The Committee on Complimentary Resolutions shall consist of seven Delegates.

III. The Committee on Credentials shall consist of seven Delegates. It shall report on the membership of the Conference, the absence of Delegates and the seating of Reserve Delegates, together with all other questions directly related to the attendance or excuse of Delegates. The report of this Committee shall be the basis of settlement with the Delegates for their per diem allowance.

IV. The Committee on Federation shall consist of seven Ministerial and eight Lay Delegates. To this Committee shall be referred all memorials, petitions, papers and other documents relating to denominational co-operation, Community Churches and all other interests centering in Federation.

V. The Committee on Fraternal Delegates shall consist of seven Delegates, who shall extend the courtesies of the Conference to Fraternal Delegates, and shall present and introduce them to the Conference at the time designated for their respective addresses. To this Committee shall be referred all communications of greeting from Churches and religious bodies. Replies to such communications shall be prepared by this Committee, and, if adopted by the Conference, said replies in the form approved shall be forwarded by the Secretary.

Rule 35. The Committee on Judiciary shall consist of twenty-five Delegates. To it shall be referred all appeals coming to the Conference under the provisions of the Discipline, Rulings of the Bishops and all other questions specifically assigned to it by the Conference. It shall not be in order to lay on the table or to postpone indefinitely reports of this Committee.

Rule 36. The Committee of Reference shall consist of the Secretary of the Conference and two Ministerial and two Lay Delegates, of which Committee the Secretary of the Conference shall be Secretary.

I. The Secretary of the Conference may also appoint an Assistant Secretary to co-operate with him in keeping the records of this Committee, which records shall be made a part of the Journal of the Conference. To this Committee shall be referred all petitions, memorials, appeals, and other documents, not otherwise provided for, presented to and requiring action of the Conference.

II. The Committee of Reference shall refer and distribute as expeditiously as possible all petitions, memorials, appeals, and other documents referable to Committees and Commissions. Reference of all petitions, memorials, appeals, and other documents to Committees and Commissions shall be made as indicated generally by the names of the respective Committees and Commissions and their specified duties.

III. The Committee of Reference shall number consecutively its references to the several Committees and shall publish in The Daily Christian Advocate the number, subject, and Committee reference of all documents assigned.

IV. The Committee of Reference shall have power to withdraw a reference, either upon request or upon its own initiative, and to refer the same to another Committee; the said Committee shall also have power to withhold from reference and publication any document which it shall deem personal, or which is not properly referable to any existing Committee, and such paper shall be submitted to the Conference.

Rule 37. The Committee on Revision shall consist of seven Delegates. To it shall be sent, for the correction of verbal errors and infelicities only, all Committee reports (except the reports of the Committee on Boundaries; and, also, of the Committee on Judiciary as finally passed) before their final printing in The Daily Christian Advocate. To the Committee on Revision the Conference may refer any resolution or report for clarification and definiteness of statement.

Rule 38. The Committee on Rules shall consist of five Delegates, to which Committee shall be referred all matters pertaining to the Rules of Order and parliamentary procedure in the business of the Conference and Committees.

Rule 39. The following Standing Committees, arranged in two Groups, designated Group A and Group B, meet on the days and at the hours fixed in the Special Order of Business, and after the sixth business day, at 3 P. M., on the following days:

Group A.—Monday, Wednesday, Friday.

Boundaries,
Episcopacy,
Hospitals, Homes, and Deaconess Work,
Itinerancy,
State of the Church,
Temporal Economy.

Group B.—Tuesday Thursday, Saturday.

Book Concern,
Education,
Foreign Missions,
Home Missions and Church Extension,
Pensions and Relief,
Temperance, Prohibition, and Public Morals.

I. To the Committee on Book Concern, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to the Book Concern, the Book Committee, publications, and publishing interests.

II. To the Committee on Boundaries, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to the Boundaries of Conferences.

III. To the Committee on Education, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to the Board of Education, our Institutions of Learning, Courses of Study, and all other questions affecting the educational interests of the Church; relating to Education for Negroes and all other matters affecting the educational interests of the Negro people; relating to Church Schools, Methodist Brotherhood, Church School literature, and all other matters affecting our Church School work; relating to our Young People's work, the literature of the Epworth League, and all other matters affecting the interests of the Epworth League.

IV. To the Committee on Episcopacy, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to the General Superintendency and Missionary Bishopric.

V. To the Committee on Foreign Missions, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to the Board of Foreign Missions, Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, and all other matters relating to Missionary Work outside the United States.

VI. To the Committee on Home Missions and Church Extension, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, Woman's Home Missionary Society, City Evangelization, the Rural Church, and all other matters relating to Home Missionary work.

VII. To the Committee on Hospitals, Homes, and Deaconess Work, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to Hospitals, Homes, and Deaconess Work.

VIII. To the Committee on Itinerancy, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to the Pastorate, the District Superintendency, Organization of and Membership in the Annual, Central, Central Mission and Mission Conferences, Ratio of Representation, Conference Claimants, except matters relating to Pensions and Relief, Local Ministry, and, also, the Journals of Annual, Central, Central Mission, and Mission Conferences.

IX. To the Committee on Pensions and Relief, all memorials, petitions and other documents relating to the subject of Pensions and Relief for our Preachers, Missionaries, their widows and dependent children, Deaconesses, and other Church workers.

X. To the Committee on State of the Church, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to social service, labor, Sabbath observance, divorce, amusements, and the social and spiritual welfare of the Church not clearly belonging to other Committees.

XI. To the Committee on Temperance, Prohibition, and Public Morals, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to Temperance, Prohibition, Habit-Forming Drugs, the Social Evil, and other questions involving the attitude of the Church toward Public Morals.

XII. To the Committee on Temporal Economy, all memorials, petitions, and other documents relating to the business and administration of the Quarterly, District, Lay Electoral, Central Mission, Mission, Annual, Central, and General Conferences, and all temporal matters relating to church membership, property, finance, and other temporal interests, including statistical reports.

Rule 40. Assignment to Committees in Group A and Group B. As soon as practicable after the election of Delegates, the Secretary of each Annual Conference shall call together the Ministerial and Lay Delegates for organization. They shall elect of their number a Chairman and a Secretary, and shall assign their Ministerial and Lay Delegates, in such manner as they may determine, to the Committees in Group A and Group B, so that no Annual Conference shall be without a Delegate of each Order in every Committee, and so that every Delegate of each Order shall be assigned to at least one Committee. When the number of Ministerial Delegates shall exceed the total number of Committees in Groups A and B, the Ministerial and Lay Delegates shall be assigned to the Committees so that not more than two Delegates of each Order shall be assigned to any Committee, and such double assignment shall be made to Committees only to the number to which the Delegates of each Order exceed the total number of the grouped Committees. The Chairman shall forward to the Secretary of the Conference, immediately after the assignments have been completed, the names and addresses of the Delegates, arranged alphabetically indicating the Order to which each belongs, and the Standing Committees in groups A and B to which each is assigned; and from these returns the Secretary shall prepare the roll of these Committees, as far as possible in advance of the opening of the Conference.

Rule 41. I. The quorum of every Committee in Group A and Group B shall be thirty-five; in all Commissions and other Committees it shall be a majority of their members. Each Committee and Commission shall organize with such officers as may be required, and all business shall be conducted according to the Rules of Order of the Conference as far as they can be applied. Immediately after organization of Committees and Commissions, the officers shall be reported to the Conference, and their names, with the local address of both Chairman and Secretary, shall be printed under the Committees' Roster in The Daily Christian Advocate.

II. Committees shall not originate business, but shall consider only those subjects referred to them by the Conference, and memorials and petitions received by the Secretary not later than the tenth business day of the Conference. They shall report only on the subjects before them.

III. After a subject has been referred to a Committee it shall not be in order for any other Committee to consider that subject, but should a Committee ascertain that a subject which was intended for and belongs under the Rules to it, has been sent to another Committee, it shall report the fact to the Committee on Reference, which shall assign all the papers to the proper Committee. However, should there be doubt about the reference, the same shall be reported at once by the Committee on Reference to the Conference.

IV. Whenever any change in the Discipline is adopted by any Committee which will affect any of the Boards of the Church whose work belongs under the Rules to a designated Committee, such action with all the papers thereon shall be returned to the Committee of Reference for immediate reassignment.

V. Committee reports changing the Discipline shall recite not only the line and paragraph to be amended, but also sentence, section or paragraph as amended.

VI. Committees and Commissions whose hours of meeting are not specifically fixed by the Conference, shall organize as soon as possible after their members have been elected, and meet at their pleasure or by order of the Conference for the earliest performance of their duties.

VII. On the first business day, nominations for the Committees on the American Bible Society, Federation, Journal, Reference, Revision and Rules shall be presented by the General Superintendents for action by the Conference.

Rule 42. There shall be a Committee of Elected Chairmen, composed of the Chairmen elected by the Committees of Group A, Group B, Judiciary, Revision and Rules, of which Committee the Secretary of the Conference shall be Chairman ex officio; and one of the Assistant Secretaries shall be designated for the Committee's secretary. This Committee shall meet on the first business day of the Conference at 8 P. M., and thereafter on order of the Conference or on call. To the Conference on the second or third business day it shall present as privileged business for election or confirmation its nominations on the Committee of Complimentary Resolutions, Credentials, Fraternal Delegates, Judiciary, and Questions of Privilege. This Committee shall make all nominations to Committees and Commissions assigned to it by the Rules and by order of the Conference; also, for all Boards, Societies, Corporations and Organizations under the control or auspices of the Conference, requiring election or confirmation of the Conference, except such nominations as are directed to be made otherwise to the Conference by the charters, constitutions and by-laws of the respective Boards, Societies, Corporations and Organizations, and by the Discipline.

Rule 43. Demonstrations of approval or disapproval during the progress of debate shall be deemed a breach of order.

Rule 44. No persons, except Delegates, ushers, pages and officers of the Conference, shall stand in the open spaces of the Conference room or enter within the bar of the Conference.

Rule 45. The ushers shall keep the aisles clear for the exclusive use of Delegates, ushers, pages and officers of the Conference, and none but Delegates shall be seated within the bar of the Conference.

Rule 46. In all matters not specified herein, the proceedings of the Conference shall be governed by Common Parliamentary Law.

Rule 47. These rules may be suspended at any time by two thirds of the Delegates voting.

Report Divided "Special Order" Adopted.

By common consent the report was divided, the first division being "Special Order of Business," and, on motion of H. L. Jacobs, this division was adopted.

The second division, namely, "Rules of Order," was next considered.

Proposals to Amend "Rules of Order."

On motion of H. L. Jacobs, Rule 1, Item 1, was amended by inserting after the word "Superintendents" the words, "the Bishops elected by Central Conferences," so that Item 1 shall read, "The names of the General Superintendents, the Bishops elected by Central Conferences, and Missionary Bishops." Rule 1, Item 2, was, on motion, amended in the same manner.

On motion, Rule 6, Item 6, entitled, "Miscellaneous Business," was adopted to read as found in the report.

The same action was taken with reference to Rules 10, 22,

MAY 2 FIRST DAY. Morning.

23, and 25 of the report, except that Rule 25, § 1, was, on motion, later amended to read at its close as follows:

Reports of Commissions and all the Committees, except the Committees on Complimentary Resolutions, on Credentials, and on Questions of Privilege, and those not listed in Group A and Group B, shall be printed in The Daily Christian Advocate before being presented to the Conference and they shall not be read unless by its order.

Additional Amendments Adopted.

On motion, Rule 34 of the report was adopted.

On motion of F. R. Bayley, and by consent of the Committee presenting the report, Rule 35 was amended by adding at its close the following words, "except on questions specifically referred to it by the General Conference."

Rules 37, 38, and 39 of the report were adopted without amendment.

Rule 41, § 1, of the report was adopted without amendment.

Rule 41, § 4, was, on motion, amended by substituting for it the following:

Whenever in any Committee any change in the Discipline is adopted which will affect the work of any of the Boards of the Church whose work is under consideration by one of the Standing Committees, there shall be a Committee of Conference composed of three members from each Standing Committee involved, appointed by the Chairman of each Committee; which Committee of Conference shall consider said proposed legislation and report back to their respective Committees before any report on the proposed legislation is made to the General Conference.

H. L. Jacobs moved that Rule 42 of the report be adopted.

J. R. Gettys moved to amend by eliminating Rule 42 and substituting therefor Rule 40 and Rule 46 of the Rules of Order of the General Conference of 1928.

J. E. Skillington moved to amend the amendment by removing the following words from Rule 40:

upon nomination of a special Committee consisting of the Secretary of the General Conference and the elected Chairmen of the Standing Committees.

and substituting therefor the words, "by nomination of the Bishops," so that Rule 40 shall read:

The Committee on Judiciary shall consist of twenty-five Delegates, to be elected by the General Conference by nomination of the Bishops. This Committee shall meet at such times as it shall determine or as may be ordered by the General Conference.

J. R. Gettys accepted the amendment of J. E. Skillington, which acceptance was later declared out of order by the presiding Bishop.

The previous question was called for, and the call sustained.

MAY 2 FIRST DAY. Morning.

C. O. Ford moved that the amendment of J. E. Skillington be placed upon the table. This motion did not prevail.

The amendment to the amendment was adopted.

The amendment, as now amended, to substitute Rule 40 and Rule 46 of the Rules of Order of the General Conference of 1928 for Rule 42 of the pending report, was adopted.

Amended "Rules of Order" Adopted.

H. L. Jacobs moved that the report, as amended, be now adopted in its entirety, which motion prevailed.

F. R. Bayley moved that the Committee on Rules be directed to provide a place in the program of the first three days for at least one complete Call of the Conferences, for introduction of matters for immediate consideration and action, which motion was adopted.

Suspension of Rules.

H. L. Jacobs moved that the Rules be suspended for this day, in order to permit the first group of Standing Committees to meet at 3 o'clock to-day, instead of 2:30, and the second group to meet at 4:15, instead of 4 o'clock. This motion prevailed.

The Secretary presented to the Conference the matter of ¶ 256, § 12, Division 1, Discipline, 1928, which reads:

Deferred Disciplinary Requirement.

To transfer a Member of an Annual Conference only on the recommendation of a majority of the District Superintendents of the Conference to which the transfer is proposed accompanied by a footnote which reads as follows:

The requirement of the recommendation of a majority of the District Superintendents is postponed to May 2, 1932.

The Secretary announced to the General Conference that it is apparent that this legislation becomes effective as of this date, May 2, 1932, and, on his motion, a Minute of the situation was ordered recorded in the Journal of to-day's session.

H. L. Jacobs moved that further consideration of this matter be had immediately after the approval of the Journal on Thursday morning, and that the period under which the operation of this law is suspended be extended from May 2, 1932, to May 5, 1932. This motion prevailed.

Announcements.

On motion of E. S. Tipple, adjournment was ordered, following the presentation of necessary announcements.

Call of the Conferences.

On motion of the Secretary, the Call of the Conferences was taken up for the purpose of introducing resolutions to be put on immediate passage. Responses were received as here indicated:

DES MOINES

Expense Items To Be Detailed

John L. Hillman presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Resolutions and reports, authorizing or creating Commissions of the General Conference, shall clearly state whether payment of expenses shall or shall not be provided for, and shall specifically state the source from which expenses, if any, are to be drawn, and indicate the maximum expenditure to be permitted.

GENESEE

Ray Allen presented the following resolution:

Special Committee on Benevolences Proposed.

Resolved, That there be appointed a Special Committee on Benevolences, to which shall be referred all memorials and resolutions which are germane, whose duty it shall be to consider carefully the philanthropic purposes of our Church, and whether the World Service Commission and our various Boards as now constituted are best adapted to the carrying out of such purposes with efficiency and economy, and then to report its recommendations as early as practicable.

Resolved, That the following Standing Committees be authorized to co-operate with this Committee on Benevolences through three members from each, appointed by the several chairmen, namely: State of the Church, Foreign Missions, Home Missions and Church Extension, Education, Pensions and Relief; Hospitals, Homes and Deaconess Work; Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals.

Resolved, That this Committee on Benevolences be nominated by the General Superintendents, with such number of members as they may determine.

Resolved, That this Committee on Benevolences, and the appointed representatives from the Standing Committees, shall not include any Officers of any of the organizations concerned.

MAY 3 SECOND DAY. Morning.

Objection to immediate consideration was voiced, but the Conference failed to sustain the objection.

On motion of J. E. Skillington, immediate consideration of the resolution was deferred, and its printing in The Daily Christian Advocate was ordered.

MISSISSIPPI

Appreciation of Bishop Jones.

D. L. Morgan presented a resolution appreciative of the work of Bishop Robert E. Jones, and, on motion of the Secretary, this resolution was referred to the Committee on Episcopacy:

WHEREAS, Bishop Robert E. Jones has given himself assiduously to the task of the Church as it relates to the New Orleans Area and has accomplished an herculean task in promotion of the regular program by his wise plans and untiring efforts; and

WHEREAS, He has at the same time developed Gulfside, a great institution so well adapted to meet the needs of our people covering every phase of activity and endeavor pertaining to our group's life, thus making himself indispensable to the work of the Area as well as to the special project.

Resolved, That we hereby express our appreciation of Bishop Jones and pledge ourselves to stand by him in the promotion of the regular task, as well as the special project which so wonderfully augments the program of the Church in the Area.

Area Elimination Proposed.

Chester A. Smith presented the following resolution:

WHEREAS, There is a proper demand on the part of the Church that as few Bishops as possible be elected at this General Conference: be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Episcopacy be directed to present to the Conference at an early date a plan for the elimination of at least three Episcopal Areas.

Merton S. Rice moved that action on this resolution be deferred and it be printed in The Daily Christian Advocate.

D. L. Marsh moved to amend by ordering that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Episcopacy.

Later, by common consent, the words, "with instructions to report," were added to this motion.

The previous question was called for, and the call sustained.

Albert L. Marting moved that the motion to refer be placed on the table, which motion prevailed.

The motion to defer consideration and print the resolution in The Daily Christian Advocate prevailed.

NEW YORK EAST

Time Limit for Constitutional Proposals.

Frank A. Horne presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

WHEREAS, It is generally known that there are certain Memorials to the General Conference proposing changes to the Constitution; and

WHEREAS, It is highly desirable that such propositions shall have full consideration and discussion by the General Conference before the closing days of the session; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the General Conference instructs the Standing Committees to which such Memorials have been referred, to report thereon, on or before Saturday, May 14, 1932.

Greetings to A. M. E. General Conference.

R. W. Winchester presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

WHEREAS, The General Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church is now in session in Cleveland, Ohio; and

WHEREAS, The General Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church is now in session in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this General Conference instruct the Secretary to send befitting greetings to each of the above named General Conferences.

Recess.

On motion of the Secretary, further Call of the Conferences was deferred with the calling of Norway Conference, and after necessary announcements, the Conference was in recess at 10:00 o'clock.

The Conference reconvened at 10:10 o'clock.

MAY 3 SECOND DAY. Morning.

Hymn 106, beginning, "O Worship the King," was sung, followed by a period of silent prayer, at the suggestion of the presiding Bishop, who later led in prayer for the Divine Blessing upon the Bishop who shall bring us the Episcopal Message.

Quadrennial Episcopal Address.

Bishop Nuelsen presented Bishop William F. Anderson, who read the Quadrennial Episcopal Address.

The Conference stood in reverent attention during the reading of that part of the Address wherein were named the deceased General Superintendents.

At the conclusion of the Address, prayer was offered by Ezra S. Tipple.

Appreciation Episcopal Address.

On motion of Chester A. Smith, the following resolution was adopted by a rising vote:

We extend to Bishop William F. Anderson our deep appreciation of this comprehensive, challenging and spiritual Episcopal Address; we extend to him our hearty greetings and sincere good wishes and our deep appreciation of the great contribution he has made as preacher, educator and Bishop to the work of the Methodist Episcopal Church and to the advancement of the kingdom of God.

A floral tribute was presented to Bishop Anderson on behalf of New York Conference Delegates and friends, to which presentation the Bishop made appropriate response.

Suspension of Rules.

On motion of the Secretary, the Rules under which business is now being conducted were temporarily suspended for the purpose of making proper reference to Standing and Special Committees of the referable portions of the Episcopal Address.

The Secretary presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Episcopal Address Referred to Committees.

Resolved, That we recommend the printing of the Episcopal Address in full in all of our official publications.

Resolved, Further, that such recommendations therein contained as call for action by the Conference be referred to the appropriate Standing and Special Committees of the Conference.

Change in Membership Committee on Credentials.

The nomination by the Bishops of E. A. Baker to the membership of the Committee on Credentials, in place of H. E. Taylor, was approved by the Conference and his election duly effected.

Committee on American Bible Society.

Kornhaus (California). Washington, Leonard White (Wilmington), John W. Edel (Baltimore).

On motion, these nominations were confirmed and the persons named were duly elected.

Bishop Birney was designated to preside during the organization meeting of this Committee.

Suspension of Rules.

On motion of H. L. Jacobs, the Conference voted to suspend the Rule whereby "after recess" consideration is given to papers referred by Conference action, so as to permit their consideration immediately after the approval of the Journal during the operation of the "Special Order of Business."

Adjournment.

Copies of the Episcopal Address were presented to the Delegates, and the Conference adjourned, with the benediction pronounced by Bishop William Burt.

MAY 3 SECOND DAY. Evening.

TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 3, 1932

The Conference convened at 8 o'clock with Bishop John W. Robinson presiding.

Hymn 416, beginning, "The Son of God Goes Forth to War," was sung, and E. F. Frease offered prayer.

Reports of Bishops Johnson, Nuelsen and Wade.

The presiding Bishop presented Bishop Eben S. Johnson, of the Capetown Area, who reported upon the work of his Area.

Hymn 415, beginning, "Faith of Our Fathers," was sung.

The presiding Bishop presented Bishop John L. Nuelsen, of the Zurich Area, who reported upon the work of his Area.

The presiding Bishop presented Bishop Raymond J. Wade, of the Stockholm Area, who reported upon the work of his Area.

Hymn 355, beginning, "Love Divine, All Loves Excelling," was sung.

The benediction was pronounced by Bishop Robinson.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 4, 1932

MAY 4 THIRD DAY. Morning.

The Conference convened at 8:30 o'clock with Bishop William F. Anderson presiding, who announced that Musical Director Earl E. Harper would lead the Conference in the use of the Second Worship Service for the devotional periods of the General Conference.

Devotions.

Hymn 543, beginning, "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind," was sung, and a season of silent prayer was observed at the suggestion of the presiding Bishop.

Bishop Lauress J. Birney was presented to deliver the devotional address.

Hymn 91, beginning, "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah," was sung.

Journal.

E. J. Hammond, for the Committee on the General Conference Journal, reported having examined the Journal for the sessions of May 3, and the Committee found the same correct. The report was accepted, and the Journal thus approved.

Matters of privilege were next in order.

On a question of privilege, the Secretary read the following

References to Committee on Judiciary.

On a question of privilege, the Secretary presented for specific reference to the Committee on Judiciary, the following Memorials, and, on his motion, reference in these cases was ordered:

1. From Southern California Conference, through F. G. H. Stevens, its Secretary, asking for an opinion concerning the authority of an Annual Conference to make a certain rule now in force in the petitioning Conference. This Memorial is known as No. 5.
2. From Dakota Annual Conference, through A. J. Hoyer, its Secretary, asking for a judicial review of amended Paragraph 36 Proposed Constitutional Amendment, entitled "Participation of Laymen in Annual Conference," and known as Memorial No. 114.
3. From Minnesota Annual Conference, through H. W. Bedford, its Secretary, asking for an interpretation of Paragraph 110, Section 19, Discipline, 1928, and known as Memorial No. 115.
4. From the Minnesota Annual Conference, through H. W. Bedford, its Secretary, asking for a ruling on the relationship of an Annual Conference to its corporation and known as Memorial No. 116.

Telegram of Sympathy.

On a question of privilege, the Secretary announced the death of Mrs. Lloyd McClure, wife of a Delegate from the North Indiana Conference, and, on his motion, a telegram of sympathy was ordered to be sent to the bereaved Delegate.

Report, Committee on Credentials.

On a question of privilege, C. L. Wallace, Secretary of the Committee on Credentials, presented the following report, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Your Committee on Credentials begs leave to note the following persons entitled to be seated as delegates:

Lien Ke Lee and Ching Hsiu Tsui, Lay Electoral Conference, North China Conference.

Your Committee recommends that arrangements be made for these two delegates to be seated at once with their Delegation and that their per diem be allowed from April 30.

Your Committee also recommends that all applications for temporary absence shall be in writing, to be signed by the party desiring to be excused; giving also the name of his or her Conference, the exact dates to be excused and the reasons for such excuse. All communications for the Committee on Credentials to be handed Secretary Disston W. Jacobs (on the platform).

E. C. DIXON, Chairman;
C. L. WALLACE, Secretary.

Board of Foreign Missions Report Referred.

On a question of privilege, A. E. Day moved that the Quadrennial Report of the Board of Foreign Missions be referred to the Standing Committee on Foreign Missions. This motion prevailed.

the Episcopal Address," and printed in The Daily Christian Advocate, page 76, was read by the Secretary.

George Mecklenburg, Chairman of that Committee, moved that this report be adopted.

Rule 26 Invoked.

The Secretary called attention to the Rule forbidding the immediate consideration of this report, namely:

Must be in possession of the Conference long enough to have been printed in The Daily Christian Advocate for at least one business day.

Rules Suspended.

On motion of O. W. Fifer, the Rules were suspended for the purpose of receiving and acting upon this report.

The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

World Service Sunday Designation Proposed.

On a question of privilege, W. B. Farmer presented the following resolution:

A MESSAGE TO OUR CHURCH

Our abiding mission has new meaning to-day.

People of every race and citizens of more than forty countries join in our Methodist experiences and fellowship. They live in a world of social upheaval. Millions have no productive employment. Many more millions face daily starvation. Confidence in life and many of its institutions is decreasing. The bankruptcy of things is creating panic.

Men of Christian faith and burning conviction behold an unusual opportunity to bear witness to Christ as the power for successful living and the guide to the road ahead. Christian people everywhere are positive factors for personal and social salvation.

Let not the church of Jesus Christ be deceived. It has come again into one of the great crucial hours of its history. Protestant Christianity is not immune to those subtle forces of secularism which are destroying the other great religions. Even within the church we have adopted some of the standards of the world. There is too little to distinguish us from those who claim no allegiance to Christ. We have used the same estimates of success. The outward fortunes of our organizations rise and fall in our own thought and in the thought of the world as do those of the selfish, pagan and wholly impersonal systems of commerce and industry. We depend too largely upon the very conditions which our gospel condemns. We must enter that intimate Christian fellowship by which we are bound mightily in the power of the ideals and self-sacrifice of Jesus if our church is to be saved for that mission for which it and we have come to this hour.

Here, in one of the most momentous periods of recent history, representatives of all parts of our church have gathered at the Thirty-first General Conference from four years of toil and spiritual triumph. There are increasing signs of growth in the world brotherhood of Christians as the best guarantee for international peace. Personal redemption and spiritual life show new vitality in many civilizations. God's world-sized movements for human betterment give unfailing evidence of the success of the church as a witness to Jesus and his gospel for this day of confusion and for its to-morrow.

But the interests and convictions of many of us have not kept up with the development of institutions which we inherited. Either we must reduce our institutions to the level of spiritual resources now available for their support or we must reach more deeply into our own hearts with the call of present world needs and an understanding of the gospel of Jesus which alone is adequate for those needs.

In this hour when the world supremely longs for the voice of leadership we have been withdrawing our messengers of the cross of Christ and have been closing our institutions which were teachers of his gospel.

MAY 4 THIRD DAY. Morning.

The missionary and benevolent work of our church is in grave danger during this month of May. This is the most critical month in this quadrennium. It is the most critical month in many quadrenniums. General economic conditions are largely responsible. But the critical situation is due also to the fact that too many of us have forgotten the meanings of our World Service and have left it without proportionate and regular support in a time of stress. Many churches have actually increased their contributions this year. The number of remittances has been greater. But the total amount has been much less. Large numbers of our people have not yet understood present needs.

Sunday, May 15, has been designated as World Service Sunday and a day for a message in each pulpit of the Methodist Episcopal Church about the meanings and the present needs of our World Service.

Two hundred thousand contributions of five dollars each during the month are needed to protect this vital work during these days of stress. We appeal to the church to provide this amount by May 31. We invite every minister and the people of every charge heartily and promptly to send their largest contributions.

Common consent was given for the publication of this resolution in The Daily Christian Advocate.

On motion of C. Howard Taylor, this resolution was referred to the Committee on State of the Church for consideration and report.

Order of the Day.

On motion of H. L. Jacobs, all matters regularly in order to-day, following the approval of the Journal, were postponed until to-morrow at the same time, and the Order of the Day under "Special Order of Business" was called for.

Devotional Period.

Hymn 430, beginning, "For All the Saints, Who from Their Labors Rest," was sung, and a period of silent prayer was observed at the suggestion of the presiding Bishop.

The presiding Bishop later led in prayer.

Memorial Address.

Bishop Charles E. Locke was then presented to the Conference for the presentation of the Memorial Address. (See p. 859.)

The Hymn, beginning, "There's a Land That Is Fairer than Day," was sung.

Adjournment.

Announcements were made, a period of silent prayer was observed, and the Conference adjourned, with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Charles B. Mitchell.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 5, 1932

MAY 5 FOURTH DAY. Morning.

The Conference convened at 8:30 o'clock with Bishop Edwin H. Hughes presiding, who announced that Bishop Francis J. McConnell would conduct the devotional service.

Devotions.

Prayer was offered by Bishop McConnell.

Hymn 446, beginning, "If, on a Quiet Sea," was sung.

Bishop McConnell delivered a devotional address, entitled,

FOURTH
DAY.
Morning.

"The Prodigality of the Gospel," and again led the Conference in prayer.

Hymn 197, beginning, "Spirit of God! Descend upon My Heart," was sung.

Journal.

E. J. Hammond, for the Committee on the General Conference Journal, reported having examined the Journal for the session of May 4, and the Committee found the same correct. The report was accepted, and the Journal thus approved.

Greetings from Bishops M. E. Church, South.

The Secretary presented the following telegram of greetings from the College of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South:

That the blessing of our God may abide with you and his hand continue to guide you in all things is the prayer of the College of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

On motion, this telegram was made a matter of record and suitable reply was authorized.

Response to Our Greetings.

The Secretary presented the following telegram in response to our greetings recently dispatched to the General Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church:

The African Methodist Episcopal General Conference assembled in the city of Cleveland, Ohio, accepts the fraternal greetings of the Methodist Episcopal General Conference and sincerely wishes for you as the parent body of Methodism a greater growth in spreading the influence of the undying fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man for the salvation of the fifty-seven nations of the world. We are one.

H. B. PARKS, Senior Bishop;
R. S. JENKINS, Secretary.

On motion, this telegram was made a matter of record and due acknowledgment authorized.

References to Committee on Judiciary.

On a question of privilege, the Secretary presented for specific reference to the Committee on Judiciary, the following Memorials, and, on his motion, reference in these cases was ordered:

1. The Rulings of the Bishops made during the past Quadrennium.
2. From the New York East Conference through W. B. Tower, its Secretary, seeking an amendment to the decision of the Judiciary Committee of 1916, having to do with effective members of an Annual Conference and absentee voting for Delegates to the General Conference, and known as Memorial No. 282.
3. From John M. Walker, of the Indiana Conference and others, asking if it is in accordance with Paragraph 29 of the Discipline to require a signing of a register as required in Paragraph 48, Section 6, Discipline, 1928, and known as Memorial No. 489.
4. From H. W. Simmons, a member of the Lexington Conference, asking concerning the status in relation to the Board of Pensions and Relief of a minister expelled for immoral conduct and later restored to Conference membership, and known as Memorial No. 490.
5. From the Methodist Preachers' Meeting of Southern California, through Charles A. Kent, its President, asking for an interpretation of Paragraph 110, Section 19, Discipline, 1928, relating to the duties and limitations of the Committee on Pastoral Relations and Pulpit Supply, and known as Memorial No. 491.

6. From J. E. Morrison, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, asking to be informed concerning the authority of a local church to dispose of the funds of the Ladies' Aid Societies and similar Societies in certain events without the consent of the subordinate Societies, and known as Memorial No. 492.

7. From the Northern New York Conference, through Frederick A. Miller, asking for an interpretation of Paragraph 389, Section 2, Discipline, 1928, and having to do with Retired Ministers' Annuity Claim for Years when left without Appointment to Attend School, etc., and known as Memorial No. 493.

8. From Bishop Frederick B. Fisher, Ann Arbor, Michigan, suggesting the wisdom of obtaining a statement of the exact technical relationship which he sustains to the General Conference of 1932.

Report, Committee on Questions of Privilege.

C. Oliver Holmes, Chairman of the Committee on Questions of Privilege, reported for that Committee its desire to extend to E. D. Kohlstedt the privilege of the floor for the presentation of resolutions of appreciation. This privilege was allowed.

E. D. Kohlstedt presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Appreciation M. P. Burns and Whitford L. McDowell.

APPRECIATION OF MELVIN P. BURNS AND WHITFORD L. MCDOWELL

Midway up the ramp is a portrait of my illustrious predecessor, the late Dr. David D. Forsyth, with this legend: "The workers fall, the work must go on." Among those who have served the Methodist Episcopal Church and the kingdom of God faithfully and fruitfully over an extended period of time and have been called to their eternal reward during the current quadrennium are two outstanding leaders of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, Dr. Melvin P. Burns and Dr. Whitford L. McDowell.

When the reorganization of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension was effected in 1916, Dr. Melvin P. Burns, of the Northern Minnesota Conference, was named Superintendent of the Department of City Work. His leadership was characterized by rare insight, devotion and courage. It won almost instant interdenominational recognition. Doctor Burns was the first to call the attention of Methodism to the retreat of city churches and to sound the slogan of an adapted Christian service program, under a specialized leadership, in order to meet the demands of changing conditions in city centers and urban communities. He was one of those brave hearts who periodically blaze new trails through some uncharted wilderness, accomplish the apparently impossible and make mankind their everlasting debtors.

The inauguration of Councils of Cities, among the most prophetic Methodist gatherings during the past quarter of a century, was one of Doctor Burns' outstanding achievements. Seven such national Councils of Cities, sponsored by him, resulted in invaluable contributions toward more effective city church ministries, plus a body of literature on the subject that is now appraised in the highest terms by interdenominational leaders.

There is a thrill to the romantic story of the struggling youth from the raw frontier, with handicaps that at times seemed insuperable, who made his way by sheer character and ability to increasingly larger Christian service opportunities until his program determines, in a very real sense of the term, the destinies of multitudes of America's City Churches. Doctor Burns was a member of several General Conferences. His summons to the skies came on Sunday night, September 21, 1930.

Whitford L. McDowell, our diligent and effective Research Secretary, gave more than fifty years of fruitful pastoral and administrative service to the Methodist Episcopal Church, several quadrenniums as Superintendent of the Department of Church Extension of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension. A volume of appreciative letters from all parts of this country testify to the sterling Christian character and fine efficiency of Doctor McDowell as an administrator of home missionary interests. His service record reveals the following significant items: three terms as Superintendent of the Frederick, East Baltimore and Washington Districts, Baltimore Annual Conference; four times a delegate to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church; nearly twenty years a member and employee of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension. He went to his heavenly home on Tuesday evening, October 20, 1931.

The historical records of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church must accord very prominent places to the names of Melvin P. Burns and Whitford L. McDowell, who wrought so well during the day of their opportunity and registered so effectively in behalf of the kingdom of God.

Report, Committee on Credentials.

E. C. Dixon, Chairman of the Committee on Credentials, presented the following report, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Your Committee on Credentials begs leave to recommend that:

George Davies, ministerial delegate, Illinois Conference, be excused for May 2 because of illness.

John L. Johnson, ministerial delegate, Wilmington Conference, be excused for May 2 on account of death in the family.

Samuel C. Blackman, reserve lay delegate, Nebraska Conference, be seated May 3 in place of William A. Brown.

George E. Meck, reserve lay delegate, North Indiana Conference, be seated May 5 in place of Lloyd L. McClure, without extra expense.

LeRoy S. Champion, reserve lay delegate, New Jersey Conference, to be seated Friday, May 6, for one day in place of George W. Scarborough, without extra expense.

Your Committee on Credentials once more recommends that all communications for the Committee be made in writing and handed to Secretary Disston W. Jacobs, who is seated on the platform. Also your Committee is pleased to announce that the Secretary of the Committee will be at the press room door back of the stage, during recess each day to receive any communications.

E. C. DIXON, Chairman;
C. L. WALLACE, Secretary.

On motion of the Secretary, special Orders of the Day already deferred from their previous day's position were further deferred in deference to the reception of Fraternal Delegates.

Order of the Day—Introduction of Rev. Seimei Yoshioka.

The accepted Order of the Day being the reception of Fraternal Delegates, Ralph B. Urmy, Chairman of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates, was introduced by the presiding Bishop, and in turn presented to the Conference Rev. Seimei Yoshioka, the Fraternal Delegate from the Japan Methodist Church. His credentials are as follows:

Tokyo, Japan, April 6, 1932.

Credentials of Dr. Yoshioka.

TO THE GENERAL CONFERENCE OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN AMERICA:

Dear Fathers and Brethren:

This is to certify that the Rev. Seimei Yoshioka, pastor of the Ginza

Methodist Church in Tokyo, Japan, was duly elected by the Seventh General Conference of the Japan Methodist Church, and is hereby officially accredited as Fraternal Delegate to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States.

MAY 5 FOURTH DAY. Morning.

MOTOZO AKAZAWA, Bishop.

Greetings From National Christian Council of Japan.

Accompanying these credentials were letters of greetings from the National Christian Council of Japan, and from the Minister for Foreign Affairs of the Japanese Government. These letters follow:

Tokyo, Japan, April 6, 1932.

GREETINGS FROM THE NATIONAL CHRISTIAN COUNCIL OF JAPAN:

We wish to extend our heartfelt greetings to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in America and to assure you of our prayers for every success in your efforts for the upbuilding of the kingdom of God.

We rejoice that our Council is represented in the person of the Rev. S. Yoshioka, pastor of the Ginza Methodist Church in Tokyo and a member of the Executive Committee of the National Christian Council. Through him we wish to convey to you any information you would like to have from us.

On this occasion we wish to express again our deep gratitude for your prayers and sympathy for us in the midst of the serious situation in Sino-Japanese relations. The Manchurian and Shanghai incidents are not only deeply regretted by Christians but also by the nation in general and are regarded as most unfortunate occurrences. We humbly feel our responsibility for the present trouble before our God and Father and Christian friends in other countries. We acknowledge our lack of prayer and efforts as Christians. The Japan National Christian Council made a petition to the government; and we pledge ourselves anew to efforts to uphold the covenant of the League of Nations, the Kellogg Pact and the Nine Power Treaty. In view of the present delicacy of international relations, we would emphasize the importance of promoting a true understanding of the situation and of avoiding anything which might hinder the religious and peace movements in this country. Therefore, we most earnestly ask for the co-operation and prayers of our Christian friends in the United States.

May the peace of the world as the holy will of God, the Common Father of all the nations, be firmly established that men may realize their oneness in Christ the Redeemer.

On behalf of the Executive Committee of the National Christian Council.

Very sincerely yours,

AKIRA EBISAWA, General Secretary;
DARLEY DOWNS, Associate General Secretary.

Greetings From the Minister for Foreign Affairs.

GREETINGS FROM HIS EXCELLENCY KENKICHI YOSHIZAWA, THE MINISTER FOR FOREIGN AFFAIRS:

Like every branch of the Christian Church, your body is evidently deeply interested in the cause of universal peace. Japan is no less earnestly devoted to that cause, and she has evinced this by the constant efforts she has made for the promotion and maintenance of pacific effort. She joined with alacrity in the Kellogg-Briand Treaty for the outlawry of war, and she is co-operating energetically in the work of the conference now assembled with a view to effecting the reduction of the swollen armaments under which the world is staggering.

Evidently, the world has much thought and effort to expend before the demon of war can be altogether exorcised. In that heroic endeavor, statesmen and publicists must be greatly cheered and sustained by the support which they consistently receive from the churches. Not only are the churches ex officio friends of peace; they are also the sworn friends of justice; in this distracted modern age they still believe in the Ten Commandments, in the obligations of truth and of common honesty. These are as important for nations as for individuals. May your venerable body long hold up in a dark world the eternal lamps of Peace and Justice, until the very name of war is forgotten, and men everywhere choose to co-operate rather than to collide.

K. YOSHIZAWA, Minister for Foreign Affairs.

Fraternal Address of Dr. Yoshioka.

Doctor Yoshioka delivered the Fraternal Greetings of the Methodism of Japan to this General Conference. (See p. 768.)

On motion of H. L. Jacobs, the Conference voted to adhere to the Rule provided by the Special Order of Business to adjourn this session at 10 o'clock A. M.

Immediate Reference Reports of Boards and Commissions Ordered.

On motion of C. Oliver Holmes, Chairman of the Committee on Questions of Privilege, the Conference voted that reports of Boards, Commissions, and other agencies of the General Conference, now in the hands of the Secretary, and awaiting reference to Standing and other Committees, be referred forthwith to the consideration of these Committees, even though the formal reports shall be presented later.

References to Committee on Judiciary.

On a question of privilege, the Secretary presented, for specific reference to the Committee on Judiciary, the following Memorials, and, on his motion, reference in these cases was ordered:

1. From Pacific Northwest Conference, through Francis A. LaViolette, and for the petitioner, the Rev. Everett M. Hill, asking for an opinion on the legality and constitutionality of his transfer from the Puget Sound Annual Conference to the California Annual Conference, etc., and known as Memorial No. 510.
2. From Frank A. Horne, New York City, and others, asking for an interpretation of the word "Claimants," and known as Memorial No. 571.
3. From Edward Reynolds Kelley, Fall Brook, California, asking for a ruling upon the question, Is an Evangelist who has been granted that relation by a two-thirds vote of his Conference, in active relation to said Conference? and known as Memorial No. 572.
4. From W. B. Farmer, and others, asking for an opinion upon this question, Does an Annual Conference have the right to subvert, contravene, or modify the provisions of our Disciplinary plan for the support of Conference Claimants, etc.? and known as Memorial No. 588.
5. From R. E. Gordon, and others from the Kansas Conference, asking whether or not an Annual Conference may legally withhold funds from the annuity or pension due Claimants, etc., and known as Memorial No. 631.
6. From O. J. Carder and other Delegates of the Missouri Annual Conference, asking for rulings on questions having to do with Conference mergers and terms of District Superintendents within the resulting Conference, and known as Memorial No. 632.

Our Fraternal Message Acknowledged.

The Secretary presented a telegram from the College of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, acknowledging the receipt of the fraternal message sent by this Conference.

On motion of the Secretary, it was voted to include this telegram in to-day's record of proceedings. It follows:

The fraternal greetings of your General Conference are highly appreciated, warmly reciprocated. The Lord bless you and cause his face to shine upon you.

W. A. CANDLER, of the College of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

MAY 6 FIFTH DAY. Morning.

On a question of privilege, Bishop Herbert Welch presented to the Conference the report of the Commission on Methodist Union in Korea, which, on motion, was referred to the Standing Committee on Temporal Economy.

Report, Committee on Credentials.

C. L. Wallace, Secretary of the Committee on Credentials, presented the following report for that Committee, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Your Committee on Credentials desires to report and recommend the following adjustments:

Special Order of Business Reception of Fraternal Delegates.

On motion of R. B. Urmy, Chairman of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates, the Special Order of Business provided for this hour was introduced, namely, the reception of certain Fraternal Delegates.

Appropriate remarks introducing Rev. Wilbert F. Howard, M.A., D.D., and Mr. R. Parkinson Tomlinson, Fraternal Delegates from the Wesleyan Methodist Conference, were made by Chairman Urmy.

Credentials, Dr. W. F. Howard and Mr. R. Parkinson Tomlinson.

The Secretary read the credentials of these official representatives as follows:

TO THE GENERAL CONFERENCE OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH OF AMERICA, ASSEMBLED AT ATLANTIC CITY, MAY, 1932:

Dear Brethren:

The Rev. Wilbert F. Howard, M.A., D.D., who comes as fraternal delegate to your General Conference, holds the Lamplough Chair of New Testament Language and Literature and Classics in our Ministerial College at Birmingham. He is a Wesleyan minister's son and was closely associated with the late Dr. James Hope Moulton in his epoch-making researches into the language of the New Testament. Since Doctor Moulton's lamented death, Doctor Howard has carried on the publication of the important works on which they have been engaged for some years, with an ability for which all scholars are deeply grateful.

MAY 6
FIFTH DAY.
Morning.

At the last Conference, Doctor Howard delivered the Fernly Lecture on the Fourth Gospel in Recent Criticism and Interpretation, which has already taken rank as a work of rare scholarship and research.

His companion delegate, Mr. R. Parkinson Tomlinson, is one of the Secretaries of the Local Preachers' Mutual Aid Association, and was its President in 1928. He was Member for Lancaster in the last Parliament, and is one of the leading Methodists in the Fylde Division of that County. He is an able and popular preacher and speaker.

Our representatives are conversant with Methodist work in this country in all its phases, and bring you the warmest greetings from British Methodism, which gives never-ceasing praise to God for the noble work which the Methodist Episcopal Church is doing for America and for many fields of Missionary Service in various important centers of the world.

With hearty fraternal regards, signed on behalf of the Wesleyan Conference.

ROBERT BOND, Secretary.

Fraternal Message of Mr. R. Parkinson Tomlinson.

Mr. R. Parkinson Tomlinson, the first Layman to bear fraternal greetings from the Wesleyan Conference to this Conference, addressed the Conference. (See p. 774.)

At the conclusion of this Address, and, on motion, the time was extended.

Fraternal Message of Dr. W. F. Howard.

Dr. Wilbert F. Howard addressed the Conference, bearing additional greetings from British Methodism. (See p. 774.)

Response of the Presiding Bishop.

In response to these fraternal messages, the presiding Bishop said:

May the Chair make the comment that many of us here were greatly profited at Atlanta last year by the splendid addresses of the delegates from across the seas, and we congratulate those of you that were not there last year on the privilege you have had this morning to hear similar expressions of high sentiment and idealism. We are grateful for this hour.

Invitation From Methodist Union Committee.

On a question of privilege, the Secretary presented the following invitation from the Methodist Union Committee to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and the following letter amplifying the same:

London, December, 1931.

The Wesleyan Methodist, Primitive Methodist and United Methodist Churches of Great Britain request the honour of the presence of a Representative from The Methodist Episcopal Church on the occasion of the Union of the Three Churches, which will take place in the Royal Albert Hall, London, England, on Tuesday, September 20, 1932.

C. RYDER SMITH, President of the Wesleyan Methodist Conference;
E. MCLELLAN, President of the Primitive Methodist Conference;
J. FORD REED, President of the United Methodist Conference.

London, England, January 4, 1932.

Rev. John M. Arters,
The Methodist Episcopal Church,
700 Hammond Street, Bangor, Maine, U. S. A.

DEAR SIR:

Please find enclosed the official invitation (in confirmation of the informal communication of a few months ago) to your Church to be represented at the Union of the Wesleyan, Primitive, and United Methodist Churches in September, 1932.

Your representative will be asked to give a brief address to the Conference on Wednesday evening, September 21, when the subject will be "The Mission of Methodism to the World."

A personal communication will be sent to your representative on receipt of the name and address.

On behalf of the three secretaries,
Yours sincerely,
E. ALDOM FRENCH.

Invitation Accepted.

On motion of the Secretary, it was voted to accept this invitation and to request the Bishops to provide for our proper official representation.

Quadrennial Report World Service Commission.

On a question of privilege, Bishop E. H. Hughes presented to the Conference the Quadrennial Report of the Commission on World Service, which, on motion, was referred to the Committee on Temporal Economy and for printing in The Daily Christian Advocate.

Membership Change Committee on Revision.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, announced the following change in the membership of the Committee on Revision:

Frank Linder (Southern California), instead of A. Ray Moore (Southern California).

On motion, this nomination was confirmed and the person newly named was declared elected.

Appreciation of Charles A. Pollock and John Marshall.

On a question of privilege, F. R. Bayley, Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary, presented a Minute honoring the memory of the late Charles A. Pollock and the late John Marshall, former members of the Committee on Judiciary.

Judge Charles A. Pollock, of the North Dakota Conference, served continuously upon the Judiciary Committee of the General Conference for the five quadrenniums from 1912 to 1928. In the latter year he was elected Chairman of the Committee, succeeding the lamented Judge Henry Wade Rogers, in which position he served with distinguished ability. A genial Chairman, he displayed those qualities of judicial fairness, honesty of thought, a desire to seek the truth, and clarity of expression, which had distinguished his career while on the bench.

Judge John Marshall, of Kansas Conference, served upon the Judiciary Committee from 1916 to 1928. His quiet modesty and patience could not conceal his great ability. We remember his rugged honesty of thought, the courageous expression of his convictions and his friendly attitude in any difference of opinion.

We note the passing of these two great, kindly men as a severe loss to the Church they both loved and served so long.

On motion, this Minute was made a matter of record without reading and its printing ordered in The Daily Christian Advocate.

Organization, Committee on Rules.

The Secretary announced that the organization of the Committee on Rules has been completed by the election of H. L. Jacobs as Chairman, and G. W. Henson as Secretary. MAY 6 FIFTH DAY. Morning.

Additional announcements were made and the Conference adjourned with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Frederick D. Leete. Adjournment.

SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 7, 1932

The Conference convened at 8:30 o'clock, with Bishop Francis J. McConnell presiding, who announced that Bishop Thomas Nicholson would conduct the devotional service. MAY 7 SIXTH DAY. Morning.

Hymn 540, beginning, "O Could I Speak the Matchless Worth," was sung, and Bishop Nicholson led in prayer. Devotions.

First Thessalonians 2. 19, 20 was the basis for the devotional address of the Bishop, at the conclusion of which he again led in prayer.

Hymn 107, beginning, "Joy to the World! the Lord Is Come," was sung.

E. J. Hammond, for the Committee on the General Conference Journal, reported having examined the Journal for the session of May 6, and the Committee found the same correct. The report was accepted, and the Journal thus approved. Journal.

George H. Spencer moved that the Rules be suspended for the purpose of considering Report No. 1 of the Committee on State of the Church, entitled, "Message of the General Conference to the Church Regarding World Service," and printed on page 181 of The Daily Christian Advocate. Suspension of Rules.

F. A. Horne moved to amend by adding "and also for the purpose of extending the time of adjournment in order to pass upon certain pending resolutions, namely, those previously introduced by Ray Allen and Chester A. Smith."

This amendment was accepted by George H. Spencer.

The motion as amended was adopted.

Report No. 1, of the Committee on State of the Church, was then read by the Secretary, and D. L. Marsh, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption. Committee on State of the Church, Report No. 1.

Frank Kingdon offered the following substitute for the pending report, and moved its adoption: Substitute Presented.

The General Conference salutes the Methodist Episcopal Church throughout the world. The inclusive brotherhood of our world-wide church impressed upon us by the cosmopolitan membership of this body has brought us fresh realization of the power of Jesus to bring light into the dark places of men's lives everywhere.

From every land comes united testimony that men are turning eagerly toward our Christ as the world's one hope. We are convinced that his message of love holds the only solution for our present ills. We declare to the Church that this Jesus whom we preach is revealing anew to our generation his power to captivate the wills of men. The living truth incarnate in our Master is our solemn trust for all mankind: because we have known his love we exalt him before them in this hour of their need and his opportunity. It is for us to look unto him that in the light of his countenance we may go forward with faith to advance his kingdom unfalteringly.

Ray Allen moved to place the substitute on the table, which motion did not prevail.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

The motion to adopt the substitute did not prevail.

The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

Reception of Fraternal Delegates.

On a question of privilege, R. B. Urmy, Chairman of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates, moved to observe the Special Order of Business for this hour, namely, the reception of certain Fraternal Delegates. The motion prevailed.

Rev. J. H. Arnup, D.D., Fraternal Messenger to this Conference from the United Church of Canada, was presented to the presiding Bishop by R. B. Urmy, and, in turn, introduced to the Conference.

Fraternal Message Dr. J. H. Arnup.

Doctor Arnup was heard in the delivery of an appropriate fraternal message. (See p. 783.)

W. A. C. Hughes, on behalf of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates, presented to the presiding Bishop, Rev. Buford F. Gordon, D.D., Fraternal Delegate to this Conference from the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church.

Fraternal Message Dr. B. F. Gordon.

Doctor Gordon was introduced to the Conference and delivered his fraternal message. (See p. 792.)

R. B. Urmy introduced to the presiding Bishop Hugh Heung-woo Cynn, LL.D., formerly a Lay Delegate to our General Conference, and now the duly accredited Fraternal Delegate from the Korean Methodist Church.

Fraternal Message Dr. H. H. Cynn.

Doctor Cynn, upon being introduced to the Conference, delivered his fraternal message. (See p. 813.)

The motion of J. Franklin Knotts that we adjourn did not prevail.

The Secretary read the resolution previously introduced by Ray Allen, and printed on page 45 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

J. M. Walker offered the following substitute for the pending resolution and moved that it be printed in The Daily Christian Advocate and made the Order of the Day at this same hour on Tuesday next:

Resolution Providing for Study Supervisional System.

Inasmuch as there is a great need of a deliberate and comprehensive study of the whole organization of our Church, to remove overlapping, waste, and friction, to adapt our arrangements to the changing needs of the times, and provide for the ongoing of our work in the most effective way; and

Inasmuch as the crowded conditions and brevity of time of our General Conference session, and the division of responsibility among so many committees make such an adequate study impossible during the session; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we authorize the Bishops to appoint a commission of twenty-five, to consist of three General Superintendents, three Board Secretaries, three District Superintendents, eight other Ministers, and eight Laymen, two of whom shall be women, to make a thorough study of our supervisional system, including the episcopacy and the district superintendency, of our Boards and benevolence agencies, of the appointment, support, tenure, and efficiency of pastors and any other matters germane to the foregoing and vital to the organization and administration both of the Local Church and the Church as a whole and publish their recommendations in the church press at least one year before the ensuing General Conference, and make their final and full report to the General Conference of 1936.

J. M. WALKER,
E. D. KOHLSTEDT,
RAY ALLEN,
GEORGE H. SPENCER,
DORR F. DIEFENDORF,
J. W. MANNING,
E. A. WEAVER,
J. RALPH MAGEE,
H. L. JACOBS,
W. E. HAMMAKER,
JOHN L. HILLMAN,
C. C. HALL.

Ray Allen agreed to accept the substitute.

Francis A. LaViolette moved that the motion to publish and later consider the substitute resolution be placed upon the table. This motion was soon withdrawn by common consent.

I. A. Miller moved to refer the entire subject matter, now under consideration, to the Committee on Temporal Economy.

J. M. Walker, at this juncture, by common consent, withdrew from consideration the substitute resolution.

D. L. Marsh moved to amend the original resolution by adding the words "Temporal Economy" at the end of the second paragraph, as printed on page 45 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

This amendment was accepted by Ray Allen.

H. L. Jacobs moved to lay the motion to refer on the table. This motion did not prevail.

MAY 7 SIXTH DAY. Morning.

D. L. Marsh moved to amend the resolution by adding the words "American Bible Society" to the already amended second paragraph.

This amendment was accepted by Ray Allen.

The motion to refer the entire matter to the Committee on Temporal Economy prevailed.

Concerning Reduction of Areas.

The Secretary read the resolution previously introduced by Chester A. Smith, and printed on page 46 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

A motion to adopt this resolution was made by Chester A. Smith.

C. O. Ford presented the following substitute, and moved its adoption:

Resolved, That the Committee on Episcopacy study our supervisional plan of Areas with respect to needs and efficiency, the Committee to make this study with reduction in mind, if possible, without lessening efficiency of administration and report to this General Conference at the earliest possible moment the number of reductions.

C. O. Holmes moved that this entire matter be referred to the Committee on Episcopacy, which motion prevailed.

References to Committee on Judiciary.

On a question of privilege, the Secretary presented for specific reference to the Committee on Judiciary the following Memorials, and, on his motion, reference in these cases was ordered:

1. From Gabino Rodriguez, of the Eastern South America Conference, asking whether it is permissible for a Central Conference to legislate that the Election of District Superintendents by Annual Conferences may be made possible.
2. Additional Rulings of the Bishops made in the month of April, 1932.
3. From the Delegates of the Central New York Annual Conference, through Albert G. Odell, asking that in the case of R. F. Fairburn a ruling be given on Paragraph 389, Article 1, Discipline, 1928.
4. From Charles F. Eggleston and William H. G. Gould, of Philadelphia Conference, asking for a ruling on Section 1, Article 488, Discipline, 1928, concerning the right of the Editors of the Discipline to insert in the body of the Discipline their interpretation of Disciplinary articles.

Appeal of Melecio de Armas.

The Secretary presented papers in the case of an appeal of Melecio de Armas versus the Philippine Islands Annual Conference, and stated that by the provisions of ¶ 351, Discipline, 1928, there is required in this matter a Special Appellate Committee.

The Secretary moved that the Bishops be requested to provide such a Committee to hear and to adjudicate this appeal and that all the documents in the case be referred to this Committee.

MAY 7 SIXTH DAY. Morning.

The amendment of F. R. Bayley that this Special Committee be composed entirely of Ministerial Delegates was accepted by the Secretary.

Special Appellate Committee.

The motion to appoint the Special Appellate Committee and to refer to it the appeal of Melecio de Armas prevailed.

Sympathy Extended to the French Republic.

On motion of the Secretary, the Conference voted to send an expression of its sympathy to the people of the French Republic on account of the death of the President of the Republic at the hands of an assassin.

On motion of the Secretary, the question of providing for a Special Committee to care for all matters having to do with Central Conferences was next presented for consideration.

L. O. Hartman moved to suspend the Rules for the purpose of presenting the report of the Commission on Central Conferences, printed on pages 99-101 and 112 in The Daily Christian Advocate. This motion prevailed.

Special Committee on Central Conferences Ordered.

L. O. Hartman moved that a Special Committee of 15 members be appointed by the Bishops to receive this report for study, reference, and recommendation. This motion prevailed.

L. O. Hartman moved to refer the report of the Commission to the Special Committee, when organized. This motion prevailed.

Report, Committee on Credentials.

E. C. Dixon, Chairman of the Committee on Credentials, presented the following report, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Your Committee on Credentials reports the following adjustments:

In all cases without additional expense.

Your Committee on Credentials calls your attention to report of Roll Call on the first day of the General Conference as printed in The Daily Christian Advocate this morning. All additions and corrections to the roll as printed and not thus reported shall be reported immediately to the Committee on Credentials in order that all confusion be eliminated when delegates apply for their per diem.

E. C. DIXON, Chairman;
C. L. WALLACE, Secretary.

Revision of the Rules of Order.

G. W. Henson, for the Committee on Rules, asked the unanimous consent of the Conference to change Rule 41, § 7, recently adopted, so that it shall hereafter read:

On the first and second business days, nominations for the Committees on the American Bible Society, Complimentary Resolutions, Federation, Fraternal Delegates, Journal, Judiciary, Questions of Privilege, Reference, Revision and Rules shall be presented by the General Superintendents for action by the Conference.

and to reconstruct Rule 42, so that it shall hereafter read:

There shall be a Committee of Elected Chairmen, composed of the Chairmen elected by the Committees of Group A, Group B, Judiciary, Revision and Rules, of which Committee the Secretary of the Conference shall be chairman ex officio, and one of the Assistant Secretaries shall be designated for the Committee's Secretary. This Committee shall meet on the first business day at 8 P. M., and thereafter on order of the Conference or on call.

On motion, unanimous consent was given for this revision of the Rules.

Board of Trustees, Drew University.

L. D. Baldwin presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Resolved, That permission and authority be granted to the Board of Trustees of Drew University in its discretion to sell, transfer, and convey property of any value and to make contracts and incur debts in any amount.

LEONARD D. BALDWIN,
HORACE LINCOLN JACOBS.

L. B. Bowers presented the following resolution, and moved its adoption:

Greetings to Geneva Disarmament Conference.

WHEREAS, We believe military preparedness to be one of the most prolific causes of war; and

WHEREAS, Representatives of the leading nations of the world are now assembled at Geneva, Switzerland, considering the very important question of reducing the world's military armaments; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, convened in Atlantic City, send, through its Secretary, greetings to the Geneva Disarmament Conference assuring its members of our prayers, the support of the millions of Methodists of the world in the object of their deliberations and our best wishes for the most fruitful outcome of their negotiations for peace among the nations.

L. B. BOWERS,
R. A. ANDERSON,
HORACE LINCOLN JACOBS,
LOREN M. EDWARDS.

Ray Allen moved to refer this resolution to the Committee on State of the Church. This motion did not prevail.

The motion to adopt the resolution prevailed.

MAY 7

E. L. Kidney moved that the announced meeting for to-day of the Committee on Home Missions and Church Extension be deferred.

Suspension of Rules.

F. C. Eiselen moved as a substitute that we continue in session, under suspension of the Rules, until 12:30 o'clock; and that under further suspension of the Rules, Standing Committees in Group A and Group B shall meet this afternoon, the first Group at 2:30 o'clock and the second Group at 4 o'clock.

E. L. Kidney asked unanimous consent to accept the substitute, which consent was granted.

A division of the pending motion was called for, and division was permitted.

The motion to remain in session until 12:30 o'clock prevailed.

The motion for Standing Committee meetings during this afternoon, and according to the time schedule mentioned, prevailed.

Presentation Chinese Silk Banner.

C. O. Holmes, for the Committee on Questions of Privilege, secured permission on behalf of Handel Lee to present a silk banner from General Chang Chih-kiang of Nanking, China.

The Secretary read the translation of the inscription upon this banner, as follows:

I, the undersigned, by the grace of God, called to be the servant of Jesus Christ, for the sake of common ties in the Christian faith as well as in Christian work, wish to take this opportunity to send warm greetings to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church of the whole world and to convey to you my heartfelt affection and admiration for what you have already accomplished.

In the name of Jesus Christ I am sincerely grateful to God for your great and inspiring Conference taking place at this time. I am fully aware that the purpose of your Conference is noble and holy; it is called to glorify God for the salvation of man; to establish the kingdom of God for the welfare of mankind.

May the Holy Spirit descend upon your Conference and fill every one of you who are attending it. May wisdom, power, courage, love and peace be richly bestowed upon you from God who was, is and shall ever be; and from our Lord, Jesus Christ, thereby ensuring ideally perfect results for the Conference in manifesting the hidden blessings of Jesus Christ: that souls may be saved from the farthest ends of the earth. May the name of the Father of the Holy Trinity be glorified now and forever more, Amen.

CHANG CHIH-KIANG.

On motion of Handel Lee, publication of this message in The Daily Christian Advocate was ordered, and the Secretary instructed to make proper acknowledgment of its reception to General Chang Chih-kiang.

C. O. Holmes, for the Committee on Questions of Privilege, secured permission for P. O. Hanson to introduce the following resolution for reference to the appropriate Standing Committee:

Resolution Sino-Japanese Situation.

SINO-JAPANESE SITUATION

Conditions in Eastern Asia demand our attention. China, weakened by years of revolutionary travail, as a new and modern nation was being brought forth, has now been inflicted with three major calamities.

The first is the menace of Communism directed in China by men trained in Moscow, the second is one of the worst floods ever known, affecting more than fifty millions of her people, and, finally, when all but prostrate, came the invasion of foreign armies.

The emergence of militarism in all of its awfulness, involving more than a third of the human race, demands our attention.

The violation of all international agreements toward the construction of a peace fabric cannot be ignored if we are really opposed to war. Therefore, be it Resolved, That this General Conference first, extend sympathy to the government and the harrassed people of China.

Second, express through the National Christian Councils of Japan and China sincere appreciation of the fine Christian spirit shown by the Christian and peace-loving groups of these two nations during the months of strife.

Third, express condemnation of the spirit of militarism responsible for the recent shameful tragedy.

Fourth, express to our own government due praise for the efforts already made toward a settlement of the Sino-Japanese trouble but urge that all possible methods be used to bring about promptly a just and righteous peace in the Orient.

PERRY O. HANSON.

On motion of P. O. Hanson, this resolution was referred to the Committee on State of the Church.

Study Supervisional System Again Proposed.

On a question of privilege, J. M. Walker presented a resolution, previously presented, but withdrawn then before action could be taken. (See p. 253.)

Objection was voiced that this resolution offered no method for providing for the necessary expenses of the Commission which it calls for.

J. M. Walker secured unanimous consent to add to the resolution the proviso that the expenses of the Commission be borne by the General Conference Expense Fund.

J. F. Knotts moved that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Temporal Economy.

John Thompson moved to amend by eliminating that portion of the resolution which provides for the constitution of the Commission and to the effect that the proposed Commission shall consist of an equal number of Ministers and Laymen.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

The motion to refer the resolution, with amendments, to the Committee on Temporal Economy prevailed.

J. W. Langdale presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Invitation Re Revised Responsive Readings.

The General Conference of 1928 invited the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to join us in revising our hymnal. Because it was understood that the Church, South, desired to continue the use of their Psalter, no mention was made of the Responsive Readings in our invitation. At the first meeting of the Joint Commission, the Commission of the Church, South, expressed a desire to join with the Commission of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the preparation of the Responsive Readings, and explained clearly that they were acting of their own volition pending the authorization of the General Conference. So far as they could, your Commission accepted their co-operation and thereby our Readings have profited invaluably. I move that we now invite the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to unite with us in the common use of these Responsive Readings and instruct our Secretary to communicate this invitation to the next General Conference of that Church.

J. W. Langdale presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Invitation Re Hymnal and Responsive Readings.

The last General Conference invited the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to join with us in revising our hymnal. When that invitation was graciously accepted the Methodist Protestant Church appointed six Commissioners and offered to unite with the Joint Commission in preparing the Hymnal and Responsive Readings. So far as your Commission could, it extended a hearty welcome to these brothers of the Methodist Protestant Church, and they have participated in all the work with valuable helpfulness and genial comradeship. I move that we invite the Methodist Protestant Church to unite with us in the production of our Hymnal and Responsive Readings and instruct our Secretary to communicate this invitation to their General Conference soon to be in session at Columbus.

G. C. Douglass presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Authorization to Editor of the Discipline

WHEREAS, The Bock of Discipline, Paragraph 444, states "The Book Editor shall have editorial supervision of all manuscripts and printed matter intended for publication in book form, or intended to bear the imprint of The Methodist Book Concern"; and

WHEREAS, The Discipline naturally falls within this provision; therefore,

Resolved, That the editing of the Discipline shall be a part of the official duties of the Book Editor, who may secure such help as he may require.

J. H. RACE,
GEORGE C. DOUGLASS,
O. G. MARKHAM,
Publishing Agents, The Methodist Book Concern.

E. F. Tittle presented the following resolution:

Entertainment of the General Conference

WHEREAS, "There cannot be Greek and Jew, circumcision and uncircumcision; barbarian, Scythian, bondman, freeman, but Christ is all and in all"; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church shall hereafter meet only in cities where hotels, sufficient in number to accommodate its Delegates, shall in writing agree to meet the following conditions:

MAY 7
SIXTH DAY.
Morning.

(1) No segregation of specific groups in room assignments.
(2) No discrimination against any Delegates in the use of hotel entrances, lobbies, elevators, dining rooms and other hotel services or facilities.
(3) Specific instruction of hotel employes by the hotel authorities regarding the interracial character of the Conference and the treatment of all Delegates with equal courtesy.

RAYMOND G. KIMBELL,
R. E. DIFFENDORFER,
R. M. WILLIAMS.

J. J. Shy moved that this resolution be referred to the Committee on State of the Church.

The motion to place on the table the motion to refer prevailed.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

The motion to adopt the resolution prevailed.

Call of the Conferences.

The Secretary moved that we now proceed under the Call of the Conferences, which motion prevailed.

Announcements.

On motion, the Conference voted to adjourn after hearing the necessary announcements.

By common consent, correction was made in the published report of the Commission on Interdenominational Relations, printed in The Daily Christian Advocate, page 113, so that in § 4, line 10, it shall read: "until we have exhausted the last effort for that perfect union between these three Methodisms."

On motion, reprinting of this report in The Daily Christian Advocate in corrected form was ordered.

Bishop C. L. Mead, Fraternal Delegate.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, announced the appointment of Bishop Charles L. Mead as an additional Fraternal Delegate to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church. This appointment was duly confirmed by the Conference.

Change in Membership Committee on Federation.

Bishop Smith also announced that A. M. Jayne is substituted for F. C. Donnell in the membership of the Committee on Federation. This substitution was confirmed and the person named duly elected.

Additional announcements were made and the Conference adjourned with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Francis J. McConnell.

MAY 7 SIXTH DAY. Morning. Adjournment.

SATURDAY EVENING, MAY 7, 1932

MAY 7 SIXTH DAY. Evening.

The Conference convened at 8 o'clock, with Bishop Charles E. Locke presiding.

Hymn 6, beginning, "Before Jehovah's Awful Throne," was sung, and Bishop Wallace E. Brown led in prayer.

Reports of Bishops Lee, Robinson, Badley and Chitambar.

The presiding Bishop presented Bishop Edwin F. Lee, of the Singapore Area, who reported upon the work of his Area.

The presiding Bishop presented Bishop John W. Robinson, of the Delhi Area, who reported upon the work of his Area.

Following this report, certain Nationals wearing the costumes of India, sang the hymn, "Jesus Is My Saviour," in their native tongue.

The presiding Bishop presented Bishop Brenton T. Badley, of the Bombay Area, who reported upon the work of his Area.

The presiding Bishop presented Bishop Jashwant R. Chitambar, of the Jubbulpore Area, who reported upon the work of his Area.

Indian Nationals were heard again in song in their native tongue.

Hymn 180, beginning, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," was sung, and the Conference adjourned with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Charles E. Locke.

MONDAY MORNING, MAY 9, 1932

MAY 9 SEVENTH DAY. Morning.

The Conference convened at 8:30 o'clock, with Bishop Herbert Welch presiding, who presented Bishop Ernest L. Waldorf to be in charge of the devotional service.

Devotions.

Musical Director E. E. Harper led in the Sixth Worship Service for the Devotional Periods of the General Conference.

Prayer was offered by Bishop Waldorf.

Hymn 415, beginning, "Faith of our Fathers! Living Still," was sung; and the Bishop's devotional address was based upon 2 Kings 6. 16, and entitled, "Available Spiritual Resources."

MAY 9 SEVENTH DAY. Morning.

Hymn 180, beginning, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," was sung.

Journal.

E. J. Hammond, for the Committee on the General Conference Journal, reported having examined the Journal for the sessions of May 7, and the Committee found the same correct. The report was accepted, and the Journal thus approved.

Excused From Committee Sessions.

On motion of E. J. Hammond, Assistant Secretary E. A. Wells was excused for the time being from attendance upon the sessions of Standing and Special Committees to which he may be assigned, because of his duties as Secretary in charge of the Journal.

Report, Committee on Questions of Privilege.

C. O. Holmes, Chairman of the Committee on Questions of Privilege, presented the following items in order:

1. Your Committee recommends that O. Grant Markham, Treasurer of the General Conference Expense Fund, be permitted to present his Quadrennial Report.

Quadrennial Report Treasurer General Conference Expense Fund.

On motion, this permission was allowed, and the report referred to was presented without reading and announcement made that copies would later be presented to the Delegates, with the request that the report be printed in The Daily Christian Advocate.

On motion, this request was approved.

2. Your Committee recommends that E. D. Kohlstedt be permitted to present a resolution.

On motion, this permission was allowed, and E. D. Kohlstedt presented the following resolution:

Subject of Evangelism Referred to Special Committee.

WHEREAS, There appears to be a feeling in certain quarters that the cause of Evangelism might be served more effectively by some general agency, such as the Bishops, rather than by any single Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Resolved, That this whole matter be referred to the Committee on Home Missions and Church Extension for its careful consideration and report to this General Conference.

E. D. KOHLSTEDT,
MARK A. DAWBER,
GEORGE B. DEAN.

A. E. Day introduced the following substitute, which was accepted by E. D. Kohlstedt, and, on his motion, adopted:

Resolved, That this General Conference appoint a Special Committee on Evangelism, consisting of five Bishops, five Ministers and five Laymen, to unify the leadership which seeks to guide and inspire in this essential matter, and to bring to this Conference at the earliest possible date, an Evangelistic Program adequate to the opportunity now before the Church.

Report, Committee on Credentials.

C. L. Wallace, for the Committee on Credentials, presented the following report, which, on his motion, was adopted:

MAY 9
SEVENTH DAY.
Morning.

Your Committee on Credentials desires to report the following adjustments:

C. L. WALLACE, Secretary.

Credentials Bishop A. J. Moore.

R. B. Urmy, Chairman of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates, announced the presence of Bishop Arthur J. Moore, Fraternal Delegate from the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, whose credentials were read by the Secretary as follows:

TO THE BISHOPS AND MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL CONFERENCE OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, ATLANTIC CITY, NEW JERSEY:

Dear Fathers and Brethren:

In harmony with our well-established custom and under the authority of our Church, the College of Bishops have appointed the Rev. Bishop Arthur James Moore, Doctor of Divinity, Doctor of Laws, Fraternal Messenger to your General Conference. We commend him with heartiness to your gracious welcome.

Bishop Moore was elected to the Episcopacy two years ago from the pastorate of our great First Church in Birmingham, Alabama. The preceding five years he was pastor of Travis Park Church in San Antonio, Texas, which he served with conspicuous ability. In addition to his outstanding service in the pastorate, he has had marked success in evangelistic labors. His Episcopal District embraces the Far West.

Bishop Moore will bear to you the fraternal greetings of our entire Church and will assure you of our sincere hope and prayer that your God and ours will bless you with all spiritual prosperity and make you of such service as may continually glorify our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

Fraternally yours,

JOHN M. MOORE, Secretary of the College of Bishops, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Fraternal Message of Bishop Moore.

Bishop Moore was formally presented to the Conference by the presiding Bishop, and was heard in the delivery of his fraternal message. (See p. 797.)

R. B. Urmy, for the Committee on Fraternal Delegates, announced the presence of General Superintendent Ju Sam Ryang, of the Korean Methodist Episcopal Church, Fraternal Delegate from that Church to this Conference, whose credentials were read by the Secretary, as follows:

MAY 9 SEVENTH DAY. Morning.

Credentials General Superintendent Ryang.

Chong-no, Seoul, Korea, March 24, 1932.

TO THE GENERAL CONFERENCE OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, ASSEMBLED IN ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., MAY, 1932:

Dear Fathers and Brethren:

This is to certify that the Rev. Ju Sam Ryang, D.D., General Superintendent of the Korean Methodist Church, has been duly appointed as our fraternal delegate to your great General Conference. He will bring you our affectionate greetings and love. May God bless you!

Respectfully signed,

YOUNGSUP KIM, Secretary of the General Board of the Korean Methodist Church.

Fraternal Message of Dr. Ryang.

General Superintendent Ryang was then formally presented to the Conference by the presiding Bishop, and was heard in the delivery of his fraternal message. (See p. 808.)

On motion of E. L. Kidney, the "Special Order of Business" under which we are now proceeding, was temporarily suspended for the purpose of declaring a recess.

Recess.

A recess was taken at 10:30 o'clock.

The Conference reconvened at 10:40 o'clock, and the Allegheny College Glee Club was heard in the rendition of special music.

Fraternal Message of Rev. J. R. St. Felix Isaacs.

W. A. C. Hughes, for the Committee on Fraternal Delegates, presented to the presiding Bishop the Rev. J. R. St. Felix Isaacs, Fraternal Delegate from the African Methodist Episcopal Church, who was introduced to the Conference and heard in the delivery of his fraternal message. (See p. 815.)

R. B. Urmy, further representing the Committee on Fraternal Delegates, presented to the presiding Bishop Rev. Hugh Thomson Kerr, D.D., Fraternal Delegate from the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America to this Conference.

Fraternal Message of Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr.

Dr. Kerr was formally introduced to the Conference and was heard in the delivery of his fraternal message. (See p. 819.)

Order of the Day.

On motion of the Secretary, the Order of the Day, namely, exercises appropriate to the retirement of General Superintendents, was introduced, and O. W. Fifer, Chairman of the Committee on Episcopacy, moved to suspend the Rules for the introduction of Report No. 7 from that Committee.

The motion prevailed.

Committee on Episcopacy, Report No. 7.

The Secretary read Report No. 7 from the Committee on Episcopacy, entitled, "Retirement of Bishops for Age," printed in The Daily Christian Advocate, page 158; and O. W. Fifer addressed the Conference as follows:

MAY 9
SEVENTH DAY.
Morning.

Tribute to Bishops Retiring for Age.

According to the law of the Church, these three General Superintendents shall now be released by the General Conference from the obligation to travel throughout the connection and from residential supervision. They have come to this golden hour with increased affection and confidence by reason of their fidelity to the tasks once entrusted to them.

William Fraser McDowell, pastor, Chancellor of a University, Secretary of the Board of Education, for twenty-eight years a General Superintendent in Chicago and in Washington, whose entire ministry has been marked especially by influences upon the young people in our educational institutions and upon the life and ideals of young ministers.

William Franklin Anderson, pastor, Secretary of the Board of Education, for twenty-four years a General Superintendent in Chattanooga, Cincinnati, Boston, whose rise to leadership and service has been as romantic as it has been deserved, and whose closing hour of efficient service was made singularly significant by his impressive delivery of that magnificent Episcopal Address on last Tuesday morning.

Charles Edward Locke, a minister whose literary tastes and sermonic abilities won him deserved laurels in great cities in the East and in the West, and who has been a General Superintendent for twelve years in Manila and in Saint Paul.

These three are a remarkable group, now to be graduated by your law. There may be some regret as we bring them to this hour, but there is no reproach in it whatever; rather the recognition of increased enrichment and quality in our confidence. They graduate in this General Conference, as it were, and I believe you would echo the sentiment of some of the college presidents on such an occasion in their institutions —summa cum laude.

Mr. Chairman, I move that when this report is adopted that the vote be taken by a rising vote and afterwards that these three distinguished leaders of the Church be given the privilege of the floor.

The motion to adopt this report and to grant this privilege of the floor prevailed.

Hymn 222, beginning, "Jesus! the Name High Over All," was sung, and Oscar T. Olson presented the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Appreciative Resolution for Bishop McDowell.

To Bishop William Fraser McDowell, father in God and brother beloved: Grace be unto you and peace through our Father and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

The Washington Area of the Methodist Episcopal Church, through its delegates in this General Conference of 1932, upon your retirement, would give expression to the admiration and love that the people called Methodists hold for you.

We stand at salute and express our appreciation to you for all that you are in the story of the Church and nation. Through a noble ministry you have served the Church of Christ as Preacher, Educator, Author and Bishop.

As Bishop you have not only borne the burden of administering the affairs of the Church, but you have been alive to the religious necessities of your day and generation. You have spoken for the Eternal in the midst of time. Sensing the intellectual and spiritual perplexities of the age, you have with sanity and clarity, as well as with insight and courage, stressed the spiritual essentials which are the common needs of all men. You are the true preacher whose goal is man-making, mending, man-building. Men live by moral principles and men have their principles from their prophets. Whenever any man has discovered a spiritual truth and brought it to bear by voice or pen upon his fellow men in such a way as to correct their ignorance and sin, to warm their hearts and invigorate their wills, that man is a prophet of

MAY 9 SEVENTH DAY. Morning.

God. By word and pen you have spoken in strength and beauty for the abiding Evangel. You have ever sought that redemptive fellowship of goodness, under the eyes and by the strength of God, which alone can bring in the kingdom of Christ.

Yours is the great honor to have become the Senior Bishop of our Church. Across the years you have exalted "A Man's Religion" in "Making a Personal Faith" and urged the Church to live "In the School of Christ" so that its "Good Ministers of Jesus Christ," having "This Mind" that was in Christ, "Might Save Some." To have maintained in splendid poise your pre-eminence without arrogance or subserviency, bespeaks the man of Christian purpose.

In laying aside some of the powers granted you, during the long years of your active service, yours is the joy of knowing that you have kept the faith.

The finest and best product that God has to show the world is a living personality. With dignity and power you have disclosed in your own life the reach of the gospel you profess. We want you to keep giving of yourself to us as the Bishop of our souls. There can be no retirement for the prophet of God when he is a channel for the life of God, when the living word of God passes through him into the souls of men.

We want you to know that in the midst of all your world-encircling friendships you have the admiration and affection of the people who have had the privilege of fellowship with you during your residency within the Washington Area. We are happy to know that you are to continue to live with us, and that to us may be given your counsel and encouragement. We pray that the gracious Heavenly Father may continue his benediction upon you, and unite us all in that holy communion of faith that makes our short days notes in the eternal melody.

Now unto God and our Father be glory forever. Amen.

MORRIS E. SWARTZ, Central Pennsylvania Conference;
MRS. FANNIE D. TYLER, Washington Conference;
ARTHUR C. HUMPHRIES, Wilmington Conference;
OSCAR T. OLSON, Baltimore Conference.

A. C. Humphries formally seconded the motion to adopt.

Additional Appreciative Words.

W. E. Hammaker was heard in words of appreciation of the life and work of Bishop William F. McDowell, as were also John Thompson, and W. A. C. Hughes.

Bishop McDowell responds.

The motion to adopt this resolution prevailed by a rising vote and Bishop McDowell was heard in appropriate response thereto.

On motion, the time was extended for the completion of the Order of the Day.

A. C. Knudson presented the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Appreciative Resolution for Bishop Anderson.

For forty-five years the name of William Franklin Anderson has appeared on the roll of Methodist ministers. For seventeen years he served as pastor, for four years as Corresponding Secretary of the Board of Education, and now he is completing twenty-four years in the Episcopacy, the last eight of which have been spent on the Boston Area. The present General Conference will bring to a close his career as an effective Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church. We, therefore, his friends in the Boston Area, desire to bring to him at this time our tribute of affection, of gratitude and of esteem.

His services to the Church and to the Boston Area have been varied and comprehensive. He has distinguished himself alike as preacher, as administrator and as personal exponent of the Gospel of Christ. As a preacher he has been characterized by felicity of style, by breadth of vision and by the prophetic quality of his utterance. His has been a forward looking ministry. He has kept abreast of the times. And whenever he has spoken, it has been with a dignity and distinction worthy of the high office that he has filled. His Episcopal Address, delivered to this General Conference, one of the most memorable documents of its kind in the history of our Church, is an illustration of the type of service that he has rendered as preacher and prophet.

As administrator he has had to face extraordinarily difficult tasks. At a critical period in the history of Boston University, while its Acting President, he rendered by his courage and his firmness a service to New England and American Methodism that will not soon be forgotten. Very significant also has been the leadership that he has given to the campaign in the interest of the New England Deaconess Hospital. And no less important has been the patient, faithful and persistent way in which he has dealt with the numerous and perplexing problems that have arisen in connection with the administration of the various Conferences. To every phase of the Church's work he has devoted himself with enthusiasm and self-abandon.

But it has not been simply as preacher and administrator that he has endeared himself to the people of the Boston Area. He has done so equally as a brother beloved, a Christian gentleman, gracing every occasion with warmth of sympathy and charm of manner. And in this personal service he has had the constant and generous support of his gracious and gifted companion.

To them both, to Bishop and Mrs. William F. Anderson, we bring at this time our hearty greetings and best wishes. We are profoundly grateful to them for the services to which we have just referred and for a thousand others that must remain unmentioned. We regret that their official relation to the Boston Area will soon be terminated. But we rejoice that they plan to make this Area their permanent home.

Upon them both we pray God's richest blessing. May many years of fruitful and happy service yet be theirs!

JOHN M. ARTERS, Maine Conference;
SAM T. EMERY, New England Conference;
ALBERT C. KNUDSON, New England Southern Conference;
LEROY W. STRINGFELLOW, New Hampshire Conference;
MRS. LYDIA B. WELLS, Vermont Conference.

S. T. Emery formally seconded the motion to adopt.

Additional Appreciative Words.

Roy McCuskey and L. C. Wright were heard in remarks appreciative of the life and work of Bishop William F. Anderson, and the motion to adopt the resolution prevailed by a rising vote.

Bishop Anderson responds.

Bishop Anderson was heard in appropriate response thereto.

E. C. Dixon presented the following resolution, and moved its adoption:

Appreciative Resolution for Bishop Locke.

Whereas, Bishop Charles Edward Locke, after twelve years of Episcopal service, the last eight years of which have been as Resident Bishop of the Saint Paul Area, now comes to retirement, we, the delegates of that Area, resolve as follows:

That we shall ever remember with delight the years of his residential supervision. In our Area, as in others, there have been serious problems demanding assiduous application for their solution, and in these trying days we have had the help and inspiration of his understanding and discovering vision.

In brotherliness Bishop Locke has been unexcelled, while the fairness and impartial rectitude of his Conference administration have been unchallenged.

The patience with which he waited for unity of opinion in Cabinet adjustments, and his insistence upon the largest possible measure of democracy in giving every brother, however humble, the opportunity to be heard and consulted in the matter of appointments, have endeared him to us all.

And above all these considerations, which may indeed be manifested in a formal and perfunctory manner, were, in him, always displayed in intimate combination therewith those persuasive powers of a Christ-like life which were never absent from either his official or his private conduct.

These are the characteristics which we shall remember as we take up again the tasks which the inspiration of Bishop Locke's eight years of service with us will make it easier for us to perform.

E. C. DIXON, West Wisconsin Conference;
J. W. HOLLAND, Minnesota Conference;
For the Delegates of the Saint Paul Area.

J. W. Holland formally seconded the motion to adopt.

Additional Appreciative Words.

E. R. Brown was heard in appreciation of the life and work of Bishop Charles E. Locke.

The motion to adopt the resolution prevailed by a rising vote.

Bishop Locke responds.

Bishop Locke was heard in appropriate response thereto.

Hymn 556, beginning, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," was sung.

Report Committee on Questions of Privilege.

C. O. Holmes, Chairman of the Committee on Questions of Privilege, presented the following recommendations:

1. Your Committee recommends that Perry O. Hanson, of Shantung Conference, be given permission to present a resolution concerning the reports of the Committee on Credentials.

On motion, this permission was allowed, and P. O. Hanson presented the following resolution:

WHEREAS, Each succeeding day requires longer time for the report of the Committee on Credentials; therefore, be it

Resolved, That hereafter this report be published in The Daily Christian Advocate without being read in the Conference, the Committee simply presenting a motion each day that the report be adopted as published.

On motion, this resolution was adopted.

On motion of H. L. Jacobs, the principle of this resolution was incorporated in the Rules of Order for this General Conference.

2. Your Committee recommends that the Secretary send, on behalf of the Conference, a message of greeting to E. M. Mills, who has been a Delegate to eight General Conferences and also served as our Secretary.

On motion, this recommendation was adopted.

3. Your Committee recommends that the request of the Universal Christian Council for Life and Work, that its Chairman, Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, be given an opportunity to appear before the General Conference at the convenience of the Committee on Questions of Privilege, be granted.

On motion, this recommendation was adopted.

4. Your Committee recommends that the Conference grant the request of Dr. Samuel M. Cavert, General Secretary of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, that Bishop McConnell, its President, be afforded a proper opportunity to represent the work of the Council.

On motion, this recommendation was adopted.

5. Your Committee recommends that permission be granted to Bishop Edgar Blake to present for action the Plan calling for the initiation of the Pension System.

Report Commission on Reserve Pension Fund Plan.

On motion, this permission was granted, and Bishop Blake presented the report of the Commission on Reserve Pension Fund Plan already published to the Church in 1930, and thereby made a law.

The incompleted first Call of the Conferences was resumed.

OHIO

D. F. Helms presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted by a rising vote:

Tribute to Bishop Henderson.

TRIBUTE TO BISHOP THEODORE S. HENDERSON

In the sudden and untimely death of Bishop Theodore S. Henderson early in this quadrennium the Cincinnati Area and the whole Church suffered great loss. So indispensable had he made himself to us all that we were like dependent orphan children after his departure.

He was so virile, so constantly active, so seemingly tireless, so nearly ubiquitous as he went swiftly from place to place, looking after the interests of the many institutions within the Area, holding various conferences and meetings, awakening the spirit of evangelism, inaugurating and inspiring great enterprises among the Kentucky mountain people, and caring for every need of the Church and Kingdom that it was difficult to think that death could ever overtake him. If it be true that "death loves a shining mark" then his darts could not fail to find Bishop Henderson, who "counted not his life dear unto himself."

We, the delegates from the three Annual Conferences in the Cincinnati Area, bring this tribute to his memory and ask that the General Conference by a rising vote adopt it and express to Mrs. Henderson and the son our sympathy in their great loss, assuring them of our love and prayers.

T. F. Holgate presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Tribute to Dr. C. M. Stuart.

The General Conference places on record its sincere gratitude for the joyous life and abundant labors of Dr. Charles Macaulay Stuart, whose recent death has deprived the Church of one of its most conspicuous leaders. Doctor Stuart was Professor of Homiletics in Garrett Biblical Institute for many years and President of the Institute until failing health compelled his retirement. He was a member of two General Conferences, a member of the Commission for the preparation of our Church Hymnal, Assistant Editor and Editor of the Northwestern Christian Advocate, a genial spirit much beloved by a host of friends.

WASHINGTON

A. J. Mitchell presented the following resolution, which, on motion of J. F. Knotts, was referred to the Committee on Foreign Missions:

Request for Continuance Cox Commission.

Four years ago I offered a resolution before the General Conference to create a Commission to arrange for a fitting celebration to the memory of Melville B. Cox, who one hundred years ago this year was sent as the first Foreign Missionary to Liberia, and the first missionary sent out by our great Church to any people outside of America; and

WHEREAS, This Commission has made splendid progress in carrying out the work committed to it by the last General Conference; be it

Resolved, That we commend the Commission for their labors thus far in bringing to the attention of the world and the Church the service of this great Servant of God, whose memory quickens our own spirit to a greater devotion to the great missionary program of the Church, he who incarnated in his life the price of redemption, and made the trembling hopes of Methodism an enduring passion for missions around the world. Be it further

Resolved, That this General Conference continue this Commission, with one of the Secretaries of the Board of Foreign Missions, and the President of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society as members, and that the Commission during the quadrennium is directed to keep before the Church a program which will inspire the study of the life of Melville B. Cox, and challenge the service of our great Church to the field of his labors, and to co-operate with any other agencies working toward the same end. Be it further Resolved, That the expenses of this Commission be paid by the Board of Foreign Missions.

Committee on Pensions and Relief, Report No. 1.

Under the Call of the Calendar, Ray Allen, Chairman of the Committee on Pensions and Relief, presented Report No. 1 from this Committee, entitled, "Relief of Supply Pastors," and printed on page 102 of The Daily Christian Advocate, and, on his motion, this report was adopted.

Committee on Book Concern, Report No. 1.

The Secretary read Report No. 1 from the Committee on Book Concern, entitled, "Time of Meetings of the Book Com-

John L. Hillman, Chairman of that Committee, moved that this report be adopted.

By common consent, the words "Expense Fund," in the tenth line from the close of the report as printed, were eliminated.

The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

Committee on Temporal Ecomomy, Report No. 1.

The Secretary read Report No. 1, Committee on Temporal Economy, entitled, "Amend Constitution, ¶ 39, § 5," and printed on page 126 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

On motion of W. B. Farmer, Chairman of that Committee, this report was adopted.

Committee on Temporal Economy, Report No. 2.

Report No. 2, Committee on Temporal Economy, entitled, "Election of Lay Delegates, Constitutional Amendment," and printed on page 126 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and, on motion of W. B. Farmer, Chairman of that Committee, this report was adopted.

On motion of H. L. Jacobs, the presentation of further reports recommending non-concurrence was deferred.

Committee on Itinerancy, Report No. 1.

Report No. 1, Committee on Itinerancy, entitled, "Duties of District Superintendents," and printed on page 127 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and A. Ray Moore, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

F. R. Bayley presented an amendment to add the words "trust funds" after the word "annuities" in line three, § 24, as printed, and, on his motion, this amendment was adopted.

Frank Bean moved to amend by striking out the word "abandoned" in line three, § 24, and inserting after the word "property" in the same line, the words, "showing the legal description, name in which held, and nature of title by which held."

W. H. G. Gould moved to amend the amendment by adding after the words, "title by which held," the words, "including abandoned property."

The motion to amend the amendment prevailed.

E. L. Kidney moved to refer this report, including the pending amendment, to the Committee on Itinerancy.

The motion to refer prevailed.

Secretary, and A. Ray Moore, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

By common consent, the word "advisability," in line eleven, ¶ 382, § 1, as printed, was changed to read "admissibility."

The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

Committee on Episcopacy, Report No. 2.

Report No. 2, Committee on Episcopacy, entitled, "Emergency Assignment of Retired Bishops," and printed on page 156 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and O. W. Fifer, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

The motion of George H. Spencer to substitute the words "take charge of" for the word "fill," wherever this occurs in the report, was accepted by the Chairman of the Committee.

The motion of J. R. Edwards to amend the report by adding to ¶ 265, § 4, and to ¶ 267, the words, "His support during such assignment shall be determined by the Book Committee," was accepted by the Chairman of the Committee.

The motion of H. L. Jacobs to amend the report was accepted by the Chairman of the Committee, as follows:

Insert in the new Section 4, Paragraph 265, the words "or disqualification by judicial procedure," so that the Paragraph shall read, beginning in line six,

"in case of the death, resignation, disability, or disqualification by judicial procedure of the Resident Bishop."

The motion of W. E. Hammaker to add the numeral "3" to the numerals "1" and "2" in the new § 4, ¶ 265, so that it would read "§§ 1, 2, or 3," was accepted by the Chairman of the Committee.

The previous question was called for, and the call sustained.

The motion to adopt the report, as amended, prevailed.

Committee on Pensions and Relief. Peport No. 2.

Report No. 2, Committee on Pensions and Relief, entitled, "Connectional Relief," and printed on page 157 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and Ray Allen, Chairman of that Committee, secured unanimous consent to rephrase the report so that § 3, ¶ 518, shall read, beginning with the word "wherein," as follows:

"wherein the name or corporate title of the beneficiary shall have been insufficiently or improperly stated."

W. M. Shultz presented the following amendment to be inserted at the close of § 3, as printed:

Provided that when such money shall have been received by the Board of Pensions and Relief, then such money shall be returned to the Conference for which such bequest shall have been made.

MAY 10
EIGHTH DAY.
Morning.

On motion of C. O. Holmes, this amendment was placed upon the table.

The motion of Ray Allen, to adopt the report, prevailed.

Recess.

Announcements were made and the Conference was in recess at 10:30 o'clock.

The Conference reconvened at 10:40 o'clock, and the Jubilee Singers of Clark University and Gammon Theological Seminary were heard in the rendition of special musical numbers.

Official Organist Presented.

Musical Director E. E. Harper formally presented to the Conference Mrs. Rhodella Cummings, the official organist of the General Conference.

Report Commission on Ritual Revision.

On a question of privilege, J. W. Langdale presented the report of the Commission on the Revision of the Ritual as printed on pages 421-490 in the official Handbook of the General Conference, and, on his motion, this report was referred to the Committee on State of the Church.

In connection with this action, J. W. Langdale said:

Remarks, J. W. Langdale.

Thomas Coke brought from John Wesley a liturgy which was to order our infant church in all its ways. It was little used because as Jesse Lee said, "American Methodists can pray better with their eyes shut than with their eyes open." Such freedom of worship in which heart speaks to heart we must ever conserve.

There is, however, a rightful place for ritual. A ritual permits the laity to have a larger participation in our services. In its collective expression our individual hopes and aspirations are intensified and heightened. In a ritual we share the fellowship of believers in our own and other communions, also the fellowship of those who have gone before and of those who are coming from behind.

In response to many memorials the last General Conference ordered a revision of the Ritual. That could not be made without the omission of some phrases which had become endeared through much repetition. They have been replaced by those of contemporary vitality which will become sanctified by use. The Communion Service has been restored to its rightful place at the beginning of the Ritual and may be used as an entire service for all instead of an addendum at which people may stay or go as they please.

Your Commission has not looked upon the Ritual as a manual of doctrine into which had to be introduced the intellectual developments and ethical values of a new day. It may even be that a finer statement will prove to be a spiritual varnish which will preserve ideas that were on their way to obsolescence. What we have sought to do is to formulate the best instrument for bringing the largest number of our people for the longest length of time into an awareness of the living God and for keeping them thus aware despite the danger inherent in all Ritual of losing by reiteration the reality in the symbol.

The preface to the prayer book from which John Wesley drew our original ritual contained this apology, "We know it impossible (in such variety of apprehensions, humors and interests as are in the world) to please all: nor can expect that men of factious, peevish and perverse spirits should be satisfied with anything that can be done in this kind by any other than themselves. It hath been our wisdom to keep from the two extremes of too much stiffness in refusing and of too much easiness in admitting any variation. We do profess it to the world that the book doth not contain anything which a godly man may not with a good conscience submit unto, if it shall be allowed such just and favorable construction as in common equity ought to be allowed to all human writings."

Your Commission does not claim as much as that. Honest Christians will always express their convictions and aspirations differently. We have invited criticism widely and listened to it sympathetically. We know that others of more ability could have done this task for our generation. We do claim that no group could have tried more earnestly or sincerely to find the form and language best fitted to conduce toward devotion and toward private and public righteousness of character and conduct.

Claudius B. Spencer has generously commented that this Ritual ought to begin a new epoch in the spiritual life of Methodism. Our prayer is that it may do nothing less.

References to Committee on Judiciary.

On a question of privilege, the Secretary presented for specific reference to the Committee on Judiciary, the following Memorials, and, on his motion, reference in these cases was ordered:

1. From the Rev. P. M. Peterson, Evanston, Illinois, and others.
From the Denmark Annual Conference, through L. P. Bjerno, its Secretary, and
From the Rev. Theodor Arvidson, of Sweden Annual Conference, and others, asking for review and opinion concerning certain decisions of the General Conference of 1928.
2. From the Rev. A. J. Hoyer, Secretary of Dakota Annual Conference, Memorials re-referred from the Committee on Temporal Economy, and dealing with the question of Laymen in the Annual Conference.
3. From R. Clarence Brown, representing the Rock River Conference Delegation, a Memorial re-referred from the Committee on Temporal Economy, and raising the question of legality of action in the case of Laymen in the Annual Conference.

The Secretary presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted by a rising vote:

Greetings to Bishops Cranston and Oldham.

On behalf of the Central Pennsylvania Annual Conference, we move that the Secretary be requested and authorized to convey to Bishops Earl Cranston and William F. Oldham the greetings of this thirty-first delegated General Conference with assurances of the esteem of the Delegates and their prayers for their physical comfort and support of the grace of our Heavenly Father in all their experiences.

Report of Voting on Constitutional Amendments.

On motion of H. L. Jacobs, the Conference voted to request the Secretary to report now upon the total votes on constitutional amendments originating in General, Annual, or Lay Electoral Conferences during the past quadrennium, and that, if necessary, action be completed to-morrow after recess by voting on every such amendment.

The Secretary reported the results of voting on proposed constitutional amendments originating in the General Conference, as follows:

This is to certify that the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at its Thirtieth Delegated Session, held in Kansas City, Missouri, U. S. A., May 1 to 29, 1928, did authorize to be submitted to the Annual and Lay Electoral Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the following proposed amendments to the Constitution:

No. 1. Empowering Central Conferences to elect Bishops.

Amendments Originating in the General Conference.

This constitutional amendment was submitted to the Annual and Lay Electoral Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church as ordered, in the year of our Lord, 1929. These Conferences adopted the same by the necessary constitutional majority vote, resultant as follows:

Annual Conference Vote: For, 10,914; Against, 340. Lay Electoral Conference Vote: For, 7,576; Against, 164.

This vote was later notified to the Church by the General Superintendents in a proclamation bearing date of January 2, 1930, thus placing the before mentioned amendment and its accompanying enabling acts in immediate effect.

No. 2. Admission of Laymen to Annual Conferences.

This constitutional amendment was submitted to the Annual and Lay Electoral Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church as ordered, in the year of our Lord, 1929, and these Conferences rejected the amendment by the following vote:

Annual Conference Vote: For, 2,307; Against, 8,365. Lay Electoral Conference Vote: For, 1,811; Against, 5,344.

The Secretary moved that the necessary documents pertaining to this report be made a matter of record by printing in The Daily Christian Advocate, and in the General Conference Journal.

The motion of L. O. Hartman to amend Item No. 1, entitled, "Empowering Central Conferences to Elect Bishops," was accepted by the Secretary, and to the effect that its closing paragraph shall read:

This vote was later notified to the Church by the General Superintendents in a proclamation bearing date of January 2, 1930, thus placing the before mentioned amendment, statutory legislation, and accompanying enabling acts in immediate effect.

The motion to make this report, as amended, a matter of record, prevailed.

The Secretary reported on the results of voting on proposed constitutional amendments originating in Annual Conferences, as follows:

Amendments Originating in Annual Conferences.

There came to the Secretary of the General Conference in 1929 the mandate of the South Florida Annual Conference to submit to the Annual and Lay Electoral Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church a Corrected Constitutional Amendment for the Participation of Laymen in the Annual Conference. Obedient to this mandate, the proposed Constitutional Amendment was duly submitted and the voting thereon received, and recorded as follows:

Annual Conference Vote: For, 8,949; Against, 762.

Lay Electoral Conference Vote: For, 7,008; Against, 311.

This vote shows more than the constitutional majority required favorable to the proposed Amendment, as a result of which, the said Amendment is hereby presented to this General Conference for action, you already having fixed an Order of the Day for the same.

There came to the Secretary of the General Conference in 1931 the mandate of the Central Pennsylvania Conference to submit to the

MAY 10 EIGHTH DAY. Morning.

Annual and Lay Electoral Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the following Constitutional amendments:

No. 1. Amend Paragraph 38, Section 2, inserting "at least."

No. 2. Amend Paragraph 38, Section 2, providing for increase of Ministerial Reserve Delegates.

No. 3. Amend Paragraph 39, Section 4, providing for increase of Lay Reserve Delegates.

Obedient to this mandate, the proposed Constitutional Amendments were duly submitted, the votes thereon received, and recorded as follows:

No. 1—
Annual Conference Vote: For, 6,651; Against, 320.
Lay Electoral Conference Vote: For, 5,372; Against, 290.

No. 2—
Annual Conference Vote: For, 6,529; Against, 312.
Lay Electoral Conference Vote: For, 5,755; Against, 212.

No. 3—
Annual Conference Vote: For, 6,310; Against, 310.
Lay Electoral Conference Vote: For, 6,167; Against, 207.

These votes show more than the constitutional majority required favorable to the proposed amendments, as a result of which the said amendments are hereby presented to this General Conference for action, you already having fixed an Order of the Day for the same.

On motion of the Secretary, it was ordered that this report be made a matter of record by printing in The Daily Christian Advocate, and in the General Conference Journal.

Committee on Episcopacy, Report No. 3.

Resuming the Call of the Calendar, the Secretary read Report No. 3, Committee on Episcopacy, entitled, "Supervision for Vacant Areas," and printed on page 157 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

O. W. Fifer, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

By common consent, this report was amended to conform to action previously taken in connection with Report No. 2, Committee on Episcopacy, by adding the words "or disqualification by judicial procedure" after the word "disability" in the proposed new § 3, ¶ 574, line two, as printed.

The motion to adopt the report, as amended, prevailed.

Committee on Episcopacy, Report N. 4.

Report No. 4, Committee on Episcopacy, entitled, "Continuing the Area System," printed on page 157 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and O. W. Fifer, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

W. H. G. Gould moved that the motion to adopt this report be placed on the table. This motion did not prevail.

C. O. Holmes moved as a substitute that the report of the Committee be changed to read, "respectfully recommends that no action is found necessary upon his Memorial because its subject matter is already provided for by the Discipline."

MAY 10
EIGHTH DAY.
Morning.

The motion to adopt the substitute prevailed.

The motion to adopt the report as thereby changed prevailed.

Committee on Episcopacy, Report No. 5.

Report No. 5, Committee on Episcopacy, entitled, "Continuous Supervision of Resident Bishop," and printed on pages 157, 158 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and O. W. Fifer, Chairman of that Committee, moved the adoption of this report.

J. R. Gettys moved to amend by substituting for the words, in the last paragraph, "preside over the majority of the sessions of the Annual Conferences located in his Area during each quadrennium," these words, "preside over the Annual Conferences in his Area during the entire quadrennium."

G. G. Vogel moved to amend the amendment by changing the proposed new wording to read, "preside over the majority or all of the sessions of the Annual Conferences located in his Area."

The amendment to the amendment was accepted by J. R. Gettys.

D. D. Jones moved that the amendment be placed on the table.

This motion did not prevail, the result of a standing vote being as follows:

For placing the amendment on the table, 374. Against placing the amendment on the table, 404.

T. F. Holgate moved to amend the amendment by inserting the words, "each of," so that the amendment shall read, "preside over the majority or all of the sessions of each of the Annual Conferences in his Area."

This amendment was accepted by common consent.

The previous question was called for, and the call sustained.

The motion to adopt the amendment, as amended, prevailed by a standing vote, as follows:

For the amendment, 400. Against the amendment, 360.

The motion to adopt the report, as amended, prevailed.

Committee on Episcopacy, Report No. 6.

Report No. 6, Committee on Episcopacy, entitled, "Missionary Bishops and General Superintendents," and printed on page 158 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and O. W. Fifer, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

The motion to adopt this report prevailed.

Committee on Pensions and Relief, Report No. 3.

The Secretary read Report No. 3, Committee on Pensions and Relief, entitled, "Administration of Connectional Relief," and printed on Page 158 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

Ray Allen, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

The motion to adopt this report prevailed.

Call of the Conferences.

The motion of the Secretary to proceed under the Call of the Conferences prevailed.

CENTRAL NEW YORK

H. E. Woolever presented the following resolution:

Correlation of Periodical Publications.

WHEREAS, There has grown up in the Church since the Centenary Cultivation period a number of publications for the promotional purposes of various Boards entailing costs of considerable sums; and

WHEREAS, The Methodist Episcopal Church from its early history has maintained a regular system of official publications known as Christian Advocates, which have rendered the most important service of maintaining and keeping active a sense of connectionalism in our large and extensively located constituency, and these publications are now in need of larger support and the means of greater effectiveness; and

WHEREAS, The material carried in most of the Board and similar publications could appear in the Christian Advocates guaranteeing thereby a larger circulation for the material, a better Advocate make-up by use of part of the present cost of the Board publications and at a benefit and saving in the funds of the whole connection, thus improving our Advocates, strengthening the publishing interests of the Church and at the same time conserving its funds to the Church; and

WHEREAS, There is now no body or committee of the Church other than the General Conference, which can order and provide a means of that correlation and co-operation such as prevail in organized commercial concerns, and thus to conserve the largest interests of the Church; be it, therefore,

Resolved, By this General Conference, that a committee of nine be appointed, to which committee all the agencies, Boards and organizations of the Church now publishing any weekly or monthly periodicals by use of the funds of the Church or any Board thereof shall submit all facts and data as to the purpose, circulation and costs of such publications, and that at the earliest possible date this Committee on the Correlation of Periodical Publications shall report its recommendations to the General Conference for action.

The motion of B. W. Meeks to refer this resolution to the Committee on Book Concern, and to print it in The Daily Christian Advocate, prevailed.

Suspension of Rules.

The motion of O. W. Fifer to suspend the Rules by dispensing with the Call of the Conferences for the time being, in order to consider Report No. 1, Committee on Episcopacy, prevailed.

Committee on Episcopacy, Report No. 1.

Report No. 1, Committee on Episcopacy, entitled, "Age of Retirement of Bishops," and printed on page 179 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, as was also the minority report thereto attached.

By common consent, the figure 263 was changed to read 265 in ¶ 1, beginning, "Amend the Discipline."

MAY 10 EIGHTH DAY. Morning.

A. C. Knudson moved to adopt the minority report as an amendment to the majority report.

Minority Report.

D. F. Helms moved to amend the amendment by striking out the words "three-fourths," which appear in the proposed ¶ 265, § 2, and ¶ 266, § 2, and substituting therefor the words "two-thirds."

J. R. Gettys moved to indefinitely postpone consideration of this entire matter.

D. L. Marsh moved to amend by postponing further consideration until after the established Order of the Day for to-morrow morning.

The motion to defer consideration until a specified time did not prevail.

C. O. Ford moved that the motion to postpone consideration indefinitely be placed on the table.

This motion prevailed.

The motion of C. D. Baldwin to place the amendment to the amendment on the table did not prevail.

On motion of the Secretary, the time was extended for the completion of the pending item.

J. R. Edwards moved to substitute the present legislation on this subject for all that is before us.

C. O. Holmes moved that the majority and minority reports, with pending amendment, and substitute, be placed on the table.

This motion did not prevail.

The presiding Bishop ruled that the substitute offered by J. R. Edwards is immediately before us.

The previous question was called for, and the call sustained.

The motion of H. L. Jacobs to place the substitute on the table prevailed.

The motion of C. O. Holmes to adjourn prevailed.

Report, Committee on Credentials.

E. C. Dixon, Chairman of the Committee on Credentials, presented the following report, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Your Committee on Credentials presents the following for record:

E. C. DIXON, Chairman;
C. L. WALLACE, Secretary.

Organization, Committee on Revision.

The Secretary announced that the Committee on Revision is organized by the election of John W. Langdale, Chairman, and Harry E. Woolever, Secretary.

Announcements were made and the Conference adjourned with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Leonard.

MAY 11 NINTH DAY. Morning.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 11, 1932

The Conference convened at 8:30 o'clock, with Bishop Eben S. Johnson presiding, who presented Bishop Edwin F. Lee to be in charge of the devotional service.

Devotions.

Hymn 2, beginning, "Come, Thou Almighty King," was sung, and Bishop Lee employed the Second Worship Service for the Devotional Periods of the General Conference and based his devotional address upon St. Luke 24. 21, 31, 32.

Prayer was offered by Bishop Lee, and Hymn 543, beginning, "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind," was sung.

Journal.

E. J. Hammond, for the Committee on the General Conference Journal, reported having examined the Journal for the session of May 10, and the Committee found the same correct. The report was accepted, and the Journal thus approved.

Committee on Episcopacy, Report No. 1. (Consideration Continued).

Consideration of Report No. 1, Committee on Episcopacy, entitled, "Age of Retirement of Bishops," was resumed as the unfinished business under suspension of the Rules.

The presiding Bishop announced that the amendment to the minority report to change the hyphenated word "three-fourths" by inserting for it the hyphenated word "two-thirds," was now immediately pending.

The "Brock Substitute."

T. S. Brock presented the following substitute for all that is before the Conference, and moved its adoption:

1. Amend the Discipline, ¶ 265, § 1, by striking out the word "seventy" in line 2, and substituting therefor the word "sixty-seven," so that the section as amended shall read:

¶ 265, § 1. "A General Superintendent who has reached the age of sixty-seven years may be released from the obligation to travel through the Connection at large, and from that of residential supervision, by giving notice in writing to the Bishops that he so elects, and when a General Superintendent has been released in this manner, the Bishops shall report the fact to the Book Committee and to the next General Conference."

2. Amend the Discipline, ¶ 265, § 2, by striking out the words "nearest his seventy-third birthday" in the second line and substituting therefor the words "whose seventieth birthday precedes the first day of June following a General Conference shall at that Conference" so that the section as amended shall read:

¶ 265, § 2. "A General Superintendent whose seventieth birthday precedes the first day of June following a General Conference shall be released at the close of that Conference from the obligation to travel through the Connection at large and from residential supervision."

3. Amend the Discipline, ¶ 266, § 1, by striking out the word "seventy" in the second line, and substituting therefor the word "sixty-seven," so that the section as amended shall read:

¶ 266, § 1. "A Missionary Bishop who has reached the age of sixty-seven years may be released from the obligation to travel through the Foreign Mission Field for which he was elected by giving notice in writing to the Bishops, the Board of Foreign Missions and the Book Committee; and when a Missionary Bishop has been released in this manner, the Bishops shall report the fact to the next General Conference."

4. Amend the Discipline, ¶ 266, § 2, by striking out the word "seventy-three" and substituting therefor the words "Whose seventieth birthday precedes the first day of June following a General Conference shall be released at the Conference" so that the section as amended shall read:

¶ 266, § 2. "A Missionary Bishop whose seventieth birthday precedes the first day of June following a General Conference shall be released at the close of that Conference from the obligation to travel through the Connection through his field and from residential supervision."

Changes in this substitute as printed were allowed by common consent, as follows:

In ¶ 266, § 2, eliminate the words "through the Connection."

¶ 265, § 2, shall read:

"A General Superintendent who attains his seventieth birthday before the first day of June in the year in which the General Conference is held, shall be released, etc."

The previous question was called for, and the call sustained.

C. O. Holmes moved that the motion to amend the minority report be placed upon the table. This motion prevailed.

MAY 11 NINTH DAY. Morning.

G. W. Henson moved that the minority report be placed on the table. This motion prevailed.

The motion to place the substitute on the table did not prevail.

The motion to accept the substitute prevailed.

The motion to adopt the substitute as the report of the Committee on Episcopacy prevailed.

On motion of the Secretary, it was voted to remove from the Journal of yesterday all references to motions not finally presented and voted upon.

Report, Committee on Questions of Privilege.

C. O. Holmes, Chairman of the Committee on Questions of Privilege, presented the following recommendations:

1. Your Committee recommends that the interests of the General Conference require that as the courtesies of this body cannot be extended to distinguished visitors by providing seats on the platform, that the Committee on Questions of Privilege be authorized to refer distinguished visitors to the Commission on Entertainment for assignment in the courtesy sections without presenting each individual case to the General Conference.

On motion, this recommendation was approved.

2. Your Committee recommends that the Philippine Islands Conference delegation be permitted to present their resolution of appreciation for Bishop Locke. The request is that it be printed in The Daily Christian Advocate and the General Conference Journal.

Appreciation of Bishop Locke.

On motion, this recommendation was approved, and the Secretary read the following resolution:

WHEREAS, Bishop and Mrs. Charles Edward Locke spent the first four years of their Episcopal labors in administering the Philippine Islands Annual Conference; and

WHEREAS, They continually manifested a fervent zeal for the salvation of the souls of the Filipino people in frequent travels among the people and through sermons and public addresses and in generous manifestations of an abiding interest in the spiritual welfare of all classes of the people, and their administration was always marked by unfailing charity and kindly sympathy for the Filipino pastors and their families; and

WHEREAS, Their relationships with the people were always characterized by a fine Christian courtesy shown to the rich and poor alike that have caused the Filipino people to hold them in high regard and count them as real saints and children of the household of God; and

WHEREAS, The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church has seen fit to retire Bishop and Mrs. Locke from traveling among the Churches; now, therefore,

Resolved, That we, the delegates of the Philippine Islands Annual Conference, on behalf of the members of the Conference and the many friends of Bishop and Mrs. Locke in the Philippines, hereby express our great appreciation of the fine services rendered the Church and assure them of our continued affection and our prayers that they may have the joys of many years of fruitful service in the interest of the kingdom of our Christ.

BENITO TOVERA,
BUENAVENTURA C. LOPEZ,
EULOGIO R. DIZON,
ERNEST S. LYONS.

On motion, the Conference voted to adopt this resolution, and to print it in The Daily Christian Advocate and the General Conference Journal.

Greetings to D. G. Downey.

3. Your Committee recommends that the Conference grant the request of the New York East Conference members that the Secretary send greetings to Dr. D. G. Downey, for long an illustrious leader in our General Conferences.

On motion, this recommendation was approved.

Special Seating Privilege.

4. Your Committee recommends that E. J. Hammond, Ministerial Delegate from the Georgia Conference, and Chairman of the Committee on the Journal, be privileged to occupy Seat 6 in Row G of the Right Section, made vacant by the election of Harry L. Upperman, Ministerial Delegate of the Central Tennessee Conference, as one of the Assistant Secretaries. The request is made by W. H. Patton, of the Georgia Conference.

C. L. Wallace, Secretary of the Committee on Credentials, presented the following report, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Report Committee on Credentials.

Your Committee on Credentials has made the following adjustments:

Thomas Acheson, ministerial delegate, Pacific Northwest Conference, excused for one day, May 11.

George T. Miller, reserve lay delegate, Oklahoma Conference, seated May 11 permanently.

John M. Mitchell, reserve lay delegate, Southern Illinois Conference, excused, effective May 11, because of sickness in the home.

Miss Emily R. Loveless, reserve lay delegate, North Africa Conference, seated Tuesday, May 10, and until further notice, in place of Mrs. E. F. Frease, who is excused on account of illness. No extra expense to the Conference.

E. C. DIXON, Chairman;
C. L. WALLACE, Secretary.

On a question of privilege, previously authorized, P. O. Hanson presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Tribute to W. T. Hobart.

WHEREAS, Word has reached us of the death of the Rev. William T. Hobart, D.D., one of the great missionaries of our Church who gave fifty years of service to China; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this General Conference send to the two sons in Evanston and to the two daughters on the China Mission Field, letters with some such message of sympathy as the following:

The General Conference extends loving sympathy to you in the death of your father, and assures you that the Methodist Church appreciates the fine service rendered through his life of rare devotion to the great task of Kingdom-building in China. In the midst of your sorrow you have wonderful memories of a father who achieved much worth while and left you an example worthy of emulation.

PERRY O. HANSON,
ALBERT E. DAY.

Call of the Conferences.

The incompleted Call of the Conferences was resumed.

CENTRAL WEST

Miss Arsania M. Williams presented the following resolution, which, on her motion, was adopted by a rising vote:

MAY 11 NINTH DAY. Morning. Tribute to Bishop Hartzell.

WHEREAS, The late Bishop Joseph C. Hartzell crowned his career in the Methodist Episcopal Church by his wonderful service in Africa; and

WHEREAS, He endeared himself to the Negro membership throughout the Methodist Episcopal Church by his great endeavor to uplift a lowly people in the Southland; and

WHEREAS, He gave every encouragement to his wife, Mrs. Jennie Culver Hartzell, in her ministrations for the uplift of Negro home life, and in her untiring effort to establish the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, for the protection and training of Negro girls and women; therefore,

We, the members of the Central West Conference delegation, desire to express the appreciation of a grateful constituency for the fruitful services of our sainted friend and benefactor of sacred memory. Further, we earnestly request the General Conference to stand in rising vote of appreciation of these services of this loyal saint of God.

DAKOTA

E. D. Kohlstedt presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Observance Jason Lee Centenary Proposed.

WHEREAS, The year 1934 will mark the one hundredth anniversary of the going of Jason Lee to the Oregon Country as a missionary of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and as the first Protestant missionary of any denomination in the Northwest, where he labored faithfully and well and, although he died in the prime of life, he will always remain one of Methodism's outstanding missionary heroes; it is therefore appropriate that the Church he served should fittingly observe this coming centennial occasion, and we therefore Recommend, That the General Conference approve a proper recognition of this occasion and suggest that the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, in co-operation with the Conferences of the Northwest, arrange for a suitable observance of the Jason Lee Centenary, the same to be without cost to the General Conference.

E. D. KOHLSTEDT,
MARK A. DAWBER,
WILLIAM W. YOUNGSON,
ELMER L. KIDNEY.

DELAWARE

D. H. Hargis presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Appreciation Bishop Richardson.

WHEREAS, This nation faces a herculean task in its effort to overcome the liquor forces and to keep permanently the Eighteenth Amendment in the Constitution of the United States; and

WHEREAS, The forces of the Methodist Episcopal Church, true to the genius of Methodism, are united in their efforts in a great forward movement to this end; and

WHEREAS, The intrepid Bishop Ernest G. Richardson, D.D., LL.D., has been elected the President of the Anti-Saloon League of America; be it

Resolved, That it be the sense of this General Conference that we petition God, our Heavenly Father, for a double portion of His Spirit to carry on, holding up Bishop Richardson's hands until the demon rum is completely annihilated, and the nefarious bootlegging business has been banished from the earth.

DETROIT

M. S. Rice presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Tribute to Dr. George Elliott.

A memorial tribute to the character and work of Dr. George Elliott, a member of the last eight sessions of the General Conference and a counselor in its deliberations, whose influence was always frank and forward-looking:

For fifty-six years an honored and efficient minister of the Church, serving in almost every type of service the ministry of our Connection affords, and always with honor to the Church. As editor of the Methodist Review for ten years from 1920 to 1930, he there sustained. until his death, the very best traditions of that noted publication.

We register herewith our sincere appreciation of a noble ministry maintained throughout all its years in the highest manner, and with a tireless loyalty to all the finest traditions of the Church which he loved and with an unfaltering devotion to his Master and Lord.

For the Detroit Conference delegation, MERTON S. RICE.

EAST TENNESSEE

M. W. Boyd presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Tribute to Dr. Judson S. Hill.

WHEREAS, The General Conference of 1928 paused to pay honor to one of Methodism's devout servants, in the person of Dr. Judson S. Hill, President and founder of Morristown Normal and Industrial College, a pioneer Methodist institution; and

WHEREAS, On September 14 last, he was called from his field of labor to his richer reward; and

WHEREAS, He was for seven quadrennial sessions a member of this body, serving in many important capacities with honor and efficiency; and

WHEREAS, He held the distinction of having served as President of our College at Morristown for fifty years, which distinction has not been held by any other College President in America; and

WHEREAS, He was willing to suffer ignominy, ostracism, and martyrdom in his educational passion for an under-privileged race, thousands of whose lives have been made happier, better and more useful because of his sacrifices; and

WHEREAS, Methodism has been exemplified and exalted by his courageous devotion and service in extending the Master's Kingdom; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this resolution be the sentiment of this body and that a copy of the same be forwarded to his widow, who through the long years of his service was his constant aid.

MILLER W. BOYD.

LOUISIANA

R. B. Hayes presented the following resolution, which, on motion of Wallace H. Finch, was referred to the Committee on State of the Church:

Resolution Referred.

MAY 11 NINTH DAY. Morning.

WHEREAS, Knowledge of the sincere support of their constituency develops courage and zeal in public officials just as knowledge of the opposition of their constituency develops cautious action; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in regular session assembled, instructs its Secretary to express to the President of the United States, the Honorable Herbert C. Hoover, and to the Congress of the United States now in session, its sincere appreciation of their earnest efforts to solve the problems which so baffle and distract our nation in many fields at this period; that we assure them that we shall solicit almighty God to strengthen them in their labors;

That we hereby promise as sovereign citizens of our common country, without special favors to any but with special solicitude for all, to help heal the wounds which now aggravate the economic, the political and the moral life of our nation.

MICHIGAN

J. R. Wooton presented the following resolution:

WHEREAS, The morning devotional services are seriously interrupted by the admission of tardy Delegates immediately at the close of the address, so spoiling the devotional effect of the closing hymn; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the ushers are directed to admit no Delegates until the singing of the closing hymn.

The motion of J. J. Shy to refer this resolution to the Committee on State of the Church did not prevail.

The motion to adopt the resolution prevailed.

Bishop Moore's Leave-Taking.

On a question of privilege, R. B. Urmy, Chairman of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates, presented Bishop Arthur J. Moore, D.D., LL.D., Fraternal Delegate from the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, for formal leave-taking, and Bishop Moore addressed the Conference. (See p. 806.)

Bishop W. F. McDowell presided for the time being and appropriately replied to Bishop Moore's farewell words.

R. B. Urmy, for the Committee on Fraternal Delegates, presented R. E. Diffendorfer to introduce Bishop Juan N. Pascoe, Fraternal Delegate from the Methodist Church of Mexico.

The Secretary read the credentials of Bishop Pascoe, as follows:

Methodist Episcopal Church, Mexico, April 20, 1932.

Credentials Bishop Juan N. Pascoe.

TO THE SECRETARY OF THE GENERAL CONFERENCE OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, ATLANTIC CITY, NEW JERSEY, U. S. A.:

Dear Brother in the Lord:

The object of the present letter is to advise you, that you also may make it known unto the General Conference, that our dear Bishop, the Rev. Juan N. Pascoe, was nominated in the First General Conference of the Methodist Church of Mexico, held in September, 1930, as the Fraternal Delegate to this highest body of one of our mother churches.

Our Bishop carries with him, not only our greetings and good wishes, but especially the expression of our gratitude for all the blessings we have received from the beloved Methodist Episcopal Church.

In extending this credential in the name of the Methodist Church in Mexico it is also our privilege to express the desire that the General Conference may receive the richest blessings of our Heavenly Father and that its complete success may be known in all the Christian world.

We remain,

Your faithful Brothers in our Lord Jesus Christ,

V. D. BAEZ, President of the General Conference of the Methodist Church of Mexico;

J. T. RAMIREZ, Secretary.

MAY 11 NINTH DAY. Morning.

The presiding Bishop yielded the Chair to Bishop William F. Anderson during this presentation, and R. E. Diffendorfer formally presented Bishop Pascoe to the presiding officer, who, in turn, introduced him to the Conference.

Fraternal Message of Bishop Pascoe.

On motion, the time was extended for the purpose of completing this item, and Bishop Pascoe was heard in the delivery of his fraternal message. (See p. 824.)

On motion of R. E. Diffendorfer, certain portions of Bishop Pascoe's fraternal address, dealing with the missionary problem, were referred to the Committee on Foreign Missions.

Credentials of Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr.

The Secretary presented the credentials of Rev. Hugh Thomson Kerr, D.D., LL.D., the Fraternal Delegate from the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, and, on his motion, the Conference authorized their printing in The Daily Christian Advocate and in the General Conference Journal.

The credentials are as follows:

General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, May 9, 1932.

This certifies that the General Assembly has chosen the Rev. Hugh Thomson Kerr, D.D., LL.D., of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, as a delegate to represent The Presbyterian Church in the United States of America at the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Atlantic City, New Jersey, May, 1932, and of his diligence in the performance of this duty he is to render to the General Assembly due report.

LEWIS SEYMOUR MUDGE, Stated Clerk.

Call for Central Conference Matters.

On a question of privilege, G. Bromley Oxnam introduced the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

The Chairman of each Standing Committee is requested to report all matters relating to Central Conferences that are before his Committee to the Secretary of the General Conference to-day, and defer presentation of these matters to the General Conference until proper conference can be held with the Commission on Central Conferences, said conference to be held at the earliest possible moment.

Recess.

The Conference was in recess at 10:30 o'clock.

The Conference reconvened at 10:40 o'clock.

MAY 11
NINTH DAY.
Morning.

Hymn 1, beginning, "O for a Thousand Tongues to Sing," was sung, and the male quartet of Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Georgia, was heard in the rendition of a special musical selection.

Bishop Cannon Preseated.

The presiding Bishop introduced to the Conference Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who addressed the Conference.

Dr. C. C. Selecman. Introduced.

The presiding Bishop introduced to the Conference, Rev. Charles C. Selecman, President of the Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas, who addressed the Conference.

Order of the Day.

The presiding Bishop announced the Order of the Day to be the voting upon constitutional amendments originating in Annual or Lay Electoral Conferences during this quadrennium.

The Secretary read the Corrected Constitutional Amendment for the "Participation of Laymen in the Annual Conferences," and voted upon by the Annual and Lay Electoral Conferences in 1929, as follows:

Constitutional Amendment for "Participation of Laymen in the Annual Conferences."

CORRECTED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT FOR THE "PARTICIPATION OF LAYMEN IN THE ANNUAL CONFERENCES"

(Changes to be voted on printed in italic type. Corrections of original Amendment printed in SMALL CAPITALS.)

Amend Division III, Articles of Organization and Government, Chapter I, Pastoral Charges, Quarterly and Annual Conferences, as follows:

In the title of Chapter I, after the word "Quarterly" insert a comma, and strike out the word "and," and after the word "Annual" add the words "and Lay Conferences," so that the title of Chapter I, amended, will read "Pastoral Charges, Quarterly, Annual and Lay Conferences."

Amend Division III, Article III—Annual Conferences, ¶ 36, as follows:

Add to the present Article the following words: There shall be reserved to the Annual Conferences the right to vote on Constitutional Amendments, the election of Ministerial Delegates to the General Conference, all matters relating to the character and Conference relations of its members, and the ordination of Ministers, so that the paragraph as amended shall read as follows:

¶ 36. The Traveling Preachers shall be organized by the General Conference into Annual Conferences, the sessions of which they are required to attend. There shall be reserved to the Annual Conferences the right to vote on Constitutional Amendments, the election of Ministerial Delegates to the General Conference, all matters relating to the character and Conference relations of its members, and the ordination of Ministers.

Add a new article after ¶ 36 of the Discipline, as follows:

ARTICLE IV.—Lay Conferences

¶ 37, § 1. A Lay Conference shall be organized within the bounds of each Annual Conference to meet at the seat, and during some part of the time of the session of the Annual Conference, for the purpose of VOTING ON CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS, considering and acting upon matters relating to Lay Activities and such OTHER matters as the General Conference may direct. The Lay Conference shall be composed of Lay members, one from each Pastoral Charge within the bounds of the Annual Conference, elected by the Lay members of the Charge, over twenty-one years of age, in such manner as the General Conference may direct. Each Pastoral Charge shall, also, in the same manner, elect one alternate.

§ 2. The Lay Conference shall meet with the Annual Conference to consider and act upon all business other than those matters reserved to the Annual Conference as specified in ¶ 36, of Article III, Chapter I, Division III, entitled "Articles of Organization and Government," and those matters that relate wholly to Lay activities.

§ 3. The Ministerial and Lay members of the united sessions shall deliberate as one body. They shall also vote as one body, except when requested by one-third of either order present and voting; then the vote on any question shall be taken by separate orders, and a majority of each order shall be required to pass a measure.

§ 4. Qualifications for Laymen admitted into any Lay Conference within the boundaries of a Central Conference may be determined by the Central Conference in which the Lay Conference is located.

Re-number the present ¶¶ 37 and 38, Discipline, 1924, so as to be numbered 38 and 39. Substitute for the present ¶ 39, the following:

ARTICLE III.—Lay Delegates

¶ 40, § 1. Each Lay Conference shall be entitled to as many Delegates and Reserve Delegates to the General Conference as there are Ministerial Delegates and Reserve Delegates from the Annual Conference.

§ 2. Such Lay Delegates shall be elected by ballot at the session of the Lay Conference immediately preceding the General Conference. They shall be Lay members, twenty-five years of age or over, holding membership within the bounds of the Annual Conference, and having been Lay members of the Church five years next preceding their election. Delegates-elect who cease to be members of the Church within the bounds of the said Annual Conference shall not be entitled to seats in the General Conference.

Further amend Chapter II of the present Constitution by striking out the word "ELECTORAL" wherever it occurs therein, to wit:

In Article IV. Credentials, lines two and six;

In Article V. Sessions, § 3, line seven;

In Article XI. Amendments, lines four and fourteen, so as to bring the entire Chapter into harmony with the changes effected by the preceding amendments.

Also further amend so that the Numbers of the several paragraphs and of any Article in the Constitution be changed to make them conform to these amendments.

The motion of Ray Allen to postpone the consideration of these amendments until to-morrow morning, after the approval of the Journal, did not prevail.

The previous question was called for, and the call sustained.

Vote to Adopt.

The proposed constitutional amendment for the "Participation of Laymen in the Annual Conferences" was then adopted by a count vote, as follows:

For the amendment, 789. Against the amendment, 8.

Message to H. T. Ames.

On motion of C. V. Adams, the Conference voted to communicate this action to Herbert T. Ames, a former Delegate from the Central Pennsylvania Conference, because in 1872 he made the first motion in a General Conference favorable to this proposal.

The Secretary read the Proposed Constitutional Amendments Originating in the Central Pennsylvania Conference, and voted upon by the Annual and Lay Electoral Conferences prior to the General Conference of 1932, as follows:

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS ORIGINATING IN THE CENTRAL PENNSYLVANIA CONFERENCE

(Changes to be voted on printed in italic type.)

NO. 1

Constitutional Amendments for Amending Paragraphs 38 and 39.

Amend ¶ 38, § 2 by inserting between "Conference" and "four" in the *sixth line the words at least, so that the section, as amended, shall read:

§ 2. The Ministerial Delegates shall be elected by ballot by the Members of the Annual Conference at its session immediately preceding the General Conference. Such Delegates shall be Elders, at least twenty-five years of age, and shall have been Members of an Annual Conference at least four successive years, and at the time of their election and at the time of the session of the General Conference shall be Members of the Annual Conference which elected them. An Annual Conference may elect Reserve Delegates, not exceeding three in number, and not exceeding the number of Delegates.

NO. 2

Amend ¶ 38, § 2 by substituting for the sentence "An Annual Conference may elect Reserve Delegates, not exceeding three in number, and not exceeding the number of its Delegates," the following:

An Annual Conference may elect as many Reserve Delegates as it may determine, not exceeding the number of its Delegates.

so that the section, as amended, shall read:

§ 2. The Ministerial Delegates shall be elected by ballot by the Members of the Annual Conference at its session immediately preceding the General Conference. Such Delegates shall be Elders, at least twenty-five years of age, and shall have been Members of an Annual Conference four successive years, and at the time of their election and at the time of the session of the General Conference shall be Members of the Annual Conference which elected them. An Annual Conference may elect as many Reserve Delegates as it may determine, not exceeding the number of its Delegates.

NO. 3

Amend ¶ 39, § 4 by substituting for the sentence, "A Lay Electoral Conference may elect Reserve Delegates, not exceeding three in number, and not exceeding the number of its Delegates," the following:

A Lay Electoral Conference may elect as many Reserve Delegates as it may determine, not exceeding the number of its Delegates.

so that the section, as amended, shall read:

§ 4. Each Lay Electoral Conference shall be entitled to elect as many Delegates to the General Conference as there are Ministerial Delegates from the Annual Conference. A Lay Electoral Conference may elect as many Reserve Delegates as it may determine, not exceeding the number of its Delegates.

These elections shall be by ballot.

Votes for Adoption.

The Conference voted to adopt Amendment No. 1 by a count vote, as follows:

For the amendment, 779. Against the amendment, 3.

The Conference voted to adopt Amendment No. 2 by a count vote, as follows:

For the amendment, 781. Against the amendment, 1.

* As in Discipline, 1928.

MAY 11 NINTH DAY. Morning.

The Conference voted against the adoption of Amendment No. 3 by a count vote, as follows:

Vote Against Adoption.

For the amendment, 0. Against the amendment, 755.

The presiding Bishop made declaration as follows:

Declaration of Presiding Bishop.

Several Constitutional Amendments, the Constitutional Amendment for the Participation of Laymen in the Annual Conferences and the Constitutional Amendments for the Amending of ¶ 38, § 2, have received the necessary two-thirds vote in the Annual Conferences and the Lay Electoral Conferences and now in the General Conference, and have thereby become the law of the Church.

Call of the Conferences.

The incompleted Call of the Conferences was resumed.

MISSOURI

O. J. Carder presented the following resolution:

Resolution of Sympathy.

WHEREAS, Our civilization has received a shock in the great sorrow that has come to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and to Mrs. Ann Lindbergh, who have rendered distinguished service to this nation and to the world as ambassadors of peace and good will to the nations and whose clean and upright lives have adorned our American Republic;

Resolved, That we send our sympathy and affectionate interest to these world citizens and unite our hopes and prayers with the good people of all lands that their child may be restored to them;

Resolved, That we regard this climax of lawless wickedness as a warning to a too complaisant Republic that the lawlessness which scoffs at all constitutional government and the laws of the land must be suppressed, that government must be administered with such justice and severity upon crime as to make its administration a terror to evil-doers and a praise to them that do well;

Resolved, That the people called Methodists will support the government of the nation, the states and the cities in aggressive campaign against further exhibitions of lawlessness, and in a strict enforcement of all law throughout the nation.

MONTANA STATE

Jesse Lacklen presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Appreciation of Bishop Brown.

The representatives of the Helena Area, following the action of our several Annual Conferences, express our appreciation of the administration of Bishop Wallace E. Brown. His tireless travel over the vast distances of the Area, his wise and efficient administration and his generous and brotherly spirit have warmly endeared him to all of his associates.

We severally would be very happy to find ourselves under his administration during the next quadrennium whatever our Area relationships.

The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

Report No. 11, Committee on Temporal Economy, entitled, "Barbara Heck Bicentenary," and printed on page 180 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and W. B. Farmer, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption. The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

Committee on Temporal Economy, Report No. 11.

On a question of privilege, the Secretary presented, for specific reference to the Committee on Judiciary, the following Memorials, and, on his motion, reference in these cases was ordered:

References to the Committee on Judiciary.

1. From F. A. LaViolette and Logan H. Roberts, Delegates from the Pacific Northwest Annual Conference, requesting a ruling on the right of a Bishop or a District Superintendent to appoint an effective member of one Conference to a pastorate without transfer, etc., and known as Memorial No. 785.
2. From W. H. Shipman, of the Des Moines Annual Conference, asking for an opinion concerning the operation of the Fifth Restrictive Rule, and known as Memorial No. 789.
3. From W. H. Shipman, of the Des Moines Annual Conference, asking if it is legal to do away with a Quarterly Conference as a constitutional requirement, and known as Memorial No. 794.
4. From Leon H. Sweetland, of the Northwest Kansas Annual Conference, asking for a rule concerning the process by which a member of an Annual Conference is located, and known as Memorial No. 826.
5. From L. Earl Snyder and others, seeking an opinion upon this question, "When does the term of office of a District Superintendent who has been appointed to a District between Conference sessions, terminate?" and known as Memorial No. 827.
6. From O. W. Willits, of the Detroit Annual Conference, through Merton S. Rice, referring to the Judiciary Committee for an opinion, the note following the list of special appointments in the Minutes of the Detroit Conference of 1931, and known as Memorial No. 839.
7. From A. M. Wells, of the Illinois Annual Conference, asking for certain rulings on the subject, "Title to Property," and citing a specific case, and known as Memorial No. 828.

The Secretary presented the report of the Commission on Worship and Music, filed by the Chairman of that Commission, Bishop Wilbur P. Thirkield.

Report, Commission on Worship and Music.

On motion, the privilege of the floor was granted to Bishop Thirkield to make formal presentation of the report.

On motion, the time was extended for the completion of this item.

MAY 11 NINTH DAY. Morning.

Bishop Thirkield, in presenting the report, addressed the Conference as follows:

Remarks of Bishop Thirkield.

The report of the Commission on Worship and Music as printed in the Handbook and with the concurrence of the Bishops is herewith presented to the General Conference.

The General Conference of 1928 ordered the appointment by the Bishops of a Commission on Worship and Music, to consist of five bishops, five other ministers, and five laymen. Report number six, adopted May 14, was in part as follows: "We recommend that this Commission be instructed to prepare, in accordance with the recommendations of the Episcopal Address, at least two Orders of Public Worship, which shall be printed in the Discipline in place of ¶ 72 for the use of our churches. We recommend that in each Annual Conference there be appointed a Commission on Worship and Music to co-operate with this general Commission within the several Conferences." In accordance with the above action these Orders of Worship have been prepared, to be printed, as directed, in the Discipline and the Hymnal.

The Commission has done its work under the conviction that the test of an Order of Worship is its awakening in us the consciousness of God's presence, its helping us to achieve the fruits of the Spirit and its fitting us for more devoted and effective service of God and our fellows.

Students of liturgies are quite agreed that the outer form of public worship should parallel the inner experience of worshipers. This inner experience follows a natural sequence, which is also found in the great liturgies of the Hebrew Temple, the Greek and Roman Churches and the Anglican Church. This sequence is retained by John Wesley in his "Sunday Service," based on the book of Common Prayer of the Church of England.

The Orders of Worship I and II, adopted for regular use, are built upon the same general principles which have given such vitality to the great liturgies, the basis of which is found in the usage of the Early Church. The orders seek to make every act in worship sincere by making the progress follow the natural experience in worship. They seek to make experience vital by giving the congregation, especially in the first Order, larger opportunity for active participation. They seek to enlarge the opportunity of the preacher by preparing the way, through creative worship, for his own deliverance of the prophetic and evangelistic message, and for his hearers' acceptance of the truth.

These Orders of Worship represent as nearly as the Commission could ascertain the mind of the Church. To this end, first, one thousand copies of the Proposed Orders were printed and sent to representative pastors and laymen throughout the Church. Later, in revised form, the proposed Orders were sent to the 16,000 ministers of the Church. After getting returns a questionnaire was then sent to 300 ministers in various types of churches. Finally in the present form they were published in all of our church papers. They have now been received practically without criticism or proposals for amendment.

The Commission has in recognition of the conditions of the General Conference Expense Fund out of an appropriation of $10,000 used but $3,100 with all bills settled except that for the stereopticon slide lecture on Worship. It is now available through the World Service offices.

On motion of C. O. Ford, the Conference voted to receive and accept this report with gratitude.

Adjournment.

Announcements were made and the Conference adjourned, with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Johnson.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 12, 1932

MAY 12 TENTH DAY Morning.

The Conference convened at 8:30 o'clock, with Bishop Ernest L. Waldorf presiding, who presented Bishop Edgar Blake to be in charge of the devotional service.

Devotions.

The Third Worship Service for the Devotional Periods of the General Conference was employed, and Bishop Blake led in prayer.

Hymn 37, beginning, "Jesus, Where'er Thy People Meet," was sung.

The devotional address of Bishop Blake was based upon St. Luke 18. 1-6, and at its close the Bishop again led the Conference in prayer.

Hymn 186, beginning, "I Worship Thee, O Holy Ghost," was sung.

Journal.

E. J. Hammond, for the Committee on the General Conference Journal, reported having examined the Journal for the session of May 11, and the Committee found the same correct. The report was accepted, and the Journal thus approved.

Report, Committee on Questions of Privilege.

C. O. Holmes, Chairman of the Committee on Questions of Privilege, presented the following recommendations:

1. Your Committee wishes to inquire whether the Conference will be pleased to hear a representative of the Buchman Group, who has been requested by many members to remain for such an opportunity.

Address of F. N. D. Buchman.

On motion of R. C. Wells, this recommendation was approved, and the presiding Bishop introduced Dr. Frank N. D. Buchman, who addressed the Conference.

2. Your Committee recommends that the suggestion be made to all Committees that, in view of the laymen's program on Saturday, no meetings of Committees should be held that afternoon or evening.

On motion of the Secretary, this recommendation was approved.

Report, Committee on Credentials.

C. L. Wallace, Secretary of the Committee on Credentials, presented the following report, which, on his motion, was adopted without being read:

Your Committee on Credentials beg to report as follows:

Call of the Conferences.

The incompleted Call of the Conferences was resumed.

NEBRASKA

B. L. Story presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Sesqui-Centennial Celebration American Methodism.

WHEREAS, On the memorable date, October 18, 1735, John Wesley joined the Oglethorpe expedition and embarked to America, landing in Georgia, February 6, 1736; and

WHEREAS, A heritage of Christian faith has been left to the Methodist Episcopal Church by his visit to America which should be conserved by the Church; and

WHEREAS, The Two Hundredth Anniversary of John Wesley's arrival in America falls upon February 6, 1936, which occurs before the convening of the next General Conference; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this General Conference request our Church in the United States to observe the first Sunday in February, 1936, to be known as "John Wesley Day." That we request the editors of our religious educational literature, so far as possible, to prepare a suitable program for the young people in commemoration of this day.

We suggest that the program committee for the next General Conference arrange an hour in which proper observance of this event may take place.

NEW YORK

Chester A. Smith presented the following resolution, and moved its adoption:

Delegates To Political Conventions Proposed.

WHEREAS, The most active and persistent efforts are being made by those who favor the return of the liquor traffic to create sentiment in favor of the repeal, nullification or re-submission of the Eighteenth Amendment, and to put such sentiment into the platforms of the political parties before the coming national election; and

WHEREAS, In spite of the propaganda of the wet press and of self-seeking politicians the liquor traffic is still and will ever be the enemy of manhood, womanhood and childhood, and of all those great things for which the Church stands; therefore

Resolved, That this General Conference request the Bishops to appoint committees from this General Conference to visit the conventions of each of the major political parties and to insist that no repeal, nullification or referendum planks be inserted in the platform of either political party.

George Mecklenburg moved to refer this resolution to the Committee on Temperance, Prohibition, and Public Morals.

A. M. Wells moved to place the motion to refer on the table, which motion prevailed.

MAY 12 TENTH DAY. Morning.

H. L. Jacobs moved to defer consideration of the resolution until after its printing in The Daily Christian Advocate. This motion prevailed.

The motion of O. W. Fifer to suspend temporarily the Call of the Conferences, in order to receive reports from the Committee on Episcopacy, prevailed.

Committee on Episcopacy, Report No. 10.

pal Residences," and printed on page 237 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, as was also the minority report attached thereto.

O. W. Fifer, Chairman of the Committee on Episcopacy, announced the appointment by that Committee of D. F. Diefendorf to defend this report before the Conference.

The motion of O. W. Fifer to amend the report by recognizing the minority report as an amendment, prevailed.

On motion, the time was extended to permit the full time limit to the speaker then on the floor.

Recess.

The Conference was in recess at 10:35 o'clock.

The Conference reconvened at 10:45 o'clock, and the Dakota Conference Evangelistic Male Quartet was heard in the rendition of a special musical number.

Minority Report.

Upon request, the Secretary read the complete list of signatures to the minority report, now introduced as an amendment to Report No. 9, Committee on Episcopacy.

The previous question was called for, and the call sustained.

F. W. Court moved that the minority report, as an amendment to the report, be placed on the table.

This motion prevailed by a count vote, as follows:

For tabling the amendment, 541. Against tabling the amendment, 256.

The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

O. W. Fifer moved that we now proceed to the election of two General Superintendents.

W. J. Davidson moved that this election be made the Order of the Day to-morrow morning, immediately after the approval of the Journal.

R. C. Wells moved to place on the table the motion for this Order of the Day.

The motion of H. L. Jacobs to adjourn prevailed.

Change of Membership Committee on Journal.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, announced the nomination of Frank L. Fitch to membership on the Committee on the Journal, in place of W. H. Phelps.

On motion, this nomination was confirmed and the person named was duly elected.

Adjournment.

Additional announcements were made, and the Conference adjourned, with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Waldorf.

FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 13, 1932

MAY 13
ELEVENTH DAY.
Morning.

The Conference convened at 8:30 o'clock with Bishop Ernest G. Richardson presiding, who presented Bishop Robert E. Jones to be in charge of the devotional service.

Devotions.

In the conduct of this service, the Fourth Worship Service for the Devotional Periods of the General Conference was employed.

Hymn 105, beginning, "When all Thy Mercies, O My God," was sung.

The devotional address of Bishop Jones was based upon the first chapter of the Book of Ruth, and at its conclusion, Hymn 99, beginning, "The Lord Our God Is Clothed with Might," was sung.

Journal.

E. J. Hammond, for the Committee on the General Conference Journal, reported having examined the Journal for the session of May 12, and the Committee found the same correct. The report was accepted, and the Journal thus approved.

The presiding Bishop declared the unfinished business before the Conference to be the motion that we proceed now to the election of two General Superintendents.

On a question of privilege, G. C. Douglass presented the following resolution, and moved its adoption:

Re Eliminated Buffalo Area.

WHEREAS, The Episcopal Residence at Buffalo is now eliminated; and
WHEREAS, The opportunity for genuine leadership in Area enterprises has been abundantly justified in the Buffalo Area; and
WHEREAS, The results already achieved or in process of fulfillment may be somewhat sufficiently conserved by continuity of administration; therefore, be it
Resolved, That the Bishops be requested to consider the desire of the Conferences now in the Buffalo Area, or formerly in the Buffalo Area, as to their divisions among adjacent Areas so that the various Conference interests may continue to have close and intensive supervision as provided in ¶ 574; and Resolved, Further, That the Board representations, as grouped around the residence at Buffalo now eliminated, be continued for the quadrennium 1932-1936.

O. W. Fifer moved to amend the resolution by inserting the word "Indianapolis" in the same relation as the word "Buffalo."

The motion of A. L. Marting to refer this resolution to the Committee on Episcopacy did not prevail.

Jesse Lacklen moved to amend the resolution by inserting the word "Helena" in the same relation as the words "Buffalo" and "Indianapolis."

MAY 13
ELEVENTH
DAY.
Morning.

The motion of H. G. Langley, to place the resolution and pending amendments on the table, did not prevail.

By common consent, the pending amendments were accepted.

The motion to adopt the resolution, as amended, prevailed.

Amendments Re Retirement of Bishops.

H. L. Jacobs presented the following amendment to the pending motion to proceed to the election of two General Superintendents:

> And that said election shall be taken under this rule: that whenever a General Superintendent or Missionary Bishop elected in May, 1932, or thereafter, shall cease to hold the effective relation in the Episcopacy, he is thereby retired from and relieved of the duties of the Episcopal office and he is thereupon returned with effective relation to that Annual Conference in which his membership, held in suspension while he was in the Episcopal office, rests.

The motion of M. S. Rice to refer this amendment to the Committee on Episcopacy did not prevail.

The motion of B. W. Meeks, to place the amendment on the table, did not prevail.

C. C. Hall presented the following amendment to the amendment:

> When a General Superintendent retires under this proposed rule, that the annuity of said General Superintendent be paid out of the Episcopal Fund to that Conference to which he returns, the amount to be the same that said Conference would pay.

The motion of D. L. Marsh, to place the amendment to the amendment on the table, prevailed.

The previous question was called for, and the call sustained.

The request of W. A. Walls that the vote be by orders was not supported.

The request of C. W. Tenney that the vote be by the "ayes" and "noes" was not supported.

On motion, the time was extended for the purpose of completing this item and taking a ballot for the election of two General Superintendents.

Amendment Referred.

The motion of D. L. Marsh to refer the amendment to the Committee on Episcopacy and the Committee on Judiciary for joint consideration and report prevailed.

The motion of J. M. Walker, to place on the table the motion to proceed to elect two General Superintendents, prevailed.

Recess.

Announcements were made and the Conference was in recess at 10:40 o'clock.

MAY 13 ELEVENTH DAY. Morning.

The Conference reconvened at 10:50 o'clock, and Musical Director E. E. Harper presented W. A. Walls to introduce the Kentucky Mountain Jubilee Singers, who were heard in the rendition of "Jesus, Lover of My Soul."

Chester A. Smith presented again the resolution previously presented, but later referred for printing. (See p. 298.)

Deets Pickett presented the following amendment, which was accepted by C. A. Smith:

Delegations to Political Conventions Authorized.

I move to amend by inserting after the word "and" in the fifth line of the third paragraph, the following words, "in co-operation with the National Board of Strategy"; so that the paragraph, amended, shall read: "Resolved, That this General Conference request the Board of Bishops to appoint committees from this General Conference to visit the conventions of each of the major political parties, and in co-operation with the National Board of Strategy, to insist that no repeal, nullification or referendum planks be inserted in the platform of either political party."

The motion to adopt the resolution, as amended, prevailed.

Suspension of Rules.

F. R. Bayley, Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary, moved to suspend the Rules for the purpose of receiving Report No. 10 from that Committee. This motion prevailed.

Committee on Judiciary, Report No. 10.

Report No. 10, Committee on Judiciary, entitled, "Presiding Officer of a Special Appellate Committee," partially printed on page 267 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary. (See The Daily Christian Advocate, page 297, for complete report.)

The motion of F. R. Bayley to adopt this report prevailed.

J. J. McKim presented the following motion:

I move that we now take from the table the motion to proceed with the election of General Superintendents with the understanding that any who may be elected are to be subject to any rules, regulations or legislation that have been or may hereafter be adopted by this Conference.

This motion did not prevail.

Order of the Day. Retirement of Bishops.

Services appropriate to the retirement of Bishop Thomas Nicholson and Bishop Lauress J. Birney now became the Order of the Day, and Hugh Kennedy presented the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Appreciative Resolution for Bishop Nicholson.

The Detroit Area of the Methodist Episcopal Church, speaking through its Delegates to the General Conference of 1932, desires to record the affection and esteem held by our people for Bishop Thomas Nicholson, who to-day finds it necessary to cease from the active relationship of service held so long and honorably in the itinerancy of our Methodist connection.

Beginning his ministry forty-eight years ago in the Michigan Conference, Thomas Nicholson soon won recognition as an illustrious example of expository preaching and biblical interpretation. His ministry has always been vitalized with evangelistic passion and hosts of young people have responded to the Christian challenge which he so forcefully presented.

MAY 13
ELEVENTH
DAY.
Morning.

It was early seen that he was a scholar of high attainments. By temperament and training he was fitted admirably for service in the educational field and there he has made the large contribution of his ability. As teacher, college president, and Corresponding Secretary of the Board of Education of our Church, he has made an outstanding record of achievement in both the white and negro educational enterprises.

The Council of Church Boards of Education and the Association of American Colleges witness to the vision and genius of organization that have characterized his distinguished and invaluable leadership in this department of our Church's life.

During eight notable years within which properties, endowments and enrollments largely increased, he raised new standards of scholarship, formulated wise policies for the future and united the educational institutions of Methodism in a closer fellowship of service.

As Bishop he has manifested rare wisdom in administration. Patiently, persistently, sagaciously has he guided the affairs of the Areas which were under his supervision. No one has surpassed him in devotion to his task, in his eager response to demand for varied services to the Church, in his unusual capacity for the discovery, classification and use of important information, in his spirit of sacrificial giving of himself. He has been an indefatigable, painstaking worker, not sparing himself one whit to the end that he might give all that was in him to the work of the Church which he served.

During the four quadrenniums of his active service in the Episcopacy he has had laid upon him tremendous responsibilities in many varied Boards and Institutions, and in all of them he has proved to be an administrator of unusual ability and a counselor of great wisdom. Always he has walked among us as an humble, sincere minister of Jesus Christ.

The history of the Prohibition movement cannot fail to give generous space to the name and work of Bishop Thomas Nicholson. As President of the Anti-Saloon League of America for several years he has been a militant leader of the dry forces, supporting vigorously with tongue and pen the Eighteenth Amendment and the whole cause of temperance and moral reform.

Furthermore, he has shown himself a brother beloved, sympathetically interested and peculiarly competent in directing the work of our Foreign-Speaking Conferences while resident both in Chicago and in Detroit, tactfully arranging the transfers between such Conferences and the mergers with contiguous Conferences.

The name of Bishop Thomas Nicholson is written indelibly into the history of world-wide Methodism. The glow of his spirituality, the integrity of his manhood, the strength of his statesmanship will ever command the appreciation of the Areas which he served and of Methodism at large.

We desire also to record our love for his gifted companion who has won distinction as educator, ardent advocate for peace and President of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

To both Bishop and Mrs. Thomas Nicholson we extend our deep gratitude, sincere wishes and earnest prayers. Mere words are inadequate to express our love for them. We present this testimonial and resolution in recognition of the debt which cannot be paid and in token of appreciations which "break through language and escape."

Bishop Nicholson: May the consciousness of duty well done and the sense of the abiding presence of Him whom you have served most faithfully give you peace and contentment now and forever.

John Thompson was formally recognized for the same purpose.

Bishop Nicholson Responds.

The presiding Bishop presented Bishop Thomas Nicholson, who responded appropriately.

The motion to adopt the resolution prevailed by a rising vote.

Handel Lee presented the following resolution, and moved its adoption:

Appreciative Resolution for Bishop Birney.

MR. CHAIRMAN, BISHOP BIRNEY, AND MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL CONFERENCE:

On behalf of the Shanghai Area and of the ten Annual Conferences in China, I rise to offer a resolution of love and appreciation of the beautiful, heroic service which for twelve years Bishop Birney has been rendering in China.

As resident Bishop in Shanghai during three quadrenniums, with special responsibilities for the Central China and Kiangsi Conferences, his administration has been abundantly fruitful. He has visited many charges in the remotest corners of this wide field, traveling by sampan, sedan-chair and wheel-barrow over roads that were almost impassable. Everywhere, within the church and without, he has won the affection and esteem of the people. He has been the embodiment of the spirit of love, a living example of true Christianity. Absolutely selfless, he has laid his life on the altar of sacrificial service for the good of the church and the lifting of the people's loads. Wherever there was need, his ready hand was there to aid. In the heat of summer and in the cold of winter he went about doing good, visiting the churches, counseling with the workers, helping wherever he could.

He gave his whole heart and soul, one hundred per cent, without reserve, to the work in China, presiding in turn over each of the ten Annual Conferences. Again and again, men exclaimed of him, "He never thinks of himself." Thus he spent his strength, always showing a beautiful Christlike character, which knew no racial differences. In such utter abandonment of self he poured out his life in a task too great, under a load too heavy for any man to bear. So completely did he identify himself with our troubles and difficulties and share with us in all things, that he came to be regarded as one of us, our Bishop, although his skin was of a different color and his speech in a different tongue. Yet he spoke a language that we all understood, the simple language of love.

Under these burdens his health and strength have been spent before his time. We are aggrieved at the separation from us, his children, which this forces upon our father beloved. We rejoice, however, that he may be permitted for a time to rest and recuperate in a more genial clime and on behalf of the Christian community of China we request Bishop and Mrs. Birney to return to us as health may again permit.

Bishop Birney, you have served our church in China without reservation of strength; you have utterly forgotten yourself. Your life has been and will continue to be an example of Christlikeness before the Chinese Church. In your heart and character you have shown us the true nature of Christianity, the true heart of God. Our love for you will not fail. Our friendship for you will not fade. Our hope for the joy of your return to our midst will abide. Our prayers for the Good Father's richest blessing upon you and Mrs. Birney and for your speedy and complete restoration to your wonted vigor will continue. Bishop Birney, we all love you.

And so, Mr. Chairman, I move that when this resolution has been properly seconded, it be adopted by a rising vote.

HANDEL LEE (Central China),
CARLETON LACY (Kiangsi),
C. A. FELT (North China),
P. O. HANSON (Shantung),
H. C. JETT (South Fukien),
FREDERICK BANKHARDT (Yenping),
ING H. HSU (Foochow),
F. S. CARSON (Hinghwa),
L. G. DSANG (Chengtu),
C. B. RAPE (Chungking).

Additional Appreciative Words.

Yen L. Chou was formally recognized to second this resolution.

D. L. Marsh was also recognized for the same purpose.

Bishop Birney. Responds.

The motion to adopt the resolution prevailed by a standing vote and the presiding Bishop presented Bishop Lauress J. Birney, who made appropriate response.

On a question of privilege, R. B. Urmy, Chairman of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates, announced the presence of the Fraternal Delegate from the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church, Bishop Randal A. Carter, A.M., D.D., LL.D., and was granted unanimous consent for his introduction to the Conference.

Credentials of Bishop Randal A. Carter.

The Secretary read the credentials of Bishop Carter, as follows:

TO THE BISHOPS AND MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL CONFERENCE OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH NOW ASSEMBLED IN ITS THIRTY-FIRST QUADRENNIAL SESSION IN ATLANTIC CITY, NEW JERSEY.

Dear Fathers and Brethren:

We, the Bishops of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church, greet you on behalf of our Ministers and Members through our worthy and beloved brother to whom is committed the trust of bearing to you this message of love and interest—the Right Reverend Randal Albert Carter, A.M., D.D., LL.D., an honorable member of our body. His presence with you is a testimony of the high esteem in which he is held among us, having rendered efficient and faithful service in the Church for more than forty years, a scholar, author of books, man of constructive ability, wide travel, large experience. We commend him to your love and hearts to be heard as our representative in this your General Conference.

It is with pleasure that we recall the visit to our General Conference in Louisville, Kentucky, in May, 1930, of your scholarly, famous world figure, Bishop Francis J. McConnell, who bore to us a message of love and good will which shall be fresh in our minds for years to come because of its social vision, spiritual earnestness, wide and deep implications and forceful delivery.

We rejoice to recognize ourselves as sons of God and followers of Wesley whose mission in common with yours is to give the whole Christ to the whole world. We have watched with increased interest your pioneering spirit, your great world-embracing programs for building the Kingdom and your triumphant march in every section of the world as fearless and loyal ambassadors of Jesus Christ our Lord. We are encouraged by your victories, strengthened in our faith by your world-embracing fellowships and the wide reaches of the Gospel which you preach and practice. May the Lord of all truth guide you in your deliberations and in all of your sessions and prosper you as a member of the great Methodist family, sanctifying your work until the full and complete coming of the kingdom of truth, justice and righteousness, love and good will.

J. ARTHUR HAMLETT, Secretary of the College of Bishops.

Fraternal Message of Bishop Carter.

The presiding Bishop introduced Bishop Carter to the Conference, and he was heard in the delivery of a fraternal message. (See p. 830.)

Report, Committee on Credentials.

C. L. Wallace, Secretary of the Committee on Credentials, presented the following report, which, on his motion, was adopted without being read:

E. C. DIXON, Chairman;
C. L. WALLACE, Secretary.

Report, Committee on Questions of Privilege.

C. O. Holmes, Chairman of the Committee on Questions of Privilege, presented the following recommendations, and, on his motion, they were approved:

Your Committee recommends:

1. That the Conference grant the request of W. H. G. Gould for the introduction of L. W. Munhall, of the Philadelphia Conference, eight times a member of the General Conference and one of the oldest survivors of the Civil War.

2. That permission be granted to Mrs. Anna Onstott to present a gavel made from a portion of a beam of the first Wesley Chapel, John Street, New York, hewn by Philip Embury, and a block from the Chapel of Kingswood School, near Bristol.

Presentation of L. W. Munhall.

In accordance with this approval, the presiding Bishop presented L. W. Munhall to the Conference, and accepted the presentation of the gavel and block by Mrs. Onstott.

Presentation of Dr. Edward Shillito.

On a question of privilege, previously granted, C. O. Holmes presented to the presiding Bishop, Dr. Edward Shillito, representing the London Missionary Society, and on being introduced to the Conference, he presented the following cablegram of greetings:

Annual Meeting, London Missionary Society, sends through Shillito sincere Christian greetings to Methodist Quadrennial.

Final Adjournment Considered.

On a question of privilege, the Secretary introduced the following motion:

That the Committee of Elected Chairmen be instructed to report as soon as possible the time when we should begin afternoon and evening business sessions, and also a suggested date for final adjournment of this Conference.

This motion prevailed.

The motion of C. O. Holmes, to request the Committee on Episcopacy and the Committee on Judiciary to report on the proposed rule of retirement for Bishops at the opening of the business session to-morrow morning, prevailed.

By common consent, H. L. Jacobs was requested to attend the meetings of these Committees, in order to furnish necessary information and materials.

The motion to adjourn prevailed.

Adjournment.

Announcements were made and the Conference adjourned, with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Richardson.

SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 14, 1932

MAY 14 TWELFTH DAY. Morning.

The Conference convened at 8:30 o'clock with Bishop Charles W. Burns presiding, who presented Bishop Brenton T. Badley to be in charge of the devotional service.

Devotions.

The Fifth Worship Service for the Devotional Periods of the General Conference was employed and prayer was offered by Bishop Badley.

Hymn 466, beginning, "Thou Hidden Source of Calm Repose," was sung, after which the Bishop's devotional address was heard, based upon St. John 14. 21.

At the close of this address, Bishop Badley again offered prayer.

Hymn 533, beginning, "Jesus, the Very Thought of Thee," was sung.

Journal.

E. J. Hammond, for the Committee on the General Conference Journal, reported having examined the Journal for the session of May 13, and the Committee found the same correct. The report was accepted, and the Journal thus approved.

Distinctive Journal Record.

On a question of privilege, F. G. H. Stevens, further representing the Committee on the Journal, asked the Delegates to make clear distinction between the Journal record and that appearing daily in the Advocate, stating that inaccuracies in the latter do not necessarily argue the same inaccuracies in the former.

Report, Committee on Questions of Privilege.

C. O. Holmes, Chairman of the Committee on Questions of Privilege, presented the following recommendations:

1. Your Committee recommends that opportunity be given John S. Hoagland, of the Dakota Conference, to present complimentary resolutions for Bishop Nicholson.

On motion, this recommendation was approved, and John S. Hoagland introduced the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Appreciation of Bishop Nicholson.

WHEREAS, Nearly thirty years ago the Rev. Thomas Nicholson, D.D., was transferred to the Dakota Conference; and

WHEREAS, His honored name remains to-day on its roll of membership; and

WHEREAS, For five wonderful years, he was the great President of Dakota Wesleyan University, giving himself unreservedly to the high task of developing its endowment, perfecting its faculty, and enlarging its attendance, making it outstanding among the colleges of the State; and

WHEREAS, No movements in South Dakota for the growth of the Church, the progress of Temperance, Prohibition, and Public Morals, and the building of a better commonwealth, were alien from his influence and leadership; and

WHEREAS, With such a record he went into the larger fields of service to Church and State; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Dakota Conference delegation, representing more than thirty thousand Methodists, join the world-wide chorus of appreciation and praise of Bishop Nicholson and pray the good God to graciously grant him in his retirement many glorious years of fellowship among us.

E. D. KOHLSTEDT,
J. P. JENKINS,
J. S. HOAGLAND,
F. R. FISHER,
A. C. DARLING,
R. P. FRINK.

2. Your Committee recommends that the Conference grant the request of Isaac E. Miller of the Ohio Conference, for the presentation to the Conference of Mrs. Thomas Nicholson and Mrs. W. H. C. Goode.

On motion, this recommendation was approved.

3. Your Committee recommends that the delegation from Italy be given such opportunity to sell the desk and chair as the Chairman of this Conference may deem convenient for the Conference.

On motion, this recommendation was approved.

4. Your Committee recommends that the Conference grant Bert E. Smith's request that Dean W. C. Coffey, of the University of Minnesota, be permitted to present certain matters connected with the program of the Men's Council.

MAY 14 TWELFTH DAY. Morning.

On motion, this recommendation was approved, and W. C. Coffey was heard in representation of the value of the program for the Men's Council to-day and to-morrow.

Presentation of Mrs. Nicholson and Mrs. Goode.

In harmony with the approval of Item No. 2 of this report, the presiding Bishop presented I. E. Miller, who introduced to the Conference Mrs. Thomas Nicholson, President of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, and Mrs. W. H. C. Goode, President of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, both of whom briefly addressed the Conference.

5. Your Committee recommends that the Conference grant the request of Bishop R. E. Jones that Dr. L. M. Dunton be introduced.

Presentation of Dr. L. M. Dunton.

On motion, this recommendation was approved, and the presiding Bishop presented Dr. L. M. Dunton, President of Claflin University, to the Conference.

Order of the Day.

The Secretary announced the Order of the Day to be the reception of reports from the Committee on Judiciary and the Committee on Episcopacy upon the amendment to the pending motion, namely, that we proceed to take a ballot for the election of two General Superintendents.

Suspension of Rules.

F. R. Bayley, Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary, moved to suspend the Rules, so that the report from that Committee shall be considered without printing. This motion prevailed.

Committee on Judiciary, Report No. 21.

Report No. 21, Committee on Judiciary, entitled, "Allowance of Retired Bishops," was read by the Secretary, and F. R. Bayley, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption. (See p. 619.)

The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

Suspension of Rules.

O. W. Fifer, Chairman of the Committee on Episcopacy, moved to suspend the Rules, in order to consider the report from that Committee, and transact such other business as action upon this report may require.

The motion to suspend the Rules prevailed.

Committee on Episcopacy, Report No. 11.

Report No. 11, Committee on Episcopacy, entitled, "Support of Retired Bishops," was read in preliminary form by the Secretary, and O. W. Fifer, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

E. J. Hammond presented the following amendment:

After the word "exceed," in the seventh line, omit all the remainder of that section and substitute therefor the following:

"One hundred ($100) dollars per year for each year spent in the effective relation as a Bishop, plus an amount equal to the Annuity of the Annual Conference from which he was elected for the years spent in effective relationship in an Annual Conference, provided no support for a retired Bishop shall exceed one half the amount allowed for the support of an effective Bishop, excluding house rent and clerical assistance."

The motion of C. O. Holmes to refer this amendment to the Committee on Episcopacy prevailed.

The motion to adopt the report prevailed. (See p. 541.)

Election of [General Superintendents.

The motion of O. W. Fifer to take from the table the motion to proceed with the election of two General Superintendents prevailed.

The motion to proceed with the election of two General Superintendents prevailed.

Rules Governing Elections.

The Secretary presented the following Rules governing elections, and, on his motion, they were adopted:

The elections shall be by ballot. Six sets of tellers, twenty-one persons each, shall be appointed by the General Superintendents. Each set may carry forward its work in the absence of the other; but tellers who may be out of the Conference engaged in counting the votes, and the Judiciary Committee, if in session, may deposit their ballots in the presence of two tellers and a Conference Secretary in case a ballot is taken by the body during their absence. In taking a ballot the following order shall be observed:

First: All persons not entitled to seats shall retire from within the bar of the Conference.

Second: While the vote is being taken, all delegates shall stand in their places.

Third: The tellers shall collect the ballots, beginning at the front row and the intersecting aisle. Each delegate shall resume his seat as soon as he shall have voted.

Fourth: In case there are more or less names on a ballot than the number to be elected, the ballot shall be reported defective.

Fifth: It shall require a majority of all votes cast to elect. In case more than the number to be elected shall receive the number of votes required to elect, those highest on the list in their order shall be declared elected. But in the election of General Superintendents a majority constituting two thirds of all the votes cast and counted shall be required to constitute an election.

Sixth: The tellers shall pour all the ballots into one pile, but may canvass the votes from as many piles as will suit their convenience.

Seventh: On completion of the counting of any ballot, the ballots shall be placed in an envelope, sealed, marked as to date, form and number of ballot, and held in care of the Secretary until voting under that form is completed.

Eighth: Ballots shall bear Christian names, or the initials as well as the surnames of the persons voted for. In any case of doubt on the part of the Secretary and tellers, the ballot or ballots shall be submitted to the Conference.

Ninth: No teller or Secretary shall give information in regard to the result of a ballot, until the same shall be announced by the presiding officer.

Officers to be elected shall be divided into at least four groups, namely: (1) General Superintendents; (2) Publishing Agents; (3) Corresponding Secretaries; (4) Editors. The Secretary of the General Conference shall provide ballots.

No nominations shall be made for the office of General Superintendent. When nominations are in order for any other office, the Chair shall so announce and request that nominations shall be sent to the Secretary's table in writing. After all nominations have been received, the Secretary shall read the list in alphabetical order, and then in reverse alphabetical order. When the Secretary reads the last nomination the list of nominations shall be closed. This does not preclude the right of any member to vote for any person not publicly nominated.

Elections shall be conducted under the direction of the Secretary and the ballots reported to him.

First Ballot for Bishops.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, called forward the first group of Tellers to serve on this first ballot. (See Tellers.)

Prayer.

The presiding Bishop suggested a season of silent prayer, and, at its conclusion, Bishop William F. McDowell led in prayer.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers retired to determine the result.

Committee on Judiciary, Report No. 1.

Under the Call of the Calendar, Report No. 1, Committee on Judiciary, entitled, "Election to Local Elders' Orders," and printed on page 202 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and F. R. Bayley, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

By common consent, the Chairman of the Committee was permitted to make certain verbal corrections in the report as printed.

The motion of Ray Allen to amend the report by changing the words "Local Elders' Orders" wherever they appear, to the words "Elders' Orders as a Local Preacher," was accepted by the Chairman of the Committee.

The motion of H. L. Jacobs to change the word "authorized" to the word "competent," in the second line of the last paragraph of the report as printed, was accepted by the Chairman of the Committee.

The motion to adopt the report, as amended, prevailed.

Committee on Judiciary, Report No. 2.

Report No. 2, Committee on Judiciary, entitled, "Judicial Review of Amended ¶ 36," and printed on page 202 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and F. R. Bayley, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

Committee on Judiciary, Report No. 3.

Report No. 3, Committee on Judiciary, entitled, "Interpretation of Duty, Functions and Limitations of Committee on Pastoral Relation," and printed on page 202 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and F. R. Bayley, Chairman of the Committee, moved its adoption.

MAY 14 TWELFTH DAY. Morning.

The motion of H. L. Jacobs to amend the report by substituting the words "pastoral charge" for the word "Church," wherever it occurs in the report, was accepted by the Chairman of the Committee.

The motion to adopt the report, as amended, prevailed.

Committee on Judiciary, Report No. 4.

Report No. 4, Committee on Judiciary, entitled, "As to Relation of Annual Conference to its Corporation," and printed on page 203 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and, on motion of F. R. Bayley, Chairman of that Committee, this report was adopted.

Committee on Judiciary, Report No. 5.

Report No. 5, Committee on Judiciary, entitled, "Requirement of Signature to Church Register," and printed on page 203 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and F. R. Bayley, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

F. G. H. Stevens moved to strike out the last paragraph of the report as printed.

R. M. Shipman moved to amend this amendment by inserting in lieu of the last paragraph, the following:

> Our answer to the question propounded in the above Memorial No. 489 is, "Yes." ¶ 48, § 6 is not in conflict with ¶ 29 of the Discipline inasmuch as it does not impose any additional condition for admission, but takes effect after reception into membership.

This motion to amend the amendment was accepted by F. G. H. Stevens.

The motion of C. O. Holmes to refer the report, with pending amendment, to the Committee prevailed.

Change in Membership, Committee on Complimentary Resolutions.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, announced the nomination of August Stromstedt to membership on the Committee on Complimentary Resolutions, in place of Theodor Arvidson.

On motion, this nomination was confirmed and the person named duly elected.

Chairman Special Appellate Committee.

Bishop Smith also announced that Bishop Eben S. Johnson had been nominated by the Bishops as the Chairman of the Special Appellate Committee.

This nomination was approved by the Conference, thus effecting the election of Bishop Johnson.

Recess.

The Conference was in recess at 10:40 o'clock.

The Conference reconvened at 10:50 o'clock.

TWELFTH
DAY.
Morning.

Musical Director E. E. Harper and Mrs. Rhodella Cummings, organist, were heard in a piano and pipe organ duet.

Order of the Day Deferred.

On a question of privilege, F. A. Horne moved that the time for the presentation of reports involving constitutional amendments, or any action relating to the Constitution, be deferred from to-day and made the Order of the Day immediately after the approval of the Journal, on Tuesday, May 17.

This motion prevailed.

Address of Bishop McConnell.

The Secretary announced that by privilege granted earlier in the session, representation of the work of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America was now the Order of the Day, and the presiding Bishop presented to the Conference, Bishop Francis J. McConnell, the President of the Federal Council, who addressed the Conference. (See p. 837.)

Under the introduction of Miscellaneous Business, F. A. Horne presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was referred to the Committee on State of the Church:

Resolution for Reference Re Economic Situation.

WHEREAS, The present economic depression and the consequent suffering and privation has affected the entire population and all classes of society in our country; and

WHEREAS, The crying need of the time is remedy, relief, and a constructive economic plan; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church favors the appointment of a Commission by the President of the United States under the authority of the Congress, to consist of representatives of the Executive and Legislative Departments of the Federal Government, distinguished leaders in Industry and Agriculture, and outstanding professors of economics and social sciences in our universities, to report to the President concerning remedies for the present economic disorders, and to consider among other things the following propositions for legislation and amendment to the Constitution:

(1) Modification of our Anti-Trust laws.

(2) Granting Right of Industry to organize in a definite way and regulate itself, if eighty-five per cent of the capital invested in a given industry so desires and consents.

(3) Granting and empowering a Commission or Commissions to regulate the industries organized under this permissive law.

(4) Passing a Constitutional Amendment giving Congress power to regulate hours and wages.

(5) Authorizing a Labor Commission to which Congress would delegate power granted under said Constitutional Amendment.

Report, Laymen's Association.

L. D. Dickinson presented the quadrennial report of the General Conference Laymen's Association, and moved that it be printed in The Daily Christian Advocate, without reading.

This motion prevailed.

H. E. Woolever presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was referred to the Committee on State of the Church:

Owing to the variety of interests assigned by the General Conference of 1928 to the Commission on Interdenominational Relations, confusion has arisen as to the responsibility of Standing Committees respecting important matters which should receive the early attention of this Conference.

Resolution Referring Commission Report.

Therefore, in order to assure the definite reference of specific sections of the Commission's report, it is moved that those portions of the report having to do with federation and co-operative action, in which non-Methodist bodies are directly interested, found on pages 382 to 391 of the Handbook, be referred to the Committee on Federation, and that the portion of the report which is concerned with Methodist union, the recommendation appertaining thereto and the recommendation relative to the continuance of the Commission on Interdenominational Relations, found on pages 112, 113 and 246 of The Daily Christian Advocate, be referred to the Committee on State of the Church and that early report be requested.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed to continue under the Special Order providing for the consideration of reports from the Committee on Judiciary.

Committee on Judiciary, Reports Nos. 6 and 7.

Report No. 6, Committee on Judiciary, entitled, "Appeal of Everett M. Hill," and printed on page 235 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and, on motion of F. R. Bayley, Chairman of that Committee, this report was adopted.

Report No. 7, Committee on Judiciary, entitled, "Interpreting the word 'Claimants,'" and printed on page 235 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and, on motion of F. R. Bayley, Chairman of that Committee, this report was adopted.

Committee on Judiciary. Reports Nos. 8 and 9.

Report No. 8, Committee on Judiciary, entitled, "Right of an Annual Conference to Subvert, Contravene or Modify the Provisions of the Discipline for Support of Conference Claimants," and printed on page 235 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and, on motion of F. R. Bayley, Chairman of that Committee, this report was adopted.

Report No. 9, Committee on Judiciary, entitled, "Annuity Claim of Re-Admitted Minister," and printed on page 235 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and F. R. Bayley, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

George H. Spencer moved to amend the report by changing the words "prior to expulsion," in the last line, to the words "prior to his re-admission."

The motion of F. R. Bayley prevailed to permit the withdrawal of this report, including the amendment, for further study and later presentation.

Committee on Judiciary, Report No. 12.

Report No. 12, Committee on Judiciary, entitled, "Powers of Central Conferences to Elect District Superintendents," and printed on page 267 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and F. R. Bayley, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

C. F. Eggleston moved to amend the report in the last line of ¶ 3 as printed, by adding after the word "church" the words "unless previously authorized by the General Conference."

The motion of L. J. Lyons to place this amendment on the table prevailed.

The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

Reference for Committee on Judiciary.

L. H. Sweetland presented the following question for reference to the Committee on Judiciary:

Is it lawful for Central Conferences to elect General Superintendents for a limited tenure under Restrictive Rule No. 3 of our Constitution?

On motion of the Secretary, this question was referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

Re Adjournment.

H. L. Jacobs moved that when we adjourn, we adjourn to meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon to hear the report of the Tellers, and to take such action as the result of the ballot may suggest.

To this motion there was later added, by common consent, the words "and if necessary, to take another ballot, which shall be immediately sealed and counted on Monday morning."

Resolution of Sympathy.

On a question of privilege, Miss Theodora Isabella Thompson presented the following resolution, which, on her motion, was adopted by a rising vote:

Yesterday the news of one of the most dastardly crimes flashed over the world. Mothers' hearts across the seas will be grieving for the mother here who is so bravely bearing the crushing sorrow that has come to her. Mothers and fathers will be sharing the pain of two aching hearts. I feel confident that as I speak I do so in the name of my own beloved land, India, and without doubt in the name of the whole world. Our hearts have been wrung with pain for Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh, for the loss of the baby whom the whole world had grown to love. If expression of our sympathy will help to ease their pain, may we not, as a General Conference, send them love and deepest sympathy?

I move, therefore, that the Secretary of the General Conference be instructed to send Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh a telegram expressing this sympathy and that this motion be adopted by a rising vote.

THEODORA ISABELLA THOMPSON.

Prayer.

A season of silent prayer was suggested by the presiding Bishop and at its close, Bishop William F. Anderson led in prayer.

TWELFTH
DAY.
Morning.

C. L. Wallace, Secretary of the Committee on Credentials, presented the following report, which, on his motion, was adopted without being read:

Report Committee on Credentials.

Your Committee on Credentials presents the following report:

Hans J. Roan, Lay Delegate Idaho Conference, excused for Saturday, May 14, only.
Alfred C. Locke, Reserve Ministerial Delegate, Erie Conference, seated permanently, May 17, in place of Frank S. McKnight, at no additional expense.
Blaine H. Gifford, Reserve Lay Delegate, Erie Conference, seated permanently May 17, in place of William M. Peirce, no additional expense.

E. C. DIXON, Chairman;
C. L. WALLACE, Secretary.

References for the Committee on Judiciary.

On a question of privilege, the Secretary presented for specific reference to the Committee on Judiciary the following Memorials, and, on his motion, reference in these cases was ordered:

From Frederick A. Miller, New York Conference, and other petitioners, asking concerning the annuity claim of a minister's widow under certain circumstances of remarriage, and known as Memorial No. 864.
From David F. Helms, Ohio Conference, and others, asking if the principle of making a definite levy upon ministerial salaries for Conference Claimants' Fund is legal, and known as Memorial No. 880.
From C. F. Bohmfalk, Southern Conference, asking whether elections by mail are legal in the case of organizing a General Conference delegation from an Annual Conference, etc., and known as Memorial No. 886.
From C. F. Bohmfalk, Southern Conference, asking concerning the annuity claim of a minister's widow under certain circumstances of remarriage, and known as Memorial No. 887.
From C. F. Bohmfalk, Southern Conference, asking if a minister is entitled to an annuity whose service in our ministry has been broken by ministerial service elsewhere, and known as Memorial No. 888.
From Pedro R. Zottele, Gabino Rodriguez, and others, representing the Central Conference of Latin America, asking whether Central Conferences can change the wording of the Articles of Religion to fit special conditions within said Central Conferences, and known as Memorial No. 907.
From the General Conference at its session, May 13, 1932, requesting an opinion as to the legality of the return of a retired Bishop to Annual Conference membership, and known as Memorial No. 946.

Announcements were made and the Conference adjourned, with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Burns.

MAY 14 TWELFTH DAY. Afternoon.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, MAY 14, 1932

The Conference convened at 5 o'clock with Bishop Charles W. Burns presiding.

Devotions.

Hymn 334, beginning, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," was sung, and prayer was offered by Bishop Thomas Nicholson.

The Secretary read the motion, by the adoption of which we are now assembled, as follows:

Authorization.

That when we adjourn, we adjourn to meet at five o'clock this afternoon to hear the report of the tellers and to take such action as the result of the ballot may suggest, and if necessary, to take another ballot which shall be immediately sealed and counted on Monday morning.

Result of the First Ballot for Bishops.

The result of the first ballot for the election of two General Superintendents was announced as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 822; defective ballots, 2; total ballots counted, 820. Necessary to a choice, 547. No one having received the necessary two-thirds vote, there was no election. (See Ballots.)

At the reading of those names receiving one vote each, E. R. Heckman moved to dispense with the further reading of this ballot, and to print it in full in The Daily Christian Advocate.

This motion prevailed.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that we proceed to take a second ballot for the election of two General Superintendents.

Withdrawals.

Merle N. Smith and Merton S. Rice, on questions of privilege, requested that their names be omitted from further balloting for the election of General Superintendents.

Second Ballot for Bishops.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, called forward the second group of Tellers to serve on this second ballot. (See Tellers.)

Prayer.

Following a period of silent prayer, Bishop Charles B. Mitchell led in prayer.

Assistant Secretary D. W. Jacobs gave instructions to the Delegates to insure more accurate voting.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers placed them in an envelope, which was sealed by the Secretary in open Conference.

The motion of H. L. Jacobs prevailed that the Tellers begin counting this ballot not later than 7:30 o'clock on Monday morning. MAY 14 TWELFTH DAY. Afternoon. Adjournment.

On motion, the Conference adjourned, with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Burns.

MONDAY MORNING, MAY 16, 1932

MAY 16 THIRTEENTH DAY. Morning.

The Conference convened at 8:30 o'clock, with Bishop Edgar Blake presiding, who presented Bishop Raymond J. Wade to be in charge of the devotional service.

Devotions.

In the conduct of this service, the Sixth Worship Service for the Devotional Periods of the General Conference was employed.

Hymn 461, beginning, "How Firm a Foundation, Ye Saints of the Lord," was sung.

The devotional address of Bishop Wade was based upon St. John 15. 26, 27, and at its conclusion, the Bishop offered prayer.

Journal.

E. J. Hammond, for the Committee on the General Conference Journal, reported having examined the Journal for the sessions of May 14, and the Committee found the same correct. The report was accepted, and the Journal thus approved.

Result of the Second Ballot for Bishops.

The result of the second ballot for the election of two General Superintendents was announced as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 770; defective ballots, 1; total ballots counted, 769. Necessary to a choice, 513. No one having received the necessary two-thirds vote, there was no election. (See Ballots.)

At the reading of those names receiving less than five votes each, C. C. Hall moved to dispense with the further reading of this ballot and to print it in full in The Daily Christian Advocate.

By common consent this motion prevailed.

Third Ballot for Bishops.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that we proceed to take a third ballot for the election of two General Superintendents.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, called forward the third group of Tellers to serve on this third ballot. (See Tellers.)

Prayer.

Prayer was offered by Bishop Herbert Welch, and, after instructions to the Delegates by Assistant Secretary D. W. Jacobs, the Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers retired to determine the result.

Report, Committee on Questions of Privilege.

C. O. Holmes, Chairman of the Committee on Questions of Privilege, presented the following recommendation, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Your Committee recommends that the Conference grant the request of George G. Vogel that James K. Shields be given an opportunity to present briefly on Wednesday, May 18, the matter of the talking motion picture entitled, "The Life of John Wesley."

Tribute to J. B. Hingeley.

On a question of privilege previously authorized, W. B. Farmer presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

WHEREAS, During the past quadrennium, Joseph Beaumont Hingeley, one of Methodism's most distinguished leaders in America, passed to his eternal reward after rendering to our church an unusually long period of fruitful service as pastor, presiding Elder, author, church statesman, General Conference Secretary, and pioneer in the development of our pension system; in all showing a pre-eminent spirit of fairness and kindliness, and a breadth of vision which have produced results that will abide enduringly in the polity and customs of the Methodist Episcopal Church; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we spread upon the Journal of this General Conference this testimony of our high appreciation of the work and personality of the late Doctor Hingeley and that the Secretary of the General Conference be instructed to communicate in appropriate language this action to his widow, Mrs. Emma E. Hingeley, of Pasadena, California.

Call of the Conferences.

The Secretary resumed the Call of the Conferences recently interrupted by Special Orders:

NORTH AFRICA

Tribute to Bishop Shepard.

E. F. Frease presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

The Delegates from the Paris Area desire to express their profound appreciation of the devoted and able administration of the Paris Area by the late Bishop William O. Shepard.

His grasp of the varied and perplexing problems of an Area so diverse and widespread was extraordinary. His sympathy, brotherliness, and patience won all hearts. We are sure that his unselfish devotion to his task hastened his end. He died nobly at the post of duty. He is enshrined forever in our hearts. His example remains as an inspiration for a deeper consecration to the work of God committed to us in this great field of the Church.

Rules of Order Amended.

Howard E. Simpson presented the following resolution seeking to amend the Rules of Order:

Resolved, That it is the judgment and the order of this General Conference that hereafter the previous question shall operate only on the motion pending—an Amendment to Rule 19.

HOWARD E. SIMPSON,
J. E. SKILLINGTON,
C. L. WALLACE,
JOSEPH S. ULLAND,
ALVIN C. POFFENBERGER,
HORACE L. JACOBS.

On motion, this resolution was adopted and the Rules of Order thereby amended.

NORTH-EAST OHIO

Re Seating of Delegates.

W. A. Walls presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

The North-East Ohio Conference Delegation respectfully request the Commission on Entertainment for the next General Conference in 1936 to consider the arrangement of the Delegates' seats, so that the front half of the hall may be used for the seating of the Delegates.

BATTELLE MCCARTY, AND OTHERS.

NORTHERN MINNESOTA

Codification of the Discipline Proposed.

Thomas A. Stafford presented the following resolution:

WHEREAS, The Book of Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church is a depositum of rules, regulations, and enactments of various kinds, produced, in great part, under the strenuous conditions incidental to the legislative work of the General Conference; and

WHEREAS, The aforementioned conditions ordinarily prevent close correlation of new and old enactments; and

WHEREAS, The inevitable lack of such close correlation sometimes results in the retention in the Discipline of a residuum of conflicting and obsolete material, thereby making it difficult to avoid occasional confusion in interpretation and administration; and

WHEREAS, The powers ordinarily conferred upon the Editor of the Discipline by the General Conference are too limited to permit the thorough-going revision necessary to produce a completely consistent Code of Discipline; therefore, be it

Resolved, (1) That a Commission on Codification of the Discipline be hereby appointed for the purpose of preparing a revised and annotated edition of the first edition of the Discipline which shall be published after the close of the General Conference of 1932.

(2) The Commission shall consist of seven members, as follows: Bishop Ernest G. Richardson, John W. Langdale, John M. Arters, and four members at large, to be nominated by the Bishops.

(3) The Commission shall secure such help as it may require and the expenses shall be borne by the General Conference Expense Fund, the maximum cost not to exceed two thousand dollars ($2,000).

(4) The Commission shall be charged with the following duties, for the performance of which it is hereby authorized and empowered:

(a) The Commission shall eliminate from the Book of Discipline all matter which has been rendered wholly obsolete by subsequent enactments.

(b) In case of conflict between two or more portions of the Discipline, the language of detached or subsidiary legislation shall be harmonized with the main body of the legislation on any subject; provided, however, that in so doing the evident intent and meaning of the General Conference, as reflected in its Journals, shall not be altered in any case.

(c) In case of variations in nomenclature, preference shall be given to the longest established and/or most frequent usage; for example, in ¶¶ 382 to 392, inclusive, the term "Conference Stewards" is used twelve times and the term "Board of Conference Stewards" only twice; the former is the standard usage and should be preferred.

(d) There shall be inserted in small type under each paragraph a cross reference to every paragraph located in another chapter which significantly amplifies or modifies its meaning.

(e) There shall be inserted in small type under each paragraph a comprehensive reference to all effective judicial rulings approved by the General Conference which bear directly upon its meaning.

(5) The revised and annotated edition of the Discipline when published by the Commission shall supersede the temporary edition to be published as soon as practicable after the close of this General Conference and on and after publication such revised and annotated Edition shall constitute the standard Code of Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

T. A. STAFFORD,
CHARLES N. PACE.

F. R. Bayley moved to defer consideration of this resolution in order that it may be printed in The Daily Christian Advocate before final action is taken.

F. A. Horne moved to amend by adding to the motion, "and referred to the Committee on Book Concern."

C. O. Holmes moved that the amendment to the motion be placed on the table. This motion prevailed.

The motion to defer action upon and print the pending resolution prevailed.

NORTHWEST INDIANA

Re Journal Editing.

C. O. Holmes presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Resolved, That the Secretary be directed and authorized to include in his Journal record of the presentation of reports from Committees and Commissions the full title and subject to each report.

NORTHWEST IOWA

Tribute to O. P. Miller.

O. F. Bartz presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

WHEREAS, God's finger touched our beloved Brother and Co-Worker, Oscar P. Miller, and he slept on the 28th day, December, 1928, shortly following our last General Conference session; and

WHEREAS, In recognition of an extraordinary service rendered the Methodist Episcopal Church in five General Conference sessions and as its General Conference Treasurer from the years 1904 up until the time of his passing—covering a period of more than a quarter of a century—and, likewise efficiently serving for a period of time on the Book Committee, having devised a plan for raising money with which to finance succeeding General Conferences, thus saving many thousands of dollars of Book Concern funds for Conference Claimants; and

WHEREAS, Brother Miller was an intimate friend of the leaders of Methodism during all these years and made a contribution so conspicuous that his absence is lamented in every corner of the earth; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we deem it appropriate and fitting to publicly express through this General Conference our gratitude for the good work he was able to accomplish for God's kingdom and for His Church in other avenues of endeavor within the bounds of his own Conference, and that we desire to assure Mrs. Miller and family of our deep sympathy and prayers.

Respectfully submitted by the Northwest Iowa delegation,

C. H. KAMPHOEFNER,
HERBERT CLEGG,
R. T. CHIPPERFIELD,
J. H. EDGE,
O. F. BARTZ,
E. M. CORBETT,
W. E. WARNES,
F. A. ROBINSON.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST

L. H. Roberts presented a resolution, entitled "Crisis for a Sober World," but on objection being raised to its immediate consideration, a vote was taken and consideration was denied.

PITTSBURGH

R. B. Urmy presented the following resolution:

Providing for Program and Procedure Lay Conferences, Etc.

WHEREAS, The Constitution as amended by the amendment entitled "Participation of Laymen in Annual Conference" now demands the organizing and functioning of Lay Conferences to meet during the sessions of the Annual Conferences; and

WHEREAS, The mode of procedure in certain matters is not clear; and

WHEREAS, The time is short between this session of the General Conference and the convening of the Annual Conferences during the coming summer and fall; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Itinerancy be and hereby is directed to prepare and submit to this General Conference for approval, at the earliest possible moment,

1. A method of procedure for the election of members of the Lay Conference by the several Pastoral Charges, especially within Annual Conferences meeting in June next.

2. A plan of organization for the Lay Conference, together with a statement of its duties and powers.

3. An order of business for the sessions of the Lay Conference, describing in detail as far as possible the matters to be considered by that body.

4. An order of business for the united session of the members of the Annual Conference and the Lay Conference, together with a description of the matters with which it is authorized to deal.

RALPH B. URMY,
HORACE LINCOLN JACOBS.

The motion of A. L. Marting prevailed that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Temporal Economy rather than to the Committee on Itinerancy.

Reference to Committee on Judiciary.

R. B. Urmy presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was referred to the Committee on Judiciary, as provided for therein:

WHEREAS, The adoption of the amendment to the Constitution entitled "Participation of Laymen in Annual Conference" has introduced a new and unfamiliar kind of Conference into the polity and procedure of the Methodist Episcopal Church, namely, the Lay Conference; and

WHEREAS, Certain matters of grave importance have arisen because of changes introduced by the constitutional amendment above described; and

MAY 16 THIRTEENTH DAY Morning.

WHEREAS, It is not clear from the language of the amendment just what may be the legal rights of the several bodies referred to; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Judiciary Committee be and hereby is requested to submit to this General Conference as promptly as possible answers to the following questions:

1. Since the right to vote on constitutional amendments is clearly reserved to the Annual Conferences, as stated in ¶ 36 of the amendment, can the same right be given to the Lay Conference as in ¶ 37, § 1?

2. What is the character of the "United Sessions" of the Ministerial and Lay members of the two Conferences concerned? Are they regular sessions of the Annual Conferences, or not? If they are, is it legal for non-members of the Annual Conferences to vote in them? If they are not regular sessions of the Annual Conferences, what is their authority?

3. Is the action of the Lay Conference in matters relating to lay activities binding upon the Quarterly Conferences, the Official Boards, or the lay membership of the churches within the bounds of an Annual Conference?

4. In view of the fact that the Discipline requires the action of the Annual Conference in certain legal and business affairs, and in view of the further fact that the amendment recently adopted substitutes for such action of the Annual Conference the action of a group described only as "one body" and "the United Sessions," is such substitution proper and legal?

RALPH B. URMY,
HORACE LINCOLN JACOBS.

Appreciation Official Organist.

E. T. Chamberlin presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted by a rising vote:

WHEREAS, Under the touch of devoted artistry, a great organ becomes the inspired instrument of worship and praise; and

WHEREAS, We of this assemblage are daily lifted to heavenly heights by the power and glory of this great organ under the beautiful ministrations of our Conference Organist; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of this General Conference in this concrete way express our hearty gratitude and deep appreciation for the excellent service rendered during the sessions of our Conference by our organist, Mrs. Rhodella Cummings;

Resolved Further, That a copy of this resolution of appreciation be prepared and delivered to Mrs. Cummings by the Conference Secretary.

ROCK RIVER

E. F. Tittle presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was referred to the Committee on State of the Church:

Action Proposed Unemployment Relief.

WHEREAS, Thirty-seven of the largest cities in the United States report no signs of improved employment, and one of them at the end of the third winter reports 700,000 unemployed; and

WHEREAS, Private charity and state relief funds now reduced almost to starvation level will soon be exhausted; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church urge upon the President and Congress of the United States the imperative need of immediate Federal relief; and further, be it

Resolved, That a delegation from this General Conference go in person to Washington and present this request in the name of the Christ.

ERNEST FREMONT TITTLE AND OTHERS.

SHANTUNG

Instructions to Committees.

P. O. Hanson presented the following resolution, and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, In the organization of this General Conference there has been provided a Committee on Questions of Privilege to which may be sent resolutions for immediate passage from any delegate; and

WHEREAS, There is also a Committee on Complimentary Resolutions to which other types of papers may be sent; and

WHEREAS, These two Committees safeguard the democracy of this General Conference, in making it possible for every delegate to have a hearing and at the same time may through consideration in the Committee decide upon the nature of the resolutions, thus saving the time of the General Conference; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the rules be suspended for this General Conference and no further calls of Conferences be made.

P. O. HANSON.

Arlo A. Brown moved to amend this resolution by adding the words, "that it shall go into effect at the conclusion of this Call of the Conferences."

The amendment prevailed.

F. A. LaViolette moved to amend the amended resolution to provide for its being effective after the third Call of the Conferences.

On motion, this amendment was tabled.

The motion to adopt the resolution, as amended, prevailed.

Report, Committee on Credentials.

C. L. Wallace, Secretary of the Committee on Credentials, presented the following report, and, on his motion, it was adopted without being read:

Your Committee on Credentials beg to report as follows:

George K. MacInnis, Reserve Ministerial Delegate, Wisconsin Conference, seated for one day only, May 16, in place of Anton Hatlestad; no extra expense.

Wallace B. Fleming, Ministerial Delegate, Kansas Conference, to be excused at end of Tuesday, May 17, and William C. Hanson, Reserve Delegate, to be seated in his place. No extra expense.

E. C. DIXON, Chairman;
C. L. WALLACE, Secretary.

Evening Business Sessions Ordered.

The Secretary, representing the Committee of Elected Chairmen, moved that beginning with Wednesday, May 18, evening business sessions be held, beginning at 8 o'clock.

This motion prevailed.

MAY 16 THIRTEENTH DAY. Morning. Recess.

The Conference was in recess at 10:30 o'clock.

The Conference reconvened at 10:40 o'clock, and the presiding Bishop offered prayer.

Musical Director E. E. Harper introduced a Quartet from the Bennett College for Women, and they were heard in the rendition of several Negro Spirituals.

Address of Dr. S. Parkes Cadman.

By action previously taken, establishing an Order of the Day for this hour, the presiding Bishop introduced Rev. S. Parkes Cadman, D.D., as the representative of the Universal Christian Conference for Life and Work, and Dr. Cadman appropriately addressed the Conference. (See p. 844.)

Delegates Authorized.

J. W. Langdale presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

When the Universal Christian Conference for Life and Work met in Stockholm in 1925, the Methodist Episcopal Church appointed seven delegates and seven alternates. Another meeting of the Conference is planned for 1935, and I move that the Bishops be authorized to appoint a similar number of delegates to that Conference, without expense.

Result of the Third Ballot for Bishops.

The result of the third ballot for the election of two General Superintendents was announced as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 824; defective ballots, 6; total ballots counted, 818. Necessary to a choice, 546. No one having received the necessary two-thirds vote, there was no election. (See Ballots.)

Withdrawal.

L. M. Edwards, on a question of privilege, requested that his name be omitted from further balloting for the election of General Superintendents.

Fourth Ballot for Bishops.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that we proceed to take a fourth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents.

Prayer.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, called forward the fourth group of Tellers to serve on this ballot. (See Tellers.) Prayer was offered by Bishop C. L. Mead.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers retired to determine the result.

Call of the Conferences.

The second Call of the Conferences proceeded:

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Rules of Order Amended.

F. G. H. Stevens presented the following resolution intended to be an amendment to the Rules of Order, and moved its adoption:

Resolved, That the Committee on Rules be requested to prepare for insertion in our Rules the rule providing that "in debate the floor shall alternate between speakers on opposite sides of the question."

The motion to adopt this resolution prevailed, thus amending the Rules of Order.

TENNESSEE

G. W. Lewis presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Tribute to Bishop Scott.

APPRECIATION OF THE LATE BISHOP ISAIAH B. SCOTT

WHEREAS, The late Bishop Isaiah B. Scott departed this life July 4, 1931; and

WHEREAS, He spent nearly a half century in the service of the Church and the Kingdom as pastor, District Superintendent, College President, Editor and Missionary Bishop in Africa; therefore, be it Resolved, In appreciation of this very faithful service, we ask that this General Conference show its appreciation by standing.

G. W. LEWIS,
D. T. BURCH,
P. W. IVY,
W. D. LAWS.

The Delegates stood in response to this resolution.

WASHINGTON

Mrs. Fannie D. Tyler presented the following resolution, which, on her motion, was adopted:

Tribute to I. Garland Penn.

IN APPRECIATION OF THE SERVICES OF THE LATE DR. I. GARLAND PENN

WHEREAS, We believe that few Laymen have rendered more distinguished service to the General Conference of our Church, and to Methodism at large, than the late Dr. I. Garland Penn, who served in ten General Conferences; and

WHEREAS, Doctor Penn's service to the Church at large was chiefly in the field of education for Negroes, and here he was the inspiration of thousands of Negro boys and girls and a fine example for them to follow; be it

Resolved, That we cherish the memory of this distinguished son of Methodism and record our appreciation for his many years of service.

MRS. FANNIE D. TYLER AND OTHERS.

WYOMING

John H. Race presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, seconded by Arlo A. Brown, was adopted:

Tribute to Prof. J. A. Faulkner.

RESOLUTION TO THE MEMORY OF THE LATE PROFESSOR JOHN ALFRED FAULKNER

WHEREAS, During the quadrennium the Methodist Episcopal Church has lost one of her great scholars and teachers in the person of the late Professor John Alfred Faulkner, member of the Wyoming Conference and professor of Church History in Drew University, the delegates of the Wyoming Conference desire that this General Conference should pay fitting tribute to his memory; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the General Conference records its high regard for one of its distinguished sons. Doctor Faulkner was a member of the Wyoming Conference throughout his ministerial and professional career. In his death the Church has suffered a loss of one of its outstanding

M. A. Dawber presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Rural Church Membership Commended.

RESOLUTION OF CONFIDENCE AND ENCOURAGEMENT FOR OUR MEMBERSHIP IN RURAL AMERICA

WHEREAS, The Methodist Episcopal Church always has been and to-day is primarily a great rural Church, over eighteen thousand of our twenty-six thousand churches being in rural territory, two thirds of our ministers and over sixty per cent of our membership; and

WHEREAS, Our rural churches have ever been the life blood of our Church, giving to it throughout its history our membership and particularly our ministry; and

WHEREAS, Our rural people have ever stood for the application of moral and religious ideals in the great issues of our national life; and

WHEREAS, In this moment of economic difficulty our rural people, our farmers and with them our rural ministers, are suffering poverty such as they have not known for many years and are now facing a stress and strain that will require all the fortitude and faith that can be brought to bear upon their problem; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this General Conference does hereby express its unfailing confidence in the membership of our rural churches. We recognize the part they have played in the building of our great Church and in the development of the moral and spiritual character of our nation.

We desire to join in prayer and sympathy in the situation that now confronts them, and to share with them as far as in us lies the burden that is theirs, and to assure them that we stand ready to do all in our power to correct the injustices that come out of the present economic situation that have contributed to their difficulty, and pray God's blessing upon them in the sustaining of their faith and courage at this time.

MARK A. DAWBER.

Committee on Judiciary, Reports Nos. 13 and 14.

The Secretary introduced the Call of the Calendar, and Report No. 13, Committee on Judiciary, entitled, "Regarding Appeal by the Kansas Conference," and printed on page 267 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read.

F. R. Bayley, Chairman of that Committee, moved that this report be adopted, which motion prevailed.

Report No. 14, Committee on Judiciary, entitled, "Ruling on Annuity of Conference Evangelist," and printed on page 267 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and F. R. Bayley, Chairman of that Committee, moved that this report be adopted.

T. W. Stafford moved to amend by striking out the word "guarantees" in the answer to Question 2, and employing the following words:

Yes; Discipline, 1928, ¶ 382, asserts the right to claim a comfortable support by ministers upon retirement who meet all the disciplinary conditions, and also, quoting ¶ 389, § 1, "Retired ministers are entitled to annuities for the years of service in the effective relation in the Methodist Episcopal Church."

He also moved to amend the answer to Question 4, where the words "by the Conference Stewards" are found, and to substitute therefor the words "by the Annual Conferences."

George H. Spencer moved to amend the last-mentioned amendment by adding the words "according to the Discipline."

The first proposal to amend was accepted by the Chairman of the Committee, and by common consent, the second proposal to amend was considered covered by the last phrase of the concluding paragraph of the report in the following language:

"provided that it may be disallowed for cause by a two-thirds vote of the Annual Conference present and voting."

The motion to adopt this report, as amended, prevailed.

Committee on Judiciary, Report No. 11.

Report No. 11, Committee on Judiciary, entitled, "Relation of Local Church to Subordinate Organizations," and printed on page 303 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and F. R. Bayley, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

R. B. Urmy moved that this report be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary, pending the presentation to that Committee of pertinent concrete information.

H. L. Jacobs moved that when we adjourn it be to meet at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon to hear the result of the fourth ballot for General Superintendents, and the taking of such action thereon as may be necessary.

C. O. Holmes moved, as a substitute, that we stay in session this morning until we hear the report of the fourth ballot.

By common consent, the pending principal motion was changed to provide for a session at 2 o'clock, instead of 2:30 o'clock.

G. G. Vogel moved to amend the motion for adjournment to the effect that we meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Later, by common consent, all motions relating to adjournment were withdrawn.

On motion, the time was extended to hear the report of the fourth ballot and to take another ballot if necessary, meanwhile continuing Calendar business.

MAY 16 THIRTEENTH DAY. Morning.

Committee on Judiciary, Report No. 11.

The next item of the Calendar was the consideration of Report No. 11, Committee on Judiciary, and the motion that it be recommitted.

R. B. Urmy withdrew his motion to recommit.

The motion to adopt this report prevailed.

Announcements.

Necessary announcements were made for the convenience of the Delegates, and the Secretary reported that the result of our last balloting was not yet in his possession.

Adjournment.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that when we adjourn, it be to meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon to hear the report of the balloting, and, if necessary, to take another ballot.

On motion, the Conference adjourned, with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Blake.

MAY 16 THIRTEENTH DAY. Afternoon.

MONDAY AFTERNOON, MAY 16, 1932

The Conference convened at 5 o'clock with Bishop Edgar Blake presiding.

Devotions.

Hymn 355, beginning, "Love Divine, All Loves Excelling," was sung, followed by the singing of Hymn 346, beginning, "Lord, I Hear of Showers of Blessing."

Prayer was offered by Bishop Blake.

Result of the Fourth Ballot for Bishops.

The result of the fourth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents was announced as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 819; defective ballots, 1; total ballots counted, 818. Necessary to a choice, 546. No one having received the necessary two-thirds vote, there was no election. (See ballots.)

Fifth Ballot for Bishops.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that we proceed to take a fifth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents, with the understanding that the ballot be immediately sealed, counted at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning, and reported to the Conference immediately after the introduction of privileged matters.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, called forward the fifth group of Tellers, to serve on this fifth ballot.

Prayer.

Prayer was offered by Bishop John Gowdy.

Necessary instructions concerning voting and orderly adjournment of the session were heard.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers placed them in an envelope, which was sealed by the Secretary in open Conference. MAY 16 THIRTEENTH DAY. Afternoon.

The motion of J. S. Ladd Thomas to adjourn prevailed, and the concluding benediction was pronounced by Bishop Blake. Adjournment.

TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 17, 1932

MAY 17 FOURTEENTH DAY. Morning.

The Conference convened at 8:30 o'clock with Bishop H. Lester Smith presiding, who presented Bishop Eben S. Johnson to be in charge of the devotional service.

Hymn 189, beginning, "Our Blest Redeemer, ere He Breathed," was sung, and the Second Worship Service for the Devotional Periods of the General Conference was employed. Devotions.

Bishop Johnson's devotional address was based upon St. John 7. 39, and at its conclusion the Bishop offered prayer.

Hymn 190, beginning, "Spirit Divine, Attend Our Prayer," was sung.

E. J. Hammond, for the Committee on the General Conference Journal, reported having examined the Journal for the sessions of May 16, and the Committee found the same correct. The report was accepted, and the Journal thus approved. Journal.

The presiding Bishop announced the Order of the Day to be the consideration of amendments to the Constitution, to be presented by action of the various Standing Committees. Order of the Day

On motion, consideration of this Order was deferred in order to receive the report from recent balloting.

The result of the fifth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents was announced as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 812; defective ballots, 0; total ballots counted, 812. Necessary to a choice, 541. No one having received the necessary two-thirds vote, there was no election. (See Ballots.) Result of the Fifth Ballot for Bishops

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that we proceed to take a sixth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents.

Bishop E. G. Richardson, acting for the Bishops, called forward the sixth group of Tellers to serve on this sixth ballot. (See Tellers.) Sixth Ballot for Bishops

Prayer was offered by Bishop Wilbur P. Thirkield. Prayer

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers retired to determine the result.

MAY 17
FOURTEENTH DAY.
Morning.

Consideration of the Order of the Day was resumed, and the Secretary proceeded to call the Standing Committees in alphabetical order.

Committee on Episcopacy, Report No. 8.

Report No. 8 from the Committee on Episcopacy, entitled, "Tenure of Episcopal Office," and printed on page 331 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read, and O. W. Fifer, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

Common consent was given to the Committee to add the following amendment to the report as read, so that the addition shall become a part of the report as presented:

That we request the General Conference to vote on this proposal to amend the Constitution, and if it shall receive the necessary two-thirds vote of the General Conference, it shall be submitted to the several Annual and Lay Conferences meeting during the year 1933 for their action.

Substitute Presented.

R. Clarence Brown presented the following substitute for the pending report, and moved its adoption:

Amend § 3 of ¶ 46, Article X, by striking out the words, "Nor destroy the plan of our itinerant General Superintendency; but may elect a Missionary Bishop or Superintendent for any of our Foreign Missions, limiting his Episcopal jurisdiction to the same respectively," and inserting therein after the word "Episcopacy" in the third line, the following words: "but shall have full authority to elect as many General Superintendents as it may deem wise, fix their tenure of office, and prescribe their powers and duties."

Said section, as amended, will then read as follows:

"The General Conference shall not change nor alter any part or rule of our government so as to do away Episcopacy, but shall have full authority to elect as many General Superintendents as it may deem wise, fix their tenure of office, and prescribe their powers and duties; and may empower Central Conferences to elect Bishops or General Superintendents whose Episcopal supervision shall be within the territory included in the Central Conferences by which they have been elected, subject to such other conditions as the General Conference shall prescribe; provided, however, that a General Superintendent or Bishop elected by one Central Conference may exercise Episcopal supervision in another Central Conference when so requested by such other Central Conference."

The previous question was called for, but the call was not sustained.

The Chairman of the Committee accepted the suggestion of Ray Allen to change the word "Bishops" to the words "General Superintendents" wherever the former word appears in the report.

W. A. Walls moved that the substitute be placed on the table.

The motion of F. W. Court that the pending substitute be printed in The Daily Christian Advocate before action is taken upon it was declared out of order by the presiding Bishop.

The motion to place the substitute on the table prevailed.

MAY 17
FOURTEENTH DAY.
Morning.

On motion, the time was extended before the recess for the purpose of hearing the report of recent balloting and the taking of another ballot, if necessary.

Result of the Sixth Ballot for Bishops.

The result of the sixth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents was announced as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 811; defective ballots, 1; total ballots counted, 810. Necessary to a choice, 540. No one having received the necessary two-thirds vote, there was no election. (See Ballots.)

Seventh Ballot for Bishops.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that we proceed to take a seventh ballot for the election of two General Superintendents.

Bishop E. G. Richardson, acting for the Bishops, called forward the first group of Tellers to serve on this seventh ballot. (See Tellers.)

Prayer.

Prayer was offered by Bishop E. H. Hughes.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers retired to determine the result.

Recess.

The Conference was in recess at 10:42 o'clock.

The Conference reconvened at 10:53 o'clock.

C. O. Holmes, Chairman of the Committee on Questions of Privilege, presented a recommendation from that Committee that Musical Director E. E. Harper be heard in vocal solo.

This recommendation was approved and E. E. Harper sang in response.

Committee on Episcopacy, Report No. 8 (Consideration Resumed).

Consideration of Report No. 8, Committee on Episcopacy, was resumed.

H. L. Jacobs moved to amend the report by striking out in the fifth line of ¶ 46, § 3, the three words "the plan of."

J. R. Edwards moved that consideration of the entire matter before the Conference be deferred until the substitute and other unprinted items can be printed in The Daily Christian Advocate.

The motion to defer and print was, on motion, placed upon the table.

Result of the Seventh Ballot for Bishops.

The result of the seventh ballot for the election of two General Superintendents was announced by the Secretary as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 827; defective ballots, 1; total ballots counted, 826. Necessary to a choice, 551. No one having received the necessary two-thirds vote, there was no election. (See Ballots.)

Eighth Ballot for Bishops.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that we proceed to take an eighth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents.

Bishop E. G. Richardson, acting for the Bishops, called forward the second group of Tellers to serve on this eighth ballot. (See Tellers.)

Prayer.

Prayer was offered by Bishop John L. Nuelsen.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers retired to determine the result.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that the time be extended until report may be had from the ballot just taken, and another ballot taken, if necessary.

Consideration of the pending report, and matters pertaining thereto, was resumed.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

The motion of F. A. DeMaris to place the amendment on the table did not prevail.

The motion to adopt the amendment prevailed.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

Report Failed of Adoption.

The Conference declined to adopt the pending report by a count vote, as follows:

Total number voting, 802; two-thirds majority required, 535. For the proposed amendment, 407. Against the proposed amendment, 395.

On a question of privilege, Fred D. Stone, acting for the Commission on Entertainment, presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Expense Fund Needs.

Resolved, That the General Conference request the Book Concern to authorize the use of its credit to an amount not to exceed $60,000 to provide for the deficit in the General Conference Expense Fund.

Order of the Day Authorized.

The motion of L. M. Edwards prevailed that the Order of the Day for Thursday morning, immediately after the approval of the Journal, shall be the consideration of a report from the Special Committee on Evangelism, and that, meanwhile, this report be printed in The Daily Christian Advocate.

Necessary announcements were made for the convenience of the Delegates.

MAY 17
FOURTEENTH DAY.
Morning.

The motion of G. Bromley Oxnam prevailed that the Order of the Day for Friday morning, immediately following consideration of privileged matters, be the report of the Special Committee on Central Conferences.

Order of the Day.

George H. Spencer, acting for the Committee on Questions of Privilege, presented the following recommendation, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Report, Committee on Questions of Privilege

Your Committee recommends that the Conference grant the request of Dr. George H. Spencer, of the New England Conference, that the American Bible Society, with Dr. Lynn Harold Hough speaking, be given the devotional period at the opening of the Wednesday evening session.

The motion of T. A. Stafford prevailed that consideration of the subject of the Codification of the Discipline be made the Order of the Day immediately after the devotional service at the Wednesday evening session.

Order of the Day.

The result of the eighth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents was announced as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 828; defective ballots, 1; total ballots counted, 827. Necessary to a choice, 551. No one having received the necessary two-thirds vote, there was no election. (See Ballots.)

Result of the Eighth Ballot for Bishops.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that we proceed to take a ninth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents and that the ballot be sealed, counted at 4 o'clock, and announced at a General Conference session to be at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Ninth Ballot for Bishops.

Bishop E. G. Richardson, for the Bishops, called forward the third group of Tellers to serve on this ninth ballot. (See Tellers.)

Prayer was offered by Bishop Matthew W. Clair.

Prayer.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers placed them in an envelope, which was sealed by the Secretary in open Conference.

C. L. Wallace, Secretary of the Committee on Credentials, presented the following report, which, on his motion, was adopted without being read:

Report, Committee on Credentials.

The Committee on Credentials reports as follows:
W. A. Walls, Lay Delegate, North-East Ohio Conference, excused for Friday afternoon, May 20, for that day only.
Francis E. Palmer, Reserve Lay Delegate, Upper Iowa Conference, excused permanently, effective May 19. No one seated in his place.
William N. Roberts, Reserve Ministerial Delegate, North-East Ohio

MAY 17 FOURTEENTH DAY. Morning.

Conference, excused permanently, effective noon on May 16, at no additional expense.

W. H. McMaster, Ministerial Delegate, North-East Ohio Conference, excused for Tuesday, May 17, only. Charles B. Ketcham, Reserve Delegate, seated for that one day.

James A. McRae, Lay Delegate, North Carolina Conference, permanently excused, effective May 20.

John M. Mitchell, Reserve Lay Delegate, Southern Illinois Conference, seated May 2, is permanently excused, effective May 17.

George Davies, Ministerial Delegate, Illinois Conference, called home by the death of his mother, is permanently excused, effective May 16. Walter F. Day, first Reserve Delegate, seated in his place, May 17, at no additional expense.

I. Elmer Perry, Reserve Lay Delegate, Wilmington Conference, seated May 16, in place of Clarence A. Short; no extra expense.

J. T. Mears, Reserve Lay Delegate, Wilmington Conference, excused for Tuesday afternoon, May 17, only.

E. C. DIXON, Chairman;
C. L. WALLACE, Secretary.

Adjournment.

The Conference adjourned, with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Smith.

MAY 17 FOURTEENTH DAY. Afternoon.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, MAY 17, 1932

The Conference convened at 5 o'clock, with Bishop H. Lester Smith presiding.

Devotions.

Hymn 98, beginning, "There's a Wideness in God's Mercy," was sung, and prayer was offered by Bishop J. R. Chitambar.

Musical Director E. E. Harper presented Professor James R. Houghton, Professor of Sacred Music in the Boston University School of Theology, and he was heard in a solo, entitled, "God Is Our Refuge and Strength." A second solo was sung by Professor Houghton.

Result of the Ninth Ballot for Bishops.

The result of the ninth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents was announced as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 824; defective ballots, 1; total ballots counted, 823. Necessary to a choice, 549. No one having received the necessary two-thirds vote, there was no election. (See Ballots.)

Tenth Ballot for Bishops.

The Secretary moved that we proceed to take a tenth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents, and that the ballot be sealed, counted at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning, and reported immediately after the approval of the Journal.

J. M. Walker introduced the following amendment to the motion, which was declared out of order by the presiding Bishop:

I move that after we have taken one more ballot, if there be no election, further balloting be postponed until the next General Conference, and the Episcopacy Committee be instructed to act accordingly.

The motion to take another ballot prevailed.

MAY 17 FOURTEENTH DAY. Afternoon. Prayer.

Bishop E. G. Richardson, acting for the Bishops, called forward the fourth group of Tellers to serve on this tenth ballot.

Prayer was offered by Bishop George A. Miller.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers placed them in an envelope, which was sealed by the Secretary in open Conference.

Adjournment.

Announcements were made and the Conference adjourned, Bishop H. Lester Smith pronouncing the benediction.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 18, 1932

MAY 18 FIFTEENTH DAY. Morning.

The Conference convened at 8:30 o'clock, with Bishop Charles L. Mead presiding, who introduced Bishop John Gowdy to be in charge of the devotional service.

Devotions.

The First Worship Service for the Devotional Periods of the General Conference was employed, and Bishop Gowdy led in prayer.

Hymn 310, beginning, "And Can It Be that I Should Gain," was sung, and the devotional address of Bishop Gowdy was based upon the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians. At its close the Bishop again led the Conference in prayer.

Hymn 549, beginning, "Jesus, the Calm that Fills My Breast," was sung.

Journal.

E. J. Hammond, for the Committee on the General Conference Journal, reported having examined the Journal for the sessions of May 17, and the Committee found the same correct. The report was accepted, and the Journal thus approved.

Result of the Tenth Ballot for Bishops.

The result of the tenth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents was announced by the Secretary as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 809; defective ballots, 1; total ballots counted, 808; Necessary to a choice, 539. No one having received the necessary two-thirds vote, there was no election. (See Ballots.)

The motion of Bruce S. Wright that we reconsider our action in the matter of electing General Superintendents, and that we restore the Buffalo and Indianapolis Residences, and elect four instead of two General Superintendents, did not prevail.

The Secretary moved that we proceed to take an eleventh ballot for the election of two General Superintendents.

Frank A. Horne presented the following substitute:

MAY 18 FIFTEENTH DAY. Morning.

I move that the General Conference reconsider Report No. 9 of the Committee on Episcopacy, adopted May 13, 1932, entitled "Episcopal Residences" for the purpose of referring this report back to the Committee with instructions to bring back a report eliminating two residences from the report as adopted.

The mover of the above substitute accepted the amendment of C. W. Flint, so that the substitute shall read "with instructions to eliminate nine Areas instead of seven, as previously eliminated."

Eleventh Ballot for Bishops.

The motion of C. B. Sylvester prevailed to place this amended substitute upon the table.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

The motion to take an eleventh ballot for the election of two General Superintendents prevailed.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, called forward the fifth group of Tellers to serve on this eleventh ballot.

Prayer.

Prayer was offered by Bishop Charles W. Burns.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers retired to determine the result.

Report, Committee on Questions of Privilege.

C. O. Holmes, Chairman of the Committee on Questions of Privilege, presented the following recommendations:

1. Your Committee recommends that the Conference grant the request of Nathaniel Jordan, of the North India Conference, that he be permitted to present for printing a resolution of appreciation of the late Bishop F. W. Warne.

On motion, the recommendation was approved by the Conference and the Secretary read the following resolution, presented by Nathaniel Jordan:

Tribute to Bishop Warne.

IN LOVING APPRECIATION OF BISHOP FRANCIS WESLEY WARNE

He was well named Francis Wesley. He was a worthy successor of Francis of Assisi, for what came into his hands he shared freely. He was also a worthy successor of Francis Asbury, as zealous and abundant in his labors. When the boy matured into the man, the world vision so clearly seen by John Wesley led this second Wesley across the seas to his great life work. He was born in Canada, and received his theological training in Garrett Biblical Institute. After a short pastorate in this land, he transferred to Calcutta, where, in 1889, he took over the pastorate of the great English-speaking church built up in that metropolis by the saintly Thoburn, who had just been made the first Missionary Bishop of India. The crowd that had assembled at the call of a great prophet was thrilled and held by the appeal of this new prophet whose evangelistic fervor swept over the city so that as in apostolic times, "The Lord added daily to their number those that were saved."

In 1900, when the Church was seeking a successor to the failing Thoburn, his mantle once again fell on Francis Wesley Warne. The developing work required the constant care of two Bishops; but his associate, Bishop Parker, died without holding an Annual Conference; and Bishop Warne, alone, shouldered the burden of the Episcopal supervision of India for the quadrennium. In order to be more central to the work, he moved to Lucknow in 1902; and, for twenty-two years there, and later for four years in Bangalore, he was true to the trust reposed in him, and did conscientiously the work assigned to him. His great heart won for him the love and respect of his colleagues of all nationalities. His flaming zeal for evangelism, and his surpassing gift of voice and language, made him a worthy and inspiring leader. His sympathy and appreciation of the problems of the Indian Church, and his earnest effort to meet those problems, finally wore down his great frame. His ability to understand and interpret India to the West, made him a renowned leader in the United States.

He was a constant traveler, a welcome, eagerly-expected guest. His humor was fine, inexhaustible, inspiring, contagious. Never was he far from the sublime. Even humor was but the prelude to a burst of eloquence, or a vision of sublimity. Of one as many sided, as varied in his interests, as was Bishop Warne, it is hard to write without superlatives; at the same time one is depressed with the feeling that he has not done him adequate justice. His effective preaching, his evangelistic spirit and his deeply spiritual messages thrilled the entire Church in India. We shall forever remember his stalwart form, living and moving in our midst, our own beloved Bishop, his beaming smile, his winsome personality, his optimistic disposition, his abundant labors, his spiritual fervor, his zeal to make Jesus King in our lives.

How typical of Bishop Warne was the last part of his life. He welcomed the release from official duties as it gave him the evangelistic opportunity he desired. He spent his last years in serving the Church in America in an unending evangelistic campaign. His only regret had been that he was separated from his beloved India, and the co-laborers of his almost forty years of service there. Well did the Indian Church cry as he left its shores, "My Father! My Father! the chariots of Israel and the horsemen thereof."

All India was stirred, when on February 29, 1932, the news of his translation was flashed to the world. Every Methodist home in Southern Asia felt that it had lost one of its own loved ones. We share with Mrs. Warne, and their daughter, Mrs. Fisher, the sorrow of his going; and extend to them our deepest sympathy. We congratulate them on the privilege of long years of comradeship and close association with our beloved Saint Francis of India. Of him we say, as did Edwin M. Stanton so fittingly of Lincoln, that he is one who "belongs to the ages."

We, of Southern Asia, ask you to rise in loving appreciation of this leader. We challenge the Church with this question, "Who follows in his train?"

NATHANIEL JORDAN AND OTHERS.

This resolution was adopted by a rising vote.

Miscellaneous Recommendations.

2. Your Committee recommends that the Conference direct the Secretary to send a message of greeting to Dr. Austin H. Herrick as requested by L. O. Hartman, of the New England Conference. Doctor Herrick was for a number of quadrenniums the faithful and efficient official stenographer of the General Conference.

On motion, this recommendation was approved by the Conference.

3. Your Committee recommends that the Conference grant the request of the Wyoming Annual Conference Delegation for the introduction of Dr. Levi L. Sprague, President of Wyoming Seminary for fifty years.

On motion, this recommendation was approved by the Conference, and the presiding Bishop formally presented Dr. Sprague to the Delegates.

4. Your Committee recommends that permission be granted Charles W. Flint to present a resolution of appreciation of Bishop Adna W. Leonard.

On motion, this recommendation was approved by the Conference, and the Secretary read the following resolution presented by Charles W. Flint:

Appreciation of Bishop Leonard.

RESOLUTION APPRECIATING BISHOP LEONARD

WHEREAS, The action of this General Conference has eliminated the city of Buffalo as an Episcopal Residence where a Methodist Bishop has resided for fifty years and great men like Vincent, Hurst, Mallelieu. Fowler, Hamilton, Berry and Burt have served faithfully the interests of the Church and the Kingdom; and

WHEREAS, The elimination of the Area brings to a close this long and memorable service, likewise terminating eight years of the splendid leadership and supervision of Bishop Adna Wright Leonard; be it

Resolved, That the Delegates of the Buffalo Area hereby record their deep appreciation for his untiring and indefatigable labors among us; his fearless leadership in all causes of civic righteousness; and for his contribution and inspiration to the various enterprises throughout the Area.

The Church has been heartened by his emphasis upon the importance of preaching and the need for a sane evangelistic approach. We have developed vital Christian service under his leadership through the Area Home Missionary Fund; in the work of the Student Pastors at Syracuse and Cornell Universities; in the Williamsville Home for Children; in the more recent project of a Home for the Aged at Herkimer; and also for the splendid way in which the forces of the Area have been marshaled in the support of the A. B. Leonard Memorial Theological Seminary at Jubbulpore, India.

Our sincere thanks, our love and deep appreciation are extended to Bishop and Mrs. Leonard and our earnest prayers offered for the continued usefulness of these loyal servants of God and the Methodist Episcopal Church.

CHARLES E. GUTHRIE,
W. CLYDE SYKES,
V. K. MOORE.

On motion, this resolution was adopted.

5. Your Committee recommends that W. A. Walls, of the North-East Ohio Conference, be allowed to present a resolution for reference to the Standing Committee on Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals.

On motion, this recommendation was approved by the Conference, and the Secretary read the following resolution presented by W. A. Walls:

Resolution Referred.

WHEREAS, The Episcopal Address made this reference to the editorial policy of our great city newspapers, namely—"During this conflict to preserve the sanctity of the law, the Metropolitan Press, with rare exceptions, has written one of the most shameless chapters in the history of the Republic"; and

WHEREAS, The New York Times, in an editorial in the edition of Tuesday, May 17, has an editorial (a copy of which is attached) entitled "A Confession of Defeat" in which the statement of a layman made in the Men's Council Sunday is quoted as the official utterance of the Quadrennial General Conference of our Church; be it

Resolved, That we ask our Committee on Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals to consider this reflection on the position of our Church and if deemed advisable to communicate with the editor of the New York Times and ask for a retraction of this misstatement of our historic position on this question.

On motion, this resolution was referred to the Committee on Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals.

6. Your Committee recommends that permission be given the Holston Conference to present through J. L. Robb a resolution of appreciation of Bishop R. J. Cooke.

On motion, this recommendation was approved by the Conference, and the Secretary read the following resolution presented by J. L. Robb.

Tribute to Bishop Cooke.

MEMORIAL RESOLUTION FOR BISHOP R. J. COOKE

The scholastic attainments and distinguished service to the Methodist Episcopal Church of Richard J. Cooke, who departed this life on Christmas Day, 1931, are well known.

We, the representatives of the Holston Conference, where Bishop Cooke spent much of his active ministry, and all of his years of retirement, wish to give expression to the sorrow in our hearts, over his passing from our midst, and we ask that the General Conference of 1932 join us in a word of tribute to his memory.

Bishop Cooke gave notable service to the Church as pastor, college professor, editor and Bishop. He was a student, then a professor, and later vice-chancellor of our Central University in the South, then known as East Tennessee Wesleyan College, and as Grant University.

For twelve years he gave leadership to the South as the editor of what was then known as the Methodist Advocate-Journal. The general Church recognized his exceptional ability and called him to become Book Editor of the Church, where his ardent love for reading, his keen discernment, high scholarship, and intellectual power brought renown to his name, to the office, and to the Church which he served. After eight noteworthy years as Book Editor, he was called to the high office of Bishop. He served in this capacity for eight years, during which time he became known as one of the great preachers of his day.

After nearly a half century of ardent and active service he was granted retirement on account of ill health. His later years were devoted to literary pursuits, in which he took great delight and the product of which is of value for the entire Church.

In view of his notable career in the work of the Church; be it

Resolved, That the General Conference express its high appreciation of his labors, of his heroic devotion to duty, and of the contribution which he made to the life and progress of the Church; and be it

Resolved, That the secretary of the General Conference be instructed to express to his widow and sons our sympathy and to assure them of our love and prayers.

7. Your Committee seeks the privilege of presenting formally to the Conference, Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert, General Secretary of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

Presentation of Dr. S. M. Cavert.

On motion, this recommendation was approved by the Conference, and the presiding Bishop formally presented Dr. Cavert to the Delegates.

Address of Paul Hoon.

8. Your Committee recommends that Paul Hoon be given five minutes to present the cause of Methodist Young People, the introduction of this speaker to be made by F. C. Eiselen.

On motion, this recommendation was approved by the Conference, and F. C. Eiselen introduced Paul Hoon to the Dele-

Report Special Appellate Committee.

The Secretary presented the report from the Special Appellate Committee in the case of the appeal of Melecio de Armas versus the Philippine Islands Annual Conference, and announced that upon its printing, the case was closed, no other action being necessary.

The report is as follows:

REPORT OF THE APPELLATE COMMITTEE

MELECIO DE ARMAS, Appellant, vs.
THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS ANNUAL CONFERENCE, Respondent

Your Committee having carefully reviewed the records and evidence in the case of Melecio de Armas, Appellant, vs. the Philippine Islands Annual Conference, Respondent, do herewith submit its findings and judgment.

In the study of the procedure followed by the Church in the organization and conduct of the three separate Investigation Committees convened at different times for the purpose of investigating the rumors and charges of misconduct on the part of said Appellant, Melecio de Armas, we find many irregularities.

It appears from the records before us that Investigation Committees Numbers One and Two found no sufficient grounds for the formulation of charges. In the case of the third Investigation Committee, the accused was not permitted to present all the evidence he desired. It further appears that at the third investigation, the accusers brought undue pressure to bear upon the judgment of the Committee which resulted in the accused being brought to trial before his Conference.

At the session of the Annual Conference a Select Number was raised to try the Appellant upon charges filed before the Conference. The method of the selection of the Select Number, the instructions given by the presiding Bishops, the protection of the Select Number against invasion or improper influence reveals that they, the Bishops, exercised unusual care. We find no error in their procedure.

We find, however, that the conduct on the part of the Counsel for the Church, prior to the hearing of the case by the Annual Conference Select Number, was distinctly prejudicial and not in the interest of justice.

We find further that the accused was restricted in his rights before the Select Number and that he was not permitted to introduce witnesses who were prepared to testify in his behalf.

It is the judgment of your Committee that this procedure alone would be sufficient grounds in itself to accord the Appellant the benefit of the reversal of the judgment of the Select Number and the remanding of the case for a new trial.

The Committee, however, does not feel that its actions should be limited to the legal procedure, but broadly speaking, the interests of justice require that the evidence should be carefully scanned and the question determined what verdict such evidence warrants. The Committee therefore examined and compared the evidence very carefully as set forth in the records and it is upon these records and these records alone that the findings herein presented, are based.

The Appellant was tried under five Specifications. One and Two referred to certain indiscretions and, by order of the Select Number, were properly consolidated. Specifications three, four and five set forth in particular the grave crime with which the Appellant was charged, and it was upon these three Specifications that practically all the evidence was introduced. It should also be stated in passing that the evidence taken by the several Investigation Committees was also introduced as evidence by the Counsel for the Church.

Purported unsigned confessions and witnesses introduced in the support of the charges, reveal contradictions that nullify the value of the evidence given. Signed statements by the same persons repudiating the testimony offered, indicate that these witnesses deny their first evidence, and lead us to the conclusion that the evidence does not support Specifications three, four and five.

There remains, therefore, to your Committee the consideration of the combined Specification One and Two, touching matters of indiscretion. No direct testimony was introduced that would support the same. The opinion of your Appellate Committee is, that whatever may have been the offense, if any, the enforced suspension of the said Appellant Melecio de Armas due to the action of the Conference in depriving him of his ministerial functions and expelling him from the membership of his Annual Conference for the period between the sessions of the Annual Conference from 1932 to 1933, is sufficient punishment therefor.

IT IS THEREFORE ADJUDGED AND DECREED, First, that the order of the Select Number in deposing the Appellant, Melecio de Armas, from the ministry and expelling him from membership in the Methodist Episcopal Church, is hereby reversed. Second, The Philippine Islands Conference will, at its next Annual Session, restore the said Appellant to all his rights and privileges as a minister and Member of an Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Suspension of Rules Committee on Episcopacy, Report No. 12.

The motion of O. W. Fifer to suspend the Rules in order to receive a report from the Committee on Episcopacy prevailed, and the Secretary read Report No. 12 of that Committee, entitled, "Resignation of Bishop F. B. Fisher," and printed on page 334 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

On motion, this report was adopted.

Suspension of Rules.

On motion of Ray Allen, the Rules were again suspended, under which he offered the following resolution:

Commission on Conference Claimants Proposed.

WHEREAS, Payments to Conference Claimants concern not the recipients only, but also every Annual Conference; and

WHEREAS, The methods of distribution have become very complicated and sometimes uncertain; therefore, be it

Resolved, That there be appointed a Commission on Conference Claimants, whose duty it shall be to study carefully the entire subject, and make such recommendations to the next General Conference as shall simplify and clarify the methods by which such payments are made, having especially in mind justice to claimants and Annual Conferences alike; and shall also submit, restated and unified, the paragraphs on this subject which are found in the Discipline.

Resolved, That this Commission on Conference Claimants shall consist of five members, nominated by the General Superintendents, the necessary expenses of which shall be paid by the General Conference Expense Fund.

MAY 18
FIFTEENTH
DAY.
Morning.

C. O. Ford moved that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Pensions and Relief.

The motion of H. L. Jacobs to amend and thus refer it to the Committee on Itinerancy prevailed.

Report Committee on Credentials.

C. L. Wallace, Secretary of the Committee on Credentials, presented the following report of that Committee, which was, in part, adopted without being read:

The Committee on Credentials reports the following adjustments:

E. E. Johnson, Reserve Lay Delegate, Pittsburgh Conference, takes the place of David W. Rial, May 17. David W. Rial left permanently on May 8. No additional expense.

J. T. Mears, Reserve Lay Delegate, Wilmington Conference, was permanently excused May 17, and Edward J. Winder, Reserve Delegate, seated May 18 at no additional expense.

Leo H. McKay, Lay Delegate, Erie Conference, excused permanently May 17. W. I. Blystone, Reserve, seated in his place. No extra expense.

Arlo A. Brown, Ministerial Delegate, Newark Conference, excused on Wednesday, May 18, to conduct a funeral. Warren R. Neff, Reserve, seated for the day, at no expense.

Leonard D. Baldwin, Lay Delegate, Newark Conference, excused for May 18 only. No one in his place.

Ross P. Buchanan, Reserve Lay Delegate, North-East Ohio Conference, seated permanently May 18 in place of Edwin G. Beal, who was excused permanently May 16.

E. C. DIXON, Chairman;
C. L. WALLACE, Secretary.

The following portions were read, and, on motion of C. L. Wallace, were adopted by the Conference:

Your Committee on Credentials has ruled that no Reserve Delegate is authorized to sit in the General Conference under Article III, ¶ 39, § 4, of the 1928 Discipline, in the place of the reserve delegate, Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, who was permanently excused, and therefore South Florida Conference is without lay representation.

Your Committee also recommends that according to ¶ 594, § 4, all Reserve Delegates seated in the last six days of the session of this Conference shall be seated without additional expense.

The Call of Standing Committees for the presentation of proposed constitutional amendments was resumed, and the motion of the Secretary prevailed to give special consideration, when ready, to a proposal from the Committee on Itinerancy providing for a constitutional amendment.

Recess.

The Conference was in recess at 10:30 o'clock.

The Conference reconvened at 10:40 o'clock and the Wesley Singers of the Central New York and adjacent Conferences, under the direction of Professor John Finley Williamson, were heard in the rendition of Bach's "Help Us to Do with Zeal," and "A Vesper Hymn."

Resolution of Sympathy for Dr. S. J. Herben.

The Secretary presented the following resolution:

WHEREAS, Our brother, Dr. S. J. Herben, of the Newark Conference,

Editor of The Daily Christian Advocate, has been compelled by illness to leave the seat of this Conference; and

WHEREAS, His intelligence and devotion as Editor have been of immense advantage and utility to this, as to four other General Conferences; be it

Resolved, That the General Conference hereby expresses its high appreciation of his skill and devotion, and extends to him the assurance of its sympathy and its prayers for his recovery.

On motion, this resolution was adopted, the Conference standing for a moment of prayer by the presiding Bishop for the recovery of Doctor Herben.

Prayer.

Almighty God, thou who knowest our frailties and weaknesses and who didst come to heal our sicknesses in the person of thy Son, our Saviour, come and lay thy strong and healing hand of power upon the body of our brother and make it well again. Come and give to his heart great peace and great comfort in the confidence that underneath are the everlasting arms which faint not nor grow weary. If it be thy will speedily restore him to his accustomed health, and to us, and to his work, that we all may rejoice; and grant unto us thy healing benediction for him, and for us all. Amen.

Result of the Eleventh Ballot for Bishops.

The result of the eleventh ballot for the election of two General Superintendents was announced by the Secretary as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 816; defective ballots, 2; total ballots counted, 814. Necessary to a choice, 544. No one having received the necessary two-thirds vote, there was no election. (See Ballots.)

Twelfth Ballot for Bishops

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that we proceed to take a twelfth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, called forward the sixth group of Tellers to serve on this twelfth ballot.

Prayer.

Prayer was offered by Bishop John W. Robinson.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers retired to determine the result.

Sale of Desk and Chair.

In response to privilege previously granted, C. M. Ferreri and E. G. Bek proceeded to sell the presiding Bishop's desk and chair, presented to the Conference by the Institute of Venice Boys' Industrial School. They were assisted in this sale by Professor Terzano, Director of Monte Mario College, Rome, Italy.

The desk and chair were purchased by Mrs. Anna E. Kresge for the sum of $1,150.00.

Committee on Temporal Economy, Report No. 17.

Report No. 17, Committee on Temporal Economy, entitled, "Amend Article XI, ¶ 47, Discipline, 1928," and printed on page 362 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and W. B. Farmer, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption. It sought to make possible amendments to Article X, § 1.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

H. H. Byrer, a Lay Delegate, moved that the vote on the adoption of the pending report be taken by Orders.

The presiding Bishop announced the requirement to be that at least one-third of the Lay Delegates must declare for this vote by Orders, if it is to be in effect.

Vote by Orders Authorized.

The Lay Delegates were polled and more than one-third of them voted to proceed to a vote by Orders.

The Chairman of the Committee accepted the correction to the report offered by R. M. Shipman that the words "Lay Electoral Conferences" be changed in the report to read "Lay Conferences."

On motion, the time was extended for the completion of the pending item.

Since this item proposed a constitutional amendment, it was required that the vote be a count vote, and that in this case, it be by Orders.

Poll of Lay Delegates.

The Lay Delegates were first polled and voted as follows:

For the adoption of the report providing for a constitutional amendment, 181. Against its adoption, 215.

Poll of Ministerial Delegates.

The Ministerial Delegates were next polled and voted as follows:

For the adoption of the report providing for a constitutional amendment, 221. Against its adoption, 177.

The total vote was as follows:

For the adoption of the report providing for a constitutional amendment, 402. Against its adoption, 392.

Report Failed of Adoption.

This report providing for a constitutional amendment, having thus failed of the necessary two-thirds vote, the motion to adopt it did not prevail.

MAY 18
FIFTEENTH DAY.
Morning.

R. M. Shipman was heard in the statement of a question of high privilege, as follows:

Exercise of High Privilege.

In the introduction of the debate upon the question that has just been before us, reference was made to that rather notable debate that took place in the General Conference of 1920 in Des Moines, when the question was raised as to the constitutionality of a creedal test for membership in our Church, which excited a great deal of misunderstanding. There was some thought in the mind of the first speaker that in that debate the originator of the question was directing an attack against the standards of faith of our Church.

It so happens that the one who addressed that question to the General Conference of 1920 was my own father, W. H. Shipman, of the Des Moines Conference; and, by one of those strange and inexplicable coincidences that now and again transpire, after this debate began, during the speech that was being given by Doctor Sloan, I received the message announcing the death of my father.

If there is misunderstanding about what my father's position was, under those circumstances, of course, you would want that his son should clear the matter. My father never directed any attack toward the Articles of Religion of our Church. It was farthest from his thought. He did feel that we ought not to require a creedal test for admission to the Church, but we ought to base it upon belief and trust in Jesus Christ as Lord and Saviour. My father's position in matters of theology was very conservative; but in this legislation that he directed, I have always felt, without being a member of that body at all, and am proud now to say, that I think he was reaching far into the future, and had an eye to the main thing in Methodism.

H. L. Jacobs moved that when we adjourn it be to meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

W. A. Elliott moved to amend, that when we adjourn it be to meet at the time already determined upon for the evening business session.

The motion to amend prevailed.

The motion, as amended, prevailed.

Result of the Twelfth Ballot for Bishops

The result of the twelfth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents was announced by the Secretary as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 821; defective ballots, 1; total ballots counted, 820. Necessary to a choice, 547. No one having received the necessary two-thirds vote, there was no election. (See Ballots.)

Thirteenth Ballot for Bishops

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that we proceed to take a thirteenth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents, and that the ballot be counted in time for reporting its result at the opening of this evening's business session.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, called forward the first group of Tellers to serve on this thirteenth ballot.

Prayer.

Prayer was offered by Bishop Frederick T. Keeney.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers placed them in an envelope, which was sealed by the Secretary in open Conference.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that by common consent he be permitted to refer all pending matters intended for the Committee on Judiciary, with the understanding that the items so referred be printed day by day.

References to Committee on Judiciary.

Pursuant to this motion, the following references to the Committee on Judiciary were approved:

1. From Leroy G. White, of Brooklawn, New Jersey, requesting an answer to the question, "Can a Quarterly Conference refuse to renew a Local Preacher's License without dealing with the question of his character?" and other questions concerning ¶¶ 95, 110, 111, and 115; and known as Memorial No. 964.
2. From the Commission of Twenty-five on Central Conferences of this General Conference asking whether a certain proposed amendment to ¶ 613, Part 2, is constitutional; and known as Memorial No. 965.
3. From David F. Helms and Arba Martin, requesting an interpretation of ¶ 40, § 1, of the Constitution; and known as Memorial No. 966.
4. From the Committee on Book Concern requesting an opinion on the constitutionality of a proposed action by that Committee in the matter of distributing Book Concern surplus to invested capital and labor; and known as Memorial No. 967.
5. From George A. Cooke, of the Wilmington Annual Conference, asking for an answer to the question, "Is it lawful for a Bishop to submit a matter to the vote of an Annual Conference which matter involves a violation of the Discipline?"; and known as Memorial No. 968.
6. From J. H. MacDonald, Plainfield, New Jersey, asking for a ruling on his right to his full annuity as a Conference Claimant; and known as Memorial No. 969.
7. From the General Conference in session May 16, 1932, requesting opinions on certain questions growing out of the Constitutional Amendment for the Participation of Laymen in the Annual Conference, and known as Memorial No. 970.
8. From the Committee of Twenty-five on Central Conferences, of this General Conference, asking for an interpretation of the term "Local Ministry" as used in ¶ 97, and known as Memorial No. 971.

Adjournment.

On motion, the Conference adjourned, with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Mead.

MAY 18 FIFTEENTH DAY. Evening.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, MAY 18, 1932

The Conference convened at 8 o'clock, with Bishop Robert E. Jones presiding.

The devotional service was in charge of Bishop William F. McDowell, and the Delegates engaged in the Responsive Scripture Reading by the use of their native languages.

The presiding Bishop announced that the period devoted to a devotional message had been granted to the American Bible Society, in lieu of its anniversary, and presented the speaker Fourteenth Ballot for Bishops.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that we proceed to take a fourteenth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, called forward the second group of Tellers to serve on this fourteenth ballot.

Prayer.

Prayer was offered by Bishop John W. Hamilton.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers retired to determine the result.

The Secretary announced that the members of the Committee on Judiciary, now absent because of a Committee meeting, would be permitted to participate in this ballot, and that G. A. Martin is to be their Teller and M. S. Daniels, an Assistant Secretary, in charge of their voting.

Re Final Adjournment.

On behalf of the Committee of Elected Chairmen, the Secretary presented the following recommendation, and, on his motion, it was adopted:

> Your Committee of Elected Chairmen recommends that the final adjournment of this Conference be not later than Wednesday, the 25th day of May, at twelve-thirty, the regular time for adjournment.

On a question of privilege, J. J. McKim presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Instructing Committee on Rules.

> Be It Resolved, That the Standing Committee on Rules be instructed to develop such rules and regulations for the governing of this body as will provide, beginning with the General Conference of 1936, for the assignment of any employees of the General Conference, or any of its Boards, who may hereafter be elected as Delegates to this body, to other Standing Committees than those dealing directly with problems related to their fields of employment.

H. L. Jacobs, Chairman of the Committee on Rules, moved to suspend the Rules for the purpose of amending Rule 11 so as to fix the limit of debate to five minutes except in the privilege of the Chairmen of Committees, of sponsors of Minority Reports, and of Commissions in defense of their reports.

The motion to suspend the Rules prevailed.

Rule 11 Amended.

The motion to amend Rule 11, as above indicated, for the remainder of the Conference prevailed.

Committee on Temporal Economy, Report No. 18.

W. B. Farmer moved to suspend the Rules in order to consider immediately Report No. 18, Committee on Temporal Economy, entitled, "Benevolence Boards," and printed on page 387 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

This motion prevailed, and the Secretary read the report.

The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

Order of the Day Codification of the Discipline.

The Secretary introduced the Order of the Day for this hour, namely, consideration of a resolution presented by T. A. Stafford and dealing with the Codification of the Discipline. (See p. 321.)

T. A. Stafford moved that this resolution be adopted.

F. A. Horne presented the following amendment:

> Amend the third paragraph of report on page 350 (The Daily Christian Advocate), last column, marked (2), by striking out the words in the fourth line of the paragraph "and four members at large, to be nominated by the Bishops," and substitute therefor the following: "and four members to be appointed by the Book Committee without expense to the General Conference Expense Fund." Eliminate the words, "the maximum cost not to exceed $2,000."

The motion of A. A. Callaghan to place this amendment on the table prevailed.

John L. Hillman moved to amend by striking from the report the provision for an expense of $2,000.

L. H. Sweetland moved to substitute for this amendment the words "the maximum cost not to exceed $1,000.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

The motion to adopt the substitute for the amendment did not prevail.

The motion of R. C. Wells to place the amendment on the table prevailed.

The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

Committee on Itinerancy, Report No. 8.

thereto, and A. Ray Moore, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

Minority Report Presented.

J. M. Walker was presented to represent the signers of the Minority Report, and, by common consent, was permitted to change its wording by inserting the word "suspend" in place of the word "terminate" where the first word occurs.

He moved that the Minority Report be substituted for the Majority Report.

Result of the Fourteenth Ballot for Bishops.

Consideration of the pending report was suspended for the purpose of hearing the result of the fourteenth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents, which was announced by the Secretary as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 817; defective ballots, 0; total ballots counted, 817. Necessary to a choice, 545. No one having received the necessary two-thirds vote, there was no election. (See Ballots.)

Fifteenth Ballot for Bishops.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that we now take a fifteenth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents, and that the ballot be counted at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning, and reported immediately after the approval of the Journal, meanwhile being sealed in the custody of the Secretary.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, called forward the third group of Tellers to serve on this fifteenth ballot.

Prayer.

Prayer was offered by Bishop Raymond J. Wade.

Withdrawal.

G. Bromley Oxnam, on a question of privilege, requested that his name be omitted from further balloting for the election of General Superintendents.

The tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers placed them in an envelope, which was sealed by the Secretary in open Conference.

This proposed amendment to the amendment was accepted by G. G. Vogel.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

MAY 18 FIFTEENTH DAY. Evening.

The motion of W. A. Walls to place the amended amendment upon the table did not prevail.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

The motion to adopt the amended amendment prevailed by a standing vote, as follows:

For adoption, 416. Against adoption, 332.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

A proposal to take the vote by Orders did not obtain.

The motion to substitute the Minority Report for the Majority Report did not prevail, the result of a rising vote being:

For this substitute, 331. Against this substitute, 417.

The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

Musical Director E. E. Harper presented Professor James R. Houghton, who was heard in the singing of "The Holy City."

Adjournment.

The Doxology was sung, and the Conference adjourned with the benediction by Bishop Jones.

MAY 19 SIXTEENTH DAY. Morning.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 19, 1932

The Conference convened at 8:30 o'clock with Bishop Titus Lowe presiding, who introduced Bishop Wallace E. Brown, to be in charge of the devotional service.

The Third Worship Service for the Devotional Periods of the General Conference was employed.

Devotions.

Hymn 446, beginning, "If, On a Quiet Sea," was sung, and Bishop Brown's devotional address was based upon Proverbs 4. 23, and upon St. Luke 24. 32.

Hymn 411, beginning, "O Master, Let Me Walk with Thee," was sung.

Journal.

E. J. Hammond, for the Committee on the General Conference Journal, reported having examined the Journal for the sessions of May 18, and the Committee found the same correct. The report was accepted, and the Journal thus approved.

Report of the Fifteenth Ballot for Bishops.

The result of the fifteenth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents was announced by the Secretary as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 811; defective ballots, 0; total ballots counted, 811. Necessary to a choice, 541. No one having received the necessary two-third vote, there was no election. (See Ballots.)

MAY 19
SIXTEENTH DAY.
Morning.
Discussion, Further Balloting.

The Secretary moved that we now proceed to take the sixteenth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents.

I. D. Harris moved to amend by providing that if on the next two ballots, the sixteenth and seventeenth, there be no election of any Bishop, we reconsider our action on the report on Episcopal Residences from the Committee on Episcopacy and move to refer it back to the Committee with instructions to frame a report eliminating two additional residences.

Ray Allen moved to place the amendment on the table, which motion prevailed by a rising vote as follows:

For placing on the table, 431. Against so doing, 320.

Willsie Martin presented the following substitute, which, on motion of Ray Allen, was placed on the table:

I move that if at the end of the twentieth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents there be no choice, this General Conference take this as a leading of Providence that we ought not to proceed further with this attempt at an election and that we do cease balloting for General Superintendents; that the action that ordered this election be reconsidered and that the Committee on Episcopacy be asked to designate two Episcopal residences that may be dispensed with, with the largest degree of fairness to our total work.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

The motion to proceed to take another ballot prevailed.

Withdrawal.

J. M. M. Gray, on a question of privilege, requested that his name be omitted from further balloting for the election of General Superintendents.

Sixteenth Ballot for Bishops.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, called forward the fourth group of Tellers to serve on this sixteenth ballot. (See Tellers.)

Prayer.

Prayer was offered by Bishop F. T. Keeney.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers retired to determine the result.

Order of the Day.

The presiding Bishop announced the Order of the Day for this hour, namely, the consideration of the Report of the Special Committee on Evangelism.

Report Special Committee on Evangelism.

This report, printed on page 390 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by Assistant Secretary Heckman, and L. M. Edwards, Secretary of that Committee, moved its adoption.

G. W. Henson moved to amend the report by eliminating in ¶ 6, the words "Some organization" and substituting therefor the words "The official leadership of the Church, Bishops and District Superintendents."

Morning.

This amendment was accepted by the representative of the Committee.

C. M. Boswell offered the following amendment:

Amendments.

We also recommend that our Area Bishops and the District Superintendents at every opportunity shall urge pastors and official members of the Church to respond to the appeal of our Bishops to aid in bringing the nation back to God, persuading the Church to go to its knees in prayer and in enthusing the people to evangelistic efforts.

Further, that pastors be urged to co-operate in the evangelizing movement by sounding the evangelistic note in preaching, in instructing the children, in guiding the young people, in pastoral visitation, in a season of local spiritual earnestness by whatever name called; in group and district revival meetings and in city-wide or community evangelistic campaigns.

And, that inasmuch as it is getting more and more difficult to secure sane, safe, competently equipped by head, heart and body Methodist evangelists for great evangelistic gatherings, we strongly urge our Bishops and theological schools to unite in securing and training men for this absolutely necessary department of our ministry.

Also, that we earnestly pray for our ministry and people the baptism of Pentecostal power to help us in our great task of leading men, women and children to Christ and in building up the Kingdom of our Lord.

The motion of C. O. Holmes to refer this amendment to the Committee on Evangelism prevailed.

On motion, the time was extended for the completion of this item.

J. W. E. Sommer moved to amend in ¶ 7 by substituting the word "humanity" for the word "America."

This amendment was accepted by the representative of the Committee.

F. C. Anderson presented the following amendment to § 4:

We are encouraged by reports that where special methods, approved by the Board of Education, have been used, results have been secured in winning to Christ and leading into the membership of the Church correspondingly large numbers; and we urge that increased emphasis be placed upon such methods of religious education in our Sunday and week day schools of religion as shall most certainly produce Christ-like personalities. We need to ask if there is anything we can do to help make education evangelistic in the best sense.

On motion of L. M. Edwards, this amendment was referred to the Committee on Evangelism for verbal editing and incorporation in this report.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

The motion to adopt the report, with the proviso that authorized amendments be referred to the Commission on Evangelism, when constituted, prevailed.

MAY 19
SIXTEENTH DAY.
Morning.

On motion, the time was extended for the purpose of hearing the result of a ballot recently taken.

Result of the Sixteenth Ballot for Bishops.

The result of the sixteenth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents was announced by the Secretary as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 821; defective ballots, 0; total ballots counted, 821. Necessary to a choice, 547. No one having received the necessary two-thirds vote, there was no election. (See Ballots.)

Seventeenth Ballot for Bishops.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that we now take a seventeenth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, called forward the fifth group of Tellers to serve on this seventeenth ballot. (See Tellers.)

Prayer.

Prayer was offered by Bishop E. L. Waldorf.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers retired to determine the result.

Recess.

The Conference was in recess at 11 o'clock.

The Conference reconvened at 11:10 o'clock, and special music was furnished by the Seminary Singers of the Boston University School of Theology, under the direction of Professor James R. Houghton.

The motion of W. A. Walls that during the remainder of this morning's session the curtains on the front windows be opened prevailed.

Report Committee on Questions of Privilege.

C. O. Holmes, Chairman of the Committee on Questions of Privilege, presented the following recommendations:

1. Your Committee recommends that the Conference grant the request of D. D. Spellman, of the Detroit Conference, that extracts from the report of the meeting of the General Conference Laymen's Association be printed in The Daily Christian Advocate for the information of the Conference.

On motion, the Conference approved this recommendation.

2. Your Committee recommends that the Secretary of this Conference be authorized to send to W. B. Townsend, a Lay Delegate from the Holston Conference, a telegram of sympathy on account of the death of his wife.

On motion, this recommendation was approved by the Conference.

3. Your Committee recommends that H. L. Davis be permitted to present a resolution of appreciation of Bishop Edgar Blake.

MAY 19
SIXTEENTH DAY.
Morning.

On motion, this recommendation was approved by the Conference, and the Secretary read the following resolution:

Appreciation of Bishop Blake.

RESOLUTION IN BEHALF OF BISHOP EDGAR BLAKE

WHEREAS, In the judgment of this General Conference it has seemed wise to dissolve the Indianapolis Area; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the representatives of all the Conferences of the aforesaid Area, hereby record our deep appreciation of the services of Bishop Edgar Blake, who for the past four years has as General Superintendent administered the affairs of the Area with great fidelity, with splendid qualities of leadership, and with the rare spirit of a brother beloved. This sentiment of appreciation, which has been previously shown in a unanimous invitation to return to the Indianapolis Area, we take pleasure to again herewith record.

SIGNED BY THE NORTHWEST INDIANA CONFERENCE DELEGATES.

The Secretary announced that resolutions of the same purport were in his keeping, signed by the Delegates of other Conferences in the Indianapolis Area.

The motion of H. L. Davis to adopt the resolution prevailed.

4. Your Committee recommends that L. P. Goodwin, of the Des Moines Conference, be permitted to present a resolution of sympathy for Raymond M. Shipman.

On motion, the Conference approved this recommendation and the Secretary read the following resolution:

Resolution of Sympathy.

WHEREAS, Raymond M. Shipman, ministerial delegate and chairman of the Des Moines Conference delegation, has received the sad news of the sudden death of his father, Dr. W. H. Shipman, a retired member of the Des Moines Conference, widely known and highly honored throughout Methodism for his contribution to the understanding of Methodist law and polity; and

WHEREAS, Delegate Shipman is now on his way to attend the funeral of his father; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this General Conference hereby records its deep sympathy with him in his bereavement; and requests that Bishop Frederick D. Leete now lead our prayer in his behalf.

LEVI P. GOODWIN,
JOHN L. HILLMAN,
GUY J. FANSHER,
FRANK BEAN,
EARL SMILEY,
W. P. WORTMAN,
C. R. KEATING,
H. A. GLACKEMEYER,
ORVILLE F. HOWARD.

Prayer.

The motion of L. P. Goodwin to adopt this resolution prevailed, and Bishop Frederick D. Leete offered prayer.

All our hearts are touched when a member of our body is stricken. Many of us recall fathers whose lives were so bound together with ours that, when their bodies were laid aside, we knew that a portion of ourselves was being buried in the grave. But we thank Thee that we know the power of the Resurrection through the faith of Jesus Christ and through our personal experience in the life of God.

Our Heavenly Father, we at this moment stand together in deep sympathy, but with entire confidence in the fact that our dearly beloved brother who has been taken out of this life, has been taken into the larger opportunities of a greater world. These who tarry behind, and who will be standing together in a sacred place in a few hours, attend with Thy presence and the spirit of Thy Love. And may Thy blessing so come upon all of us in this great body, that when any of those whom we have loved, depart to receive the glories of the other life, something of their spirit may assuredly descend upon us in power.

Be with Doctor Shipman and the members of the family, in all love and tenderness, and keep us all, our Heavenly Father, very near Thee, so that when we have great losses come, we may also have great victories in our own souls.

We ask it in Jesus' name. Amen.

Result of the Seventeenth Ballot for Bishops.

The result of the seventeenth ballot for the election of two General Superintendents was announced by the presiding Bishop as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 804; defective ballots, 0; total ballots counted, 804. Necessary to a choice, 536. (See Ballots.)

J. Ralph Magee, having received 561 votes, which is more than the necessary two-thirds majority, was declared a General Superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The presiding Bishop called Bishop W. F. Anderson to the Chair.

Bishop-elect J. Ralph Magee.

H. O. Perry moved that Bishop-elect J. Ralph Magee be escorted to a place on the platform among the Bishops by Bishop Titus Lowe and Bishop W. F. McDowell.

This motion prevailed and action resulted accordingly.

The Delegates arose during the presentation to the Conference of Bishop-elect J. Ralph Magee.

Eighteenth Ballot for Bishops.

The motion of the Secretary that we now proceed to take an eighteenth ballot for the election of one General Superintendent prevailed.

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, called forward the sixth group of Tellers to serve on this eighteenth ballot. (See Tellers.)

Prayer.

Prayer was offered by Bishop John L. Nuelsen.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers retired to determine the result.

Report Committee on Questions of Privilege (Consideration Resumed).

Consideration of the recommendations from the Committee on Questions of Privilege was resumed.

5. Your Committee recommends that B. F. Abbott, of the Central West Conference, be permitted to present for printing a resolution on behalf of our colored Delegates.

On motion, this recommendation was approved by the Conference and the resolution is here printed:

Resolution of Appreciation.

RESOLUTION OF APPRECIATION

On Saturday morning, May 7, this General Conference sent a thrill of joy and a note of hope for a stronger and better tie of Christian brotherhood to the hearts of all the darker races around the world, not only in the Methodist Episcopal Church, but to those out of it, by the adoption of the resolution to meet, hereafter, only in cities where all delegates will be granted equal privileges in their entertainment accommodations.

Because of this brave and advanced step for which we are grateful, I am sure that a new devotion to the task of our Lord and Master, to which the Church has set itself, will be given by these races referred to in the resolution.

The lines of the kingdom of God have been set forward a long way by this Christian act. It took Courage, Strength of Character and a deep Conviction of Heart and Soul to do this big thing.

Any other Spiritual Message that may be sent out from this body will have a deeper meaning and will abide with the generations to come.

On behalf of the Colored Delegates we desire to express appreciation for the resolution you have passed to secure for us equal privileges in entertainment and Christian courtesies in future General Conference entertainment cities.

We will try not to be an embarrassment to you in this entertainment, but to be as Christian and courteous in the use of these privileges as you have been in securing them for us.

It is a feeble reward, but we say again, Thank You.

B. F. ABBOTT, ARSANIA M. WILLIAMS,
G. D. HANCOCK, LAWRENCE H. LIGHTNER,
WAITE H. MADISON, SPENCER RAY.

6. Your Committee recommends that Leroy W. Stringfellow be permitted to present a resolution of sympathy for Reserve Delegate John T. Lord and Mrs. Lord, of the New Hampshire Conference.

On motion, this recommendation was approved by the Conference, and the Secretary read the following resolution, which, on motion of L. W. Stringfellow, was adopted:

Resolution of Sympathy.

WHEREAS, Reserve Delegate and former Delegate, Brother John T. Lord and Mrs. Lord, of the New Hampshire Conference, have been greatly bereaved by the untimely death of a promising son since the convening of this session of the General Conference; be it

Resolved, That the General Conference express its heartfelt sympathy to them and to their family in their great sorrow; further, be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of the General Conference be instructed to dispatch a telegram conveying this action.

Signed by

LEROY W. STRINGFELLOW AND OTHERS.

7. Your Committee recommends that the Delegates from the Illinois Conference be permitted to present a resolution of appreciation of Ira B. Blackstock.

On motion, this recommendation was approved by the Conference, and the Secretary read the following resolution, which, on motion of H. W. McPherson, was adopted:

Tribute to I. B. Blackstock.

MEMORIAL RESOLUTION FOR IRA B. BLACKSTOCK

Among the stalwart Methodists who during the quadrennium have passed from labor to reward, there appear the names of many outstanding leaders both laymen and ministers. One layman whose name and face were familiar to the members of the last four sessions of the General Conference, though his voice was seldom heard from the platform, was that modest, retiring, but ever to be depended upon Christian Brother, Ira Burton Blackstock.

Through an unsullied life of devotion to the cause of Christ's kingdom he served his fellow men in various capacities and the Church that he loved in many positions of responsibility and honor. He was for years a member of the Board of Foreign Missions, Book Committee and at the time of his passing one of the General Conference Commission on Entertainment, actively preparing for the 1932 session; therefore, be it Resolved, That we express our appreciation of his loyal service by passing this resolution in memory of him and that we extend our sincere sympathy to Mrs. Blackstock, who ever shared her husband's devotion to the Kingdom and to our Church.

W. E. SHAW,
H. W. MCPHERSON AND OTHERS.

8. Your Committee recommends that D. L. Marsh be permitted to introduce to the Conference Dr. Everett O. Fisk.

Introductions.

On motion, this recommendation was approved by the Conference and D. L. Marsh introduced Dr. Fisk to the presiding Bishop, who in turn presented him to the Delegates.

Pursuant to privilege previously granted, G. G. Vogel introduced Dr. James K. Shields, Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey, who presented to the Conference the merits of the film, entitled, "The Life of John Wesley."

Assistant Secretary Heckman brought to the attention of the Conference the Rule found in the Rules of Order, and declaring as follows:

"Introduction of and addresses by distinguished visitors limited to the first fifteen minutes of each session."

Common understanding was had that stricter adherence to this Rule must hereafter be observed.

On a question of privilege, R. B. Urmy presented the following resolution, and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, A large number of the members and pastors of the Methodist Episcopal Church who are interested in the proceedings of the General Conference, and who have been contributing to the expenses of the General Conference, have been unable to gain admission to the sessions of the Conference without paying an admission fee; and

WHEREAS, Approximately three fourths of the seating space of the Conference floor is subject to taxation; therefore, we, the undersigned, respectfully request that the entire space of the gallery be thrown open to the public.

R. C. WILLIAMS,

ference, reports from the Committee on Questions of Privilege be limited to five minutes prevailed.

Committee on Itinerancy, Report No. 11.

Report No. 11, Committee on Itinerancy, entitled, "Apportionment by Conference Stewards," and printed on page 202 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was read by the Secretary, and A. Ray Moore, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

On motion, the time was extended for the completion of this item, to hear the result of a ballot recently taken and to take another ballot, if necessary.

The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

Result of the Eighteenth Ballot for Bishops.

The result of the eighteenth ballot for the election of one General Superintendent was announced by the Secretary as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 809; defective ballots, 2; total ballots counted, 807. Necessary to a choice, 538. No one having received the necessary two-thirds vote, there was no election. (See Ballots.)

Nineteenth Ballot for Bishops.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that we proceed to take a nineteenth ballot for the election of one General Superintendent, and that it be sealed until 7:30 o'clock this evening, counted then, and reported immediately after the devotional period at our evening session.

Bishop E. G. Richardson, acting for the Bishops, called forward the first group of Tellers to serve on this nineteenth ballot. (See Tellers.)

Prayer.

Prayer was offered by Bishop E. H. Hughes.

Necessary instructions were given by the presiding Bishop and by Assistant Secretary Disston W. Jacobs in order that mistakes in balloting may be eliminated.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers placed them in an envelope, which was sealed by the Secretary in open Conference.

Committee Members Excused.

On motion of F. R. Bayley, Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary, members of that Committee were excused from attending this evening's business session.

Adjournment.

THURSDAY EVENING, MAY 19, 1932

The Conference convened at 8 o'clock with Bishop Wallace E. Brown presiding.

Devotions.

Hymn 702, beginning, "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," was sung, followed by the singing of Hymn 57, beginning, "Day Is Dying in the West."

The devotional service was conducted by Allan MacRossie, and he read for a Scripture Lesson Isaiah 40. 8-31, after which he offered prayer.

Result of the Nineteenth Ballot for Bishops.

The result of the nineteenth ballot for the election of one General Superintendent was announced by the presiding Bishop as follows: Total number of ballots cast, 812; defective ballots, 0; total ballots counted, 812. Necessary to a choice, 541. (See Ballots.)

Ralph S. Cushman, having received 551 votes, which is more than the necessary two-thirds majority, was declared elected a General Superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Bishop-elect Ralph S. Cushman.

B. S. Wright moved that Bishop-elect Ralph S. Cushman be escorted to a place on the platform among the Bishops by Bishop Adna W. Leonard and Bishop Frederick T. Keeney.

This motion prevailed and action resulted accordingly.

Bishop-elect Ralph S. Cushman was presented to the presiding Bishop, who, in turn, presented him to the Delegates.

Message from the President of the United States.

On a question of high privilege, Bishop William F. McDowell was granted the privilege of the floor and announced his reception of a message from the President of the United States.

The Delegates arose and remained standing during the presentation of this message.

Bishop McDowell said:

Some months ago I began to talk to the President about visiting us and speaking to us this month. He sincerely desired to do this. Public business has prevented, as you can well understand. On Tuesday evening of this week, I ventured to assure him of your prayers that God would give him sufficient strength for the heavy burdens now upon him and wisdom and courage to meet the serious perplexities confronting him and the nation.

I present you his written response and assure you that his personal appreciation was most genuine and hearty.

"The White House, Washington, May 18, 1932.

"MY DEAR BISHOP:

"I am deeply touched by your message from the Quadrennial General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and I thank you and them most warmly for this heartening thought. The organized spiritual forces of the people have a vital part in shaping the vision of the nation

On motion, this resolution was adopted, and the Delegates stood during the prayer of Bishop W. F. McDowell:

Prayer.

We are always in need of Thy help, Thy strength, Thy grace, O God, and we are glad for the very great word often on our lips in song, "Plenteous grace with Thee is found," and that grace is sufficient not only to cover all our sin, but all our need.

We thank Thee for our fellowship one with another in trouble, in sorrow, in suffering. We thank Thee, O God, for the privilege of sharing one another's burdens, and now in this sense of brotherhood, in this sense of fellowship, fellowship in Jesus Christ our great burden bearer, we lift to Thee in our prayers our sister, honored and beloved among us, and all those who are dear, and ask that, out of the abundant grace, Thou wilt abundantly bless them all. For Jesus Christ's sake we ask it. Amen.

MAY 20
SEVENTEENTH DAY.
Morning.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that immediately after the approval of the Journal to-morrow morning, all reports having to do with elections shall be presented for action.

TO FILL VACANCIES IN CLASS OF 1936

Bishop Herbert Welch.

On a question of privilege, W. E. Shaw presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted by a rising vote:

Resolution of Sympathy.

Resolved, That the General Conference give an expression of its sympathy for George Davies, a Ministerial Delegate to this General Conference from the Illinois Conference, who has been called from the seat of this Conference by the death of his mother.

W. E. SHAW AND OTHERS.

Order of the Day.

The presiding Bishop introduced the Order of the Day for this hour, namely, the consideration of a report from the Special Committee on Central Conferences, and printed on pages 413-416 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

Report Committee on Central Conferences.

G. Bromley Oxnam, Chairman of that Committee, presented this report and moved its adoption.

On motion, the Conference voted to consider and act upon this report, Item by Item, without continuous reading, but with changes in the present legislation to be carefully noted.

D. L. Marsh moved to amend Item 1 of the report by providing that the words "both men and women being eligible" shall be substituted for the words in parentheses, "women being eligible."

MAY 20 SEVENTEENTH DAY. Morning.

This amendment was accepted by the Chairman of the Committee, and on motion, Item 1, as amended, was adopted.

On motion, Item 2 was adopted.

On motion, Items 3 and 4 were adopted in turn.

On motion, Item 5 was adopted, in which, by common consent, the words "Central Conferences shall maintain" were changed to read, "the General Conference shall maintain."

Under Item 6, the Chairman of the Committee moved that the phrasing contained in Report No. 26, Committee on Judiciary, be substituted for the language of the report as follows:

> A Central Conference shall be authorized to adopt rules of procedure for the trial of its ministers and appeal therefrom as the necessities of its field may require, provided, however, that such rule shall in all respects conform to the restriction and limitations prescribed by Article 10, ¶ 46, § 5, of the Constitution of the Church.

Consideration of Amendments.

On motion, this substitution was approved and Item 6 was adopted.

Under Item 7, by common consent, certain minor structural changes were permitted, and on motion, this item was adopted.

On motion, Items 8, 9, 10, and 11 were adopted in order.

Under consideration of Item 12, G. H. Spencer moved to delete the words "upon invitation of the Bishops."

The motion of J. R. Gettys to place this amendment on the table prevailed.

H. E. Simpson moved to substitute the word "invitation" for the word "assignment" in the sixth line of the proposed new legislation.

The motion of C. O. Holmes to place this amendment on the table prevailed.

The motion of Willsie Martin prevailed to amend the proposed new legislation by substituting the words "and upon invitation and assignment" for the word "assignment."

J. M. Walker moved that action upon this particular section be deferred until we can receive additional information from the Committee on Judiciary.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

The motion of Chester A. Smith that the motion to defer be placed upon the table prevailed.

T. F. Holgate moved to amend by inserting in the third line of the proposed new legislation these words, "during his tenure,"

By common consent, this amendment was accepted by the Chairman of the Committee.

W. A. Keve moved that this entire item be recommitted.

On motion, the time was extended.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

H. L. Jacobs moved to refer this entire Item to the Committee on Judiciary.

G. H. Spencer moved to place upon the table the motion to refer.

This motion prevailed.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

On motion, Item 12, as amended, was adopted.

Recess.

Announcements were made and the Conference was in recess at 11 o'clock.

The Conference reconvened at 11:10 o'clock and Musical Director E. E. Harper presented the Dakota Conference Male Quartet, which was heard in the rendition of a special musical number.

Significance of Gavel.

The presiding Bishop called attention to his use of a gavel made from the materials employed in the building of a Church in Estonia, within the boundaries of the Baltic and Slavic Conference, its erection being made possible by World Service grants, and its membership having increased twenty-two percent during the past year.

Report Committee on Central Conferences (Consideration Resumed).

Consideration of the report of the Committee on Central Conferences was resumed with the presentation of Item 13.

On motion, Items 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17 were adopted in turn.

Under consideration of Item 18, the Chairman of the Committee was permitted by common consent to make certain necessary verbal changes, including the substitution of the words "organized in accordance with the enactments of the Central Conferences" in lieu of "organized in accordance with the provisions of the Discipline."

As thus changed, Item 18 was, on motion, adopted.

On motion, Item 19 was adopted with the same verbal change included as in Item 18.

MAY 20 SEVENTEENTH DAY. Morning.

J. W. Langdale moved that Item 20 be deleted from the report.

The motion of C. O. Holmes to place this motion upon the table prevailed.

On motion, Item 20 was adopted.

On motion, Items 21 and 22 were adopted in turn.

References to Commission on Central Conferences

On motion of the Chairman of the Committee, three questions were then referred to the Commission on Central Conferences, to be later appointed and organized.

These questions are as follows:

1. The question of dual voting.
2. Election of Delegates to the General Conference by the Central Conferences.
3. Organization of a Central Conference in the United States of America.

On motion, Item 23 dealing with Enabling Acts was adopted.

The motion of H. L. Jacobs to amend the report in Item 12 by substituting the word "privilege" for the word "right" in the proposed ¶ 255, line 12 as printed, was accepted by the Chairman of the Committee.

The motion to adopt this report as a whole, and as amended, prevailed.

Additional Item Adopted.

G. Bromley Oxnam, for the Special Committee on Central Conferences, presented the following item as an amendment to the report just adopted, and to be inserted at the conclusion of Item 1:

The Secretaries of Central Conferences, where one or more Bishops or General Superintendents have been chosen, shall report to the Secretary of the General Conference the names of the Bishop or Bishops and the residences to which they have been assigned by the Central Conference. The Secretary of the General Conference shall in turn report to the Committee on Episcopacy, to be embodied in said Committee's report.

The motion to adopt this amendment prevailed.

Father and Son Delegates Introduced.

The presiding Bishop called attention to the presence among the Delegates of E. E. McPheeters, representing the Indiana Conference, and C. A. McPheeters, representing the North Indiana Conference, who are father and son. They stood at his request for introduction to the Delegates.

On a question of privilege, A. E. Day, Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Missions, moved to suspend the Rules for the introduction of certain reports from that Committee.

Suspension of Rules.

The motion to suspend the Rules prevailed.

F. G. H. Stevens presented the following amendment:

Amend by adding after the words "Book Committee" in line seven the following, "provided, however, that the full salaries shall be paid only when it can be done under the pro rata provisions of ¶¶ 371 and 372" so that the entire substitute shall read: "The Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund is directed to send monthly to each Bishop and Missionary Bishop, a check covering one twelfth of the annual salary, and of the allowance for clerical assistance, and house rent or maintenance as provided by the Book Committee, provided, however, that the full salaries shall be paid" only when it can be done under the pro rata provisions of ¶¶ 371 and 372.

"The Treasurer shall also pay the claim for official travel of a Bishop or Missionary Bishop upon presentation of an itemized voucher as prescribed by the Book Committee. The Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund is further authorized and directed to forward to the Treasurer of the respective Central Conferences, quarterly in advance, the proportionate amount of the annual grant-in-aid, allowed to the several Central Conferences by the Book Committee toward the support of the General Superintendents or Bishops of such Central Conference."

The motion of E. L. Kidney to place this amendment on the table did not prevail.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

The motion of P. F. Morris to place the amendment on the table prevailed.

May 20 SEVENTEENTH DAY. Evening. Adjournment.

The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

Necessary announcements were made and the Conference adjourned with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Baker.

MAY 21 EIGHTEENTH DAY. Morning.

SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 21, 1932

The Conference convened at 8:30 o'clock with Bishop William F. Anderson presiding, who presented Bishop George A. Miller to be in charge of the devotional service.

Devotions.

The Sixth Worship Service for the Devotional Periods of the General Conference was employed.

Hymn 408, beginning, "Lead On, O King Eternal," was sung.

Bishop Miller's devotional address was based on Philippians 3. 12-14, and at its close the Bishop led the Conference in prayer.

Journal.

E. J. Hammond, for the Committee on the General Conference Journal, reported having examined the Journal for the sessions of May 20, and the Committee found the same correct. The report was accepted, and the Journal thus approved.

On a question of privilege, the Chairman of the Committee on the General Conference Journal requested the Delegates to pay stricter attention to the writing of amendments and substitutes, in order to make easier the work of the Secretaries in compiling copy for the Journal.

Service of Consecration A Conference Session.

Announcements were made by the Secretary concerning the program for the remainder of to-day and for to-morrow, and his motion prevailed that the Service of Consecration for the General Superintendents, scheduled for to-morrow afternoon, be made a regular Conference session.

On a question of privilege, J. W. Langdale presented the following resolution, and, on his motion, it was adopted, and its printing ordered in The Daily Christian Advocate:

Tribute to Robert W. Rogers.

The Delegates of the New York East Conference request the General Conference to record its high appreciation of the gifts and achievements of the late Robert William Rogers. For a period of more than thirty years Doctor Rogers, a member of our Conference, filled with rare distinction the Chair of Hebrew and Old Testament Exegesis at Drew Theological Seminary. He was privileged in his early life to enjoy the advantages of attendance at the leading universities of the United States and Europe, and he quickly forged his way to the front rank of Old Testament scholars. He was hardly in his thirties before his great work on the History of Assyria and Babylonia gained recognition in learned circles everywhere as a standard treatise, and it still holds its place.

MAY 21
EIGHTEENTH DAY.
Morning.

But not only was Doctor Rogers a scholar whose writing gained for him a world-wide reputation; he was also a teacher of almost incomparable power. Few ever had a deeper understanding of the Old Testament than he, or were able to kindle for it a more lasting enthusiasm in the minds of others. The successive generations of students at Drew Theological Seminary who sat under his inspiring instruction, and who may be found to-day in all lands as preachers and teachers of the Word, comprise his contribution to the Church, and through them, though he be dead, he still speaks.

Frail though he was in body, his intellectual powers were unabated when he went from us eighteen months ago. We are unspeakably the poorer for his going, but our loss can be as nothing to hers who through all the years was his loyal and constant helpmeet, and who did so much to create and maintain the old-world dignity and peace of their lovely home. We desire to express to Mrs. Rogers our heartfelt sympathy in her bereavement, and to assure her that we shall continue to hold her in our affection and esteem.

On a question of privilege, H. L. Davis presented the following resolution containing questions for reference to the Committee on Judiciary:

References to Committee on Judiciary.

In order that the full implications of the action of the General Conference, taken at the evening session, Wednesday, May 18, 1932, with reference to proposed exclusion of certain Delegates from membership in certain Committees of the General Conference, may be understood by all concerned, I move that the following questions pertaining thereto be referred to the Committee on Judiciary:

(1) Is such proposed exclusion a discriminatory act, partaking essentially of the nature of class legislation?

(2) Does it interfere with and abridge the rights of certain Annual Conferences, by placing limitations upon their Delegations, while granting others complete freedom of choice?

(3) Can a Delegate to the General Conference be elected by an Annual Conference, in any case, as a representative of a special interest, or always and only as a general representative of the Conference in which he holds his membership?

(4) If a Delegate, or class of Delegates, be prohibited for any reason from serving on one Committee, has not the General Conference the right, under Article VII of the Constitution, ¶ 43, last sentence, to exclude a Delegate from service on all committees for reasons deemed by it sufficient?

(5) Is there any limit at all to the power of a General Conference to limit arbitrarily the functions of a class of Delegates?

(6) In the absence of foreknowledge of the action of the General Conference of 1936 on the Rules of Order, how shall Delegates involved in this action proceed to make choice of Committees?

The presiding Bishop stated that in order to consider this resolution, a reconsideration of our former action in the premises would be necessary, and the motion of D. L. Marsh providing for reconsideration prevailed.

The motion to adopt this resolution of reference and to authorize its publication prevailed.

MAY 21 EIGHTEENTH DAY. Morning.

Suspension of Rules. Committee on Book Concern, Report No. 22.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that the Rules be suspended for the introduction of Report No. 22, Committee on Book Concern, entitled, "Advocates," and printed on page 493 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

The Secretary read the report in question and J. L. Hillman, Chairman of that Committee, moved its adoption.

The motion of H. I. Andrews prevailed that this report be considered seriatim.

Item 1 of the report was read by the Secretary.

F. D. Stone moved to amend this Item by eliminating the word "Kansas City" and substituting therefor the word "Chicago."

A. M. Wells moved to amend this amendment by deleting the word "four" and substituting in its place the word "five" and that the word "Chicago" be added.

Amendments.

W. H. Finch presented the following substitute for Item 1:

"There shall be three editions of The Christian Advocate, A National Weekly, circulated from New York, Chicago, and San Francisco."

E. L. Kidney moved to amend the substitute by changing the word "three" to the word "five," and naming New York, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Kansas City, and San Francisco.

Announcements.

Necessary announcements were made at this juncture for the convenience of the Delegates.

On a question of privilege, the presiding Bishop introduced the matter of the continuance of the Commission on the Revision of the Hymnal and Psalter, and the motion of the Secretary prevailed that this Commission be continued, with the re-election of its present personnel, and the printing of its report in The Daily Christian Advocate and in the General Conference Journal.

Recess.

The Conference was in recess at 10:30 o'clock.

The Conference reconvened at 10:40 o'clock.

Musical Director E. E. Harper presented Mrs. Rhodella Cummings, official Conference organist, to play the selection known as "Gems from Tschaikowsky."

Commission Expenses Authorized.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that the expenses of the Commission on the Revision of the Hymnal and Psalter for the new quadrennium be provided from the General Conference Expense Fund, the maximum amount to be later determined upon.

MAY 21
EIGHTEENTH DAY.
Morning.

Consideration of Item 1, Report No. 22, Committee on Book Concern, was resumed, and the Secretary announced the exact parliamentary situation:

Committee on Book Concern, Report No. 22 (Consideration Resumed).

The present parliamentary situation is that we are considering Item 1 of Report No. 22 from the Committee on Book Concern. The particular item of the report under consideration is as follows:

"There shall be four editions of The Christian Advocate, A National Weekly, circulated from New York, Cincinnati, Kansas City and San Francisco."

There is the motion of Fred D. Stone, amending by substituting Chicago for Kansas City. There is the motion of A. M. Wells, amending the amendment by the following: Substituting five for four, including Chicago. There is the substitute for all that is before us, which is offered by Wallace H. Finch, that there be three editions of The Christian Advocate circulated from New York, Chicago and San Francisco. There is the motion of E. L. Kidney, amending the substitute by the interjection of five instead of three, the places to be New York, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Kansas City and San Francisco.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

Ray Allen moved that voting on the pending Item be by ballot.

The motion of H. L. Jacobs to place this motion on the table prevailed.

The motion of P. F. Morris prevailed that the amendment to the substitute be placed on the table.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

The motion of C. L. Wallace to place the amendment to the amendment on the table prevailed.

The motion of M. E. Gilbert prevailed to place the amendment on the table.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

The motion to place the substitute on the table prevailed by a rising vote, as follows:

For tabling, 382. Against tabling, 326.

J. S. Payton moved the following substitute for Item 1:

"There shall be seven editions of The Christian Advocate, A National Weekly, issued from New York, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago, Kansas City, San Francisco, Portland."

The motion of A. M. Witwer to place this substitute on the table prevailed.

The motion of T. F. Holgate to place Item 1 upon the table did not prevail.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

The motion to adopt Item 1 prevailed.

The Secretary read Item 2 of the report.

MAY 21 EIGHTEENTH DAY. Morning.

The motion of B. W. Hutchinson that the Rules be suspended and that the Chairman of the Committee on Book Concern be allowed five minutes instead of ten for debate did not prevail.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

By common consent, Item 2 was corrected to read "The General Conference shall elect quadrennially by ballot four editors for The Christian Advocate, A National Weekly."

The motion to adopt Item 2 prevailed.

Item 3 was read by the Secretary and was thereupon adopted.

Item 4 was read by the Secretary.

Amendments.

H. P. Sloan moved to amend this Item by inserting after the word "Church" these words, "but each editor shall be free to determine what of the uniform material he will use."

The motion of W. A. Keve to place this amendment upon the table did not prevail.

E. L. Kidney moved the following substitute for the amendment by deleting these words:

> The Editorial Board shall be responsible for the selection of all material used in the uniform pages and for the production of such a paper as will best serve the interests of the whole Church. They shall, subject to the approval of the Publishing Agents and the Executive Committee, determine the division of editorial responsibility.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that the time be extended and that we remain in session until 1 o'clock, P. M.

H. P. Sloan, by common consent, accepted the substitute for the amendment.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

The motion of W. A. Walls to place this amendment upon the table did not prevail.

The motion to amend Item 4 prevailed.

The motion of W. H. Finch prevailed to place upon the table what remains of Item 4.

Item 5 was read by the Secretary.

J. W. Abel presented an amendment that after the word "wise" in line 11 we insert these words:

> Provided no Advocate shall be discontinued until at least three months' notice shall have been given the Bishop or Bishops of the patronizing territory, who shall be authorized to use all available means to save the paper to the patronizing territory.

This amendment, by common consent, was accepted by the Chairman of the Committee.

G. C. Douglass moved to amend by inserting after the words

"$40,000 annually" these words, "on the condition that there shall be approximately 50% of common material used."

The motion to place the amendment upon the table prevailed.

B. W. Meeks moved to amend by changing the figure "$40,000" to "$50,000."

D. L. Marsh moved that after the making of announcements we stand adjourned.

This motion prevailed.

Reconsideration Action Final Adjournment.

By common consent, the motion of F. R. Bayley prevailed to reconsider our previous action with reference to final adjournment.

F. R. Bayley moved that the question of final adjournment be referred back to the Committee of Elected Chairmen with instructions to report to the Conference on this matter on Monday morning.

This motion prevailed.

Presentation of Mrs. Cushman and Son, Robert.

On a question of privilege, Bishop A. W. Leonard presented to the presiding Bishop Mrs. Ralph S. Cushman, wife of Bishop-elect Cushman, and also their son, Robert, and the presiding Bishop in turn introduced them to the Delegates.

On a question of privilege, A. E. Day was heard in the explanation of certain statements recently made during debate on the report of the Committee on Evangelism.

Telegram of Greeting.

The Secretary presented the following telegram of greeting and moved that its reception be recorded, and a suitable reply authorized.

The First General Conference of the United Wesleyan and Methodist Church now in session in New York City, extends greetings and best wishes for success in your great undertaking.
SIGNED BY THE PRESIDENT AND SECRETARY.

The motion prevailed.

Report Committee on Credentials.

C. L. Wallace, Secretary of the Committee on Credentials, presented the following report from that Committee, and, on his motion, it was adopted without being read:

Your Credentials Committee reports as follows:
Roy McCuskey, Ministerial Delegate, West Virginia Conference, excused permanently after May 20. No one in his place.
Lewis O. Hartman, Ministerial Delegate, New England Conference, excused for Friday night session, May 20 only, and Robert M. Pierce, First Reserve, seated for the evening session only.
Lewis A. Dick, Lay Delegate, Colorado Conference, excused permanently after Friday, May 20. No one in his place.
James H. Olmstead, Reserve Ministerial Delegate, Genesee Conference, seated Saturday, May 21, in place of Bishop-elect Ralph S. Cushman.

MAY 21
EIGHTEENTH DAY.
Morning.

Waite H. Madison, Lay Delegate, Central West Conference, excused, Friday, P. M., May 20. No one in his place.

Charles F. Reiche, Lay Delegate, Southern California Conference, excused permanently after Monday, May 23.

Thomas O. Cunningham, Lay Delegate, Kansas Conference, excused permanently, Tuesday, P. M., May 24.

Albert J. Mitchell, Ministerial Delegate, Washington Conference, excused, effective after Tuesday, May 24.

John W. Hatch, Ministerial Delegate, Vermont Conference, excused, effective May 21. Oscar B. Wells seated in his place permanently.

Jackson Townsend, Lay Delegate, Troy Conference, excused Saturday, P. M., May 21, permanently.

Albert E. Day, Ministerial Delegate, Pittsburgh Conference, excused for Sunday and Monday, May 22 and 23, only.

James E. McClure, Lay Delegate, Illinois Conference, excused, effective May 22. H. R. Snavely, Reserve, seated in his place on May 23.

Gilbert H. Frank, Reserve Lay Delegate, Central Pennsylvania Conference, was seated May 2 and excused May 9 to 16. Watt Tyler, Second Reserve, seated for these days. Took his seat May 17 and 18, and left the Conference permanently on May 19, without excuse.

David D. Jones, Lay Delegate, North Carolina Conference, excused at the close of Saturday morning session, May 21. No one seated in his place.

Victor K. Moore, Lay Delegate, Troy Conference, excused permanently Saturday, P. M., May 21. No one seated in his place.

C. Oliver Holmes, Lay Delegate, Northwest Indiana Conference, excused permanently after Saturday, May 21.

Harry E. Hedges, Lay Delegate, North-East Ohio Conference, excused permanently after Thursday, May 19. No one in his place.

Clark Show, Lay Delegate, Southern Illinois Conference, took his seat May 17 in place of J. M. Mitchell, whose record is in The Daily Christian Advocate for May 18.

Arthur L. Hoover, Lay Delegate, North-East Ohio Conference, excused permanently after May 20. No one seated in his place.

Edwin S. Booth, Reserve Lay Delegate, Oregon Conference, excused at the close of the evening session, Tuesday, May 24.

Your Committee on Credentials expresses the sincere hope that all Delegates will resist the urgent calls for their services at home and that they will stay by the task and responsibility conferred upon them by the Church, lest we find ourselves in the embarrassing position of not having a quorum with which to transact business.

E. C. DIXON, Chairman,
C. L. WALLACE, Secretary.

Reference to the Committee on Judiciary.

The Secretary presented the following matter of reference to the Committee on Judiciary, and, on his motion, this matter was duly referred:

1. Request from John M. Arters, asking for an answer to the question, "Has the General Conference power to suspend the operation of legislation under certain conditions?" and seeking a ruling concerning the constitutionality of ¶ 256, § 12, and known as Memorial No. 981.

Felicitations Mrs. Magee.

On motion, the Conference authorized the Secretary to send a message of felicitation to Mrs. J. Ralph Magee, wife of Bishop-elect Magee.

In closing his official presidency of a General Conference session, the presiding Bishop said:

On the second day of the Conference you called me to a duty which required two hours of continuous effort. This morning you have called me to a duty which has required four and a half hours plus. I am rather glad that you will not have the chance to multiply that length of time by two. I shall remember my last presidency of the General Conference, and shall thank God and take courage.

The Conference convened at 3 o'clock for the Consecration of Bishops and the Order of Service was as follows:

PROCESSIONAL, HYMN 383......"Onward, Christian Soldiers"
Congregation standing and singing

HYMN 207.....Bishop Leete

The church's one foundation
Is Jesus Christ her Lord;
She is his new creation
By water and the word:
From Heaven he came and sought her
To be his holy bride;
With his own blood he bought her,
And for her life he died.

Elect from every nation,
Yet one o'er all the earth,
Her charter of salvation,
One Lord, one faith, one birth;
One holy name she blesses,
Partakes one holy food,
And to one hope she presses,
With every grace endued.

'Mid toil and tribulation,
And tumult of her war,
She waits the consummation
Of peace for evermore;
Till, with the vision glorious,
Her longing eyes are blest,
And the great church victorious
Shall be the church at rest.

Yet she on earth hath union
With God the Three in One,
And mystic sweet communion
With those whose rest is won:
O happy ones and holy!
Lord, give us grace that we,
Like them, the meek and lowly,
On high may dwell with thee.
Amen.

VENI, CREATOR, SPIRITUS.....Bishop Birney

Come, Holy Ghost, our souls inspire
And lighten with celestial fire.

Thou the anointing Spirit art,
Who dost thy sevenfold gifts impart.

Thy blessed unction from above
Is comfort, life, and fire of love.

Enable with perpetual light
The dullness of our blinded sight;

Anoint and cheer our soiled face
With the abundance of thy grace,

Keep far our foes, give peace at home;
Where thou art Guide, no ill can come.

Teach us to know the Father, Son,
And thee, of both, to be but ONE;

That through the ages all along
This may be our endless song;

Praise to thy eternal merit,
Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

THE BISHOP: Lord, hear our prayer.
RESPONSE: And let our cry come unto thee.

HYMN 180—(Tune, Miles' Lane).....Bishop Burns

All hail the power of Jesus' name!
Let angels prostrate fall;
Bring forth the royal diadem,
And crown him Lord of all.

Ye chosen seed of Israel's race,
Ye ransomed from the fall,
Hail him who saves you by his grace,
And crown him Lord of all.

To him all majesty ascribe,
And crown him Lord of all.

O that, with yonder sacred throng,
We at his feet may fall!
We'll join the everlasting song,
And crown him Lord of all.
Amen.

BENEDICTION.....Bishop Blake

MONDAY MORNING, MAY 23, 1932

MAY 23
TWENTIETH
DAY.
Morning.

The Conference convened at 8:30 o'clock with Bishop Edwin H. Hughes presiding, who presented Bishop Frederick T. Keeney to be in charge of the devotional service.

Devotions.

The Fourth Worship Service for the Devotional Periods of the General Conference was employed, and Hymn 178, beginning, "Rejoice, the Lord is King," was sung.

The Bishop was heard in a devotional address upon the topic, "Leadership," and at its close he led the Conference in prayer.

Hymn 409, beginning, "Fight the Good Fight with All Thy Might," was sung.

Journal.

E. J. Hammond, for the Committee on the General Conference Journal, reported having examined the Journal for the sessions of Saturday, May 21, and Sunday, May 22, and the Committee found the same correct.

Re Final Adjournment.

The Secretary, representing the Committee of Elected Chairmen, presented the recommendation that the time for final adjournment of the Conference be at 12:30 o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday, May 25, and moved the adoption of this recommendation.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

The motion to adopt the recommendation for final adjournment prevailed.

Three Sessions Daily.

The Secretary, further representing the Committee of Elected Chairmen, presented the recommendation that there be three sessions of the Conference daily to-day and to-morrow at the following hours: 8:30 o'clock in the morning, 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

MAY 23 TWENTIETH DAY Morning.

The motion of the Secretary to adopt this recommendation prevailed.

The Secretary, again representing the Committee of Elected Chairmen, asked and obtained common consent for the employment of the following items dealing with business procedure:

Business Procedure.

Devotional services, afternoon and evening sessions, to consist of hymn and prayer; Delegates to be permitted to enter the hall during the singing of the closing hymn at the morning devotions. No musical programs after the morning recess. Each Chairman, on introducing report, shall recommend the maximum time for considering the same. This time limit, if accepted, shall be equivalent to the operation of the previous question. The Chairman, and if necessary, the one in charge of a Minority Report, is allowed time for closing the debate. Reports are to be read if the Conference so requires. One half hour to be devoted as the maximum time limit to the finishing of consideration of the pending report.

On a question of privilege, E. C. Dixon, Chairman of the Committee on Credentials, urged the Delegates to reduce the number of excuses and absences from remaining business sessions to a minimum.

Orders of the Day Authorized.

The motion of E. L. Kidney prevailed that the Order of the Day for to-morrow morning, following the approval of the Journal, be the consideration of the report of the Commission on Judicial Procedure.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that the Order of the Day immediately after recess this morning be the election of three Publishing Agents.

The motion of the Secretary prevailed that the Rules be suspended for the introduction of Report No. 4 from the Commission on Entertainment, entitled, "Case of G. D. Rogers," and printed on page 567 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

Fred D. Stone, Secretary of the Commission, presented this report, and, on his motion, it was adopted as follows:

Report Commission on Entertainment.

REPORT NO. 4. COMMISSION ON ENTERTAINMENT

WHEREAS, The Journal of the South Florida Annual Conference, held in West Palm Beach, Florida, January 20-24, 1932, shows on page 10 that the Conference elected one delegate to the General Conference and two reserve delegates; and

WHEREAS, The laymen of this Conference, following the precedent set by their ministerial brethren, elected one delegate, T. A. Adams, and Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, reserve delegate, and also elected G. D. Rogers, second reserve; and

WHEREAS, The election of a second reserve was clearly contrary to the Discipline and done by mistake; and

WHEREAS, T. A. Adams has been unable to attend the General Conference at all and Mrs. Bethune attended from May 2 to the 12th, and finding that she must leave wired G. D. Rogers to come to the seat of the General Conference and take her place, which he did, assuming that he would be seated and found after he reached here that the Committee on Credentials was unable to seat him because of a rule of the Discipline; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we realize this unfortunate mistake ought not to be paid for by G. D. Rogers, and that while we are unable to seat him, we nevertheless instruct the Treasurer of the General Conference Expense Fund to pay the traveling expenses of G. D. Rogers to and from Atlantic City and to allow him $3 per day from the date of his arrival in Atlantic City until the date when this resolution is passed and he receives his check from the Treasurer of the General Conference Expense Fund.

WALLACE H. FINCH, Chairman;
FRED D. STONE, Secretary.

Unfinished Business. Committee on Book Concern, Report No. 22.

The unfinished business, namely, consideration of Report No. 22, Committee on Book Concern, entitled, "Advocates," was introduced and the presiding Bishop announced that consideration of Section 5 of the report, as amended, was in order.

The pending amendment changing the figures in Section 5 from $40,000 to $50,000 was immediately before the Conference.

J. L. Hillman, Chairman of the Committee on Book Concern, was granted unanimous consent to accept this amendment.

The Secretary's motion prevailed that when the ballot is received, it be sealed, counted to-morrow morning at 8 o'clock, and reported at the earliest possible moment at to-morrow morning's session.

The Secretary read the nominations for various positions as Corresponding Secretaries as follows, first in alphabetical order and then in reverse alphabetical order:

Board of Foreign Missions: Ralph E. Diffendorfer, John R. Edwards, J. Waskom Pickett, Harold Paul Sloan.

Board of Home Missions and Church Extension: Marvin E. Gilbert, Edward D. Kohlstedt.

Board of Education: Larkin B. Bowers, Frederick C. Eiselen.

Board of Pensions and Relief: William B. Farmer.

The Tellers distributed the ballots. The Conference stood for the casting of the ballots, and the Tellers placed them in an envelope, which was sealed by the Secretary in open Conference.

The motion of W. H. Finch to adjourn did not prevail.

Committee on Education, Report No. 9. (Unfinished Business).

Consideration of the item of unfinished business was resumed, namely, Report No. 9 from the Committee on Education, and Assistant Secretary Heckman announced immediate consideration of ¶ 185, § 5.

F. C. Eiselen, Chairman of that Committee, presented the proposed new legislation which was omitted from the report as printed, as follows:

"No candidate shall be advanced in his studies who is conditioned in more than one book upon which examination is required nor in more than two books in the collateral studies. Any member on trial who does not complete the first two years of the course of study within four years shall be discontinued and any full member who fails to complete the entire four years of the course of study within eight years shall be located unless, in either case, extension of time shall be recommended by a two-thirds vote of the Board of Ministerial Training and authorized by a two-thirds vote of the Annual Conference. In no case shall a person have a larger total than ten years in the course of study and any person failing to complete the course within this ten-year period shall not be permitted to join a Conference again on trial. This section, however, shall not apply for the period of time in which the candidates are carrying regular work in residence in an approved theological seminary."

The motion of F. C. Eiselen that this proposed paragraph be substituted for what is now ¶ 185, § 5, prevailed.

Revisions and Amendments.

The Chairman of the Committee was permitted to correct the printing of ¶ 187, § 1, by inserting in the corrected paragraph the proposed amendment beginning, "The Board shall have charge of the studies of all men, etc."

His motion to adopt this paragraph, as amended, prevailed.

F. C. Eiselen moved that in lieu of ¶ 187, § 7, of the report, there be substituted the language of Report No. 15 from the Committee on Judiciary, and printed on page 267 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

This motion prevailed.

The motion of F. C. Eiselen prevailed that there be added to the language of Report No. 15, Committee on Judiciary, the words, "and while pursuing their studies shall attend the sessions of the Summer Schools of Ministerial Training, where such Schools are provided. These Rules shall apply, etc."

By common consent, the words "Supply Pastors" were substituted for the word ""Supplies" wherever the latter word is found in this proposed legislation.

R. E. Diffendorfer moved to add a new Section, to be known as ¶ 185, § 3, as follows:

Central Conferences shall fix the standards and all other requirements for admission to the Annual Conferences within their own borders, and all other Annual Conferences and Mission Conferences outside of the United States of America shall fix their own standards and requirements for admission.

This motion prevailed.

E. J. Hammond moved to amend ¶ 185 by adding thereto the following:

But the requirements of this paragraph as regards college training may be waived in exceptional cases in the strictly Missionary Conferences of the Church, upon the two-thirds vote of the Board of Examiners and of the Annual Conferences.

MAY 23 TWENTIETH DAY. Evening.

The motion of C. A. Smith to place this amendment upon the table prevailed.

The motion to adopt the report, as amended, prevailed.

On motion, this excuse was permitted.

Appointment Extended.

On motion, the request of the Bishops that Bishop Leete's appointment be continued, and that he serve as Fraternal Delegate to the General Assembly in 1933, was approved.

The presiding Bishop addressed the Delegates on the matter of the correct business procedure for this session.

On a question of privilege, W. B. Farmer presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Payment Publication Expenses.

Moved that the cost of publication of the Ministers' Reserve Pension Fund Plan, "in the official papers of the Church," an item of four hundred dollars ($400), now held by The Methodist Book Concern, and the cost of publishing the Report of the Commission on Reserve Pension Fund Plan in the General Conference Handbook, an item of $62.81, be referred to the Treasurer of the General Conference Expense Fund, and that he be authorized to pay both of these items.

On a question of privilege, H. L. Jacobs presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

Salary Adjustment in Certain Cases.

Resolved, That when legislation or election leaves an official of the General Conference without employment, the General Conference directs and authorizes the Board or Society in which he served the Church to pay him until he gets employment or Episcopal appointment, in either case no later than the next session of his Annual Conference, payment for this period to be at a rate not to exceed half the salary he received while he was employed or in office.

HORACE LINCOLN JACOBS,
R. CLARENCE BROWN,
J. M. WALKER.

MAY 24
TWENTY-FIRST DAY.
Morning.
Order of the Day Fixed.

On a question of privilege, E. H. Cherrington moved that consideration of the report of the General Conference Commission on Social Service Activities be made the Order of the Day immediately after the devotional service at the session this afternoon.

Report, Commission on Judicial Procedure.

The Secretary presented the established Order of the Day for this hour, namely, consideration of the report of the Commission on Judicial Procedure, and printed on page 481 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

E. L. Kidney, Chairman of that Commission, moved that this report be presented without reading, which motion prevailed, and he was heard in a detailed presentation of the report, item by item.

By common consent, the following amendment to the report, as printed, was ordered:

¶ 292. A Bishop suspended or deposed from his Episcopal Office in accordance with the provisions of ¶ 291, § 2 or 6, shall have no claim upon the Episcopal Fund for salary, house rent, or any other expenses from the date of such suspension; but in case he is thereafter found by the General Conference not guilty of the charge or charges for which he was suspended or deposed his claim upon the Episcopal Fund for the period during which he was deprived of the functions of his office shall be paid to him.

H. P. Sloan moved to amend so that in § 4 provision be made for "Grand Jury" proceedings or preliminary investigation.

The motion of F. G. Bean to place this amendment on the table prevailed.

Amendments

The motion of A. A. Callaghan prevailed to suspend the Rules for the purpose of closing the presentation of the report, permitting questions, and voting on adoption.

J. E. Skillington moved that without further review, opportunity be given for asking and answering questions upon the report.

This motion prevailed.

F. G. Bean moved that ¶ 309 of the report be eliminated and in its place be inserted a paragraph found in Report No. 19, Committee on Itinerancy, as follows:

¶ 172, § 4. When a Member of an Annual Conference, against whom there is no charge of immoral or unministerial conduct, appears to be so unacceptable or inefficient as to render him unsuitable for regular Conference appointment, he may, on recommendation of the District Superintendents given not later than the second day of the Annual Session, be referred to the Committee on Conference Relations. If this Committee, by ballot vote after careful consideration, shall so recommend, such Member of an Annual Conference may be located by a two-thirds vote of the Annual Conference. Said Minister shall then hold his Quarterly Conference membership as a Local Deacon or Elder in the Church where he resides. However, if such located Minister shall remain a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church in good standing until the age of retirement as fixed by the Discipline he shall be entitled to his Annuity claim as a Retired Minister, based on the years of his effective ministry, subject to the action of the Annual Conference.

On motion of C. O. Holmes, any consideration of Report No. 19, Committee on Itinerancy, was declared out of order at this time.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

F. C. Eiselen presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted by a rising vote:

Appreciation, Dr. W. S. Bovard.

The Corresponding Secretary of the Board of Education for the past eight years, William S. Bovard, having withheld his name from re-election, the General Conference desires to place on record its sincere regard for him and its high appreciation of his eminent services.

Doctor Bovard's long career as Pastor, College President, Brotherhood Secretary, and executive of the Board of Sunday Schools gave him unique preparation for the responsibilities and opportunities which the General Conference entrusted to him in his election as Secretary of the Board of Education. His task was one of the most difficult falling to any of the general officers of the Church, namely, the task of unifying four independent Boards into an integral unit, which has been happily and successfully completed. The expectations of the Church in his election have been abundantly realized and his accomplishments have won for him our gratitude.

Report No. 50, entitled, "Authorization Standing Committee on Rules," and printed on page 653 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

Committee on Boundaries, Report No. 1.

On a question of privilege, Bishop Titus Lowe, Chairman of the Committee on Boundaries, was recognized to present Report

No. 1 from that Committee, entitled, "Determining Boundaries," and printed on page 553 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

In presenting this report, Bishop Lowe read, for the purposes of record in the General Conference Journal, the following official declaration of the merger of the Saint Louis and the Missouri Annual Conferences:

Declaration of Merger.

DECLARATION

The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1928 having passed the following Enabling Act:

"Saint Louis and the Missouri Conferences may, during the quadrennium, merge into one Conference by a majority vote of the members of each Conference present and voting, and the consent of the Bishop or Bishops presiding, and under the usual Disciplinary conditions."

And the Saint Louis and Missouri Conferences having voted in favor of merging, and having adopted as the name of the merged Conference, the "Missouri Annual Conference," said merger is to be completed when the presiding Bishops of the two Conferences concerned shall affix their signatures to the Declaration of the Conferences relative to the merger.

Now, Therefore, We, Ernest Lynn Waldorf and Wallace E. Brown, do hereby declare by this signed document that said merger is now effected; that the church and parsonage properties involved by the merger shall become the properties of the Missouri Annual Conference and the members of the Saint Louis and the Missouri Conferences shall become members of the Missouri Annual Conference, in harmony with the agreement as made by the various Commissions appointed to plan for this merger.

Upon this act of merging these Conferences and upon all the work of Christ affected thereby, the blessing of God Almighty is reverently invoked.

ERNEST LYNN WALDORF,
President of the Saint Louis Annual Conference;
WALLACE E. BROWN,
President of the Missouri Annual Conference.

Corrections.

The following corrections in the report of this Committee, as printed, were, by common consent, made a matter of record:

(1) Page 554 of The Daily Christian Advocate, first column, No. 7, "North China Conference," shall include the southern part of the Province of Liaoning and the northern part of the Province of Hopei.

(2) Page 554 of The Daily Christian Advocate, under Section 2 of Councils, No. 2, should read "Korea Central Council" instead of "Korea Mission Council."

(3) In the same column, Annual Conferences in Europe, No. 7, "North Africa Conference," is to include work in Algeria, Tunisia and adjacent territory, leaving out Kabelia.

(4) Near the top of the middle column, page 554, "South Germany Conference," should include the free states of Bavaria (except the Palatinate) and Wuerttemberg.

(5) On page 558 of The Daily Christian Advocate, first column, No. 69, "Southern California Conference," omit the last 7 words ("and Needles in the State of California").

(6) At the bottom of page 558, "Norwegian Danish Mission" is to be eliminated and New Mexico Mission included. Its boundaries are "The State of New Mexico excepting Chama; also it shall include the County of El Paso, Texas, in the State of Texas." The Pacific Japanese Mission is further defined as including all of the Japanese Work between the Mississippi River and the Pacific Coast.

(7) Under Chapter III, Central Conferences, page 559, of The Daily Christian Advocate, No. 2, under ¶ 549, "Northern European Central Report No. 21, entitled, "Report of the Board of Foreign Missions," and printed on page 494 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

In presenting the last numbered report, A. E. Day said:

Secretaries Board of Foreign Missions Commended.

"This report commends the Secretaries of the Board of Foreign Missions for the faithful picture which they have given us of the present missionary situation, calling our attention to some strategic retreats which have been made and to some retreats which have not been quite so strategic, but closing with a note of hope and of confidence in Jesus as the only hope of our worried world.

"Since so it is, and in that Face for us
The final beauty burns to birth
And all things in heaven and earth
Are summed and centered in a loveliness
Beyond compare, how can our souls
But worship Him as Saviour and as God?
Redeemed by His Saviourhood
And by the revelation of God through Him,
How can we refuse to share Him with all the world?"

Prayer.

Prior to the adoption of this report, the presiding Bishop offered prayer:

Here we present unto Thee, O God, ourselves, our souls and bodies, a reasonable, holy and living sacrifice unto Thee; and we ask Thee to accept us and all we have, and all we are for the dear Redeemer's sake. Amen.

The Senior Effective Bishop.

On a question of personal privilege, the presiding Bishop surrendered the Chair to Bishop John L. Nuelsen, his successor as the Senior Effective Bishop, and Bishop Nuelsen addressed the Conference as follows:

Will you give your presiding officer the privilege of saying just this one word, and I am sure the Conference would want me to say it, that nobody here will ever forget the presence and that combination of personal dignity and charm of manner and voice, and that beautiful Christian courtesy which we have always so greatly admired in the beloved Senior Bishop McDowell. And, I may say, God bless him in those years, and we hope they will be many, that are before him.

As far as the incoming presiding officer is concerned, may I say that one of the consolations to me is this, while I realize there is nobody that can equal Bishop McDowell, I have ever since my boyhood been living sometimes in Europe and sometimes in America and found this, that when in Europe I made mistakes I was generally excused on the ground, "Well, he is from America, he doesn't know anything," and when I made mistakes here in America it was said, "Well, he comes from Europe, he doesn't know anything." May I say this, while we cannot change the calendar, we will follow this rule, that all the functions that are connected with the Senior Bishop and the work of the Senior Bishop will be exercised by the Senior Bishop resident in America during the absence of the man who, according to the calendar, is the Senior Bishop. You have assigned me to Europe. I expect to leave the country next week to go to my assignment, and at the present time, I do not see any emergency that would call me back before the coming of the next General Conference, so all the work of representing the Church, and all the functions that go with the Senior Bishop, will be exercised during my absence by Edwin H. Hughes, who is assigned to Washington.

On motion of the Secretary, the time was extended before recess for the purpose of presenting an omitted matter from the Committee on Central Conferences, and the Rules were suspended for that purpose.

Deletion.

G. B. Oxnam, Chairman of that Committee, moved that in further consideration of the report from that Committee, ¶ 184, Discipline, 1928, be deleted therefrom. This paragraph reads as follows:

¶ 184. The Annual Conferences in India are authorized, with the concurrence of the Bishop presiding, to elect to the Office of Deacon or Elder, Local Preachers who have been engaged in the regular work for two years, or four years, respectively.

The motion to delete prevailed.

The Secretary, on behalf of the Delegates from the Nebraska Conference, presented the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted and its printing authorized in The Daily Christian Advocate, and the General Conference Journal:

Tribute to Judge Dryden.

John N. Dryden, elected a Lay Delegate to the General Conference for the sixth time, passed into the immortal world in triumphant faith early in the morning of December 11, 1931.

Judge Dryden, for forty years a trustee of Nebraska Wesleyan University, at one time president of the State Bar Association of Nebraska, active and efficient always in the service of his beloved Church, has in five sessions of the General Conference been a staunch defender of such major moral reforms as Prohibition and International Peace, speaking most effectively upon the latter subject in the 1928 session of the General Conference in Kansas City.

A most valuable and trusted layman has gone, to whose memory the Nebraska-Iowa Delegations pay this brief tribute of love and esteem.

GEORGE M. SPURLOCK, BEACH COLEMAN,
HARRY E. HESS,
PAUL M. HILLMAN.

Appreciation, Dr. C. B. Spencer.

The motion of L. M. Edwards prevailed that privilege be granted the Delegates from the Colorado Conference to present for printing in the General Conference Journal a resolution of appreciation for Dr. Claudius B. Spencer. This resolution is as follows:

WHEREAS, Dr. Claudius B. Spencer retires at this session of the General Conference from the editorship of the Central Christian Advocate, and,

WHEREAS, The long and honorable service of Doctor Spencer has been distinguished by qualities of unusual ability, and,

WHEREAS, Under his editorial direction the Central Christian Advocate has occupied a foremost rank among religious journals;

Be It Resolved, That Doctor Spencer retires from active service full of honors and with the devoted love and esteem of his brethren of the Colorado Conference and of the Church at large, and we join in earnest hopes and prayers for a beautiful sunset of life.

Signed:

On motion, these nominations were accepted by the Conference, and the election of the persons named therein was effected by acclamation.

On motion, the Bishop resident in Chicago was authorized to notify and assemble these Committees for visitation to the conventions named.

J. W. Langdale presented the following motion, which prevailed:

Continuing Committee on Rules.

I move that the Standing Committee on Rules be hereby made a continuing committee, to prepare the said Rules of Order and the Special Order of Business for the session of the General Conference of 1936.

W. E. Hammaker introduced the following resolution, which, on his motion, was adopted:

WHEREAS, The duties of the Secretary of the General Conference are exceedingly heavy and entail much labor in preparation for the session of the General Conference, and also in compiling the General Conference Journal after the session of the Conference, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Book Committee be authorized and requested to provide from the General Conference Expense Fund suitable financial recognition for the Secretary of the General Conference.

W. E. HAMMAKER, J. E. SKILLINGTON, AND OTHERS.

On motion of W. H. G. Gould, the Rules were suspended for the consideration of a matter vitally affecting the work of the Board of Home Missions.

Effect of Legislation Deferred.

W. H. G. Gould moved that the portion of § 7, Subdivision 4, Article II, contained in Report No. 19 from the Committee on Temporal Economy, and recently adopted, be postponed until a date not later than January 1, 1933, the effective date to be fixed by the World Service Commission.

This motion prevailed.

Suspension of Rules.

On motion of E. L. Kidney, the Rules were suspended for the introduction of a report not yet printed from the Committee on Home Missions and Church Extension.

Committee on Home Missions and Church Extension, Report No. 21.

E. L. Kidney, Chairman of the Committee on Home Missions and Church Extension, presented Report No. 21, entitled,

MAY 25 TWENTY-SECOND DAY. Morning.

"Social Education Authorized," and printed on page 674 of The Daily Christian Advocate, and, on his motion, this report was adopted.

Committee on Home Missions and Church Extension, Reports Nos. 10, 20 and 14.

E. L. Kidney, Chairman of the Committee on Home Missions and Church Extension, presented Report No. 10 from that Committee, entitled, "Annual Conference Board of Home Missions and Church Extension and its Powers," and printed on page 496 of The Daily Christian Advocate, and moved its adoption.

Common consent was given to amend the report by adding after the words "District Superintendents" in line 4, ¶ 494, § 1, of the report, the words "and full time executives of City and Rural Missionary Societies."

M. A. Dawber moved to amend by eliminating from ¶ 494, § 2, the words "when requested by the Annual Conference."

This motion prevailed.

The motion to adopt the report, as amended, prevailed.

E. L. Kidney, Chairman of the Committee on Home Missions and Church Extension, presented Report No. 20 from that Committee, entitled, "Financial Report of Board of Home Missions and Church Extension," and printed on page 599 of The Daily Christian Advocate, and, on his motion, it was adopted.

E. L. Kidney, Chairman of the Committee on Home Missions and Church Extension, presented Report No. 14 from that Committee, entitled, "Bureau of Church Architecture," and printed on page 549 of The Daily Christian Advocate, and moved its adoption.

G. P. Stuart moved to amend by striking out the title "Types of service to be Rendered," and also in Item C by striking out the words "and preliminary drawings."

He moved a further amendment to the report by adding to Item E the words "upon request" and by amending the paragraph thereunder to read as follows:

It is further recommended that, in order to protect the churches against incompetent service and to maintain the ideals and standards held by the Bureau, it shall offer itself as a consultant to architects prior to and during the progress of the work when requested, but shall not involve itself in controversy by securing architectural commission for any architect. The Bureau shall act in an advisory capacity only and shall be hereinafter known as the Advisory Bureau of Architecture. The Bureau budget shall not exceed five thousand dollars annually.

The motion of J. J. Shy prevailed to place these amendments upon the table.

E. D. Kohlstedt moved to amend by adding to the report the second paragraph of Report No. 7 from the Committee on Education, and printed on page 413 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

This motion to amend includes the insertion of the words "Bureau of Architecture" for the words "Wesley Foundation," and the words "Home Missions and Church Extension" in place of the word "Education" as found in the last line, so that the paragraph to be inserted shall read:

> The Bureau of Architecture shall suffer no diminuation of funds from connectional sources as the result of the transfer from the administration by a joint committee representing the Board of Education, and the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension.

The motion of L. E. Snyder prevailed that this amendment be placed upon the table.

The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

Committee on Home Missions and Church Extension, Report No. 2.

Report No. 2, Committee on Home Missions and Church Extension, entitled, "Comment on Episcopal Address," and printed on page 363 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was presented by E. L. Kidney, Chairman of that Committee, and, on his motion, it was adopted.

Membership Change, World Peace Commission.

On a question of privilege, Bishop H. Lester Smith, Secretary of the Bishops, announced the nomination of F. P. Corson to the membership of the World Peace Commission in place of A. C. Goddard.

On motion, this nomination was accepted by the Conference and the election of the person thereby named was effected by acclamation.

Report No. 46, Committee on Itinerancy, entitled, "Committee on Pastoral Relation and Pulpit Study," and printed on page 595 of The Daily Christian Advocate, was presented by A. Ray Moore, Chairman of that Committee, who moved its adoption.

Wilbert Westcott moved to amend by substituting for the report the following:

§ 19. To constitute a Committee on Pulpit Supply, of which the Pastor shall be Chairman. This Committee shall provide for supplying the pulpit during the temporary absence of the pastor.

§ 20. To constitute a Committee on Pastoral Relations. Whenever a change in pastoral relations is contemplated, this Committee shall cooperate with the District Superintendent and Presiding Bishop after conference with the pastor. Where local conditions permit, the personnel of this Committee shall be changed every three years. This Committee shall be amenable to the Quarterly Conference in all matters.

A motion to place this substitute on the table did not prevail.

The previous question was called for and the call sustained.

Division of the pending substitute was permitted, and, on motion, § 19 was adopted.

H. P. Sloan moved to amend § 20 by deleting the words "Where local conditions permit the personnel of this Committee shall be changed every three years."

The motion to amend prevailed.

The motion to adopt § 20, as amended, prevailed.

The motion to adopt the substitute in its amended form prevailed.

The motion to adopt the report, as thus substituted, prevailed.

Reconsideration.

On a question of privilege, H. L. Jacobs moved that our action in adopting Report No. 47, Committee on Itinerancy, dealing with "Emergency Sessions of Annual Conferences," be reconsidered.

MAY 25 TWENTY-SECOND DAY. Morning.

This motion prevailed.

The motion of E. J. Hammond prevailed to place this report upon the table.

Farewell Message, Bishop Pascoe.

On a question of privilege, the presiding Bishop presented Bishop Juan N. Pascoe to the Delegates for leave-taking, and he addressed the Conference appropriately. (See p. 829.)

Committee on Itinerancy, Reports Nos. 15, 44 and 50.

A. Ray Moore, Chairman of the Committee on Itinerancy, presented the following reports, in order, and, on his motion, they were adopted:

On a question of privilege, Bishop Titus Lowe presented the Plan of Episcopal Visitation and announced certain corrections therein as printed on page 646 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

Committee on State of the Church, Reports Nos. 17 and 13.

D. L. Marsh, Chairman of the Committee on State of the Church, presented Report No. 17 from that Committee, entitled, "Social Problems," and printed on page 594 of The Daily Christian Advocate, and moved its adoption.

W. M. Blanchard moved to amend in § 1 by substituting the words "we urge our Church to" for the words "we demand that our Church shall," and this amendment was accepted by the Chairman of the Committee.

The motion to adopt the report prevailed.

The following reports from the Committee on State of the Church were presented in order by its Chairman, D. L. Marsh, and, on his motion, they were adopted, in one case with amendment:

Report No. 13, entitled, "Resolutions introduced by E. F. Tittle and others on May 17, and Referred to the Committee on State of the Church, see Daily Christian Advocate, page 352," and printed on page 445 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

MAY 25 TWENTY-SECOND DAY. Morning. Committee on State of the Church, Reports Nos. 12 and 14.

Report No. 12, entitled, "Resolution on the Economic Situation," and printed on page 444 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

During the consideration of Report No. 12, D. L. Marsh moved to amend by deleting two paragraphs, one beginning with "Toward such an ideal," and the other with, "The replacement of our present policy," and for these paragraphs substituting the following:

> Toward such an ideal we would see our present social order move. Therefore, we urge the appointment of a Commission by the President of the United States under authority of the Congress, to consist of representatives of the Executive and Legislative Departments of the Federal Government, distinguished leaders in Labor, Industry and Agriculture and outstanding Professors of Economics and Social Sciences in our Universities to report to the President concerning remedies for the present economic disorders, and to consider among other things the following propositions for legislation and amendment to the Constitution, if necessary, namely:
> 1. The replacement of our present policy of unplanned competitive industrialism by planned industrial economy definitely aiming at the assurance of economic security.
> 2. Modification of our Anti-Trust Laws.
> 3. Granting right of industry to organize in a definite way and regulate itself under Federal supervision.
> 4. Creating and empowering a Commission or Commissions to regulate the industries organized under this permissive law.

The motion to amend prevailed, and provision was made for renumbering all the paragraphs accordingly.

The motion of H. E. Woolever prevailed that copies of this report be sent to the President of the United States, the President of the United States Senate, and Speaker of the United States House of Representatives.

D. L. Marsh, Chairman of the Committee on State of the Church, presented Report No. 14 from that Committee, entitled, "A Christian Appraisal of the Acquisitive Society," and printed on page 594 of The Daily Christian Advocate, and moved its adoption.

C. A. Smith moved to amend in the last paragraph after the word "which" in line 10, so that the closing sentence of the paragraph shall read, "We must stir the conscience of mankind to create a social way of life in which the profit motive shall be supplanted by the service motive that all men have opportunity to develop their capacities to the fullest possible extent."

J. W. Hatch moved to place this report, with the amendment, upon the table.

Suspension of Rules Re Final Adjournment.

On a question of privilege, H. L. Jacobs moved that the Rules governing adjournment be suspended, and that at 12:45 P. M. announcements be heard, followed by the Roll Call, suitable devotional exercises, and final adjournment. MAY 25 TWENTY-SECOND DAY. Morning.

This motion prevailed.

The motion to place the report and amendment upon the table did not prevail.

The motion to adopt the amendment prevailed.

The motion to adopt the report, as amended, prevailed.

D. L. Marsh, Chairman of the Committee on State of the Church, presented Report No. 8, entitled, "Doctrinal Statement," and printed on page 389 of The Daily Christian Advocate, but further action thereon was not had, due to the expiration of time allowed to this Committee. Committee on State of the Church, Report No. 8.

H. J. Roan moved to reconsider our recent action by which the operation of new legislation concerning contributions to the various Boards of Benevolence was suspended until January 1, 1933. Reconsiderations.

This motion prevailed.

H. J. Roan moved to refer to the World Service Commission the matter of the operation of the legislation referred to above.

This motion prevailed.

C. O. Holmes moved that we reconsider our recent action by which Report No. 13 from the Committee on Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals was referred back to that Committee.

This motion prevailed.

George Mecklenburg, Chairman of the Committee on Temperance, Prohibition, and Public Morals, presented a re-editing of Report No. 13, as follows: Committee on Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, Report No. 13 (Re-edited).

A great menace to business integrity as well as to strong moral character is the widespread sin of gambling. It permeates all society. It is destructive of the interests of good government, breeds criminals and is a burden upon legitimate business. It is directly responsible for broken fortunes and homes and defalcations and suicides. In none of its forms is it a greater danger to organized society than in the form of stock gambling, with the pyramiding of false values, which crush the innocent in their fall, and destroy true values without regard to the interests of the legitimate investor. Stock speculation in its various forms, short selling of securities and market pool manipulations, disturb the confidence of the people and the business structure and constitute a serious injustice to legitimate industry, commerce and finance, frequently depriving useful corporations and individuals of that access to credit which is essential to prosperity.

We believe that government should, in so far as law and its administration will permit, secure the restriction of credit to the purposes of sound business, denying it to the gambler. We call for the suppression of those places where gambling is tolerated, believing that in them crime and social difficulties originate and the integrity of the government is undermined. We ask that our Christian leaders direct the attention of our people, especially the young, to the difference between profits of honest toil and legitimate business with adequate return for service rendered, and goods exchanged, and the securing of something for nothing by the devices of chance.

On motion, this report, as re-edited, was adopted.

Committee on Temporal Economy, Reports Nos. 42, 37, 38, 31, 46, 59.

C. O. Holmes, Vice-Chairman of the Committee on Temporal Economy, presented the following reports, in order, and, on his motion, they were adopted:

The motion of Carleton Lacy prevailed that there be added just before the last clause of the report, these words, "and with the approval of the Bishop assigned to the Presidency of the Japan Mission Council."

The motion to adopt the report, as amended, prevailed.

From the Committee on Temporal Economy there came the

MAY 25 TWENTY-SECOND DAY. Morning.

Committee on Temporal Economy, Reports Nos. 58, 57, 55.

following reports, in order, which, on motion of C. O. Holmes, Vice-Chairman of that Committee, were adopted:

Report No. 58, entitled, "Fraternal Delegates to Japan Methodist Church," and printed on page 602 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

Report No. 57, entitled, "Commission on Finance," and printed on page 601 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

C. F. Eggleston was designated by the Vice-Chairman of the Committee on Temporal Economy to present Report No. 55 from that Committee, entitled, "Sesqui-Centennial of American Methodism," and printed on page 601 of The Daily Christian Advocate.

His motion to adopt this report prevailed.

Reports of Non-Concurrence to be "Received and Recorded."

The Secretary moved that all reports of non-concurrence adopted by Standing and Special Committees and now ready for our action be considered as regularly adopted when approved for presentation by the Chairmen and Secretaries of such Committees, and when finally edited by the Committee on Revision.

The Secretary accepted the amendment of H. L. Jacobs that these reports be "received and recorded" instead of "adopted."

The motion, as amended, prevailed.

The following motion made by the Secretary prevailed:

I move that, because of frequent sessions of the General Conference during recent days and because of the large amount of legislation passed during these days, the Committee on Revision, because it cannot complete the task assigned it before adjournment, be given the privilege of revising all unrevised reports, and that the same, for that purpose, be referred to the Editor of the Discipline with authority to make such verbal changes and harmonize such conflicting legislation as will not change the meaning of any action.

Report, Committee on Complimentary Resolutions.

W. J. Davidson, Chairman of the Committee on Complimentary Resolutions, presented the following report and moved its adoption:

Your Committee on Complimentary Resolutions, in compliance with your request, presents the following expressions of appreciation:

We desire to record our appreciation of the Book Committee for selecting this city by the sea as the seat of this General Conference. The accommodations of this great auditorium are unsurpassed. We most deeply appreciate the labors and continuous courtesies of the General Conference Committee on Entertainment and the Resident Bishop in this Area. The work of this Committee has been of unusually high character.

We commend the excellent work done by the Editors and Publisher of The Daily Christian Advocate and also express our appreciation of the daily public press for the reports of our meetings which its representatives have given to the public.

We owe a debt of appreciation to the Secretary of the General Conference for his extraordinary services and to his staff of assistants for the unusual co-operation they have given throughout the Conference.

MAY 25 TWENTY-SECOND DAY. Morning.

We appreciate the direction of the music of the General Conference, the organist, and the numerous special solos, quartets and choruses of high order which have been presented.

Our gratitude is due to the Transportation Bureau of our Church for its careful attention to our needs, to the Treasurer of the General Conference Expense Fund and the ushers, pages, clerks, typists, stenographers, secretaries, local pastors and churches, telegraph companies, railroads and post office for the services they have respectively rendered by way of facilitating our business and increasing our comfort during this month of strenuous labor.

Finally, we desire to voice our grateful appreciation to our General Superintendents for their able presidential service in this General Conference. Through circumstances both happy and trying they have presided over us with a consideration, a high purpose, a fairness, and a brotherly spirit which have been notable and most creditable to the great Church which we here represent. Their addresses on important special occasions their sermons, the high spiritual note they have sounded in our devotional services and in all their relations in this General Conference have warmed our hearts and inspired us to go forward with greater faith and determination in the difficult tasks which everywhere confront us. May the Lord of all guide and uphold our leaders throughout the years which lie immediately before us.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM J. DAVIDSON,
J. C. HARRISON,
MRS. C. F. VAN DE WATER,
THEODOR ARVIDSON,
J. L. DING,
MRS. J. W. NEASHAM,
W. H. SPURGEON.

Inclusions.

By common consent, mention of persons whose services have been appreciated was made to include the microphone operator, nurses, and especially the members of the Local Committee on Entertainment.

The motion to adopt this enlarged resolution prevailed, the Delegates rising to express their appreciation.

Presentations, A. C. Poffenberger and T. S. Brock.

A. C. Poffenberger and T. S. Brock, Chairman and Secretary of the Committee on Local Entertainment, were formally presented to the Conference, and again the Delegates manifested their appreciation by rising.

The following messages were received from Bishops Earl Cranston and William F. Oldham prior to this Roll Call:

Oh, I did want to see my colleagues in another Conference and to greet our new Bishops from the Oriental peoples who were my hope and inspiration through my earlier Episcopal adventure. I trust you to personally assure them of my disappointment in not sharing in the welcome to their coming and of my prayers that God will raise up John Wesleys from their ranks with the spirit of Methodism as their faith.

Warmest greetings to our brothers in retirement. God knows how I love them all. Cheer and sympathetic concern for the "Effectives" who go forward in the work.

Affectionately,

EARL CRANSTON.

I am much moved by the deep sympathy your letter conveys to me, voicing the wishes of the General Conference for a larger measure of returning health. It is not the fact of the letter but its deep note of sincere good will that moves me. My beloved Methodist Church has been my foster mother and loving friend from the hour when first she took me into her fellowship. I was a graceless wanderer from God in far away India, and she sent one of her missionaries to bring me the message of Christ's redeeming love. I heard, I believed, I was converted, and all life has been transformed. For over half a century she has fed me at her altars and has opened paths of service to me and has kept me as I tried to walk in them. And now, with the limitations of the years upon me, the gospel she taught me continues to fill me with quiet gladness and high hope. There is little I can do for her, but I can sit by the road and pray for her spiritual enrichment, and this I am doing—God bless her.

Sincerely,

WILLIAM F. OLDHAM.

The Secretary then received from the Chairmen of Delegations the lists of the Roll Call of Delegates in attendance at today's session, and those present, to the total of seven hundred and sixty-six, are recorded as follows:

Closing Address.

Bishop John L. Nuelsen then delivered the closing address of the General Conference in the following words:

We come to the close of this Thirty-first General Conference. The request of the General Conference held four years ago at Kansas City that the coming General Conference should expedite business has been complied with. Let me congratulate this General Conference upon the fact that the necessary business has been transacted and is finished on the twenty-fifth day of May, earlier than at any preceding General Conference, and that without any undue haste, but after due deliberation in the committees, especially of all the important measures.

I think this is due to a great extent to the fidelity, the application to their duties, the great loyalty of all the members of this General Conference, and I am sure every member of the Episcopal Board would want me to express our highest appreciation and the gratitude of the Church to the members of the General Conference for their devotion to the work which was committed to them. It may also be partly due, I think, to the splendid accommodations which we have had here in this fine hall. The Chairman could not always see the faces of those who addressed the Chair, but he could hear their voices in every instance; and, I think the voices of those who spoke from here were heard in every part of the hall.

The appointments for our meeting in every respect, I think, were splendid; and then, whenever we came out of this hall we were out in that bracing, invigorating air and in God's sunshine, with a view over the cloudless ocean. Our view was not hampered in any way but went over these infinite spaces and I think this is symbolic of the work which we had to do here; to legislate and plan for the work of our Church in all parts of the world, not limited by nation or race or class, the work of the Lord Jesus Christ that is intended for every man under heaven.

FLOODED WITH SUNLIGHT

May I venture to suggest that in these closing moments of the Conference these curtains be drawn aside so that we are flooded with this sunlight or the daylight that comes in from outside and that we may have the view over the glorious ocean.

We are at the present time sometimes tempted to be in gloomy places, and look at the condition of the world from a point of view which is rather limited, and which gives occasion for discouragement, but let us go from here, my brothers, into all parts of this world with our heads lifted up, looking into the light of God as it was revealed in the face of Jesus Christ, not dwelling in gloomy places, but dwelling in the sunlight of His presence and of His power, with a note of joy and of victory; not with a note that would remind every one who hears us of retrenchment and of depression and of expenses; but with a note of triumph because we know that our Lord Jesus Christ is leading us to victory and we will be loyal to Him.

THE OCEAN A SYMBOL OF GOD'S LOVE

Let us go out from here looking at this endless ocean, as a symbol of the wideness of God's mercy and God's love and God's power that is in no wise limited or restricted—God's power, God's love, God's mercy, wide and endless as the ocean, and trusting in Him and being devoted to Him and consecrated to Him as never before. Let's go to all parts of this great country and to countries beyond the sea with the message of salvation in Christ Jesus, salvation for every individual, salvation for every nation and race, salvation for this world that is to be united into one great kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ.

I think the Church and the world expect of the Methodist Episcopal Church in these coming years deeds of courage, of faith, of conquering love and in the name of Jesus Christ we will pledge Him our devotion and the sacrifice of everything that we possess. I am sure it is the wish of this whole Conference that the last word that shall be spoken before we adjourn and bring to a close this Thirty-first General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church shall be heard from the lips of our Senior Bishop, William F. McDowell. Bishop McDowell will lead us in prayer and pronounce the benediction and thus bring to a close the Thirty-first General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Prayer and Benediction.

Prayer was offered and the benediction pronounced by Bishop W. F. McDowell:

In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, we met. In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit we have remained in session. In the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit we now go out to the ends of the earth for the purposes of service and life and redemption, for the purposes of establishing the Kingdom of Christ in the world of God.

And we make for ourselves now this prayer—that the beauty of the Lord, our God, shall be upon us and upon the whole Church, everywhere, and that the work of our hands shall be established, yea the work of our hands, establish Thou it.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, go with us as we go, journey with us whether we travel short or long distances; and, unless Thou shalt go up with us, send us not up. Make us brave to go where Thou dost lead us. Make us faithful to go nowhere without Thee.

We thank Thee for these days of fellowship and of life together, and we ask Thee now, O God, that Thou wilt come into the heart of every one of us that no heart shall carry away any disappointment, any hurt, any bitterness, but that we may carry away the consciousness of our brotherhood in Jesus Christ and of His presence with us evermore.

And help us as we go out to be adequate to the world and its tasks. We lift in our prayers words that we have heard in this hall. Help us to out-think the world round about us by thinking Christ's thoughts after Him. Help us to out-live the world round about us by living the life that is lived by the faith of the Son of God. Help us to out-die the world round about us by being evermore in Him.

God be with us till we meet again; daily manna still provide us; God be with us till we meet again. Keep love's banner floating o'er us. Smite death's threatening wave before us. And pour Thy spirit upon the world for which Christ lived and died and lives forever. And all this we ask for the dear Redeemer's sake.

May the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, the love of God our Father, and the communion of the Holy Spirit rest upon us and upon all the Church of God in the whole world and upon the world itself evermore. Amen.

Adjournment.

The presiding Bishop then declared the Thirty-first Delegated General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church to be adjourned.

REPORTS ADOPTED

A. REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES

I. AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY

Report No. 1. General Report of the American Bible Society

Your Committee on the American Bible Society has had before it the Report of the Society, published in the Handbook, and supplementary information furnished by the officers.

We commend the Society for its record of achievement through the quadrennium. This includes (1) a notable increase in the distribution of the Scriptures, now averaging annually over ten million copies of Gospels, Testaments, and Bibles in more than forty countries and in two hundred languages; (2) the publication of the first Scriptures in three languages hitherto without any, of the first New Testament in two more, and of additional parts and revisions of earlier translations of six more languages, including five entire New Testaments; (3) an enlarged service to the blind, enabling them to secure the twenty-one or more volumes that compose the Bible for the blind, at 25 cents instead of a dollar a volume.

We record with regret the effect of reduced income upon the work, and note that the Methodist Episcopal Church has slipped down somewhat in the proportion of the missionary contributions which it gives to the Society and in its relative standing among the denominations supporting the Society. The Society's report reminds us that all of Africa, all of Latin America, all of Asia, and a large part of Europe are dependent upon the Bible Societies for the Scriptures and that in northwestern Europe and the English-speaking countries hundreds of thousands of folk would not have any part of the Bible if it were not for the Bible Societies.

Recommendations:

1. In view of the important place which the work of the American Bible Society has in the missionary enterprise of the church at home and abroad, we recommend that this cause continue to be presented to all our churches as one of the Official Benevolences, as has been done for nearly a century.

2. We recommend that the amount to be asked in behalf of, or allocated to the work of the American Bible Society be referred to such body as the General Conference may establish or continue in supervision of the askings of the benevolence Boards of the Church, such body to give all consideration to humanity's need for the indispensable Scriptures.

3. We recommend that the Bishops be given authority to appoint, from their own number or otherwise, upon the Advisory Council of the American Bible Society, a representative of the Methodist Episcopal Church with whom the Board of Managers may advise during the quadrennium concerning the budgets and work of the Society, the expense of such representation to be borne by the Society.

4. As it is impossible for any organization, national or local, to search out all those who do not possess the Scriptures and who need them, we urge that every local church, in the United States and across the seas, regard the distribution of the Scriptures as a normal part of its ministry to the community—especially to those to whom by ignorance, by poverty, or by indifference the Bible is unknown as the Book of redemption and life.

5. We recommend to all our members the observance of Universal Bible Sunday as an appropriate occasion to impress upon our people the place which the Bible should hold in national, family and personal life and the importance of its effective diffusion and use among all the peoples of the earth.

Adopted, May 24.

Amend ¶ 429, § 2, of the Discipline, by striking out the word "third" in the second line and substituting therefor the word "fourth," so that the whole section will read:

¶ 429, § 2. The Annual Meeting of the Book Committee shall be held on the fourth Wednesday in April, or at such other time as the Book Committee may determine, and special meetings may be held at such times and places as the Committee may appoint, or at the call of the Chairman, or upon written request of ten members of the Committee. At all meetings of the Book Committee a majority of the members shall constitute a quorum.

Amend ¶ 432, § 1, of the Discipline, by adding after the word "Commissions" in line 5, the words "the expenses of which have been authorized by the General Conference," so that the whole section as amended will read:

¶ 432, § 1. At the beginning of each quadrennium the Book Committee shall estimate the amount of money necessary to meet the expenses of the next General Conference, Judicial Conferences, General Conference Commissions, the expenses of which have been authorized by the General Conference, Committees of Investigation in the event of charges against a Bishop or a Missionary Bishop, and such other expenses as the General Conference may have authorized to be paid from this fund.

An equitable apportionment of the total amount estimated as necessary for the General Conference expenses shall be sent to the District Superintendents of each Annual Conference. The District Superintendents, within sixty days after the adjournment of their respective Annual Conferences in the first year of the quadrennium, shall make an equitable apportionment of the amount asked from their Districts for the quadrennium, and send a copy of this apportionment to the Charges of the District and to the Treasurer of the General Conference Expense Fund. Should any District Superintendent fail to make such an apportionment within the time named above, the Treasurer of the General Conference Expense Fund is authorized to make the apportionment on the basis ordered by the Book Committee. One-third of the full amount of the apportionment shall be raised in each of the three Conference years preceding the session of the General Conference.

The Treasurer of the General Conference Expense Fund shall be elected quadrennially by the Book Committee. His compensation shall be fixed by the Book Committee and he shall report to and be amenable to that Committee. He shall present a final detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures of this fund at each General Conference.

Adopted, May 10.

Report No. 2. Book Committee Reserve Fund

Your Committee, having considered Memorials Nos. 197, 380, 532, and 671, proposing to adopt a reserve policy to stabilize the payment of dividends to Conferences on a quadrennial basis instead of an annual basis, recommends non-concurrence.

In response to the above Memorials the Committee recommends that ¶ 442 be amended by adding at the end of the first sentence of the paragraph the following: "but nothing in this provision shall prevent the Book Committee from setting up a Special Reserve Fund for the stabilization of the distribution to the Annual Conferences if and when in the discretion of the Book Committee such a policy shall be deemed expedient." So that ¶ 442, as amended, shall read:

"The produce of the Book Concern, after the Book Committee has determined and retained a sufficient amount with which to carry on its affairs, shall be regularly applied to the benefit of the Traveling, Supernumerary and Retired Preachers, their wives, widows and children, but nothing in this provision shall prevent the Book Committee from setting up a Special Reserve Fund for the stabilization and equalization of the distribution to the Annual Conferences, if and when in the discretion of the Book Committee such a policy shall be deemed expedient. The division of the produce of the Book Concern available for distribution according to this paragraph shall be made equitably to the Annual Conferences upon the basis of the ratio of the total annuity years of the several Annual Conferences to the total annuity years of the entire Church, as shown in the reports made by the Conference Stewards to the Board of Pensions and Relief, such reports to be carefully checked by the Corresponding Secretary and properly certified to the Book Committee, which shall have charge of the distribution. In making this distribution the Publishing Agents shall forward to each Annual Conference, during its session, a statement showing the amount due the Conference, together with a draft for the same."

Adopted, May 20.

REPORT NO. 3. HISTORICAL SOCIETIES AND PUBLICATIONS OF BOOK CONCERN

Your Committee, considering Memorial No. 274, relative to furnishing Historical Societies, having libraries, free copies of the publications of the Book Concern, reports non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 4. SUPPORT OF BISHOPS

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 310, Part I, relative to Support of Bishops, recommends the following as a substitute for ¶ 374, which now reads:

"The Bishops are authorized to draw on the Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund for the amounts allowed to them, inclusive of properly authorized amounts for official travel, clerical assistance, and house rent, or maintenance, as provided by the Book Committee."

The substitute to read as follows:

"The Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund is directed to send monthly to each Bishop and Missionary Bishop, a check covering one-twelfth of the annual salary, and of the allowance for clerical assistance, and house rent or maintenance as provided by the Book Committee. The Treasurer shall also pay the claim for official travel of a Bishop or Missionary Bishop upon presentation of an itemized voucher as prescribed by the Book Committee. The Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund is further authorized and directed to forward to the Treasurer of the respective Central Conferences, quarterly in advance, the proportionate amount of the annual grant-in-aid, allowed to the several Central Conferences by the Book Committee toward the support of the General Superintendents or Bishops of such Central Conferences.

Adopted, May 20.

REPORT NO. 5. SUPPORT OF BISHOPS

Your Committee having considered Memorial No. 310, Part

2, relative to the support of Bishops, recommends the following as a substitute for ¶ 375, which now reads:

¶ 375. "The Book Committee shall apportion the aggregate sum required to be raised for these purposes among the Annual Conferences, on the basis of the total amount raised in the respective Annual Conferences for Pastoral Support, including rental value of the parsonages, but exclusive of missionary appropriations, and the Annual Conferences shall apportion the same to the several Districts."

The substitute to read as follows:

¶ 375. "The Book Committee shall apportion among the several Annual Conferences the sum required to be raised for these purposes, on the basis of the total amount raised in the respective Annual Conferences for Cash Pastoral Support, excluding rental value of the parsonages, and exclusive of missionary appropriations, and the Annual Conferences shall apportion the same to the several Districts and Charges, applying the percentage rate established by the Book Committee. The Bishops of the respective Areas and the District Superintendents are instructed to co-operate in the collection of the apportionments."

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 7. REDUCTION OF SALARIES OF CERTAIN OFFICIALS

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 592, relative to the Reduction of Salaries of Certain Officials, recommends that the substance of this Memorial be referred to the Book Committee for careful consideration.

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 8. ASSISTANCE IN PUBLISHING THE "OBSERVER"

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 494, asking for Continued Financial Assistance for The Observer in the Philippine Islands, recommends as follows:

"That a Grant of $1,250 per year be continued for the next quadrennium."

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 9. SPANISH EDITION OF 1932 "DISCIPLINE"

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 543, concerning the publication of a Spanish Edition of the Discipline of 1932, recommends as follows:

That the matter of publishing a Spanish Edition of the Discipline of 1932 be referred to the Book Committee.

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 10. DEPOSITORIES FOR BOOK CONCERN

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 716, recommends:

1. That ¶ 443, § 1, be amended by omitting the word "Full" before the words "Stock of the books of the General Catalogue."

The paragraph now reads, "There shall be Depositories for the sale and distribution of books and other publications of The Methodist Book Concern at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; Boston, Massachusetts; Detroit, Michigan; Kansas City, Missouri; Portland, Oregon, and San Francisco, California. The Book Committee shall establish other Depositories as the General Conference may from time to time direct. All Depositories, subject to the direction of the Book Committee, shall be under the supervision of the Executive Committee. Each Depository shall be supplied with a full stock of the books of the General Catalogue. Church School books, Church School supplies and Tracts, to be sold for the main Establishments supplying such stock.

2. That ¶ 443, § 2, which reads as follows: "After the expenses incident to the transportation, management, and sale of Books and publications at the Depositories shall have been paid out of the sales, the net proceeds for the same shall be forwarded to the Main Establishments by which they were supplied; to which Main Establishments full statements of the amounts of sales and expenses shall be made at the dates fixed, cash sales being distinguished from those on credit. Statements of the amount of stock shall also be made and sent to the Main Establishments when required," shall be stricken out.

The paragraph as amended shall read:

¶ 443. There shall be Depositories for the sale and distribution of books and other publications of The Methodist Book Concern at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; Boston, Massachusetts; Detroit, Michigan; Kansas City, Missouri; Portland, Oregon, and San Francisco, California. The Book Committee shall establish other Depositories as the General Conference may from time to time direct. All Depositories, subject to the direction of the Book Committee, shall be under the supervision of the Executive Committee. Each Depository shall be supplied with a stock of the books of the General Catalogue, Church School Books, Church School supplies, and Tracts, to be sold for the Main Establishments supplying such stock.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 12. The Methodist Book Concern and Benevolence Boards

Your Committee on Book Concern, having considered Memorial No. 250, relative to a closer co-operation between The Methodist Book Concern and the Benevolence Boards in the preparation and distribution of literature, recommends its reference to the Book Committee for careful consideration.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 13. Leadership Journal

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 555, relative to a Leadership Journal for use of Pastors and Leaders of our connectional institutions, recommends its reference to the Book Committee and the Benevolence Boards for their careful consideration.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 14. News Weekly

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 556, relative to publishing of a weekly or monthly magazine to disseminate news regarding current events and problems, recommends its reference to the Book Committee and the Publishing Agents without recommendation.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 16. Publishing Agents to Provide Devotional and Evangelistic Literature

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 775, relative to the Publishing Agents providing devotional and evangelistic literature, recommends that it be referred to the Book Committee.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 17. Report on Pages 1-68 of 1932 "Handbook"

Your Committee, having considered reports on pages 1-68 of the 1932 Handbook, being the reports of (a) the Book Committee, (b) the Publishing Agents, (c) the Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund, and (d) the Treasurer of the General Conference Expense Fund, presents the following report:

In accordance with the instructions of the General Conference, committing to the various Standing Committees the reports printed in the 1932 Handbook, your Sub-Committee on Real Estate and Accounting has reviewed these reports in so far as they relate to the financial and accounting activities of the Book Committee (Handbook, pages 1-68) and is pleased to give approval of and concurrence with the reports as printed.

The accounts of The Methodist Book Concern and of the Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund have been audited by public accountants of the highest standing, and the certificates of the auditors are appended (see pages 30 and 48 of the Handbook). The accounts of the Treasurer of the General Conference Expense Fund are stated to be "verified each year by a certified auditor," but no certificate of audit is shown (page 68). We believe that in the future the Treasurer of this Fund should include in his report the certificate or statement of the auditor with reference to the verification of the Fund.

The consolidated balance sheet of The Methodist Book Concern as of December 31, 1931, together with the certificate of the public auditor, is to be found on page 30 of the Handbook. This statement shows a healthy condition for the business, with a current ratio of 2.98 to 1, and with net working capital of approximately $1,475,000. The Book Concern is contingently liable as endorser on notes aggregating $165,000, representing funds borrowed for the account of the Episcopal Fund. Your Sub-Committee believes that the Book Concern should be relieved of lending its financial credit in order that funds may be obtained for the prompt payment—as important as that may be—of the salaries and allowances of the General Superintendents, Missionary Bishops, Retired Bishops and the Widows of deceased Bishops.

Various statistical and financial data relative to the activities of the Book Concern will be found on pages 31-46, inclusive. We commend the Book Committee on the fulness and completeness of the data here presented. It may be mentioned, however, that on page 33 there appear two captions which are not in accord with recognized business and accounting terminology—"Invested Surplus" should be changed to "Investments" and "Working Fund for the Conduct of the Business" to "Reserve for Working Capital," or a similar term. If this were done the comparative statement would then be in agreement with the correct terminology used in the certified balance sheet.

The summary and detailed reports of the Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund appear on pages 47-55, inclusive. We commend the Treasurer of this fund both on the completeness and the clearness of the accounts as stated. The total disbursements for the past quadrennium, January 1, 1928, to December 31, 1931, amounted to $1,821,407.37 (pages 52 and 55).

All of the reports for which the Book Committee is responsible reveal sound financial and conservative accounting practices. It is good for these great business activities to be in the hands of men who have both a knowledge of and experience in sound business methods, and also have the best interests of the Kingdom of God at heart. We believe that they have conducted well their stewardship, and we commend them for it.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 18. Liability of Book Concern for Funds Borrowed for Episcopal Fund

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 902, petitioning the General Conference to pass legislation that will safeguard the Book Concern from standing as security for money borrowed for the Episcopal Fund and the General Conference Expense Fund, presents the following report:

"We report that under the provisions of the Discipline of 1928 and legislation prior thereto, the Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund has been required to pay drafts of the Bishops for salaries and allowances granted them under the law of the Church. In order to carry out the provisions of the Discipline in this regard and to maintain the credit of the Episcopal Fund and the General Conference Expense Fund it has become necessary for the Book Concern to endorse notes to enable the Treasurers of these Funds to pay the said obligations. It should be pointed out that the General Conference at this session has authorized the Treasurer of the General Conference Expense Fund to borrow not to exceed $60,000 in order to pay the expense of this session, and that the Book Concern guarantees such borrowing."

And recommends:

"That the Book Committee use every effort to balance its budget of the Episcopal Fund and the General Conference Expense Fund, and to pay its indebtedness as soon as possible and to take every means to prevent the necessity of becoming the security for the further indebtedness of these funds."

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 19. GENERAL CONFERENCE EXPENSE FUND

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 861, relative to the report of the Treasurer of the General Conference Expense Fund for the quadrennium closing 1928, as given in the Handbook, and also the report for the present quadrennium, Recommends: "That when the accounts for the present quadrennium are closed, they be audited and filed with the Book Committee, to be presented at the next General Conference."

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 21. METHOD OF ELECTING TREASURER OF THE EPISCOPAL FUND

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 940, which proposes to amend ¶ 376 of the Discipline of 1928, which now reads:

"¶ 376. The Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund shall be elected quadrennially by the Book Committee; he shall charge the sums paid to the Bishops, and to the widows and minor or helpless children of deceased Bishops, to the Episcopal Fund; and all collections received from the different Charges for the support of the Bishops shall be credited to said fund. The Treasurer shall report annually to the Book Committee and Annual Conferences the amount received from the several Annual Conferences on account of said fund, and also the expenditures made; and shall also make to the General Conference a full and detailed exhibit of such receipts and expenditures for the preceding four years," so that it shall read:

"¶ 376. The Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund shall be elected quadrennially by the General Conference upon nomination of the Book Committee and/or twenty-five or more delegates representing no less than three Annual Conferences; he shall charge the sums paid to the Bishops, and to the widows and minor children of deceased Bishops, to the Episcopal Fund; . . ."

Recommends non-concurrence, in view of the fact that the Book Committee has heretofore elected one Publishing Agent as Treasurer and another as Assistant Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund to serve without salary.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 22. Advocates

Your Committee, having considered Memorials Nos. 4, 10, 17, 47, 54, 149, 248, 407, 519, 554, 569, 579, 665, 696, 701, 751, 771, 892, 942, and the report of the Book Committee on Advocates as given in the Handbook on pages 8 and 9, recommend the following:

1. There shall be four editions of The Christian Advocate, a National Weekly, circulated from New York, Cincinnati, Kansas City, and San Francisco.

2. The General Conference shall elect quadrennially by ballot four editors for The Christian Advocate, a National Weekly.

3. There shall be a Business Manager appointed by the Book Committee in consultation with the Publishing Agents without increased cost to The Advocate. He shall be responsible for the supervision of the manufacture, promotion, and selling of The Advocates.

4. There shall be an Editorial Board consisting of the four editors elected by the General Conference for The Christian Advocate, a National Weekly, and the Editor of The Christian Advocate, Southwestern Edition, and the Business Manager.

5. All costs—editorial, manufacturing, promoting, and selling—shall be budgeted on the basis of income. The Book Committee and the Publishing Agents shall see that at no time the deficit in the four Advocates shall exceed $50,000 annually, which item is based on a circulation of 132,000. If the deficit in any Advocate shall exceed its proportionate share of the maximum deficit, the Book Committee shall have authority to take such action as may seem desirable and wise, provided no Advocate shall be discontinued until at least three months' notice shall have been given the Bishop or Bishops of the patronizing territory, who shall be authorized to use all available means to save the paper to the patronizing territory. All costs of The Christian Advocate, Southwestern Edition, shall be kept at the lowest possible figure, so that the annual deficit may be materially reduced.

Nothing in this legislation shall be interpreted as preventing the editorial group from including such common features as illustrations, department and articles, as may seem to them to be desirable, in the interests of economy.

The Book Committee is authorized to issue from points of circulation editions of The Christian Advocate, a National Weekly, for distribution in the territory contiguous to Chicago, Pittsburgh and Portland, and a special edition for the white work of the South. These editions shall contain not to exceed eight pages of local matter.

Steps shall be taken immediately to reduce the production cost of The Epworth Herald and to increase its income by securing a greater circulation so that the annual deficit may be reduced to a point which will not force the discontinuance of this publication.

6. The National Methodist Press shall be continued at Washington, D. C. The Editor shall be elected by the General Conference, and the budget shall be materially reduced.

7. The Publishing Agents and the Editorial Board shall designate one Sunday each year as Good Literature Day, at which time the pastors shall be requested to present or have presented the merits of The Christian Advocate and receive subscriptions.

8. § 1. The General Conference shall elect quadrennially, by ballot, an Editor for The Christian Advocate, Southwestern Edition; an Editor for The Epworth Herald, who shall also edit all Epworth League publications under provisions hereinafter defined; and the Editor for Church School Publications under the provisions hereinafter defined.

§ 2. The General Conference shall elect by ballot an Editor for Der Christliche Apologete, to serve for such period of time as the Book Committee shall continue the publication.

9. Nominations of Editors to be elected by the General Conference shall be sent to the Secretary's desk in writing, and shall be by geographical designation in the case of editors of The Christian Advocate, a National Weekly.

10. There shall be an Editorial Council for conference and co-operation which shall be composed of all the official editors. This council shall meet once a year at the time and place of the annual meeting of the Book Committee, and shall be presided over by one of their number to be elected each year by the Editorial Council.

11. We direct and authorize the Editor of the Discipline to edit paragraphs of the Discipline to make them conform to the above legislation.

Adopted, May 23.

REPORT NO. 23. NOMINATIONS EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEMBERS OF BOOK COMMITTEE

Your Committee, having considered nominations for membership on the Executive Committee of the Book Committee, present the following nominations:

1. New York and Contiguous Territory: Ezra S. Tipple, 1940; William T. Rich, 1940.

2. Cincinnati and Contiguous Territory: Lewis N. Gatch, 1940.

3. Chicago and Contiguous Territory: Fred D. Stone, 1940; Henry S. Henschen, 1940.

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 24. RESOLUTIONS OF APPRECIATION OF DR. W. F. CONNER AND DR. CLAUDIUS B. SPENCER

The Committee on Book Concern begs to make this statement concerning two eminent servants of the Church:

The Book Committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church has had many distinguished chairmen, some of them laymen of wide influence, others ministers of signal ability and efficiency. Among the latter, Dr. William F. Conner, of the Pittsburgh Conference, who is now retiring, ranks among the best.

Doctor Conner became a member of the Book Committee in 1912, and three years later was elected Chairman. For seventeen years he has filled the office with rare distinction. Judicially-minded, of wide experience, impartial, he has presided over the meetings of the Book Committee with eminent satisfaction; and with comprehensive vision of the task committed to the Book Committee, he has administered the affairs of this Committee with discretion and skill. The Book Committee and the Church alike are indebted to Doctor Conner for his invaluable services.

Dr. Claudius B. Spencer, for forty years an Editor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, having formally requested that at the close of the present session of this General Conference he be released from the editorial responsibility which he has carried with such conspicuous success all these years, the Committee on Book Concern would express its grateful appreciation of the enviable record of this really great Editor. During his entire career as an editor he has glorified his task. Nothing to him has been trivial. No effort to secure the most efficient results has been too great. Cultured, with a fine sense of the province and power of a Christian weekly publication, with a zest for research and a passion for details, having a cultured style and a felicitous expression, with wide horizons and equally wide circles of friendships, and with numerous opportunities to study the vast world lands, Doctor Spencer has for more than a generation ranked among the great Editors of Christendom.

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 25. CONCERNING A MEMBER, OFFICER OR EMPLOYEE OF OUR BOARDS, COMMITTEES OR COMMISSIONS GUILTY OF MISCONDUCT

WHEREAS, It sometimes happens that a member, officer or employee of our Boards, Committees or Commissions is guilty of misconduct and by reason thereof greatly embarrasses and handicaps the members of such Boards, Committees and Commissions; and,

WHEREAS, There is no specific authority given in our law to such Boards, Committees or Commissions to remove persons thus guilty of misconduct; and,

WHEREAS, It is highly important that authority be given to the various Boards, Committees and Commissions to deal with such situations as they arise; now,

Therefore, Your Committee recommends that the following be adopted:

The various Boards, Committees or Commissions, elected, authorized or provided for by the General Conference shall have full power and authority to remove and dismiss at their discretion any member, officer or employee thereof who shall be guilty of any immoral conduct, breach of trust or other misconduct which any of said Boards, Committees or Commissions may deem sufficient to warrant such dismissal and removal, or who for any reason is unable to, or fails to perform the duties of his or her office. In the event that any member, officer or employee of such Board, Committee or Commission, including the Book Committee, elected, authorized or provided for by the General Conference, is indicted for or found guilty of any felony or misdemeanor by a verdict of any Trial Jury in any Court of any State or Country where such offense shall have been committed, or who shall plead guilty to or confess his or her guilt thereto, then and in that event, the Board, Committee or Commission of which he or she is a member, officer or employee shall be and it is hereby authorized to remove such officer, member or employee so charged or convicted, and the place so vacated shall be filled as provided for in the Discipline. The action of such Board, Committee or Commission in removing such member, officer or employee in the circumstances above set forth shall be final and such member, officer or employee so removed shall have no further authority to participate in any way in the affairs of such Board, Committee or Commission.

Adopted, May 25.

III. BOUNDARIES

Report No. 1

CHAPTER I

DETERMINING BOUNDARIES

(See ¶ 548, § 5.)

¶ 540, § 1. The General Conference shall appoint a Committee on Boundaries, consisting of two Delegates, one Ministerial and one Lay, from each Annual Conference, to be nominated by the Delegations severally, over which one of the Bishops shall preside, of which one of the General Conference Secretaries shall be the Secretary, and of which Committee thirty-five shall be a quorum. All matters pertaining to the Conference and Mission lines shall be referred to this Committee; and when the Committee shall have fixed the boundaries of all the Conferences and Missions, it shall submit its report to the General Conference, which shall immediately act upon the same as a whole without amendment and without debate; provided, however, that in accordance with the provisions of ¶ 97, § 2 (6), and ¶ 98, § 2 (6), Central Conferences and Central Mission Conferences may fix the boundaries of the Annual Conferences and Missions within their bounds, the General Conference first having determined the number of Annual Conferences that may be allowed in that field.

§ 2. Any two or more Conferences or Missions which may be mutually interested in the readjustment of their common boundaries, may at any time raise a Joint Commission, consisting of five members from each Conference or Mission directly interested; and the decision of such Joint Commission, in which it shall be necessary for a majority of the five members representing each of said Conferences or Missions to concur, when it shall be approved by the Bishop or Bishops who may preside at these Conferences or Missions at their session next ensuing, shall be final. The boundaries thus established shall be reported immediately by the Chairman of the Joint Commission to the Secretary of the General Conference, together with a copy of the proceedings of the Joint Commission; provided, however, that the Conference or Mission desiring the readjustment of their common boundaries, may bring the matter directly to the General Conference by means of memorials concerning such readjustment.

§ 3. No division or absorption of Annual Conferences or Mission Conferences, or the organization of new Annual Conferences, out of the territory already occupied by organized Conferences, shall be effected until the General Conference shall have approved such division, absorption, or organization; except in the case of Central Conferences and Central Mission Conferences as provided for in ¶ 97, § 2 (6), and ¶ 98, § 2 (6); and except in the case of foreign language Conferences, Mission Conferences, Missions, Churches, or Mission Centers in the United States, being merged with or transferred into English-speaking or other Conferences.

§ 4. No petition, resolution, or memorial involving readjustment of boundaries of Annual Conferences, or Mission Conferences or Missions, or the division or absorption of Annual Conferences or Mission Conferences, or Missions, or the organization of new Annual Conferences or Mission Conferences or Missions out of the territory already occupied by organized Conferences, shall be entertained by the Committee on Boundaries until legal notice (¶ 607) shall have been given by the Secretary of the Annual Conference or Conferences, the Mission Conference or Missions desiring such change, or by a majority of the District Superintendents and Mission Superintendents thereof to the Secretaries of all the Annual Conferences and Mission Conferences or Missions affected thereby; provided, however, that upon a petition of a majority of the delegates representing the Annual Conference or Conferences to be affected thereby, the Committee on Boundaries may adjust the matters involved in such petition, subject to the approval of all the Annual and Mission Conferences or Missions named in such petition at their annual sessions next succeeding the General Conference.

(4) The Northwest Kansas and the Southwest Kansas Conferences may, during the next quadrennium, unite to form one Conference, with the consent of the Bishop or Bishops presiding, and under the usual Disciplinary conditions.

(5) The Wisconsin and West Wisconsin Conferences may, during the next quadrennium, unite to form one Conference, with the consent of the Bishop or Bishops presiding, and under the usual Disciplinary conditions.

¶ 548. NOTATIONS

(1) The merger of the Des Moines and Iowa Annual Conferences under the name of Iowa-Des Moines Conference, by action of said Conferences through their joint Commission, and with the consent of the Bishops, is approved.

(2) The SAINT LOUIS and MISSOURI CONFERENCES are merged under the name of the Missouri Conference, the said new Conference to meet in the Fall for organization.

(3) The Committee on Boundaries received several Memorials calling for the appointment of a Commission to study and report on the matter of Conference Boundaries being adjusted to state and county lines. The Committee made this report: "We do not feel free to recommend the appointment of such a Commission, but we do desire to commend the principle involved. Whenever it is at all feasible, and consistent with local interests, we recommend to interested Conferences the wisdom of so adjusting their boundaries as to have them coincide with state and county lines."

(4) Enabling Acts are in force for one quadrennium only; no enabling act shall be put into effect if such action would reduce the membership of any Conference or Mission Conference to less than twenty-five.

(5) The Chairman and Secretary of the Committee on Boundaries shall be the final authority in any question as to what the action of the Committee on Boundaries has been.

IV. EDUCATION

Report No. 1. Reorganization of the Board of Education

The Committee on Education has carefully considered Memorial No. 403, submitted by the Educational Association of the Methodist Episcopal Church and requesting the General Conference "to define the functions of the Board of Education so that it shall be confined to the work in the general institutions of learning, the work of education for Negroes, and the work of the Wesley Foundations in non-Methodist Colleges and Universities."

The Committee recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 2. PROPOSED CHANGES IN LEGISLATION

The Committee on Education, having considered several Memorials suggesting changes in the legislation dealing with the Board of Education (Discipline 1928, Chapter VII), desires to present the following recommendations:

¶ 498, § 2, line 4. Omit the word "of" and insert therefor the words "related to." Also in line 16.

Line 11. Following the word "property" insert the words "and other."

Line 18. Omit the words "under the patronage of" and insert therefor the words "related to."

So that the section which now reads:

"§ 2. This Board shall have an advisory relation to the business and educational management of all the Schools, Colleges, Theological Schools, and other educational institutions of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States. It shall devise ways and means for the aid of such educational institutions; shall receive and disburse funds which from time to time may be committed to it for their aid; may serve as a Board of Reference or Arbitration; and when necessary it may take measures to protect the property interests of our educational institutions. It may establish and conduct Schools in the United States in communities in which facilities for education are not adequately provided. It shall seek to promote the religious training of students at institutions of the Methodist Episcopal Church and of Methodist students at tax-supported and other institutions not under the patronage of the Methodist Episcopal Church. It shall promote the cause of education throughout the Church by collecting and distributing statistics and other information, by furnishing plans for educational buildings, and by giving counsel concerning the location and organization of educational institutions. It may also serve as a general medium of communication between teachers desiring employment and institutions needing their services."

shall read:

"§ 2. This Board shall have an advisory relation to the business and educational management of all the Schools, Colleges, Theological Schools, Wesley Foundations, and other educational institutions related to the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States. It shall devise ways and means for the aid of such educational institutions; shall receive and disburse funds which from time to time may be committed to it for their aid; may serve as a Board of Reference or Arbitration; and when necessary it may take measures to protect the property and other interests of our educational institutions. It may establish and conduct Schools in the United States in communities in which facilities for education are not adequately provided. It shall seek to promote the religious training of students at institutions related to the Methodist Episcopal Church and of Methodist students at tax-supported and other institutions not related to the Methodist Episcopal Church. It shall promote the cause of education throughout the Church by collecting and distributing statistics and other information, by furnishing plans for educational buildings, and by giving counsel concerning the location and organization of educational institutions. It may also serve as a general medium of communication between teachers desiring employment and institutions needing their services."

¶ 498, § 3. Strike out the last sentence, so that the section which now reads:

"§ 3. In furthering ministerial education the Board shall co-operate with the Bishops in the work of the Commission on Courses of Study and shall nominate to the Bishops three members from the faculties of the educational institutions of the Church to represent the Board of Education on said Commission (¶¶ 259, 592, § 1). The work of the Commission shall be reported to the annual meeting of the Board of Education, and the Board shall serve as the repository of the records of the Commission. The Board shall provide funds as may be found necessary, and as may be approved by the Board, for the work of the Commission."

shall read:

"§ 3. In furthering ministerial education the Board shall co-operate with the Bishops in the work of the Commission on Courses of Study and shall nominate to the Bishops three members from the faculties of the educational institutions of the Church to represent the Board of Education on said Commission (¶¶ 259, 592, § 1). The work of the Commission shall be reported to the annual meeting of the Board of Education and the Board shall serve as the repository of the records of the Commission."

¶ 498, § 4. Omit the first three lines, except the last word "the" of the third line.

Line 7. Strike out the words "Church Schools" and insert therefor the words "religious education."

Line 12. After the word "shall" insert the words "establish standards and."

Line 15. Omit the words "in the Church" and insert therefor "and to a comprehensive and unified program of religious education in the local church. It shall provide for instruction concerning the significance and work of the Church and the functions performed by its various officers and boards." So that the section which now reads:

"§ 4. For the moral and religious education of our children and young people and for the promotion of knowledge of the Bible among all our people the Board shall have general oversight of the Church School[1] interests of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States and shall co-operate with other Boards in the interest of Church Schools outside the United States. The Board may establish Church Schools in needy communities in the United States and may contribute toward their support. It shall seek to inform the Church on all phases of Church School work; shall determine the curriculum of studies, including the courses for leadership training; and in general shall endeavor to give impulse and direction to the study of the Bible in the Church. The Board shall have direction of week-day religious education and shall promote the establishment of vacation and week-day Church Schools."

shall read:

"§ 4. The Board shall have general oversight of the Church School[1] interests of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States and shall co-operate with other Boards in the interest of religious education outside the United States. The Board may establish Church Schools in needy communities in the United States and may contribute toward their support. It shall seek to inform the Church on all phases of Church School work; shall establish standards and determine the curriculum of studies, including the courses for leadership training; and in general shall endeavor to give impulse and direction to the study of the Bible and to a comprehensive and unified program of religious education in the local church. It shall provide for instruction concerning the significance and work of the Church and the functions performed by its various officers and Boards. The Board shall have direction of week-day religious education and shall promote the establishment of vacation and week-day Church Schools."

¶ 498, § 7. Strike out the whole section. See ¶ 501, new § 5.

¶ 499, § 6. Line 5. Strike out the word "Twelve" and insert the word "Sixteen."

So that the sentence which now reads:

"Twelve members of the Board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

shall read:

"Sixteen members of the Board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

[1] The term "Church School" is understood to include "Sunday Schools," "Week-Day Church Schools," "Vacation Church Schools," "Leadership Training Schools."

¶ 501, § 3. Line 5. Insert after the word "institutions" the words "under the immediate control of the Board of Education."

Line 7. Add the following sentence: "The Board may also provide retiring allowances for salaried officers and other persons employed by the Board and may formulate conditions and regulations governing the granting and administration of such allowances, provided these conditions and regulations are in harmony with other General Conference legislation affecting pensions or retiring allowances."

So that the sentence which now reads:

"§ 3. The Board may solicit, create, and administer a Fund which shall aid in providing retiring allowances or pensions for the Presidents, Professors, and other members of the faculties of the educational institutions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and may adopt rules and regulations for the administration of each Fund."

shall read:

"§ 3. The Board may solicit, create, and administer a Fund which shall aid in providing retiring allowances or pensions for the Presidents, Professors, and other members of the faculties of the educational institutions under the immediate control of the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and may adopt rules and regulations for the administration of such Fund. The Board may also provide retiring allowances for salaried officers and other persons employed by the Board and may formulate conditions and regulations governing the granting and administration of such allowances, provided these conditions and regulations are in harmony with other General Conference legislation affecting pensions or retiring allowances."

¶ 501, § 4. At the beginning of the section insert the following sentences:

"Appropriations to institutions from funds at the disposition of the Board of Education shall not debar those institutions from soliciting aid from their supporting Conferences. Appropriations when made by the Board are intended to supplement contributions from the Conferences. Such contributions from the supporting territory must be regarded by the institutions as the more dependable source of income from the Church."

Line 2. Strike out the words "of Education."

Strike out the last two sentences of the section.

So that the section which now reads:

"§ 4. In making appropriations toward the support of educational institutions, the Board of Education shall give due consideration to the actual current needs of such institutions as shown in carefully prepared reports presented by them on budget forms provided by the Board. Institutions with limited endowment but rich in their contribution to the religious leadership of the Church are especially commended to the favorable consideration of the Board. Appropriations to institutions from funds at the disposition of the Board shall not debar them from soliciting additional support from their patronizing territory."

shall read:

"§ 4. Appropriations to institutions from funds at the disposition of the Board of Education shall not debar those institutions from soliciting aid from their supporting Conferences. Appropriations when made by the Board are intended to supplement contributions from the Conferences. Such contributions from the supporting territory must be regarded by the institutions as the more dependable source of income from the Church. In making appropriations toward the support of educational institutions, the Board shall give due consideration to the actual current needs of such institutions as shown in carefully prepared reports presented by them on budget forms provided by the Board."

¶ 501. Insert new § 5 to read as follows:

§ 5. In the fulfillment of its responsibility for the religious training of Methodist students at tax-supported and other institutions not related to the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Board shall make such appropriations as the funds at its disposition will warrant, for the maintenance of Wesley Foundations in the United States which have been established or which may hereafter be established at such institutions under conditions approved by the Board and which are conducted in harmony with the principles maintained by other institutions related to the Board. A Wesley Foundation making request for financial aid shall submit for consideration carefully prepared reports on budget forms provided by the Board. Appropriations by the Board toward the maintenance of Wesley Foundations shall not debar them from soliciting additional support from the territory of their patronizing Conferences."

¶ 501, § 5, to be numbered § 6. Add the following sentence:

"In no case shall the Board aid an institution which changes its classification until the University Senate shall have approved the proposed classification."

So that the Section which now reads:

"§ 5. No institution hereafter established or acquired shall be aided by the Board unless the Board shall have been consulted and shall have approved the establishment or acquisition of such institution, and the University Senate shall have approved its proposed classification before the project was undertaken."
shall read:

"§ 6. No institution hereafter established or acquired shall be aided by the Board unless the Board shall have been consulted and shall have approved the establishment or acquisition of such institution, and the University Senate shall have approved its proposed classification before the project was undertaken. In no case shall the Board aid an institution which changes its classification until the University Senate shall have approved the proposed classification."

¶ 501, § 6. To be numbered § 7.

§ 7. To be numbered § 8.

Line 6. After the word "receive" insert "as 'non-distributable' income."

Line 7. Strike out the words "and use the same for" and insert in their place the words "for its sole use in."

So that the section which now reads:

"§ 7. As a means of educating the Church on the needs of Negro schools, the Sunday nearest the birthday of Abraham Lincoln shall be observed as Lincoln Sunday, at which time the interests of Negro education shall be presented. The Board shall receive all moneys derived from the observance of this day and use the same for the advancement of Negro education."

shall read:

"§ 8. As a means of educating the Church on the needs of Negro schools, the Sunday nearest the birthday of Abraham Lincoln shall be observed as Lincoln Sunday, at which time the interests of Negro education shall be presented. The Board shall receive as 'non-distributable' income all moneys derived from the observance of this day for its sole use in the advancement of Negro education."

¶ 502, § 4. Line 5. Strike out the word "provided" and insert the words "so long as."

Line 6. After the word "annual" insert the words "Children's Day." Strike out the words "for the said purpose."

So that the section which now reads:

"§ 4. Each Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church shall be entitled to share equitably in the income of the 'Sunday School Children's Fund of 1866' and in the distribution of moneys annually received from the Children's Day collections; provided, the annual collections for the said purpose are taken in the Church Schools within its bounds and are forwarded to the Board of Education."

shall read:

"§ 4. Each Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church shall be entitled to share equitably in the income of the 'Sunday School Children's Fund of 1866' and in the distribution of moneys annually received from the Children's Day collections so long as the annual Children's Day collections are taken in the Church Schools within its bounds and are forwarded to the Board of Education."

¶ 503, § 1. Line 2. Strike out the words "under the patronage of" and insert in their stead the words "related to."

So that the sentence which now reads:

"¶ 503, § 1. The educational institutions in the United States under the patronage of the Methodist Episcopal Church are classified as follows:"
shall read:
"¶ 503, § 1. The educational institutions in the United States related to the Methodist Episcopal Church are classified as follows:"

¶ 503, § 2. Add the words:
"and no Annual or Mission Conference in the United States shall establish or acquire a Secondary School, College, University, or other educational institution or foundation unless the approval of the Board of Education has been previously obtained or unless there is reasonable assurance of financial support, as determined by the Board, sufficient for its equipment and maintenance in the classification approved for it by the University Senate."
So that the section which now reads:
"§ 2. No educational institution or foundation of the Methodist Episcopal Church shall hereafter be established until after its plans and organization have been submitted to the Board of Education for approval and to the University Senate for the approval of its proposed classification."
shall read:
"§ 2. No educational institution or foundation of the Methodist Episcopal Church shall hereafter be established until after its plans and organization have been submitted to the Board of Education for approval and to the University Senate for the approval of its proposed classification; and no Annual or Mission Conference in the United States shall establish or acquire a Secondary School, College, University, or other educational institution or foundation unless the approval of the Board of Education has been previously obtained or unless there is reasonable assurance of financial support, as determined by the Board, sufficient for its equipment and maintenance in the classification approved for it by the University Senate."

¶ 503, § 3. Strike out Line 7 and all words to the end of the sentence.
So that the section which now reads:
"§ 3. An Annual or Mission Conference, by vote of such Conference, may have under its patronage one or more Secondary Schools, Colleges, Universities, or other educational institutions, provided such institutions have the approval of the Board of Education and meet the requirements of the University Senate, and provided further that no Annual or Mission Conference in the United States may establish or acquire a Secondary School, College, University, or other educational institution, without the approval of the Board of Education or without reasonable assurance of financial support sufficient for its equipment and maintenance in accordance with the requirements of the University Senate. Institutions so placed under the patronage of one or more Annual or Mission Conferences are recognized as having a special appeal for financial support in the territory of such Conferences."

shall read:

"§ 3. An Annual or Mission Conference, by vote of such Conference, may have under its patronage one or more Secondary Schools, Colleges, Universities, or other educational institutions, provided such institutions have the approval of the Board of Education and meet the requirements of the University Senate. Institutions so placed under the patronage of one or more Annual or Mission Conferences are recognized as having a special appeal for financial support in the territory of such Conferences."

¶ 503, § 4. Strike out the last line of the section and insert therefor the words "first submitting its proposed organization and classification to the University Senate for approval and securing the consent of both the Senate and the Board of Education."

So that the last sentence of the section which now reads:

"No Theological School or Department of Theology in a College or University shall be established without first securing the approval of the Board of Education."

shall read:

"No Theological School or Department of Theology in a College or University shall be established without first submitting its proposed organization and classification to the University Senate for approval and securing the consent of both the Senate and the Board of Education."

¶ 513. Strike out ¶ 513 and insert therefor the following:

"IV. The University Senate

"¶ 504, § 1. The University Senate of the Methodist Episcopal Church shall be appointed quadrennially by the Bishops and shall be composed of fifteen persons, not members of the Board of Education, who are actively engaged in the work of education and are fitted by training and experience for the technical work of establishing standards and evaluating educational institutions in accordance with those standards. Of these fifteen there shall be not to exceed three representatives of Secondary Schools. If, in consequence of the retirement of a member from educational work or from any other cause, a vacancy occurs in the Senate during the quadrennium, it shall be filled by the Bishops at their next meeting.

"§ 2. The Senate shall establish and may assist in maintaining standards for the educational institutions and foundations related to the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States, and shall sustain an advisory relation to the Board of Education in matters of educational policy. It shall report to the Board, at least quadrennially, a proper classification for each educational institution or foundation in the United States which is related to the Methodist Episcopal Church, and on the basis of this report the Board of Education shall prepare its official lists of institutions and shall be governed in its administration.

"§ 3. The Senate shall determine and at least quadrennially review the minimum requirements to be maintained for admission and for graduation by the educational institutions related to the Church. The curriculum of studies shall provide in all cases for the study of the Bible.

"§ 4. At the request of the Corresponding Secretary of the Board of Education or at the written request of three of its own members, the Senate shall investigate the resources, scholastic requirements, and procedure of any designated educational institution or foundation claiming or adjudged to be under the patronage or supervision of the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and shall report to the Board its decisions as to whether or not the requirements and methods of that institution are such as to justify its official recognition by the Church.

"§ 5. At the request of the President or the Corresponding Secretary of any of the Benevolence Boards of the Church, or at the written request of three of its own members, the Senate shall examine the quality and standards of the educational work done under the auspices of such Board and shall report to the Board concerned its estimate of the merit of such educational work and its recommendations as to what changes or improvements, if any, should be adopted.

"§ 6. The Senate shall elect its own presiding officer and may appoint such committees and may delegate to them such powers as are incident to its work. The Executive Secretary of the Board of Education shall be the Executive Secretary of the Senate and the correspondence of the Senate shall be conducted by that Board."

"§ 7. The Senate shall meet annually at such time and place as it may determine. Special meetings may be called on the written request of five members or at the discretion of the presiding officer and the Executive Secretary.

"§ 8. The Board of Education shall provide in its annual budget, as it may deem sufficient, for the expenses of the Senate, except that expenses incurred by the Senate on behalf of any other of the Benevolence Boards of the Church shall be borne by the Board."

Insert a new heading: "V. Religious Education in the Local Church."

Transfer ¶ 504, § 3 to become § 1 of this paragraph which shall be numbered ¶ 505.

Insert the following to be numbered ¶ 505, § 2:

"The duties of the Committee on Religious Education (¶ 110, § 15) shall include a careful study of the religious education needs of the local Church and the means for meeting those needs; the correlation of the programs of educational agencies for the several age groups; the recommendation and approval of curricula in harmony with the findings of the Curriculum Committee and the standards adopted by the Board of Education; the supervision of the recruiting, selection, training, and assignment of the religious education workers in the local church."

So that the whole sub-division shall read:

"V. Religious Education in the Local Church

"¶ 505, § 1. The Director of Religious Education in the local Church shall have direction and supervision of all the educational interests of the local Church, subject to the approval of the Pastor and of the Committee on Religious Education. The Director of Religious Education shall work under the direction of the Pastor and the Quarterly Conference.

"§ 2. The duties of the Committee on Religious Education (¶ 110, § 15) shall include a careful study of the religious education needs of the local Church and the means for meeting those needs; the correlation of the programs of educational agencies for the various age groups; the recommendation and approval of curricula in harmony with the findings of the Curriculum Committee and the standards adopted by the Board of Education; the supervision of the recruiting, selection, training and assignment of the religious education workers in the local Church."

Sub-Head "IV. Church Schools" then becomes Sub-Head "VI. Church Schools." ¶ 504 becomes ¶ 506.

¶ 504, §§ 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9, becomes ¶ 506, §§ 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8.

¶ 504, § 6, Line 6. Strike out "especially" and insert therefor the word "only."

So that the section which now reads:

"§ 6. A Quarterly Conference may commission and publicly set apart to be Teachers of Religion in the Church Schools, persons who, by Christian experience, natural ability, and training, are properly qualified to be Teachers of Religion in the local Church Schools. This recognition shall be given especially to such persons as have met the educational requirements set forth in the standards established by the Board of Education. Appropriate forms for public recognition and commission shall be provided by the Board of Education."

shall read:

"¶ 506, § 5. A Quarterly Conference may commission and publicly set apart to be Teachers of Religion in the Church Schools, persons who, by Christian experience, natural ability, and training, are properly qualified to be Teachers of Religion in the local Church Schools. This recognition shall be given only to such persons as have met the educational requirements set forth in the standards established by the Board of Education. Appropriate forms for public recognition and commission shall be provided by the Board of Education."

¶ 504, § 8. Line 10. Strike out the words following "apportionment" to the end of the Section. See new ¶ 510, § 3. So that the section which now reads:

"§ 8. It shall be the duty of the Church School Superintendent, together with the local Church School Board, to observe Rally Day annually on the first Sunday of October, or on such other day as may be found more convenient, in each school under his care, and to take a collection in each school on that day for the use of the Board of Education in the advancement of Church School work. This collection shall be forwarded to the Board of Education, with credit on World Service apportionment. Annual Conferences whose Conference Board of Education is promoting a program of Religious Education under the leadership of a Director of Religious Education accredited by the Board of Education, shall receive annually from the Board of Education a sum not less than the total Conference Rally Day offering, or so much of said offering as may be needed for the promotion of the Annual Conference program."

shall read:

"¶ 506, § 7. It shall be the duty of the Church School Superintendent, together with the local Church School Board, to observe Rally Day annually on the first Sunday of October, or on such other day as may be found more convenient, in each school under his care, and to take a collection in each school on that day for the use of the Board of Education in the advancement of Church School work. This collection shall be forwarded to the Board of Education, with credit on World Service apportionment."

Sub-head "V. Epworth League" then becomes Sub-head VII.

¶ 505 becomes ¶ 507.

Line 7. Strike out "(1) Spiritual Work" and insert therefor "(1) Devotional Life."

Sub-head "VI. Co-operation, etc.," then becomes Sub-head VIII.

Insert new ¶ 509, as follows:

"IX. Methodist Brotherhood—Men's Work

"¶ 509, § 1. A Chapter of the Methodist Brotherhood is a voluntary fellowship of men in a local Church for the enlistment of the men of the Church and congregation in the total task of the Church. Among its duties shall be the cultivation of a spirit of co-operation among men's Bible classes, men's clubs, laymen's associations, and similar organizations in the interest of effective service.

"§ 2. In the fulfillment of its responsibilities for the supervision of Brotherhoods and Men's Councils, the Board of Education shall appoint a Commission on Men's Work consisting of thirty-six members, fifteen of whom shall be members of the Board, and twenty-one shall be chosen at large. The members of this Commission shall be selected for their special qualifications for developing policies and promoting the interests of the manhood of the Church.

"§ 3. The Board shall elect a Secretary of the Commission on Men's Work on the nomination of the Commission and with the approval of the Corresponding Secretary of the Board.

"§ 4. In planning the program of activities for Men's Councils the Secretary and the Commission shall co-operate with the other departments of the Board having to do with the religious education of adults. The program shall be presented to the Board for approval.

"§ 5. The Board shall include the program of the Commission among the interests for which provision is made in the budget askings to the Church and shall make such appropriations for the work of the Commission as the income of the Board may warrant, and, as may be approved by the Board, a part of the responsibility of the Commission shall be to inaugurate ways and means by which the Men's Work shall become self-supporting."

Sub-head "VII. Annual Conferences" then becomes Sub-head X.

¶ 507 becomes ¶ 510.

¶ 507, § 2. Strike out the reference to ¶ 504, § 8, and add the sentence: "Care should be taken to insure that persons so appointed shall have had sufficient specialized training and experience in Religious Education in local churches to meet the standards approved by the Board of Education."

¶ 507. After § 2 insert a new § 3 to read as follows:

"¶ 510, § 3. Annual Conferences whose Rally Day offering has been forwarded to the Board of Education and whose Conference Board of Education is promoting a program of religious education under the leadership of a Director of Religious Education accredited by the Board of Education, shall receive from the Board of Education a sum not less than the total Rally Day offering received from that Conference for the current Conference year, after deducting a pro rata share of the promotional expenses, or so much of said offering as may be needed for the maintenance of the Annual Conference program. An Annual Conference Board of Education making request for the return of the Rally Day offering shall submit for consideration carefully prepared reports on budget forms provided by the Board."

§ 3 to be numbered § 4.

§ 4 to be numbered § 5.

Sub-head "VIII. District Superintendents" then becomes Sub-head XI.

¶ 508 becomes ¶ 511.

After the first sentence, "It shall be the duty of the District Superintendent to bring the subject of Christian Education before the Quarterly Conference of each Pastoral Charge within his district,"

Insert the following:

"He shall inquire at least annually into the nature and effectiveness of the program of religious education of each charge within his district. He shall co-operate with the Annual Conference Director of Religious Education, where there is one, and with the Board of Education in promoting a program in harmony with the standards and recommendations of the Board of Education. Appropriate forms for the use of the District Superintendents shall be provided by the Board of Education."

Sub-head "IX. Pastors" becomes Sub-head XII.

Combine Sub-heads X and XI and paragraphs under a single sub-head to read:

"XIII. Editors of Church School Publications and Epworth League Publications."

Rewrite ¶ 510, § 2 and ¶ 511, § 2 in a single section.

Add a new section to read as follows:

"The Editor of Church School Publications and the Editor of Epworth League Publications shall provide for the co-ordination of curricula prepared for Juniors and Young People in the Church School and the Epworth League in harmony with the unified program of the Board of Education."

So that the whole Sub-head will read:

"XIII. Editors of Church School Publications and Epworth League Publications.

"¶ 513, § 1. The Editor of Church School Publications, elected quadrennially by the General Conference, shall prepare and edit all books and other literature included in the Church School curriculum and such other Church School Publications as are recommended by the Curriculum Committee and approved by the Board of Education.

"§ 2. The Editor of The Epworth Herald, elected quadrennially by the General Conference, in addition to his duties as Editor of The Epworth Herald, shall have editorial supervision of such books and other literature as may be recommended by the Curriculum Committee and approved by the Board of Education for use in local Chapters and in Institutes of the Epworth League.

"§ 3. The Editor of Church School Publications and the Editor of The Epworth Herald shall be ex-officio members of the Curriculum Committee of the Board of Education and of the Board's Standing Committee having supervision of Church Schools and the Epworth League.

"§ 4. The Editor of Church School Publications and the Editor of Epworth League Publications shall provide for the co-ordination of the curricula prepared for Juniors and Young People in the Church School and the Epworth League in harmony with the unified program of the Board of Education."

Sub-head "XII. Publications" then becomes Sub-head XIV.

¶ 512 becomes ¶ 514.

Sub-head "XIV. Co-operation in Religious Education" then becomes Sub-head XV.

¶ 514 becomes ¶ 515.

Adopted, May 23.

REPORT NO. 3. USE OF STUDENT LOAN FUND APPROPRIATION EDUCATIONAL FUNDS

The Committee on Education, to which was referred Memorials No. 51 and No. 211, reports that after consideration, it is the opinion of the Committee that the actions proposed are amply provided for in the present legislation.

The Committee therefore recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 4. NOMINATION DEPARTMENT SUPERINTENDENTS CHURCH SCHOOL

The Committee on Education considered Memorial No. 64, in which the Central Pennsylvania Conference memorialized the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church as follows:

That we amend ¶ 504, § 5, reading as follows:

"The teachers in a Church School shall be nominated by the Superintendent with the concurrence of the Pastor, and shall be elected annually by the local Church School Board. The place of any teacher or officer may be declared vacant by a vote of two thirds of the local Church School Board, for habitual neglect, inefficiency, improper conduct, or for teaching contrary to the accepted doctrines of the Methodist Episcopal Church," by inserting in line 1, immediately after the word "teachers," the following: "and Department Superintendents," so that the amended paragraph shall read:

"The teachers and Department Superintendents in a Church School shall be nominated by the Superintendent with the concurrence of the Pastor, and shall be elected annually by the local Church School Board. The place of any teacher or officer may be declared vacant by a vote of two thirds of the local Church School Board, for habitual neglect, inefficiency, improper conduct, or for teaching contrary to the accepted doctrines of the Methodist Episcopal Church."

The Committee recommends concurrence.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 7. On Wesley Foundations

The Committee on Education, having considered Memorials Nos. 18, 546, 608, and 741, recommends:

First, That the Board of Education shall have general supervision over Wesley Foundations, which have for their purpose the religious care and training of Methodist students in tax-supported, independent, and other educational institutions not related to the Methodist Episcopal Church;

Second, The Wesley Foundations shall suffer no diminution of funds from connectional sources as the result of the transfer from administration by a joint committee representing the Board of Education and the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension to administration by the Board of Education.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 9. Revision of Discipline and Courses of Study

The Committee on Education considered the following Memorials: Nos. 317, 381, 774, 297. The Committee reports concurrence in the following revisions:

Insert in ¶ 81 a new section, No. 41:

(a) What Local Preachers acting as full time supply pastors are taking the Course of Study?

In the First Year.

In the Second Year.

In the Third Year.

In the Fourth Year.

(See ¶ 187, No. 7.)

(b) Was the character of each Local Preacher who is a supply pastor examined?

(See ¶ 270, No. 2.)

(c) What Local Preachers have completed satisfactorily the studies prescribed?

For Deacon's Orders.

For Elder's Orders.

(Note change in numbers of succeeding sections in § 81; § 14 becomes 15, 15 becomes 16, etc.)

In ¶ 179, No. 2 (2), which reads as follows:

"Also at and during the same time have been regular students in one of our Theological Seminaries or in other Theological Seminaries whose standing is approved by our University Senate."

Substitute the following:

"Also at and during the same time have been regular students in one of our Theological Seminaries or in other schools of Theology of recognized standing as admit only graduates of college as degree students and as are approved in respect of their requirements by the University Senate."

In ¶ 179 insert a new No. 3 as follows:

"Those who (1) have been Local Preachers for two full years; (2) who have been regular supply pastors for the same period; and (3) shall have completed the first two years of the Conference Course of Study, together with the Studies indicated under the Examination for Admission on Trial, under the Conference Board of Ministerial Training."

(Note changes in numbers of succeeding sections in ¶ 179; 3 to 4; 4 to 5.)

In ¶ 182, insert a new No. 2 after No. 1 to read as follows:

"Those Local Preachers who (1) shall have been ordained Deacons under the provisions of ¶ 179 No. 3 (as indicated above); who (2) shall have been serving as regular supply pastors for two full years since their ordination; and (3) shall have satisfactorily completed the full Conference Course under the Conference Board of Ministerial Training."

(Note change of number of succeeding sections of ¶ 182; 2 becomes 3, 3 to 4, 4 to 5 and 5 to 6.)

¶ 185, No. 2, which reads:

"No candidate shall be received in an Annual Conference on trial until he shall have completed a Course of Study equivalent to the University Senate requirements for admission to college."

Shall be amended by substituting the following:

"No candidate shall be Received on Trial in an Annual Conference until he shall have met the requirements for admission to college as recognized by the University Senate. Beginning with the Fall Conferences of 1934, one full year of college work shall be required as condition for Admission on Trial, and beginning with the Fall Conferences of 1936 the requirement shall be two years of college work in an approved institution."

Add a new section here as follows, making provision for proper numbering of all of the sections:

"Central Conferences shall fix the standards and all other requirements for admission to the Annual Conferences within their borders, and all other Annual Conferences and Mission Conferences outside of the United States of America, shall fix their own standards and requirements for admission."

¶ 185, No. 5, which reads:

"No candidate shall be permitted to remain longer than four consecutive years on Trial, nor longer than eight consecutive years in the Course of Study, after being received on Trial, unless extension of time shall be recommended by a two-thirds vote of the Board of Ministerial Training and authorized by a two-thirds vote of the Annual Conference. In no case shall a person have a larger total than ten years in the Course of Study, and any person failing to complete the Course within this ten-year period shall not be permitted to join a Conference again on Trial. This section, however, shall not apply for the period of time in which the candidates are carrying regular work in residence in an approved Theological Seminary," shall be amended by substituting the following:

"No candidate shall be Advanced in his Studies who is conditioned in more than one book upon which examination is required nor in more than two books in the collateral studies. Any member on Trial who does not complete the first two years of the Course of Study within four years shall be discontinued, and any full member who fails to complete the entire four years of the Course of Study within eight years shall be located unless, in either case, extension of time shall be recommended by a two-thirds vote of the Board of Ministerial Training and authorized by a two-thirds vote of the Annual Conference. In no case shall a person have a larger total than ten years in the Course of Study and any person failing to complete the course within this ten-year period shall not be permitted to join a Conference again on Trial. This section, however, shall not apply for the period of time in which the candidates are carrying regular work in residences in an approved theological seminary."

¶ 185, No. 6, shall be added:

"Candidates who have made up deficiencies in their studies for which they have been conditioned, and who have completed an additional full year of work, may be advanced for these two years in the Course of Study at the same session of the Conference."

¶ 186, No. 1, the last sentence of which reads:

"This section shall apply only to Graduate Schools of Theology."

Shall be amended to read:

"This section shall apply only to Schools of Theology of recognized standing which admit only graduates of colleges as degree students and are approved by the University Senate in respect of their requirements."

¶ 186, No. 5, which reads:

"Credits from other than Methodist Episcopal Schools of Theology may be accepted in all subjects except the Discipline and Christian Doctrine, but this shall apply only to Graduate Schools of Theology of recognized standing."

Shall be amended by adding:

"As defined in No. 1."

¶ 186, No. 7, which reads:

"Credits shall be accepted only on the basis of certificates issued by the schools in question, stating the time when the courses were taken and the standing attained, the latter to be not less than seventy (70) on the scale of 100."

Shall be amended by adding:

"The acceptance of credits shall be determined not by individual examiners but by the Board of Ministerial Training in each Conference."

and further amended by inserting after the word "credits": "as provided in No. 2 to 5."

The new paragraph reading thus:

"Credits, as provided in § 2 to § 5, shall be accepted only on the basis of certificates issued by the schools in question, stating the time when the courses were taken and the standing attained, the latter to be not less than seventy (70) on the scale of 100. The acceptance of credits shall be determined not by individual examiners but by the Board of Ministerial Training in each Conference."

¶ 187, No. 1, which reads:

"In each Annual Conference a Board of Ministerial Training for students in the Conference Courses of Study shall be appointed by the Presiding Bishop, consisting of not less than eight nor more than twenty-four members, care being taken to select men with special qualifications for the work, to which shall be referred all preachers, both traveling and local, pursuing the Course of Study with a view of ordination or Conference membership. This Board shall be continued for a term of four years, subject to reappointment. Vacancies shall be filled by the Bishop at each session of the Annual Conference."

Amend by omitting:

"for students in the Conference Course of Study."

Inserting after the words "by the Presiding Bishop" the following: "After consultation with the Chairman of the Board of Ministerial Training of the previous quadrennium or a committee of the Board."

In place of the numbers "eight" and "twenty-four" substitute the numbers "six" and "sixteen."

Omit "to which shall be referred" to end of sentence, and insert after Board, "shall be appointed at the first session following the General Conference and continued for a term of four years, subject to reappointment."

Also insert "The Board shall have charge of the studies of all men who are seeking to be Received on Trial or are taking the Conference Course of Study, of all who are taking the Local Preachers' Course, and of all Local Preachers who are seeking ordination."

so that the amended paragraph shall read:

"In each Annual Conference the Presiding Bishop shall appoint a Board of Ministerial Training after consultation with the Chairman of the Board of Ministerial Training of the previous quadrennium or a committee of the Board, consisting of not fewer than six nor more than sixteen members, care being taken to select men with special qualifications for the work. This Board shall be appointed at the first session following the General Conference and continued for a term of four years, subject to reappointment. The Board shall have charge of the studies of all men who are seeking to be Received on Trial or are taking the Conference Course of Study, of all who are taking the Local Preachers' Course, and of all Local Preachers who are seeking ordination. Vacancies shall be filled by the Bishop, after consultation with the Chairman of the Board of Ministerial Training or a committee of the Board, at each session of the Annual Conference."

¶ 187, No. 3, which reads:

"The Chairman shall assign to each instructor the books or subjects in which he is to give instruction by correspondence and final examination. Vacancies occurring in the Board of Ministerial Training during the year may be filled by the Chairman until the ensuing Annual Conference."

To be amended by inserting after "The Chairman" the words "after consultation with the Board."

the paragraph then reading:

"The Chairman, after consultation with the Board, shall assign to each instructor the books or subjects in which he is to give instruction by correspondence and final examination. Vacancies occurring in the Board of Ministerial Training during the year may be filled by the Chairman until the ensuing Annual Conference."

¶ 187, No. 4, which reads:

"Examinations shall be in writing, and all work shall be graded on the scale of 100. All 'required written work' indicated in the 'Directions and Helps' shall be marked on the same scale. The final mark in a subject where there are both examinations and required written work shall be determined by averaging the marks on these two. The minimum passing mark in any subject shall be 70." To be amended by omitting the last sentence and adding: "No student shall be passed in any subject whose mark either in the examination or in the written work is less than 70," the paragraph then reading as follows:

"Examinations shall be in writing, and all work shall be graded on the scale of 100. All 'required written work' indicated in the 'Directions and Helps' shall be marked on the same scale. The final mark in a subject where there are both examinations and required written work shall be determined by averaging the marks of these two. No student shall be passed in any subject whose mark either in the examination or in the written work is lower than 70."

¶ 187, No. 7, which reads:

"Local Preachers who are Supplies and who are giving their full time to Pastoral work under the District Superintendents shall be required to take the Local Preachers' Course of Study year by year, under the Annual Conference Board of Ministerial Training, this rule to apply to all men under forty years of age and likewise to all Local Preachers whose appointments began subsequent to the Spring of 1920. Any Supply Pastor who shall refuse to observe the requirements of this section shall not be employed by the District Superintendent."

amend to read:

"Local Preachers who are Supply Pastors and who are giving their full time to Pastoral work under the District Superintendents shall be required to take the Local Preachers' Course of Study year by year, under the Annual Conference Board of Ministerial Training, and while pursuing their studies shall attend the session of the Summer Schools for Ministerial Training where such schools are provided. These rules shall apply to all except those employed prior to 1920. Any Local Preacher acting as Supply Pastor who fails to observe the requirements of this section or who shall fail to complete the Course of Study within eight years shall not be employed by a District Superintendent."

¶ 190. Insert in parenthesis at the head of this paragraph:

("Local Preachers who are Supply Pastors are advised to take the Conference Course of Study, in which case the studies listed under the Examination for Admission on Trial are to be included.")

¶ 191, add No. 3.

"Local Preachers who shall have completed satisfactorily the Conference Course of Study shall be eligible to Deacon's and Elder's Orders under the conditions indicated in ¶ 179, No. 3, and ¶ 182, No. 2."

¶ 270, No. 2, add:

"But so long as they are regular Supply Pastors giving full time service they shall be responsible to the Annual Conference in which they receive an appointment as well as to the District and Quarterly Conference of the church in which they are serving. (See ¶ 187, No. 7.)

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 10. American University

The Committee on Education has considered Memorial No. 841 from Benjamin W. Meeks, of Baltimore Conference, and others, asking that special action be taken by the General Conference to approve the efforts of the Trustees of the American University to extend the influence of this University. Your Committee is very sympathetic with the efforts of this Methodist Institution, but does not feel that it is wise to single it out for special approval, and consequently respectfully recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 12. Educational Institutions for Negroes

Your Committee, to which has been referred the section of the report of the Board of Education concerning Educational Institutions for Negroes, would report as follows:

(1) There is a phenomenal increase in the enrollment in Negro Colleges throughout the South, resulting, in our own schools alone, in an enrollment on the college level of 2,995 in June, 1931, as against 595 enrolled ten years ago. This trend indicates an unprecedented opportunity for training the teachers of the Negro race, who in turn will take their places in the lower schools.

(2) There is a significant change in the attitude of Southern white people concerning Negro education, in that increasingly they are willing to assume positions of responsibility in connection with the schools, such as membership on Boards of Trustees; also, that they are more willing to favor proper standards for Negro Education.

(3) The economic conditions of the Negroes themselves make it impossible to expect from them anything approaching adequate support of their institutions.

(4) An important function of our Church, in view of the increasing interest of some of the Southern States in Negro education, is to act as a standardizing agency for educational work among Negroes. Therefore, in view of these conditions and the record of successful work now in operation, be it resolved, that we recommend to the Board of Education that there be no backward steps in dealing with the work of this department, that the department of Educational Institutions for Negroes receive no smaller proportionate share of the benevolent funds from the Church at large, and that if possible a larger appropriation be made to this work.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 13. Teachers in Methodist Educational Institutions

Your Committee on Education has considered Memorial No. 537 from the Lay Electoral Conference of the Wilmington Annual Conference and makes report on that section of the Memorial which properly concerns the work of the Committee on Education and which opposes the employment as members of the faculties of our Methodist Schools of any who do not believe in and teach and practice the fundamental doctrines as outlined in our creed and Discipline. Your committee is deeply sympathetic with the spirit of this proposal and requests the General Conference, by its vote, to commend great care in selecting members of the faculty to all our educational institutions.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 15. Maintenance and Stabilization of the Educational Institutions for Negroes

Memorial 483, concerning Maintenance and Stabilization of Educational Institutions for Negroes, was considered and we report concurrence in § 2 of that Memorial, which reads:

"We memorialize the General Conference to establish the principle that the Educational work of the Church is one of its major activities and that accordingly the Board of Education share the benevolent giving of the Church proportionately with other Boards."

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 16. For Improvement and Perfection of the Education of Colored People in Schools for Negroes of the Church

Your Committee having considered Memorial 754, concerning the Improvement of Education for Colored People in Schools of the Methodist Episcopal Church, reports as follows:

We recommend to the Board of Education (1) that, to the fullest extent possible, scholarships and special training be provided for the most promising graduates of our institutions for Negroes, in order to prepare them for teaching and administrative positions in institutions serving the Negro Race. (2) that endowment and other support be solicited for all our institutions as a group or system, as well as for individual schools, in order that the general level of services may be raised more uniformly. (3) that supervision by the Board be directed increasingly toward the local needs of the race in

(a) Religious Education.

(b) Technical problems of administration, teaching and promotion.

(4) that these features be incorporated in a program for our Institutions for Negroes and set forth before the constituency in a way that will arouse confidence and secure support, without creating undue expectancy which might result in discouragement. (5) that our Methodist constituency be urged to assist, by every legitimate means, the graduates of our schools in securing, both within our system and in all other fields of service, positions worthy of their training.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 17. Haven Teachers' Conference

Your Committee has considered Memorial 782, concerning Haven Teachers' College, and recommends that this memorial be referred to the Board of Education for study.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 18. Welfare and Training of Children and Youth

Your Committee on Education having considered Memorial No. 577, relating to the welfare and training of children and youth, calls attention to the fact that the Financial Reports show that approximately one-fifth of the total distributable World Service receipts are derived from the contributions of the Church Schools and that through a period of 8 years there has been a steady reduction in funds available for promotion and supervision of Church Schools and similar interests in the local church to a point where the efficiency of the Church is seriously affected. Your Committee believes that failure properly to support a program of cultivation through the Church Schools and Epworth Leagues will seriously affect the character and spiritual life of the members and the success of the missionary, educational, and philanthropic program of the entire Church and will be reflected not only in decreased giving in the immediate future, but also in later years.

We, therefore, recommend that in making its allotment to the Board of Education the World Service Commission be requested to give attention to the generous giving of the Church Schools and the need of additional support.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 19. Religious Education

Your Committee on Education considering Memorials No. 844 and No. 957 reports as follows:

Whereas, There is a growing sense of need for a rich worship experience on Sunday morning for each age group; and,

Whereas, In many churches the attempt to develop such a worship experience in the Church School, especially with the older groups, often duplicates the Service of Public Worship, with many undesirable results; and,

WHEREAS, A united and related experience of Worship, Study and Fellowship is recognized by many as being desirable; and,

WHEREAS, An increasing number of churches are now experimenting with satisfying results with various forms of services which combine the Church School and Public Worship; and,

WHEREAS, We believe that the principle of grade worship is sound, and that an opportunity should be provided for separate worship experiences for children, youth and adults wherever the building facilities make it possible; and,

WHEREAS, There is a desire upon the part of many pastors and superintendents, especially of the smaller churches, for guidance in setting up such services of worship that are in keeping with the graded principle and at the same time do provide a correlated experience on Sunday morning for these age groups; and,

WHEREAS, In some sections of the Church there is a demand that such orders of service suitable for such situations shall be authorized by the General Conference; be it

Resolved, That the Board of Education and the Commission on Worship be instructed to prepare an order of Worship which will incorporate the four major items of Worship, Sermon, Study and Fellowship, which may be suggestive especially to small churches desiring to correlate their present Church School and preaching services.

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 20. MINISTERS OF EDUCATION

Your Committee, having before it Memorial No. 328, addressed to the subject, "Ministers of Education," recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 21. UNIFYING EDUCATIONAL FUNCTIONS

Your Committee on Education having considered Memorial No. 909, which seeks to unify certain editorial and administrative functions under the Board of Education, votes non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 22. ENCOURAGING CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

Your Committee on Education, considering Memorial No. 478, reports as follows:

Alarmed over the increasing numbers of men and women dropping out of the membership of the Church, and at the apparent religious ignorance of great numbers within her ranks; and believing that much of this condition is due to the failure of the Church to provide adequate training and personal oversight of those entering membership;

Resolved, That the Curriculum Committee of the Board of Education be requested by the General Conference to prepare a graded course of instruction providing for two distinct groups, and with a membership initiation for each group that will make forever memorable the occasion of their uniting with the Church,

(a) The first series to cover the Junior and Intermediate ages.

(b) The second to cover High School and adult ages.

Resolved, Second: That we request those responsible for preparing the course that they keep in mind such objectives as:

(a) What it means to be a Christian, and what is involved in really following Christ.

(b) The origin of the Church, its development, and its contribution to civilization.

(c)) The bringing of candidates for membership into appreciative contact with the great characters of the Church-Martyrs, Reformers, Missionaries and Statesmen.

(d) The present scope of the Church, and her purpose and mission in the world.

Resolved, further: That such courses be placed at the disposal of all as a preliminary decision to become followers of the Christ and members in the Church.

Your Committee recommends that Memorial 478 be referred to the Board of Education for consideration.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 23. Board of Education Staff

Your Committee on Education, considering Memorial No. 796, reports as follows:

The great reduction of income to our general benevolences during the past quadrennium, while imperilling directly every enterprise, has become an additional threat to every cause insofar as it has seriously weakened those agencies dealing directly with the educational work of the local church. These agencies are basic to all of our other enterprises. The depletion of staff personnel, both white and colored, in the Division of Religious Education in the Local Church, represents a loss which should at the earliest possible moment be restored, for the sake of the total impact of the Church upon the individual and social life of our time.

The special needs of our colored Conferences in their programs of Religious Education in Church Schools and Epworth Leagues should be referred to the Board of Education for their sympathetic consideration during the coming quadrennium.

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 25. EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS REVISED

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 31. STUDY OF RELATION OF CHURCH AND STATE

Your Committee on Education, having carefully considered Memorial No. 463, reports:

We recommend that the Board of Education make a study of the relation of Church and State, particularly with regard to the education of young people. Because of the constantly expanding program of the public schools our churches are finding it increasingly difficult to enlist our young people in activities that require time during the week. If the public schools are entitled to all the time of our young people during the week, then our situation as a Church is almost hopeless. If, on the other hand, the Home, the Church, and the State, each deserves a suitable amount of time for the making of its distinctive contribution to the lives of young people, then some understanding ought to be arrived at whereby this adequate opportunity will be assured. Unless the public schools, with their vast power, recognize this need and provide for it, the only way the Church can adequately care for the moral and religious instruction of the young will be through parochial schools.

We prefer not to be driven to this alternative. Our preference is that these great fundamental agencies shall co-operate in the common task, each making the contribution it is best fitted to make, and under feasible conditions.

In addition to the young people now in our Church Schools, there is a vast number, about fifty per cent in round numbers, who are not under the direct influence of the Church at all. This constitutes another problem.

We recommend that the Board of Education study:

1. What is being done.

2. What can and ought to be done in this matter and make specific recommendations based on the united judgment of public schools and Church authorities.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 33. Appropriations for Schools and Colleges

Your Committee on Education, having considered Memorial No. 814, having to do with Appropriations for Schools and Colleges, recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

V. EPISCOPACY

Report No. 1. Age of Retirement of Bishops

1. Amend the Discipline, ¶ 265, § 1, by striking out the word "seventy" in line 2, and substituting therefor the word "sixty-seven," so that the section as amended shall read:

¶ 265, § 1. "A General Superintendent who has reached the age of sixty-seven years may be released from the obligation to travel through the Connection at large, and from that of residential supervision, by giving notice in writing to the Bishops that he so elects, and when a General Superintendent has been released in this manner, the Bishops shall report the fact to the Book Committee and to the next General Conference."

2. Amend the Discipline, ¶ 265, § 2, by striking out the words "nearest his seventy-third birthday" in the second line and substituting therefor the words "whose seventieth birthday precedes the first day of June in the year in which the General Conference is held shall at that Conference," so that the section as amended shall read:

¶ 265, § 2. "A General Superintendent whose seventieth birthday precedes the first day of June in the year in which the General Conference is held shall be released at the close of that Conference from the obligation to travel through the Connection at large and from residential supervision."

3. Amend the Discipline, ¶ 266, § 1, by striking out the word "seventy" in the second line, and substituting therefor the word "sixty-seven" so that the section as amended shall read:

¶ 266, § 1. "A Missionary Bishop who has reached the age of sixty-seven years may be released from the obligation to travel through the Foreign Mission Field for which he was elected by giving notice in writing to the Bishops, the Board of Foreign Missions and the Book Committee; and when a Missionary Bishop has been released in this manner, the Bishops shall report the fact to the next General Conference."

4. Amend the Discipline, ¶ 266, § 2, by striking out the word "seventy-three" and substituting therefor the words "whose seventieth birthday precedes the first day of June in the year in which the General Conference is held shall be released at the Conference" so that the Section as amended shall read:

¶ 266, § 2. "A Missionary Bishop whose seventieth birthday precedes the first day of June in the year in which the General Conference is held shall be released at the close of that Conference from the obligation to travel through his field and from residential supervision."

Adopted, May 11. (Substitute for Majority and Minority Reports. See Journal, pp. 280-284.)

REPORT NO. 2. EMERGENCY ASSIGNMENT OF RETIRED BISHOPS

After considering Memorials 110, 153, 158 and others bearing on the subject of Provision for Episcopal Supervision in case of a Death or other Emergency, we beg to submit the following proposals:

Amend ¶ 265 of the Discipline, by adding a new section as follows:

¶ 265, § 4. "A General Superintendent who has been retired under the provisions of §§ 1, 2, or 3 of this Paragraph may, on the vote of the Bishops, be appointed to take charge of an Area, or parts of an Area, in case of the death, resignation or disability of the Resident Bishop, or because of judicial procedure, this appointment not to continue beyond the next session of the General Conference."

Also to amend ¶ 267, § 1, of the Discipline, by adding at the close the words:

"In case, however, a Retired Bishop shall be appointed by the Bishops to 'take charge of' a vacant Area, or parts of an Area, under the provision of ¶ 265, § 4, he may preside over sessions of an Annual Conference, Mission Conference or Mission; make appointments; and become a voting member of the Bishops.

"His support during such assignment shall be determined by the Book Committee."

So that ¶ 265, § 1, as amended, shall read:

¶ 265, § 1. A General Superintendent who has reached the age of sixty-seven years may be released from both the obligation to travel through the Connection at large, and from that of residential supervision, by giving notice in writing to the Bishops that he so elects; and when a General Superintendent has been released in this manner, the Bishops shall report the fact to the Book Committee and to the next General Conference.

§ 2. A General Superintendent whose seventieth birthday precedes the first day of June in the year in which the General Conference is held shall be released at the close of that Conference from the obligation to travel through the Connection at large, and from residential supervision.

§ 3. A General Superintendent at any age and for any reason deemed sufficient by the General Conference, may be released by that body from the obligation to travel through the Connection at large, and from residential supervision.

§ 4. A General Superintendent who has been retired under the provisions of §§ 1, 2, or 3 may, on the vote of the Bishops, be appointed to take charge of an Area, or parts of an Area, in case of the death, resignation or disability of the Resident Bishops or because of judicial procedure—this appointment not to continue beyond the next session of the General Conference."

And ¶ 267, § 1, as amended, shall read:

"A General Superintendent who has been released from the obligation to travel through the Connection at large, in accordance with any of the foregoing provisions, shall not preside thereafter over any Annual Conference, Mission Conference, or Mission, nor make appointments, nor preside at the General Conference, but may take the chair temporarily in a Conference, if requested to do so by the Bishop presiding. He shall be an advisory member of the Bishops. In case, however, a Retired Bishop shall be appointed by the Bishops to take charge of a vacant Area, or parts of an Area, under the provision of ¶ 265, § 4, he may preside over sessions of an Annual Conference, Mission Conference, or Mission; make appointments, and become a voting member of the Bishops."

"His support during such assignment shall be determined by the Book Committee."

Adopted, May 10.

Report No. 3. Supervision for Vacant Areas

Your Committee having considered Memorials Nos. 132, 153, and 335, and others relating to this subject, makes the following recommendation:

Amend Discipline, ¶ 574, by striking out § 3, and substituting therefor a new paragraph, viz.:

¶ 574, § 3. "If on the death, resignation or disability of the Bishop or because of judicial proceedings in the interval between General Conferences the Bishops are unable to make provision for the Area, as provided in ¶ 267, § 1, the Bishops are requested to arrange the Areas temporarily, having regard as far as possible to the principle of contiguity recommended in ¶ 574, § 1."

Adopted, May 10.

Report No. 4. Continuing the Area System

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 521, in which the Northern New York Conference asks for the continuance of the Area system, respectfully reports that no action is necessary because the subject matter is already in the Discipline.

Adopted, May 10.

Report No. 5. Continuous Supervision of Resident Bishop

Your Committee, having considered Memorials Nos. 339 and 520, makes the following recommendation.

Amend Discipline, ¶ 574, § 4, by striking out from line 3 the word "more," and substituting therefor the word "less." Also, in line 6, of the same section, strike out the word "so" and in the seventh line, after "recommend" add the words,

"That each Resident Bishop may, in harmony with the foregoing, preside over the majority or all of the sessions of each Annual Conference located in his Area during each quadrennium."

So that § 4, as amended, shall read:

¶ 574, § 4. "Presidential supervision is entirely in the control of the Bishops. It is, however, the judgment of the General Conference that less frequent changes in the presidency of the Annual Conferences within the Episcopal Areas in the United States of America will promote the best interests of the whole Church, and we recommend that each Resident Bishop may, in harmony with the foregoing, preside over a majority or all of the sessions of each Annual Conference located in his Area during each quadrennium."

Adopted, May 10.

Report No. 6. Missionary Bishops and General Superintendents

Your Committee, having before it Memorial No. 728, makes the following recommendation:

Amend the Discipline, ¶ 248, line 9, by striking out the word "shall" and substituting the word "may," and in the same paragraph, line 12, striking out the word "shall" and substituting the word "may," so that the paragraph as amended shall read:

¶ 248. "A Missionary Bishop is not subordinate to the General Superintendents, but is of co-ordinate authority in the field to which he is appointed. When the General Superintendents are making their assignments to the Conferences, any Missionary Bishop who may be in the United States shall sit with them when his field is under consideration. Arrangements may be made so that once in every quadrennium, and not oftener unless a serious emergency arises, every Annual Conference, Mission Conference and Mission over which a Missionary Bishop has jurisdiction may be administered conjointly by a General Superintendent and the Missionary Bishop. In case they differ in judgment, the administrative provisions already obtaining shall continue, unless overruled by the General Superintendents, who shall have power to decide finally."

Adopted, May 10.

Report No. 7. Retirement of Bishops for Age

Your Committee on Episcopacy respectfully recommends that the characters of Bishops William F. McDowell, William F. Anderson, and Charles Edward Locke be passed, and that they be placed on the retired list at the close of this General Conference, in accordance with the provisions of the Discipline, ¶ 265, § 2.

Adopted, May 9.

Report No. 9. Episcopal Residences

Your Committee, having considered all Memorials on the subject, recommends that the residences of Bishops for the coming quadrennium be as follows:

In the United States: Atlanta, Ga.; Boston, Mass.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Chicago, Ill.; Cincinnati, Ohio; Covington, Ky.; Denver, Col.; Detroit, Mich.; Kansas City, Mo.; New Orleans, La.; New York City, Omaha, Neb.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; Portland, Ore.; Saint Paul, Minn.; San Francisco, Cal.; Washington, D. C.

Outside the United States: Africa, Cape Town; Eastern Asia, Shanghai; Southern Asia, Bombay, Delhi; Southeastern Asia, Singapore, Manila; Europe, Stockholm, Zurich; Latin America, Santiago, Chile.

Adopted, May 12.

Minority Report on Episcopal Residences

The undersigned herewith present a Minority Report to the Report No. 9, that of the Committee on Episcopacy, concerning Episcopal Residences.

We believe that the responsibility of the Methodist Episcopal Church, as it relates to the interests and advancement of the Kingdom of God, cannot be wisely and constructively met at this time by decreasing its recognized leadership at strategic centers. While the times call for strict economy and unusual sacrifice, the response should not be made in the form of a diminished spiritual leadership.

Therefore, we respectfully request that the General Conference amend the list of Episcopal Residences presented by the Committee on Episcopacy by restoring Buffalo and Indianapolis to the list of residences for the ensuing quadrennium.

Failed of adoption, May 12.

REPORT NO. 10. EFFECTIVENESS OF BISHOPS

Your Committee on Episcopacy recommends:

1. That the characters of the following Bishops be passed and that they be continued in the effective relation:

John L. Nuelsen, Edwin H. Hughes, Francis J. McConnell, Frederick D. Leete, Herbert Welch, Adna W. Leonard, John W. Robinson, Eben S. Johnson, Ernest L. Waldorf, Ernest G. Richardson, Charles W. Burns, Edgar Blake, Frederick T. Keeney, H. Lester Smith, Charles L. Mead, Robert E. Jones, Matthew W. Clair, George A. Miller, Titus Lowe, Brenton T. Badley, Wallace E. Brown, Raymond J. Wade, James C. Baker.

2. We recommend that the character of the Bishops on the retired list be passed and they be continued in this relation:

Earl Cranston, John W. Hamilton, William Burt, Wilbur P. Thirkield, Charles B. Mitchell, William F. Oldham.

3. We recommend that the character of Edwin F. Lee, Missionary Bishop, be passed, and that he be continued in the effective relation.

4. We recommend that the character of General Superintendent Thomas Nicholson be passed and that upon his request he be released both from the obligation to travel through the connection at large and from that of residential supervision, and that he be retired in accordance with the provisions of ¶ 265, § 1, at the close of this General Conference.

We also recommend that the character of General Superintendent Lauress J. Birney be passed and that upon his request he be released both from the obligation to travel through the connection at large and from that of residential supervision, and that he be retired in accordance with the provisions of ¶ 265, § 3, at the close of this General Conference.

Adopted, May 12.

Report No. 11. Support of Retired Bishops

The Special Committee from the Committee on Episcopacy, appointed to confer with the Committee on Judiciary regarding the amendment to the motion on the election of Bishops, submitted certain propositions which involved the following:

1. That the position of the General Superintendent and the Missionary Bishop is that of an office rather than an order in the Church.

2. That when a General Superintendent or a Missionary Bishop shall be retired by the General Conference, his retirement allowance shall be paid from the Episcopal Fund at the full disciplinary rate of a retired member of an Annual Conference for his years of active service.

3. That the principle of relieving especially necessitous cases shall be recognized by the Book Committee as involved in the principle of ¶ 373, § 2.

4. That this legislation shall not be retroactive, but shall become active immediately, and will govern the retirement allowance of any General Superintendents and Missionary Bishops elected at this General Conference and thereafter.

After due consideration, by both of these committees, the Committee on Episcopacy adopted the following report:

"That the annuity rate of a Retired Bishop and a Retired Missionary Bishop shall be the full disciplinary rate of a retired member of an Annual Conference for his years of effective service, that the same shall be paid from the Episcopal Fund, and involved in this is the principle of relieving especially necessitous cases; that this report, if adopted by the General Conference, shall be referred to the Committee on Episcopacy for the detailed forms of legislation, and printed in The Daily Christian Advocate for consideration.

Adopted, May 14.

(Subject matter and amendments referred May 14.)

Report No. 12. Resignation of Bishop F. B. Fisher

Your Committee recommends that the resignation of Bishop F. B. Fisher from the office of General Superintendent be accepted, to take effect as of May 15, 1930.

Adopted, May 18.

Report No. 13. Return of a Retired Bishop to His Annual Conference

Your Committee to which were referred Memorials 13, 14, 19, 304, 480, 576, 589, 624, and 639, regarding the Return of Retired Bishops to their Annual Conferences, reports non-concurrence.

Received and recorded, May 25.

Report No. 14. Continuation Episcopacy Committee

Your Committee having considered Memorial 110, and others proposing a Committee on Episcopacy of fifteen members to continue throughout the quadrennium, respectfully recommends non-concurrence.

Received and recorded, May 25.

Report No. 16. Prorating the Salaries of Bishops

Your Committee, having examined Memorials Nos. 40, 303, 363 and 903, on the matter of Prorating the Salaries of Bishops with those of other ministers, respectfully recommends non-concurrence.

Received and recorded, May 25.

Report No. 17. Resignation of Bishop George R. Grose

Your Committee, having made careful inquiry into the matters referred to it, respectfully recommends that the resignation of George R. Grose from the office of General Superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Church be accepted, to take effect as of May 18, 1932.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 18. Support, Allowances and Official Travel of Bishops

Your Committee having considered Memorials Nos. 162, 302 and 403, recommends that the Title of ¶ 605 of the Discipline be amended by inserting the word "Allowances" between the word "Support" and the clause, "and Official Travel of Bishops," so that it shall read,

"Support, Allowances, and Official Travel of Bishops."

The Committee further recommends that said paragraph be amended by striking out the last section and substituting the following sections, numbered respectively 4, 5 and 6 (1, 2 and 3 to be numbered, but remain otherwise unchanged.)

§ 4. It is evident to the General Conference that the Support and Allowances of Bishops should be adjusted with reference to changed conditions. After due consideration the recommendations to the Book Committee are:

A. That the maximum salary allowance of an Effective Bishop shall be not more than $6,000 per annum.

B. That the maximum salary allowance of a Missionary Bishop shall be not more than $5,000 per annum.

C. That the maximum allowance for a Retired Bishop shall be not more than $2,500 per annum.

D. That the maximum allowance for a Retired Missionary Bishop shall be not more than $2,000 per annum.

E. That the maximum allowance for the widow of a Bishop shall be not more than $1,500 per annum.

F. That the allowance for house rent of an Effective Bishop shall be on the basis of $1,250 per annum, except that in certain cities adjustments may be made by the Book Committee, providing a maximum allowance of $1,800 per annum.

G. That the allowance for office expense of an Effective Bishop shall not exceed a maximum of $1,800 per annum.

H. That the allowance for travel expense of an Effective Bishop, including Bishops elected by Central Conferences, shall not cover inter-continent trips except and only when the same shall be authorized by formal action of the Bishops.

§ 5. The General Conference expects that these said expenditures, and the aggregate of all the items chargeable against the same, shall not exceed the Episcopal Fund income. The General Superintendents are requested to note that the Book Committee is hereby urged, if possible, to keep expenditures below the total of the suggested maximum allowances.

§ 6. All terms, conditions and interpretations of this paragraph are to be made by the Book Committee.

So that ¶ 605, as amended, shall read,

¶ 605. Support, Allowances and Official Travel of Bishops.

§ 1. "Official travel" of an Effective Bishop shall be interpreted to include all visitations within his Area to Church institutions or enterprises of the Methodist Episcopal Church, where the call of need or opportunity warrants his presence and service. "Official travel" shall include also such journeys outside his Area as are within the meaning of "travel through the Connection at large." For all such official travel within and outside his Area, an Effective Bishop shall have right of claim upon the Episcopal Fund, upon presentation of itemized voucher, as prescribed by the Book Committee. No part of the expense of such visitations shall be accepted from local Methodist Episcopal Churches or enterprises within the Bishop's Area or visitations made while in official "travel through the Connection at large."

§ 2. The allowance for salary of Effective Bishops shall be interpreted to mean compensation in full for all services rendered by a Bishop to Church institutions or enterprises of the Methodist Episcopal Church within his Area, or while on official "travel through the Connection at large." All such services are included under the "Duties of a Bishop."

§ 3. Nothing in this interpretation is intended to preclude the acceptance of an honorarium for special or non-official engagements of a Bishop outside his Area, or for services rendered upon invitation from other than Methodist Episcopal Church enterprises within his Area, provided, that such engagements do not interfere with his official duties.

§ 4. It is evident to the General Conference that the Support and Allowances of Bishops should be adjusted with reference to changed conditions. After due consideration the recommendations to the Book Committee are:

A. That the maximum salary allowance of an Effective Bishop shall be not more than $6,000 per annum.

B. That the maximum salary allowance of a Missionary Bishop shall be not more than $5,000 per annum.

C. That the maximum allowance for Retired Bishop shall be not more than $2,500 per annum.

D. That the maximum allowance for a Retired Missionary Bishop shall be not more than $2,000 per annum.

E. That the maximum allowance for a widow of a Bishop shall be not more than $1,500 per annum.

F. That the allowance for house rent of an Effective Bishop shall be on the basis of $1,250 per annum, except that in certain cities adjustments may be made by the Book Committee, providing a maximum allowance of $1,800 per annum.

G. That the allowance for office expense of an Effective Bishop shall not exceed a maximum of $1,800 per annum.

H. That the allowance for travel expenses of an Effective Bishop, including Bishops elected by Central Conferences, shall not cover inter-continental trips, except and only when the same shall be authorized by the formal action of the Board of Bishops.

§ 5. The General Conference expects that these said expenditures and the aggregate of all the items chargeable against the same, shall not exceed the Episcopal Fund income. The General Superintendents are requested to note that the Book Committee is hereby urged, if possible, to keep expenditures below the total of these said maximum allowances.

§ 6. All terms, conditions and interpretations of this paragraph are to be made by the Book Committee.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 19. Support of Retired Bishops

Your Committee on Episcopacy, to which the General Conference has referred a statement of principle governing the Support of Retired General Superintendents and Missionary Bishops, respectfully submits the following:

We recommend that ¶ 373, § 2, of the Discipline, be amended by adding at the close the following words:

"But the allowance of a retired Bishop and a Retired Missionary Bishop, elected in May, 1932, and thereafter, shall be the full disciplinary rate of a retired member of an Annual Conference for his years of effective service; this amount shall be paid from the Episcopal Fund. Involved in this is the principle of relieving especially necessitous cases. The same rule shall be operative regarding the widows and children of deceased Bishops who are elected in May, 1932, and thereafter."

So that ¶ 373, § 2, as amended, shall read:

¶ 373, § 2. It shall be the duty of the Book Committee, in fixing the allowance of Retired Bishops and of the widows of Bishops and minor or helpless children of deceased Bishops, to inquire carefully into the financial condition of each and to fix the allowance in every case at such a sum as may be required for a comfortable support; provided, that the amount so fixed for a Retired Bishop shall not exceed one half the amount allowed for the support of Effective Bishops, excluding house rent and clerical assistance, but the allowance of a Retired Bishop and a Retired Missionary Bishop elected in May, 1932, and thereafter, shall be the full disciplinary rate of a retired member of an Annual Conference for his years of effective service; this allowance shall be paid from the Episcopal Fund. Involved in this is the principle of relieving especially necessitous cases. The same rule shall be operative regarding the widows and children of deceased Bishops who are elected in May, 1932, and thereafter.

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 21. RELATION OF A MISSIONARY BISHOP TO THE BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS

Your Committee, having examined Memorial No. 835, regarding the relationship of a Missionary Bishop to the Board of Foreign Missions, makes the following recommendation:

Amend ¶ 250 of the Discipline by adding at the close the words, "and while in effective service he shall be an ex-officio member of the Board of Managers of the Board of Foreign Missions."

So that the paragraph, as amended, shall read:

¶ 250. A Missionary Bishop in his field shall co-operate with the Board of Foreign Missions precisely as a General Superintendent is expected to co-operate with said Board in a Foreign Mission Field over which he has Episcopal charge, and while in effective service he shall be an ex-officio member of the Board of Managers of the Board of Foreign Missions.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 22. Special Assignment of a Bishop

Your Committee, having examined Memorial No. 71, requesting the Bishops to set apart one of their number for the purpose of conducting Preaching Missions, respectfully recommends non-concurrence.

Received and recorded, May 25.

Report No. 23. Return of Bishops from Outside the United States Between General Conferences

Your Committee, to which have come numerous Memorials relating to the Episcopal Fund, has considered the custom of the return of Bishops from Areas outside the United States in the middle of a quadrennium. In view of changed economic and administrative conditions arising since such expensive travel was authorized,

Your Committee now respectfully recommends:

That Bishops serving Areas outside the United States shall not return to the United States within a quadrennium except upon an emergency making such a journey so clearly necessary that it shall be authorized expressly by the Bishops.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 24. Closing Area Offices

After hearing representations from delegates from the territory of the former Indianapolis and Helena Areas, your Committee recommends:

That the Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund be authorized to pay such a sum to each as shall be necessary, to conserve the work of the Kingdom, in the closing or transferring of the Area Office interests. The sum to be paid to each former Area shall not in any one case exceed $1,000.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 25. Episcopal Residence (Buffalo, New York)

After hearing representations from delegates from the territory of the former Buffalo Area, the Committee recommends:

That the Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund be authorized to pay a sum not to exceed $1,000 per annum, to be applied to the payment of taxes, and other carrying charges, on the Episcopal residence in Buffalo, N. Y., until such time as the residence is sold; provided, however, that all sums so advanced from the Episcopal Fund, upon sale of said residence, shall be returned to said fund; provided also that a sale shall be made as soon as a fair price can be secured.

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 26. AMENDMENT OF "DISCIPLINE," ¶ 373, § 2.

Your Committee recommends that ¶ 373, § 2, of the Discipline, be amended by striking out all after the word "support" in line seven, and substituting therefor the words:

"Provided the amount so fixed for a Retired Bishop shall be in harmony with, and governed by, the fixed limitations elsewhere appearing in the Discipline, setting forth the allowance that may be made for the support of a retired Bishop."

So that the section, as thus amended, shall read:

¶ 373, § 2. It shall be the duty of the Book Committee in fixing the allowance of Retired Bishops and of widows of Bishops and minor or helpless children of deceased Bishops, to inquire carefully into the financial condition of each and to fix the allowance in every case at such a sum as may be required for a comfortable support; provided, that the amount so fixed for a retired Bishop shall be in harmony with and governed by the limitations elsewhere appearing in the Discipline, setting forth the allowance that may be made for the support of a retired Bishop."

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 27. ASSIGNMENT OF BISHOPS

Your Committee on Episcopacy respectfully recommends that for the ensuing quadrennium the Bishops shall be assigned to the following residences, respectively.

IN THE UNITED STATES

Atlanta, Bishop Keeney; Boston, Bishop Burns; Chattanooga, Bishop Brown; Chicago, Bishop Waldorf; Cincinnati, Bishop Smith; Covington, Bishop Clair; Denver, Bishop Cushman; Detroit, Bishop Blake; Kansas City, Bishop Mead; New Orleans, Bishop Jones; New York, Bishop McConnell; Omaha, Bishop Leete; Philadelphia, Bishop Richardson; Pittsburgh, Bishop Leonard; Portland, Bishop Lowe; Saint Paul, Bishop Magee; San Francisco, Bishop Baker; Washington, Bishop Hughes.

OUTSIDE THE UNITED STATES

Cape Town—Bishop Johnson.
Shanghai—Bishop Welch.
Bombay—Bishop Badley.
Delhi—Bishop Robinson.
Stockholm—Bishop Wade.
Zurich—Bishop Nuelsen.

Santiago (Chile)—Bishop Miller.
Singapore-Manila—Bishop Lee.
Adopted, May 23.

VI. FEDERATION

Report No. 1. Response to World Conference on Faith and Order

The Committee on Federation having carefully considered that section of the report of the Commission on Interdenominational Relations which has to do with the World Conference on Faith and Order and was referred to it for consideration, makes the following proposals:

1. That the General Conference approve the response of the Commission to the World Conference on Faith and Order as a representative expression of Methodist thought and attitude on the subjects dealt with and accept as its own the pledges made by the Commission in the name of the Church to the Continuation Committee of the World Conference on Faith and Order for heartiest support and co-operation in carrying forward its great task.

2. That the General Conference endorse the proposal to hold a second World Conference on Faith and Order in 1937 and authorize the Commission on Interdenominational Relations to appoint delegates to represent the Church at the Conference and in the preparation of the program for it, the representation to be without expense to the Church.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 2. The Universal Christian Council for Life and Work

Your Committee on Federation has given careful consideration to that section of the Report of the Commission on Interdenominational Relations which has to do with the Universal Christian Council for Life and Work and presents the following recommendation:

That the General Conference commend the work of the Council and authorize the Commission on Interdenominational Relations to act for the Methodist Episcopal Church in considering the proposal of the Council to hold a World Conference in 1935 and to act on all other matters relating to the proposed Conference, without expense in providing representation of the Church in the Conference.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 3. Conferences with a Commission Representing the Protestant Episcopal Church

Your Committee respectfully reports that it has given thoughtful consideration to the report by the Commission on Interdenominational Relations of a Conference with Representatives of the Protestant Episcopal Church and the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America "to consider matters of Christian Morality, looking toward organic unity" and recommends adoption by the General Conference of the following statement:

"The General Conference is pleased to learn of the large degree of agreement revealed in the discussion of representatives of our Church with representatives of the Presbyterian and Protestant Episcopal Churches concerning the relation of Church and State, the authority of the Church in moral matters, the Christian attitude toward the family, marriage and divorce, international relations, racial relations, industrial and economic relations, and the relations of the Church to education, both secular and religious, and of the resultant authorization given by the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church to the Commission which represented it in the Conference to confer on other lines of approach to unity. In consideration of the good results of the Conference already held, the General Conference requests its Commission on Interdenominational Relations to continue discussions with the Churches represented in the above-mentioned Conference and to explore with them such other approaches to unity as may be considered promising."

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 4. The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America

The principle of economics that "where competition is possible combination is probable" became an evident principle of procedure in the realm of spiritual endeavor when the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America was organized in Philadelphia, December, 1906. The Methodist Episcopal Church was one of the original groups that helped to create the Federal Council; and by General Conference action in Baltimore, May, 1908, that action was made official.

From the beginning the Methodist Episcopal Church has been represented on the Federal Council and has assumed a share of the cost of maintenance.

In accordance with the procedure of other quadrenniums, the Bishops are authorized to appoint the number of representatives and alternates allowed by the Constitution of the Federal Council, to represent the Methodist Episcopal Church as members of the said Council during the coming quadrennium, and to request the attendance of the appointees at the quadrennial meeting to be held in December, 1932.

The Committee on Federation has examined the report of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America and carefully considered its program and achievements with the result that it presents the following recommendations:

(1) That this General Conference should again endorse the basis on which the Federal Council operates and should heartily commend the Federal Council for the service which it has rendered to our common Christianity and for the work it has undertaken and prosecuted so successfully for the common good.

(2) That this General Conference express its gratitude to Bishop Francis J. McConnell for the wise and statesmanlike administration which he has given to the Federal Council as its President.

(3) That this General Conference by this endorsement commits the Methodist Episcopal Church to continued loyalty to and participation in the program and activities of the Federal Council.

(4) That it authorize the Treasurer of the General Conference Expense Fund to pay to the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America for the prosecution of its work the sum of $12,000 per annum for the next quadrennium, with the understanding, however, that in the case of an anticipated deficit in the General Conference Expense Fund, the Treasurer be authorized to reduce the payment on this account in such proportion as the anticipated deficit bears to the total budgeted expenditure.

(5) That where any one of the Boards of Benevolence of the Methodist Episcopal Church finds that certain phases of its work may be carried forward more successfully or more economically by co-operation with the Federal Council such a Board be allowed to use funds from its own budget for such co-operative endeavor.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 5. Discussions of Union with the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America

Your Committee having carefully considered the report by the Commission on Interdenominational Relations of its consultations with the Department of Church Co-operation and Union of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America concerning the proposal of the General Conference of 1928 for the union of these Churches, respectfully presents the following statement for adoption:

The General Conference rejoices in the report made by the Commission on Interdenominational Relations of its meetings with official representatives of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America to discuss the union of these Churches. It receives as distinctly encouraging the assurance that a comprehensive review of the questions involved and a careful examination of the difficulties presented revealed no insuperable obstacles to such union. The recommendation made jointly by the Commissions that the two Churches should be recognized as co-operating bodies and therefore, in the use of home mission funds, in the organization and support of missionary work in other lands, in the establishment and maintenance of churches, colleges, hospitals, orphanages and the like, would do well to formulate their policies with this fact in view, is in harmony with our desire and purpose and is hereby commended to the members and officers of our Churches and to those who administer our educational and benevolent institutions, Boards and societies. Pending the realization of our desire for union we should be able to accomplish much through co-operation in spheres of common interest.

We endorse the offer of our Commission to share in inviting a meeting of representatives of the several Presbyterian and Methodist Churches to consider the possibility of an inclusive union of these two ecclesiastical families. It is our hope that our relations with other Methodist Churches and the relations of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America with other Presbyterian Churches will not be weakened but rather strengthened by the effort to unite these two Churches. We desire union with our fellow Methodists; we likewise desire union with our fellow Christians who are Presbyterians.

We recognize the force of the belief said to have found expression in both groups that the natural line of immediate development for these two Churches is toward union with other churches within their respective denominational families. However, we believe it would be a mistake to suspend or retard the effort, so happily begun, to unite these Churches in order that we might first settle the differences within our respective denominational families. Whatever may be our differences of ancestry, we are closely akin in spirit and in purpose. The unity of the disciples of Jesus throughout the world might conceivably be more advanced by the consummation of this union of two strong Churches of two separate ecclesiastical families than by any union either could consummate within the family to which it belongs. From India has come to this General Conference a plea for the removal of difficulties of organization that keep Methodists and Presbyterians apart there. From other countries also we learn that members of our Church are eager that their lives be enriched and their witness to Christ be strengthened by fellowship within the Church with Christians from whom they are now separated by organizational barriers and loyalties imposed from without to different Churches and families of Churches.

We authorize the Commission on Interdenominational Relations to continue to represent the Methodist Episcopal Church in the discussion of union with the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America and ask them to convey to that great Church through its Department of Church Co-operation and Union an expression of the high esteem and sincere affection with which we think of them, of gratitude for the results hitherto obtained from the discussions on the union of the two Churches and of our hope and prayer that we may be led by our common love for our Lord into a radiant unity that will add to His glory among men.

Adopted, May 24.

VII. FOREIGN MISSIONS

Report No. 1. Japan Mission Council

Your Committee recommends concurrence in Memorial No. 400, from the Japan Mission Council, relating to the organization of the Japan Mission Council, and that there be added to ¶ 470, § 2, of the Discipline, after the word "Missions" in the second line of said section, the following: "and of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society," so that said § 2 shall read:

§ 2. The missionaries of the Board of Foreign Missions and of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, appointed to work among the Japanese, are organized into a Mission Council known as the Japan Mission Council of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Adopted, May 20.

Report No. 2. Consultation with Finance Committees on Administration of Conferences Abroad

Your Committee recommends concurrence in Memorial 731, from the Latin America Central Conference, and that there be added to ¶ 466, Article VII, a new section: § 3, to read as follows:

§ 3. The Board of Foreign Missions shall make no fundamental decision with regard to the schools, churches, missions and social institutions of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the foreign fields, or with reference to administration, policy and property matters connected therewith, until there has first been consultation with the resident Bishop and the Finance Committee of the Conference concerned.

Adopted, May 20.

Report No. 3. Specific Presentation of Foreign Missions in the Churches

Having considered certain recommendations, appearing in the Report of the Board of Foreign Missions (p. 140 of the Handbook), we recommend that:

The work of Foreign Missions shall be specifically presented and in such presentation definite projects as well as the general principles of missionary responsibility shall be emphasized.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 4. Appointment Corresponding Secretaries, Foreign Missions

Your Committee on Foreign Missions has carefully considered Memorial No. 544, dealing with the appointment of Corresponding Secretaries of the Board of Foreign Missions, and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and recorded, May 25.

Report No. 6. Treasurer's Report Board of Foreign Missions

Your Committee respectfully reports that they have examined with care the financial report of the Board of Foreign Missions as contained in the Handbook and have also made a serious study of the financial processes followed by the Board of Foreign Missions and developed over a period of years, having given particular attention to the report of the Treasurer for the year ending October 31, 1931, in order that we might know the details of financial administration, the methods of accounting and the character of the reports made, and recommend the adoption of the following statement:

We find to our great satisfaction that the Treasurer of the Board of Foreign Missions makes his report of disbursements in very great detail, especially in regard to the cost of general administration and the cost of informing the churches. The expense of every department is given separately, with an annotation indicating the character and the work of the various departments and the individuals related thereto. Beginning with the last Annual Meeting, the policy of publishing in the Journal the salaries and house-rent allowances of the executive officers and their assistants was inaugurated, thus putting those officers of the Church in the same light as District Superintendents and Pastors.

We find a detailed statement of the amounts which are appropriated to each one of our mission fields for current expense and also for property and more permanent improvements. In addition to these, we find a general summary which shows exactly what has gone to each foreign Conference from all sources and for all purposes, including undesignated and designated money, both for current expense and other appropriate purposes.

The statement of the Treasurer contains a comparative balance sheet of assets and liabilities for the year under review and for the preceding year which is given in considerable detail. Each annual report contains a certification of public accountants as to their examination of all the records and books of the Board and as to their findings. We believe that the Board is to be commended for the completeness of these reports and the detail with which the figures and annotations are displayed.

In addition, the Treasurer each year makes extended comments on the various items concerned so that any one who takes the trouble to read and study these reports can learn of the financial processes of the Board.

We congratulate the Board on having built up its permanent funds until the total on October 31, 1931, reached $2,558,561.75. We also note with peculiar satisfaction the remarkable increase in the annuities of the Board which, on October 31 last, amounted to $3,445,671.

We have been informed by the Treasurer that all permanent funds are invested in securities which are legal for trustees under the laws of the State of New York, that a large percentage of the annuity fund is invested in legal securities and the balance in high grade bonds. We are most happy to learn that the Board of Foreign Missions has not lost a dollar of income either from its investments in bonds or guaranteed mortgages.

It is pleasure to report that the debt of the Board as determined on October 31, 1924, amounting to $3,101,330.27, has been reduced by the preferential granted by the World Service Commission until at the close of the present World Service fiscal year it will amount to only $50,612.49. The Board has expressed its appreciation for the liquidation of this debt. It is greatly to be regretted that the unusual decrease in income during the last fiscal year has resulted in additional unmet obligations of the Board amounting to $483,158. Our study has led us to believe that this deficit is due solely to the unusual decrease in income. The appropriations and expenditures have been reduced regularly in conformity with the law of the Church, so that appropriations do not exceed the income of the preceding year and the disbursements every year during the quadrennium have been less than the amount of the appropriations, due to careful administration and savings by the executive officers wherever possible.

We also believe that the Board of Foreign Missions is giving constant and careful attention to the further reduction of its budget and expenditures and to the increase of its income in order that the budget may be balanced.

Adopted, May 20.

Report No. 7. Cost of Administration of Board of Foreign Missions

Your Committee has had referred to it questions pertaining to the overhead in the administration of the Board of Foreign Missions. Having examined these matters with great care, it has come to the conclusion that the criticisms of the overhead expense in the administration of the affairs of the Board of Foreign Missions are due largely, if not entirely, to a misapprehension of the items which are really to be included in the general term "overhead."

Last year the Board appointed a special committee to make a study of the question of overhead. This report has been distributed widely throughout the Church in the Board's recent Annual Report entitled, "The Imperishable Message." Your Committee agrees with the general principles embodied in that report and believes that the following items which are a summary of the report are legitimately chargeable to overhead. The figures given are amounts for the fiscal year ending October 31, 1931. This percentage is based on the total receipts of the Board as compared with the expense for these three items.

1. The Board's share of the expenses of the World Service Co-operating Staff	$135,769.71	5.00
2. The Expense of Administration	138,479.75	5.10
3. The Cost of Informing the Church	66,455.34	2.44
	$340,704.80	12.54

There are other items which are properly chargeable to overhead but which cannot be included in the accounting of the Board of Foreign Missions because the amounts involved are not received by the Treasurer of the Board of Foreign Missions and are not disbursed by him. They are received and disbursed by the World Service Treasurer. The Board's share of these expenses must be included in any complete statement of the overhead cost.

These amounts for the year ending October 31, 1931, are:

1. The Board's share of the Expense of the World Service Commission and the Central Treasury	$27,534.20
2. The Board's share in the cost of printing and mailing World Service News	22,703.80
	$50,238.00

If this amount were added to the income of the Board and to the disbursement for overhead it would bring the percentage of disbursements as compared with receipts to approximately 14%.

We note with interest that the Board of Foreign Missions believes that this overhead is too large and that the Secretaries are persuaded that the chief way by which it can be reduced is to simplify the benevolence organization of the Church. This conviction is worthy of the consideration of this General Conference as it legislates for the next quadrennium.

Our examination of the accounts leads us to believe that statements which have been made claiming that the percentage of overhead is much higher are due to the inclusion, under the title of Overhead, of items which do not properly belong there. For example: 1. The amount of $300,000 which was applied on the old debt of the Board of Foreign Missions has been included in overhead on the ground that it was paid out in New York and did not reach the field. This is clearly not overhead inasmuch as it is a re-payment to the banks of money which was borrowed years ago and sent to the field for missionaries' salaries and other missionary costs. 2. The Board's deficit of 1929, amounting to $218,154, which represents money borrowed and sent to the field in 1929, was repaid in 1930. It is not overhead. 3. There were certain other items such as the co-operative fund, personnel department, the architectural advisor and the Medical Department which involved expenditures in the United States. The questions involved in the charges of these items have been, we are told, the subject of review and careful study upon the part of various committees of the Board and the conclusion has been repeatedly reached that they should not be charged to overhead. Your Committee concurs in these conclusions feeling that they are not a proper charge against the administrative work of the Board.

We note that ten years ago the total expenditures for administration and cultivation which are the two items of overhead which are under the exclusive control of the Board of Foreign Missions were $335,644. The amount expended for these two items in 1931 was $204,935, and the amount budgeted for 1932 is $173,696. This shows a reduction of nearly 50% in the expenditure for these two items of overhead.

We have had before us the resume of an extensive questionnaire submitted to the leading Mission Boards in the United States, having to do with their overhead and we find by comparison that the overhead of the Board of Foreign Missions is about equal to an average of all of these great mission boards. We have thoroughly gone into the question of the salaries paid to the executive officers of the Board of Foreign Missions and their assistants and have compared the same with the salaries States, having to do with their overhead, and we find by comparable to those being paid by other denominations. In most instances, they are less than the salaries of other Boards.

We are glad to know that the Board is continuing its study of overhead and expects to put into effect still further economies.

We are impressed with the heavy responsibilities carried by the financial officers of the Board. The investments of the permanent and annuity funds require extreme care. Correspondence regarding finance with all parts of the world is necessarily complicated and voluminous. The records show that from the standpoint of business administration at home there are now a total of 830 items requiring expert attention. This total is composed of estates in various stages of settlement and of estate notes and properties of various kinds scattered all over the United States. We are persuaded that these items could not be adequately handled by a greatly decreased staff.

Adopted, May 20.

Report No. 8. Work in Europe

Your Committee having carefully considered the section of the Report of the Board of Foreign Missions contained in the Handbook of the General Conference, relating to Europe, reports as follows:

We are in sympathy with all movements making for co-operation between the Methodist Episcopal Church and other Protestant Churches in Europe, and recommend that all necessary steps be taken to bring this about.

Believing that the Christian Church owes much to the Russian people, we request Christian people to think of this great country and to pray for it, where we believe the gospel has a great future, and where already spiritual movements which have millions of adherents are progressing.

We heartily endorse the arrangement made, in agreement with the Board of Foreign Missions, whereby missionary gifts received from the Stockholm and Zurich Areas are devoted exclusively to the work of foreign missions, those received from the Stockholm Area being used for designated projects of the Board of Foreign Missions or the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and those from the Zurich Area being administered by the Mission Boards set up by the Central European Conference in Germany and Switzerland, in which the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society is participating.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 9. Work in Africa

Your Committee having carefully considered the Africa section of the Report of the Board of Foreign Missions, contained in the Handbook of the General Conference, respectfully reports:

Africa has approximately eight hundred and fifty languages and dialects, and presents the most difficult language problem of any of the mission fields. This problem is now being approached scientifically through the Institute of African Languages and Culture and the International Committee on African Literature. We commend the Board of Foreign Missions for the active part it had in initiating the Institute and the Committee and for the continued support of the same. We recommend that the Board of Foreign Missions and the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society be requested to emphasize the work of the Commission on the Melville B. Cox Memorial through Churches, Church Schools and Epworth Leagues of Methodism so that the Memorial shall be continued throughout 1932 and such portion of 1933 as will include the anniversary of the date of the death of Cox in Liberia, namely: July 21, 1833.

We recommend, too, the widespread use of the life of Melville B. Cox, entitled Though Thousands Fall.

We desire to commend the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society for the very splendid and valuable work they are doing in parts of Africa where the need is so great and the call so urgent, and for the numbers they have been able to add to the fold of the great Shepherd in Angola, two thousand or more; for their ministry to the sick and suffering in Gikuki, and the new building they have erected for their nurses; for their splendid work of Christian education in Rhodesia; for the new buildings they have erected in Old Umtali; and their hostel in Umtali; for their school and new buildings at Nyadiri, and the buildings at Matambara. They have done a great and blessed service for a needy people. We solicit their interest in and sympathy for those other parts of Africa where the needs are as great and the call as urgent, particularly in Liberia and the Congo, and other parts of the great continent where the Church has work and interests.

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 10. TEN-YEAR PROGRAM IN PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

Your Committee having considered with care the proposals contained in Memorial 496, from the Philippine Islands Conference, makes the following recommendation:

That the Ten-Year Program for the Philippine Islands be endorsed and commended to the Board of Foreign Missions and the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, for such helpful consideration as is possible in their programs for that great field, and also that § 2 of this Memorial, suggesting the election at a later date of a national Bishop for the Philippine Islands, be referred to the Commission on Central Conferences for consideration.

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 11. FOREIGN EDUCATION FOR A CERTAIN INDIAN MAN

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 695, from the Sarakdihi Church Council in the Bengal Annual Conference, asking the General Conference to provide funds for a certain young man named in the Memorial, to continue his education in a foreign land, respectfully recommends non-concurrence.

Received and recorded, May 25.

Report No. 12. Regarding Missionaries and Annual Conference Members

Your Committee, having carefully considered Memorial No. 497, from the Philippine Islands Conference, making certain proposals expected to promote greater harmony between missionaries and members of that Annual Conference, respectfully recommends that this body do not concur, but refer the memorial to the Board of Foreign Missions and the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society for such consideration as they may deem proper.

Received and recorded, May 25.

Report No. 13. Correlation of World Service and Kindred Agencies

Your Committee, having carefully considered Memorial No. 119, from the Minnesota Conference, asking for the correlation of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and the World Service Agencies because of a belief that they militate against one another, respectfully recommends non-concurrence.

Received and recorded, May 25.

Report No. 14. Part of Quadrennial Report of Board of Foreign Missions

Your Committee having carefully studied the suggestions contained in the Quadrennial Report of the Secretaries of the Board of Foreign Missions to the General Conference concerning the giving of the churches for the work of the Board, respectfully presents the following recommendations:

1. Goals for the giving of Pastoral Charges to the work of the Board of Foreign Missions shall be suggested through the District Superintendent to the Charges. These suggested goals shall be based upon the approved askings of the Board of Foreign Missions.

2. The Foreign Missions budget in each Pastoral Charge shall be fixed by the Pastoral Charge after earnest and diligent study of the needs of the field and the askings of the Board of Foreign Missions. The Foreign Missions budget, when so determined, shall be considered as having the same claim upon the Pastoral Charge as the budget for current expenses.

3. The Parish Abroad Plan shall be aggressively promoted by our Pastors in co-operation with the Board of Foreign Missions.

Referred to the World Service Commission, May 24.

Report No. 15. Latin-American Centennial

Your Committee, considering Memorial 636, from the Eastern South American Conference, recommends:

That the General Conference create a Commission of Fifteen Members representing all interested groups to arrange for an adequate Centennial Celebration of the founding of our missionary work in South America and that South America be made the subject of special study and concentrated effort during 1936.

That this Commission be appointed by the Bishops and do its work without expense to the General Conference.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 16. Foreign Missions—Philippine Observer

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 768, from the Central Conference of Southeastern Asia, and having returned to the Reference Committee sections which it considers to belong to other committees, respectfully recommends, without prejudice to consideration of the matter by the Board of Foreign Missions, non-concurrence in the section asking for the continuance of financial assistance for publication of the Philippine Observer.

Received and recorded, May 25.

Report No. 17. Africa

Your Committee having considered the report of the Board of Foreign Missions on the subject of Africa and having heard representations of secretaries and delegates acquainted with conditions there, respectfully presents the following recommendations:

1. That the General Conference commend the Senate of the United States for its ratification of the Slavery Convention (signed at Geneva, September 25, 1926, and ratified by the Senate March 4, 1929), and the Convention relating to the Liquor Traffic in Africa (signed at Saint Germain, September 10, 1919, and ratified by the Senate March 4, 1929).

2. That in view of the fact that the lack of United States Consular representation in large areas of Africa in which American citizens work as missionaries and otherwise constitutes a serious embarrassment to them and likewise is often a menace to their safety, the General Conference requests the State Department at Washington to provide more adequate consular representation in that continent.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 18. Enabling Act for Union of Certain Missions

Your Committee, having carefully considered Memorial No.

459, from the Sumatra Mission Conference, and having heard representatives of the Conference present the situation, recommends the following for adoption:

That an Enabling Act be passed by the General Conference whereby the Batak Christians under the care of the Sumatra Mission Conference be allowed to form, together with the Batak Christians of the Rhenish Mission, a Batak Protestant Church, at any time during the next quadrennium when this may be feasible. This union is to be consummated with the understanding that the missionary agencies of the Methodist Episcopal Church continue to participate in this great work of spreading Christian culture in Sumatra.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 19. Fraternal Address of Bishop Juan N. Pascoe

Your Committee, to which was referred the Fraternal Address of Bishop Juan N. Pascoe, of the Methodist Church of Mexico, delivered before the General Conference, presents the following statement for adoption:

The action of our Methodist Episcopal Church, in co-operating with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in organizing the Methodist Church of Mexico—brought about by the Mexican laws limiting religious work in that country to Mexicans and by a desire within Mexico for Methodist unification—has been justified by the results.

It has already brought about a development of initiative and a deepening sense of responsibility on the part of Mexican national leadership. Self-support has increased and the Church is undertaking a building program under which chapels are being built to the amount of approximately ten thousand pesos per year. And a beginning has already been made in the establishing of a fund for the families of deceased preachers. Nine hundred and twenty-seven new members were added to the Church during the past year.

In view of the difficulties confronting the Methodist Church of Mexico—such as difficult financial conditions and restrictive laws hindering religious work—it is recommended that the Board of Foreign Missions and the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society be asked to co-operate with the Board of Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in the appointment of a committee to study, in conjunction with the Council of Co-operation of the Methodist Church of Mexico, the field in Mexico and to adjust their work in Mexico in accordance with the principle of unification, efficiency and autonomy of the Methodist Church of Mexico.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 20. Missionary Education

The subject of missionary education coming before us in the report of the Board of Foreign Missions has received careful consideration by your Committee, who present the following report to the General Conference for adoption:

Whereas, The missionary passion which was so central to the life of our Lord is likewise necessary to the full-rounded development of Christian character in the lives of his followers; and

Whereas, the continued decline in missionary giving by our denomination during these past years serves but to emphasize the basic necessity for continued and even more intensive and systematic missionary education for our children, young people, and adults; and

Whereas, The Church Schools, Epworth Leagues, Institutes, and Schools of World Friendship are normal channels through which our Church aims to instruct and train such Christian character; therefore,

Be It Resolved, That we instruct our Mission Boards and Board of Education to make provision for such continued and intensive missionary education.

Be It Resolved further, that we instruct The Methodist Book Concern, the Curriculum Committee of the Board of Education, the Editor of Church-School Publications and the Editor of Epworth League Publications, to arrange for the inclusion in our basic religious educational curricula of adequate, systematic and cumulative instruction concerning our own denominational missionary responsibilities, procedures, program and the results being achieved.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 21. Report of the Board of Foreign Missions

Having read the report of the Corresponding Secretaries of the Board of Foreign Missions as published in the Handbook of the General Conference, your Committee desires to call the attention of the whole Church to this most significant document. It is more than a mere record of statistics; it is a vivid picture of the whole missionary program. It not only conforms with facts, but it also illumines with interpretation.

With systematic understanding the secretaries have herein surveyed the problems forced upon each mission field through the decrease of funds; with generous appreciation they have recorded the heroic service of missionaries who have held the line despite the reduction of resources; with clear comprehension they have analyzed the causes which have cut the sources of financial supply in our homeland.

The report reveals that there is a strategy of retreat as well as a strategy of advance. It would appear that in many places the work has been strengthened even while the lines have been shortened.

The seriousness of the situation, however, is frankly faced. Further retreat would soon become a rout.

The report shows the lines of advance already laid. An awakening ministry at home, and sounder policies abroad, all augur well for future development. Our missionary leaders face their difficulties without despair. They close a quadrennium of service with unshaken confidence in the adequacy of Christ to meet the issues of our worried world.

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 22. UNIFICATION OF WORK IN FOREIGN FIELDS

Your Committee, having carefully considered Memorial No. 155, from the Omaha Area Council, asking that the Board of Foreign Missions and the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society more closely unify their work in foreign fields, respectfully recommends non-concurrence.

Received and recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 23. CHANGE OF NAME OF BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS

Your Committee, considering Memorial No. 634, which suggests the name "Board of World Missions" for the present Board of Foreign Missions, recommends non-concurrence.

Received and recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 24. MEMBERSHIP FIELD FINANCE COMMITTEES

Your Committee, having carefully considered Memorial No. 906, from the Central Conference of Latin America, asking that all District Superintendents be made ex-officio members of Field Finance Committees, in their respective Annual or Mission Conferences, respectfully recommends non-concurrence.

Received and recorded, May 25.

VIII. HOME MISSIONS AND CHURCH EXTENSION

REPORT NO. 1. ANNUAL CONFERENCE AUTONOMY ON THE DISTRIBUTION OF HOME MISSIONARY FUNDS

Your Committee having considered Memorials Nos. 66, 103, and 289, relative to Annual Conference Autonomy in the distribution of funds raised for Home Missions and Church Extension, we recommend non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 2. COMMENT ON EPISCOPAL ADDRESS

Your Committee, having had under consideration Memorial

No. 678, the same being that portion of the Episcopal Address which referred to Home Missions, wish to record our appreciation and approval of the emphasis given therein to the work of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension and to the work of the Woman's Home Missionary Society. It is largely through these two organizations that our Church functions in many of the great tasks in the home field.

We note with satisfaction the progress made by both organizations in the solution of the numerous and difficult problems coming before them during the quadrennium just closing. We wish to appeal to the membership of our Church to make possible the continuance and perfection of the programs now under way. This is our immediate challenge. It is one of the major tasks of the Church. This is our impelling duty.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 3. City Missionary Societies

Upon consideration of Memorial No. 266, relative to requested legislation to organize Conference missionary and church extension societies within the bounds of the Annual Conference, your Committee reports non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 4. Duties of District Superintendents Relative to Rural Work

Your Committee has considered that portion of the report of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension relating to rural work, and also Memorials Nos. 911, 890, 884, 879, and reports as follows:

To ¶ 239 of the Discipline of 1928, District Superintendents, add another section to be known as § 24, which shall read as follows:

¶ 239, § 24. To study the district in co-operation with the pastors so as to discover the natural communities and whenever advisable to organize the same into larger parish units of such strength as will justify their existence and make possible an adequate leadership and program. Where larger parish units are organized to which more than one minister is appointed, the District Superintendent shall assign territory and fix the several responsibilities of the pastors serving the larger parish.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 5. Appointment of Pastors to Larger Parishes

Your Committee, upon consideration of Memorials Nos. 911, 890, 884, 879, respectfully recommends as follows:

Amend § 1, ¶ 257, of the Discipline of 1928 by inserting after the words "pastoral charges" in the first line, the words "and larger parishes" and by inserting after the word charges in the third line of the section the words "or larger parishes," so that the said section, as amended, shall read as follows:

¶ 257, § 1. He shall appoint preachers to pastoral charges and larger parishes annually after consultation with the Superintendents of the Districts in which such charges or larger parishes are located.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 6. Advice on Rural Work to be Printed in the Back of the "Discipline"

We recommend the adoption of the following resolution to be printed in the Discipline under the title, "Advice on Rural Work":

1. Bishops, District Superintendents and Pastors should keep constantly in mind the importance of the small churches. The District Superintendents, with their Pastors, should study their Districts to discover the natural communities into which the territory falls. As far as possible the churches should be organized into parish units of such strength that they justify their existence and provide adequate leadership.

2. It should be understood that Pastors are appointed to serve the population of geographical territory as well as to serve the membership of Church organizations. The responsibility of each Pastor should be defined in regional terms as clearly as possible.

3. The geographical and social inter-relationships which are now operative in rural life demand a co-operative attitude among the ministers. Where it is deemed advisable, what is technically known as the Larger Parish should be developed. Otherwise the Pastors in each natural group should carry on their work in co-operation under the direction and leadership of the District Superintendent.

4. As far as possible a diversified ministry should be provided, to include the ministry of preaching and pastoral work, evangelism, religious education, social and recreational life, to every age group and to every part of the community. In this the special talents of each Pastor should be utilized as widely as possible.

5. The potential powers which inhere in the laity of the Church should be utilized to the fullest extent in the working out of the programs of the larger units. Insofar as possible the lay activities should be carried on in co-operative groups.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 7. Commission on Racial Relations

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 823, referred to it on this subject, recommends:

That the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church authorize to be set up in the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension a Commission on Race Relations.

That the function of this Commission be:

(a) To study problems of interracial contacts and adjustments in the United States.

(b) To provide information, and when requested, offer counsel to churches and other organizations in efforts to apply the principles of Christ in racial contacts.

(c) To encourage the study of race relations in educational institutions and young people's organizations and as far as practicable co-operate with similar agencies of other denominations.

That the expense of this Commission shall be determined by the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension and paid by the same, the maximum expense of which Commission shall be $2,000.

Referred to Board of Home Missions, etc., May 24.

Report No. 8. To Establish Negro Churches

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 661, requesting the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension to establish churches in certain sections of the country, respectfully recommends non-concurrence thereon, for the reason that it is now the duty of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension to establish such churches where practicable and where sufficient financial support can be obtained.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 9. Bureau of Negro Work

Your Committee, after giving thorough consideration to the request contained in Memorials Nos. 823 and 661, expresses its appreciation of the character of the work being done by the Bureau of Negro Work and further recommends the continuance of this Bureau during the next quadrennium.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 10. Annual Conference Board of Home Missions and Church Extension and Its Powers

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 819, makes the following recommendation:

Amend ¶ 494, § 1 by striking out the words beginning with "These officers," in the eighth line, to the end of the section, and substituting the following:

"This Board shall review, approve, or adjust the askings of the District Superintendents for the maintenance program within the bounds of the Annual Conference before they are presented to the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension; also the allocations of the available Church Extension appropriations to the Conference. Any subsequent changes shall be submitted to an Executive Committee composed of the President, Secretary, and Treasurer of the Conference Board of Home Missions and Church Extension before being submitted to the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension."

Also amend this same paragraph by adding after the words "ex-officio," in the fourth line, these words: "full time executives of City and Rural Missionary Societies, ex-officio."

As amended, ¶ 494, § 1, shall read as follows:

"In each Annual Conference there shall be a Conference Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, composed of the District Superintendents ex-officio, full time executives of City and Rural Missionary Societies, ex-officio, and an equal number of Ministers and Laymen elected by the Annual Conference on nomination of the District Superintendents. Such Boards shall have a President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer. This Board shall review, approve, or adjust the askings of the District Superintendents for the maintenance program within the bounds of the Annual Conference before they are presented to the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension; also the allocations of the available Church Extension appropriations to the Conference. Any subsequent changes shall be submitted to an Executive Committee composed of the President, Secretary and Treasurer of the Conference Board of Home Missions and Church Extension before being submitted to the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension."

Amend ¶ 494, § 2, by adding the following at the close of this section:

"and a detailed statement of all disbursements of missionary aid within the Conference shall be printed in the Annual Conference Minutes."

As amended, ¶ 494, § 2, shall read as follows:

"The Conference Board shall hold its Annual Meeting at the call of the President, and other meetings may be called by the President, or any three members, on due notice. The transactions of the year shall be reported by the President to the Annual Conference, and a detailed statement of all disbursements of missionary aid within the Conference shall be printed in the Annual Conference Minutes. The President shall also have charge of the Annual Conference Anniversary of The Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, to which an entire evening shall be given."

Amend ¶ 494, § 3, by substituting the word "may" for "shall," so that it will read as follows:

"The Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, in making payments to meet appropriations, may send drafts to the Secretary of the Conference Board, payable to the Treasurer; but duly organized City Societies or Rural Societies may receive their remittances direct."

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 11. OFFICERS OF THE BOARD OF HOME MISSIONS AND CHURCH EXTENSION AND THEIR DUTIES

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 819, makes the following recommendation:

Amend ¶ 482, § 1, by inserting the word "Comptroller" and striking out the word "four" before "Superintendents" and by adding at the end the words "and such other officers as the Board shall deem necessary" so that the same shall read as follows:

"The officers of the Board shall be a President, five Vice-Presidents, an Executive Secretary, a Recording Secretary, Superintendents of Departments, a Treasurer, and a Comptroller, and such other officers as the Board shall deem necessary."

Amend ¶ 482, § 2, by striking out the words "Recording Secretary," so that the same shall read as follows:

"The President and Vice-Presidents shall be elected annually by the Board, from among its members."

Amend ¶ 482, § 3, by striking out the word "one" and inserting the word "each" in place of it, so that the same shall read as follows:

"The Executive Secretary shall be elected by the General Conference for each quadrennium."

Amend ¶ 482, § 5, by striking out the present section and inserting in place thereof:

"The Treasurer shall be elected for the quadrennium. The Recording Secretary, Comptroller and all other officers annually by the Board."

Amend ¶ 482, § 7, by inserting the word "Comptroller," so that the same shall read as follows:

"The duties of the President, the Vice-Presidents, the Recording Secretary, Comptroller and the Treasurer shall be those usually performed by such officers."

Amend ¶ 483, § 2, by striking out the letter "a" before "Trust Officer" and inserting the words "the Treasurer as," so that the same shall read as follows:

"The Board shall organize and administer a Trust Department with the Treasurer as Trust Officer in charge, which shall have custody of all trust funds held by the Board, and of all its deeds, securities and collateral. Separate books and bank accounts shall be kept of all transactions in this Department."

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 12. PROVIDING FOR DISTRICT MISSIONARY SECRETARIES, AND DUTIES OF DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENTS, PASTORS AND LOCAL CHURCH OFFICERS

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 819, recommends that there be inserted in the Chapter on the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension in the Discipline a new article between Article VIII and Article IX, the paragraphs to be numbered 495 and consecutively thereafter, as follows:

IX. District Board

¶ 495, § 1. There shall be in each District Superintendent's District a District Board of Home Missions and Church Extension composed of the members of the Annual Conference Board of Home Missions and Church Extension from the District. The District Superintendent shall be the President of said District Board, and the District Missionary Secretary shall be its Secretary. Meetings of the said District Board shall be held at the call of the President; provided, that at least one meeting shall be held each year.

§ 2. The said District Board shall aid the Pastors in the presentation of the cause of Home Missions and Church Extension within the District, and may arrange for conventions.

X. District Missionary Secretaries

¶ 496, § 1. The Presiding Bishop, on nomination of the District Superintendent, shall appoint a Member of the Annual Conference as Home Missionary Secretary for each District Superintendent's District, who shall serve without salary, and whose duty it shall be to assist the District Superintendent in furthering the interests of Home Missions on the District. By correspondence and otherwise, he shall aid in securing the distribution of missionary literature in every Pastoral Charge, cooperate with the Board and other agencies of the Church in the promotion of missionary education, and keep the Board informed as to the Home Missionary conditions of the District.

XI. District Superintendents

¶ 497, § 1. It shall be the duty of the District Superintendent to see that the provisions of the Discipline concerning Home Missions are faithfully executed in his District. He shall inquire at each session of the several Quarterly Conferences what has been done toward raising funds for the support of Home Missions during the preceding quarter, and particularly what has been done in the Church Schools for this cause.

§ 2. It shall be the duty of the District Superintendent to see that there be appointed at the fourth Quarterly Conference of each Pastoral Charge a Committee on Home Missions, consisting of five or more persons, including one Church School Superintendent, one woman to represent the Women's Organizations of the Church, and one Epworth League President, of which Committee the Pastor shall be Chairman. Its duty shall be to aid the Pastor in disseminating missionary information, planning for the Annual Home Missionary Day, and securing a thorough canvass of the members of the Churches and Congregations in the interest of Home Missions.

¶ 498, § 1. The support of Home Missions is committed to Pastors, Congregations, Church Schools, and Epworth Leagues.

§ 2. It shall be the duty of the Pastor, aided by the Benevolence Committee or the local World Service Council, to provide for the diffusion of missionary information among the members of his Church, Congregation, Church School, Epworth League and Christian Endeavor Societies; and to this end he shall institute a monthly missionary prayer meeting or address in his Pastoral Charge for the purpose of imploring the divine blessing upon Missions in the homeland and throughout the world, as well as for the diffusion of missionary intelligence among the people.

He shall arrange for an Annual Missionary Day when the Pastor or some one invited by him shall present the cause of Home Missions, at which time it is earnestly recommended that a special offering be taken for the work of the Board of Home Missions exclusively.

He shall see that each Church School on his pastoral charge is organized into a Missionary Society and that an offering be received on at least one Sunday in each month. The Missionary Society shall provide brief missionary exercises on the day that is set apart for the monthly missionary offering and cause suitable literature to be distributed in the Church Schools. The Pastor shall organize Missionary Study Classes on his charge where practicable.

§ 3. The Church School Missionary Society shall include in all of its classes and exercises the work of Foreign Missions, Home Missions and Church Extension and the Board of Education.

Referred to the World Service Commission, May 24.

Report No. 13. Comity and Co-operation

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 819, recommends the adoption of the following principles relative to Comity and Co-operation:

Whereas, The General Conference has repeatedly through the years declared its desire and conviction that our Church should work in the closest fellowship and co-operation with all other evangelical churches and has expressed its disapproval of narrow sectarianism and divisive competition; and,

WHEREAS, The Board of Home Missions and Church Extension has stated that it is unequivocally opposed to the use of mission funds for the support of competitive enterprises; and,

WHEREAS, There have been developed during recent years a considerable number of interdenominational organizations functioning in cities, states, or for the nation as a whole, in practically all of which organizations our Church co-operates, and the number and practical value of such organizations is steadily increasing with effective comity and co-operation as a major objective; and,

WHEREAS, Various interdenominational agreements have been effected defining comity and outlining procedures of co-operation, the Findings of the North American Home Missions Congress held in Washington, D. C., in December, 1930, being a notable example of such agreements on principles and procedures; and,

WHEREAS, The earnest desire manifesting itself among Christians everywhere for the unity of Christ's Church in the spirit in which Christ himself prayed makes it incumbent upon us to remove from National Missions the reproach of competition and unchristian rivalry; Therefore, be it

Resolved, First, That this General Conference declare its acceptance of the principle that the Home Missions funds of the Church ought not to be used for the support of enterprises which compete with other evangelical denominations.

Second, That the General Conference take action establishing the following principle for the distribution and use of missionary funds:

That the several Annual Conferences be requested not to aid any enterprise which appears to be in a competitive field if the funds to support such enterprise are to come from the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, and that every enterprise which is aided or proposed to be aided from the funds of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension which appears to be competitive with enterprises of other denominations which are constituent to the Home Missions Council shall be submitted by the Board for consideration and advice to the appropriate Committee of the interdenominational organization functioning in that area if one exists. If there is no such organization it shall be taken up with the proper representatives of the other denomination or denominations concerned either directly or through the Home Missions Council.

Third, That the General Conference request and urge those Conferences which, in addition to the work supported by the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, administer other home missionary programs in the Conference to accept the same principles and procedure laid down in the preceding paragraphs for the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension.

Fourth, That the General Conference shall request the hearty co-operation of all the Conferences with the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension in achieving the purposes and following out the directions herein outlined and that the Board of Home Missions prepare a general informative statement to accompany these actions.

Fifth, That the General Conference express its deep appreciation of the progress which has already been made in the development of co-operation and in the discontinuance of competitive rivalry and urge that this matter be kept before the attention of all our churches and ministers as a subject for prayer, education and definite constructive effort.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 14. Bureau of Church Architecture

Your Committee has considered Memorials Nos. 551, 552 and 884, and submit the following Report:

Your Committee gave earnest, careful and extended consideration to all the facts presented which related to the purpose, scope and conduct of the Bureau of Architecture as now operated.

It is evident to your Committee that the function of the Department of Church Extension as to the matter of Church Architecture is not definite in that its does not anywhere state the scope of the service to be undertaken by the Department in this matter.

It also appeared that the needs of the field at the time this work was undertaken, were quite different from those of today, particularly in relation to the size and type of the projects presenting themselves for consideration to the Bureau, and also that as a result of intelligent promotion in the field there has been an increasing demand for the services of the Bureau.

Your Committee, therefore, after giving due consideration to all the facts presented, recommends the following to be the purpose and method of the Department of Church Extension in rendering service to our Church in relation to the building and remodeling of Churches, Parsonages, and Church School Buildings.

Types of Service to Be Rendered

First, The education of the Church concerning needs and ideals in Church Architecture, with special regard to worship, Christian education, service activities, social and recreational development; the avenue of approach being through the creation and distribution of literature, publicity in the General and Church press, and addresses before the various general bodies of the Church and in the local Church.

Second, Advice and guidance in specific cases where building or remodeling is contemplated and in the carrying forward of this part of the program, the following are to be recognized as the major items of service:

(a) Study of particular field and institutions. This will include the securing of information of a general character concerning the program in the local Church and community in which the subject is situated.

(b) To assist churches in outlining building programs based upon the information secured, with special regard to the sources available and the ability of the community to finance the building program and the operating costs.

(c) Sketches and preliminary drawings.

(d) Consultation with local communities in the office and in the field.

(e) Reviewing Plans.

It is further recommended that in order to protect the Churches against incompetent service and to maintain the ideals and standards held by the Bureau, it should seek to relate itself as a consultant to architects prior to and during the progress of the work and when requested, to assist in securing the services of competent architects.

We further recommend that the control of the activities of the Bureau be lodged with the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension and that said Board be responsible for its administration.

Recognizing the importance and value of the proper housing and equipping of our Church Schools we recommend that the Joint Committee be continued and that the Board of Education appoint three members to represent its interests thereon.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 15. Foreign Language Churches

We have considered Memorial No. 890, asking for changes in the administration of Foreign Language Churches in the United States, and have voted non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 16. Bilingual Work

We have considered Memorials Nos. 301, 502, 748 and 879 and make the following recommendations.

1. We recommend that the name of the Bureau of Foreign Language Work (¶ 493) be changed to the Bureau of Bilingual Work, and that the term "Foreign Language" wherever used in the Discipline in connection with the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension be changed to "Bilingual."

2. We recommend that ¶ 493, § 3, (1) be amended by striking out the word "five" and inserting the word "three" before "ministers" and "laymen" and also by adding the words "and from" following the words "selected by" so that the same as amended will read:

§ 3. (1) The Bureau of Bilingual Work of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension shall be constituted as follows: "The Bishops having jurisdiction over Bilingual Conferences, Mission Conferences or Missions, three ministers and three laymen selected by and from The Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, and the Executive Secretary of The Board of Home Missions and Church Extension; also, that the Superintendents of Departments of The Board of Home Missions and Church Extension be made advisory members of the Bureau."

3. We recommend that ¶ 493, § 3, (2) be stricken out and in lieu thereof there be inserted:

(2) The Bureau thus constituted shall have the following powers and duties:

First, To formulate general policies and principles for work among bilingual peoples.

Second, To recruit and make provision for the necessary training of leaders to be employed in work among bilingual peoples, and co-operate with other organizations and agencies which are working among bilingual peoples.

4. We recommend that there be added to ¶ 493, § 5, the following:

"¶ 256, § 12, shall apply in the making of appointments," so that the whole section shall read as follows:

§ 5. We recommend to the Bishops that the Bilingual Mission, as heretofore, be related to one of the regular Areas of the Church with the provision that the number of regular Annual Conferences allocated to that Area be reduced sufficiently so as not to constitute an overload for the Bishop of that Area. ¶ 256, § 12, shall apply in the making of appointments.

5. We recommend that a new section be inserted in ¶ 493 between No. 5 and No. 6, to read as follows:

§ 6. The Bishop of the Bilingual Mission is authorized to place isolated or other bilingual charges under the supervision of the District Superintendent of an English-Speaking Annual Conference and in charge of the District within whose geographical limits such charges shall be located.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 17. Committee of Six on Foreign Language Publications

Your Committee, having received a Memorial on Committee of Six on Foreign Language Publications, recommends concurrence in the report of the Book Concern, Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, and the Board of Education, as found in page 375 of the Handbook, as follows:

Resolution on Discontinuance of Committee of Six on Foreign Language Publications

WHEREAS, Our current Federal Restricted Immigration Policy is constantly reducing the percentage of permanent foreign language residents in the United States; and,

WHEREAS, Children from the homes of America's foreign language groups are rapidly increasing the proportion of our English-speaking constituents among them; and,

WHEREAS, We now have access to an adequate supply of "penny Gospels" in the languages of all foreign language groups among whom we are at work, plus the fact that their use, coupled with effective evangelistic appeals from bilingual Christian workers, is exceedingly fruitful in winning peoples from all climes and nationalities to Evangelical Christianity; and,

WHEREAS, The Methodist Book Concern, the Board of Education and the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, which have heretofore provided the financial undergirding for the Committee of Six, find it imperative further to curtail their programs of activity on account of the continued shortage in World Service receipts; therefore,

Resolved, That this General Conference authorize the discontinuance of the Committee of Six on Foreign Language Publications, at the close of the current quadrennium.

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 18. DEPARTMENT OF EVANGELISM

Your Committee reports on the Department of Evangelism as follows:

WHEREAS, The General Conference has adopted the report of the Special Committee on Evangelism, which provides for a Commission on Evangelism consisting of five Bishops, ten Ministers and ten Laymen, we recommend that the Department of Evangelism of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension be discontinued. We also recommend that ¶ 492 be stricken from the Discipline.

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 19. RURAL SOCIETIES

Your Committee has considered Memorial No. 765 and would recommend its adoption. We recommend that the following changes in ¶ 491, § 1, be made:

Amend by inserting in the third line after the word "organized," the following words, "in any Annual Conference or," and by adding at the end of § 1 the words, "and to the Annual Conference," so that the whole Section shall read as follows:

¶ 491, § 1, Rural Societies:

"Rural Societies, with the District Superintendents as members ex-officio, may be organized in any Annual Conference or any district of any Annual Conference. They shall be auxiliary to the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension and report to the same and to the Annual Conference."

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 20. FINANCIAL REPORT OF BOARD OF HOME MISSIONS AND CHURCH EXTENSION

In keeping with the request of the General Conference, your Committee has examined the financial statement of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension and reports as follows:

We regret the declining income during the quadrennium has made necessary the curtailment of the activities of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension with disastrous results.

The declining income in the receipts of the General Fund has resulted in successive deficits for the past three years aggregating $1,079,914.77. During this same period, however, a total of $754,444.39 was applied on the deficit, making the net increase $325,470.38, and the accumulated deficit at the close of the last fiscal year $932,435.78.

We find that there has been a substantial reduction in administration expense as compared with the previous quadrennium and that the administrative budget for the current year has been further reduced by ten per cent from the budget of the previous year. We feel that inasmuch as the administrative work of the Board includes the administrative responsibilities of the Permanent Fund with its nearly $8,000,000 of assets, the expense of administration is very low.

We are gratified to find that the Permanent Fund of the Board has increased $2,357,318.53 during the quadrennium, and now totals $7,825,474.12, of which $2,058,866.29 is subject to annuity. This increase has made possible much greater service through the Loan Fund during the past quadrennium. There was loaned during the four years a total of $940,679.87 from the Regular Loan Fund to 203 churches, and a total of $1,196,-782.66 from the Revolving Fund to 244 churches, or a total of $2,137,462.53 to 447 churches. On October 31, 1931, there was a total of $3,049,119.68 outstanding in loans from the two funds to 699 churches, as compared with a total of $1,394,-311.61 on October 31, 1927, to 395 churches.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 21. Social Education Authorized

Your Committee, having given attention to Memorial No. 911, recommends that ¶ 486, § 1, Discipline, 1928, be changed to read as follows:

"The Department of City Work shall provide so far as possible for social education and shall further, in every practicable way, religious and social work in all places and particularly those having city societies as hereinafter provided."

Adopted, May 25.

IX. HOSPITALS, HOMES AND DEACONESS WORK

Report No. 1. Approving Report of the Commission on Organized Work for Women

We recommend approval of the work of the Commission; and, because of the increasing importance of the Commission, that a Joint Committee be raised by all interested agencies and financed by them to carry on the work of the Commission.

We further recommend that the General Conference reimburse the several persons and agencies for money advanced to underwrite the expense of the Commission to the amount of $402.42.

Adopted, May 19.

Report No. 2. Appointment of Deaconesses

Amend § 6, ¶ 532, of the Discipline, by adding these words at the close: "and shall carry mutual obligation of one year of service on the part of the deaconesses thus appointed and the churches or organizations employing them," so that the section, as amended, shall read:

¶ 532, § 6. The appointment of deaconesses to their respective fields of labor or to any institution, shall be made by the Bishop presiding at the Annual Conference upon recommendation of the officers of the form of administration or other organization with which they serve. These appointments shall be read by the Bishop and shall carry mutual obligation of one year of service on the part of the deaconesses thus appointed and the churches or organizations employing them.

Adopted, May 20.

Report No. 5. Amending ¶ 324, § 1, Relating to Deaconesses

Your Committee, considering Memorial No. 874, providing for further penalties for Deaconess offenders against the moral law, votes non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 7. Pensions for Deaconesses

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 434, relating to pensions for Deaconesses, recommend that the following take the place of ¶ 538, of the Discipline of 1928:

¶ 538, § 1. That the Board of Hospitals, Homes and Deaconess Work be instructed to continue the payment of pensions on the present basis as far as possible to the Retired Deaconesses who are now under their care and have been or may be retired by them.

§ 2. That as soon as practicable the Board of Hospitals, Homes and Deaconess Work proceed to fund on an actuarial reserve basis the annuities payable to the Deaconesses of the Methodist Episcopal Church for services rendered, subject to the following provisions:

(1) Such annuities shall be funded on a saving-annuity plan under which the Board shall place in a trusteed fund each year for each Deaconess the amount necessary to provide a pension for that year of service.

(2) At the time of retirement of a Deaconess the annuity shall be underwritten by a Life Insurance Company.

(3) As a beginning, during the ensuing quadrennium, there shall be funded each year an amount sufficient to carry forward this pension plan, and this amount shall be part of the benevolence budget of the Board of Hospitals, Homes and Deaconess Work.

(4) An actuarial study of costs shall be made as soon as possible, in order to determine definitely a cost-scale for future payments, as well as a financial plan for funding past services.

§ 3. That the following contributory plan continue: One per cent (1%) from each Deaconess on the basis of the maximum cash allowance of thirty-five dollars ($35) per month. One per cent (1%) on the same basis to be paid by the institution or Charge served by the Deaconess.

§ 4. An active Deaconess to be eligible to participation in the provisions of the Pension Fund must have entered the service prior to her fortieth birthday and must have served not less than ten years of active service before being eligible to retirement.

§ 5. A Deaconess shall be eligible to conditional retirement at the age of sixty-five by a vote of the Board of Hospitals, Homes and Deaconess Work. Her age for a compulsory retirement shall be seventy years.

§ 6. Failure of a Deaconess in active work to pay the one per cent (1%) assessment during any year would deprive the Deaconess of that amount of her pension when she retires.

Adopted, May 24.

X. ITINERANCY

Report No. 2. Duties of a Pastor, Amend ¶ 231

Your Committee on Itinerancy has considered Memorial No. 36, relative to the duties of a Pastor, and respectfully recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 3. Powers of Annual Conference re Annuity Claims

Your Committee on Itinerancy has considered Memorials Nos. 65 and 183, and recommends the following changes in the Discipline of 1928:

Amend ¶ 382, § 1, by adding the following provision:

"The Annual Conference shall be the sole judge of the admissibility and validity of such claim, and shall be fully competent to determine all payments, disallowances, and deductions thereunder, subject to the specific regulations pertaining to payment, disallowance and deductions contained in the annuity provisions of the Discipline."

So that the section, as amended, shall then read:

¶ 382, § 1. The claim to a comfortable support inheres in the Christian ministry and rightfully inures to the benefit of the preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church when he is admitted to membership in an Annual Conference. Such claim is not invalidated by his being retired, and at his death passes to the dependent members of his family.

The Annual Conference shall be the sole judge of the admissibility and validity of such claim, and shall be fully competent to determine all payments, disallowances and deductions thereunder, subject to the specific regulations pertaining to payment, disallowance and deduction contained in the annuity provisions of the Discipline.

Adopted, May 10.

Report No. 4. Amend Certain Paragraphs re Licensing Local Preachers (¶ 269 and ¶ 187)

Your Committee on Itinerancy has considered Memorial No. 32 regarding an amendment dealing with the licensing of Local Preachers, and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 5. Amenability of Local Preachers to Annual Conference

Your Committee on Itinerancy has considered Memorials Nos. 88 and 135, dealing with the amenability of ordained local preachers to the Annual Conference, and respectfully recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 6. QUADRENNIAL APPOINTMENT OF PASTORS

Your Committee on Itinerancy has considered Memorials Nos. 127, 159, and 213, relating to the appointment of Pastors for a quadrennial term, and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 7. CHANGE IN NOMENCLATURE FOR DETACHED AND RETIRED MINISTERS

Your Committee on Itinerancy has considered Memorial No. 472, dealing with a change of nomenclature for "detached" and "retired" ministers, and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 8. ADMISSION OF WOMEN TO THE ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Your Committee on Itinerancy has carefully considered Memorials Nos. 58, 59, 164, 230, 340, 378, 379, dealing with the Admission of Women to the Annual Conference, and recommends non-concurrence.

Adopted, May 18.

Minority Report

We, the undersigned, members of the Committee on Itinerancy, favor concurrence in Memorials Nos. 58, 59, 164, 230, 340, 378, 379, 591, 596, 597 and any other Memorials as to admission of women to the Annual Conference, and recommend that the following paragraph be inserted in the Discipline in Chapter II, of Part III, dealing with the Ministry, namely:

Unmarried women may be admitted to membership in the Annual Conference. Subsequent marriage will automatically terminate such membership, in which case the Annual Conference may, upon request, grant the status of Location.

We recommend further that ¶ 276, of the Discipline of 1928, and all other parts of the Discipline be suitably edited to conform to this action.

Report No. 9. Appointment of Ministers to Detached Service

Your Committee on Itinerancy has considered Memorial No. 186 concerning the appointment of ministers to detached service and recommends the following amendment to the Discipline of 1928:

Amend ¶ 257, § 3, by inserting at the end of the first line, after the word "annually," the following words: "subject to the limitations of annuity claims contained in ¶ 389, § 2," and after "Superintendents," line 7, add "or requested by a petition of not less than one tenth of the total membership of the Conference to which he belongs"; also strike out the words "of the Conference to which he belongs" after the words "two-thirds vote" and substitute "thereof," so that the section, as amended, shall then read:

¶ 257, § 3. He may make the following appointments annually, subject to the limitations of annuity claims contained in ¶ 389, § 2; provided, that no member of the Annual Conference shall be appointed to any form of service outside the regularly constituted organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church, except as Chaplains in the Army and Navy, unless such appointment is recommended by the District Superintendents or requested by petition of not less than one tenth of the total membership of the Conference to which he belongs and confirmed by a two-thirds vote thereof.

Adopted, May 11.

Report No. 10. Appointment of Treasurers of Benevolence Boards

Your Committee on Itinerancy has considered Memorial No. 186, and recommends the following amendment to ¶ 257, § 3, Sub-section (2).

Amend ¶ 257, § 3, of the Discipline of 1928, by adding in (2) following the words "Corresponding Secretaries" in the second line, the word "Treasurers," and change "Corresponding" to "Executive," so that the amended item shall read:

(2) The Executive Secretaries, Assistant Executive Secretaries, Treasurers, and Recording Secretaries of our Connectional Benevolence Boards and Societies.

Adopted, May 11.

Report No. 11. Apportionment by Conference Stewards

Your Committee on Itinerancy has carefully considered Memorial No. 188, and recommends the following amendments to the Discipline of 1928:

Amend ¶ 385 by inserting the word "claims" after the word "annuity," in line 3, and change the word "claims" to the word

"distribution," in the same line. Also change the word "cases" to the word "distribution," in line 13. And add at the end of the same paragraph the following words: "and furthermore provided that the Stewards shall take account of the probable increase of the total annuity years which may be caused by retirements to be effected at the succeeding session of the Annual Conference."

So that the entire paragraph shall then read:

¶ 385. The Annual Conference, through its Stewards, shall determine the total amount required to pay the annuity claims and necessitous distribution, first computing the amount required for all the Conference Claimants, and then subtracting from such amount the income received during the previous year from the Chartered Fund, the Book Concern and the Board of Pensions and Relief and from all other sources for this purpose, except the receipts from the Pastoral Charges. The remainder shall be equitably apportioned by the Conference Stewards to the several Pastoral Charges; provided, however, that the amount asked for necessitous distribution shall be subject to the approval of the Annual Conference; and further provided that the Stewards shall take account of the probable increase of the total annuity years which may be caused by retirements to be effected at the succeeding session of the Annual Conference.

Adopted, May 19.

REPORT NO. 12. POWERS OF ANNUAL CONFERENCE TO LEVY ASSESSMENTS FOR PERMANENT FUNDS

Your Committee on Itinerancy has considered Memorial No. 187, and recommends the following amendment to the Discipline of 1928:

Amend ¶ 383 by adding two new sections, to be numbered § 2 and § 3, respectively, which shall read as follows:

¶ 383, § 2. An Annual Conference, subject to the laws of the state in which it is incorporated, shall have power to require from its members in the effective relation an annual contribution to either its permanent or reserve fund or to a Preacher's Aid Society for the benefit of its annuitants, subject to the following provisions: (1) The annual payment may be made in installments as provided by the Annual Conference; (2) the Conference may fix a financial penalty for failure of the member to pay; (3) in case his membership in the Annual Conference is terminated under the provisions of the Discipline, the Conference may refund the amount so paid in whole or in part after a hearing has been given to the person terminating his membership, providing such hearing is requested; (4) the making of such payment shall not be used as the ground of any special or additional annuity claim of a member against the Conference, neither shall it prevent disallowance of his claim by Conference action.

§ 3. Each Annual Conference may constitute its Conference Stewards a Committee on pro-rating Ministerial Support for the purpose of examining the records of amounts paid on ministerial support by the pastoral charge, computing the pro rata distribution thereof and keeping a permanent record of defaults.

Renumber § 1 to correspond.

Adopted, May 19.

Your Committee on Itinerancy has considered Memorial No. 193, relative to the investigation of necessitous cases of Retired Members of an Annual Conference, and recommends the following amendment to the Discipline of 1928:

Amend ¶ 386 by striking out the entire paragraph, including the title.

Amend ¶ 387, § 2, by striking out all that follows the word "Distribution," in the fourth line, and inserting instead the words, "and the Conference Stewards shall take such steps as may be necessary to determine the facts in each case."

So that the amended section shall read:

¶ 387, § 2. The Conference Stewards shall ascertain what Claimants are in special need, namely, whose needs require more than can be paid them from Annuity Distribution, and the Conference Stewards shall take such steps as may be necessary to determine the facts in each case.

Renumber all paragraphs to agree with this action.

Your Committee on Itinerancy has considered Memorials Nos. 413, 685, 718, and 727, dealing with the Relation of Local Pastors to the Annual Conference, and recommends the following amendments to the Discipline of 1928:

Amend ¶ 81, by adding the following:

¶ 81, § 28, Who are accepted as Supply Pastors?

After ¶ 234 insert a new chapter as follows:

CHAPTER VII

Accepted Supply Pastors

¶ 235, § 1. Any Local Preacher who is employed as a preacher-in-charge must have his character, fitness, training and effectiveness passed and be accepted as a Supply Pastor by a majority vote of the Annual Conference, upon reference to and recommendation by the Committee on Conference Relations. But between sessions of the Annual Conference a District Superintendent may employ, but only until the next session of the Annual Conference, as a Supply Pastor, a Local Preacher who is not listed as an Accepted Supply Pastor.

§ 2. Observe! The accepting of one as a Supply Pastor does not guarantee him an appointment.

§ 3. An Accepted Supply Pastor who is in charge of a pastoral appointment shall attend the sessions of the Annual Conference and shall have the privilege to speak on any question. He shall not vote on any question.

§ 4. The roll of Accepted Supply Pastors shall be called at Annual Conference immediately following the regular Roll Call.

¶ 236. When a Local Preacher is accepted as a Supply Pastor the Annual Conference alone has jurisdiction over his authority to preach. Continuance in this relation shall be equivalent to renewal of his license to preach. Upon the discontinuance of this relation his status becomes again in all regards that of a Local Preacher without pastoral appointment.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 39. Commission on Conference Claimants Legislation

Your Committee on Itinerancy reports with the recommendation that it be adopted, the following resolution referred to it by action of the General Conference on May 18:

XI. JUDICIARY

Report No. 1. Election to Local Elders Orders

The Judiciary Committee, to whom was referred Memorial No. 5, would report:

Rule 24, Session 1930, page 180, Southern California Conference, is as follows:

"That only those shall be elected to Elders Orders as a Local Preacher, either man or woman, whose appointment to a charge as preacher has been requested by the District Superintendent."

We are asked under resolution of that Conference under date of June 29, 1931, as to the authority of an Annual Conference to make such a rule.

In our judgment the Southern California Annual Conference was fully competent to make this rule, and a candidate seeking election to Elders Orders as a Local Preacher in that Conference is bound by that rule, and said rule does not contravene ¶ 182, § 1, of the Discipline, 1928.

Adopted, May 14.

REPORT NO. 2. JUDICIAL REVIEW OF AMENDED PARAGRAPH 36

The Judiciary Committee, to whom was referred Memorial No. 114, would report:

1. The Memorial suggests that the proposed Amendment of Division III, Chapter I, Article III, Annual Conferences, ¶ 36, is invalid by reason of improper heading or title which reads, "Participation of Laymen in the Annual Conferences."

The Judiciary Committee is of the opinion that the title, although not exact, is not a part of the amendment, and in the absence of any Constitutional provision which invalidates an amendment by reason of inaccuracy in title, this amendment, otherwise properly adopted, is not rendered void by defect.

2. The Memorial further suggests that the language of the proposed amendment, to wit: "There shall be reserved to the Annual Conferences, . . . all matters relating to the character and Conference relations of its members, and ordination of ministers," would take away the jurisdiction over such matters from the General Conference and other bodies as provided elsewhere in the Constitution and Discipline.

The Judiciary Committee is of the opinion that the proposed amendment does not grant any such exclusive jurisdiction to the Annual Conferences. This new provision must be construed in connection with all the other provisions of the Constitution, so as to give proper effect to all, unless clearly contradictory. The words "reserved to," therefore, should be construed to mean "retained by" the Annual Conference subject to all the other provisions relating to the subject matter, and are not intended as granting any additional or exclusive powers or rights. All other material matters raised by this Memorial are involved in, and are therefore adjudicated by, the decision on the two foregoing questions.

Adopted, May 14.

REPORT NO. 3. INTERPRETATION OF DUTIES, FUNCTIONS, AND LIMITATIONS OF COMMITTEE ON PASTORAL RELATION

The Judiciary Committee, to whom were referred Memorials Nos. 115 and 491, would report:

The duties, functions, and limitations of the Committee on Pastoral Relation and Pulpit Supply are obvious with respect to Pulpit Supply, namely, to confer and arrange, with the co-operation of the Pastor, for Pulpit Supply in the absence of the Pastor from his pulpit.

The duties, function, and limitations of the Committee on Pastoral Relation and Pulpit Supply, with respect to pastoral relations, are not clearly defined. However, the intent of the legislation is to establish an official committee to act as an intermediary between the Pastoral Charge and the Pastor on the one hand, and the Pastoral Charge, District Superintendent and Bishop on the other.

The Committee is the only authorized agent to consider Pastoral Relations, but it has no authority apart from the Quarterly Conference, and is subject thereto.

Adopted, May 14.

Report No. 4. As to Relation of Annual Conference to Its Corporation

The Judiciary Committee, to whom was referred Memorial No. 116, would report:

The Memorial from the "Minnesota Annual Conference requests the General Conference to definitely designate the relationship of an Annual Conference to its corporation."

This request is very general in its phraseology and no concrete facts are presented to indicate the conditions that give rise to the inquiry. Without such supporting data, this appears to be an abstract question of law—which the Judiciary Committee need not consider. See Judiciary Reports, 1888, page 54.

Adopted, May 14.

Report No. 6. Appeal of Rev. Everett M. Hill

Petition and Appeal by Francis A. La Violette from the Pacific Northwest Conference relating to the Transfer of E. M. Hill to the California Conference, Memorial No. 510.

In the official Journal of the Forty-fifth Session of the Puget Sound Conference, duly certified by the President and by the Secretary, on page 24, under the date of September 16, 1928, is recorded the transfer, without any qualification, of E. M. Hill from the Puget Sound Conference to the California Conference.

In the official Journal of the Sixty-seventh Session of the California Conference, duly signed by the President and by the Secretary, on page 12, under date of September 12, 1928, is recorded, without any qualification, the reception of E. M. Hill into the California Conference by transfer from the Puget Sound Conference.

In our judgment, the transfer of E. M. Hill from the Puget Sound Conference to the California Conference was completed and in effect on or before September 16, 1928, and all other records and notations should conform to the records in the official proceedings.

Adopted, May 14.

REPORT NO. 7. INTERPRETING THE WORD "CLAIMANTS"

Your Committee, to whom was referred Memorial No. 571, asking for an interpretation of the word "Claimants," as to whether it includes the widow of a deceased member of an Annual Conference and his dependent children, would report:

That in the opinion of the Committee it does include these dependents.

¶ 382, § 1, of the Discipline, 1928, states that: "The claim to a comfortable support inheres in the Gospel Ministry and rightfully inures to the benefit of the Preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church, when he is admitted to membership in an Annual Conference. Such claim is not invalidated by his being retired, and at his death passes to the dependent members of his family."

¶ 382, § 2, states that: "Retired Ministers, the widows of Ministers, during their widowhood, and while they remain members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and their children under sixteen years of age, are Conference Claimants and beneficiaries of the moneys as hereinafter provided."

Adopted, May 14.

REPORT NO. 8. RIGHT OF AN ANNUAL CONFERENCE TO SUBVERT, CONTRAVENE OR MODIFY THE PROVISIONS OF THE "DISCIPLINE" FOR SUPPORT OF CONFERENCE CLAIMANTS

There has been referred to your Committee Memorial No. 588, which reads as follows:

WHEREAS, Certain Annual Conferences and groups within Annual Conferences have entered into negotiations with outside underwriting organizations which involve the funding of Conference annuity obligations on a commercial basis, and, of necessity, involve the violation of the annuity plans provided by the Methodist Episcopal Church for its Conference Claimants.

THEREFORE, Be It Resolved, That the Committee on Judiciary be and it is hereby requested to rule on this question, to wit:

Does an Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church have the right to subvert, contravene or modify the provisions of the disciplinary plan of the Church for the support of Conference Claimants and substitute therefor some form of group annuity contract made with a commercial underwriting organization?

Your Committee would report than an Annual Conference has no right to subvert, contravene or modify the provisions of the Discipline for the support of Conference Claimants. In the absence of a concrete case we give no further opinion.

Adopted, May 14.

Report No. 9. Annuity Claim of Re-Admitted Minister

The Committee on Judiciary, to whom was referred its Report No. 9, on Memorial No. 490, herewith reports:

Question. When a Minister has been expelled from the Methodist Episcopal Church for immoral conduct and, having been restored, there is nothing to show that the expulsion was questioned, what is his status in relation to the Board of Pensions and Relief of said Church? Has an Annual Conference the right to restore to such a Minister his lost years of service?

Answer. The premise set up in the first part of the question is not clear. It says, "When a Minister has been expelled from the Methodist Episcopal Church and, having been restored." Restored to what? To his membership in the Church only? If this is the meaning he has no claim on Conference funds, for he is not a member of an Annual Conference. Does it mean restored not only to membership in the Church but also to membership in an Annual Conference? If this is the meaning, clearly his claim for annuity would include the years of effective relation prior to his expulsion as well as those after his restoration. The administration of funds for annuity distribution is in the hands of the Annual Conference. (See ¶ 389, Discipline, 1928.)

If by "lost years of service" is meant the years while he was an expelled preacher with "nothing to show that the expulsion was questioned," the Annual Conference has no warrant in law to pay for those years.

As to relation to the Board of Pensions and Relief, a member of an Annual Conference has no direct relation to that Board.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 10. Presiding Officer of a Special Appellate Committee

The Committee on Judiciary, to which was referred the question asked by the Bishops, reports as follows:

Question. Is it necessary to appoint a Bishop to preside at the sessions of "A Special Appellate Committee."

Answer. While the Discipline, 1928, ¶ 351, authorizing the appointment by the General Conference of a Special Appellate Committee does not specifically state that a Bishop should preside over an Appellate Committee, it is the opinion of the Judiciary Committee that by analogy to the requirement that a Bishop should preside in a Judicial Conference, ¶ 349, Disci- pline, 1928, a Bishop should likewise preside in a Special Appellate Committee.

Adopted, May 13.

Report No. 11. Relation of Local Church to Subordinate Organizations

A Memorial, No. 492, submitted by J. E. Morrison, and referred to the Committee on Judiciary, requests that said Committee express an opinion in regard to the following matters:

(1) In case of an emergency, does the local church possess the authority with or without the consent of the subordinate society to dispose of the assets, funds, property of such organizations as the Ladies' Aid Society, Missionary Society, Sunday School Board, Bible Classes, Athletic Clubs or other societies which have been organized within the local church?

(2) In the event of dissolution of such subordinate organizations, does the local church have the authority to dispose of assets, funds or property of the dissolved organizations?

The questions as phrased do not contain a concrete statement of facts; the first one asks for an opinion that would require an authoritative definition of the financial and property relations of the societies named and all others unnamed to the local church in the event of a hypothetical emergency; the second one asks for a definition of such relations in case of a supposed dissolution of such organizations.

It cannot be too frequently emphasized that as early as 1888, the General Conference, by resolution, relieved the Committee on Judiciary "from the consideration of all abstract questions of law referred to them and they shall report such matters only as are involved in actual cases submitted"; to the practice thus prescribed the Committee has ever since consistently adhered.

It is true, that in the preamble to the Memorial it is recited that the financial crisis has resulted in the closing of banks which were the depositories of the funds of churches and their subordinate organizations and that the receivers of such closed banks have demanded a statement setting forth the authority of the local church over organizations within it; this, however, fails to identify the precise situation to which the inquiries are directed, nor is it a necessary inference that a statement is demanded from the General Conference.

It is the opinion of the Committee that the officials of the interested local church are the source from which information desired in the first question is to be derived, for they alone know the facts peculiar to the individual case; this observation is applicable only to such an emergency as, it is assumed, inspired this question.

Referring to the second interrogation, the Committee is confidently of the opinion that it clearly falls within the category of an abstract or hypothetical question, no actual case being involved, and that in harmony with the approved practice, the Committee is relieved from further consideration of it.

Adopted, May 16.

Report No. 12. Power of Central Conferences to Elect District Superintendents

The Judiciary Committee, to which was referred Memorial No. 635, presented by Gabino Rodriguez, of the Eastern South America Annual Conference, begs leave to report:

The Memorial asks, "Is it permissible to a Central Conference to legislate so that the election of the District Superintendents by the Annual Conferences may be made possible if so desired?"

We are of the opinion that such legislation by Central Conferences would be contrary to the constitution of our Church.

The constitutional question presented by the Memorial on numerous occasions recently has been passed upon by former Judiciary Committees, and General Conferences (see Report No. 24, Serial 257, Daily Advocate, May 25, 1928, page 266), where the decisions of the General Conference in 1924 were referred to (see Daily Christian Advocate, May 24, 1924, pages 610, 426, 427 and 428).

Adopted, May 14.

Report No. 13. Regarding Appeal by Kansas Conference

Your Committee on Judiciary, having considered Memorial No. 631, from the Kansas Conference, asking for a ruling concerning the right of an Annual Conference to withhold funds due a Conference Claimant from his Annuity or Pension in order to discharge the obligations of such Claimant by reason of his failure to pay assessments voted by the Annual Conference, answers that an Annual Conference does have such rights:

¶ 383, Discipline, 1928, "Annual Conferences are authorized to establish and maintain Investment Funds; Preachers' Aid Societies; and Organizations and funds of similar character, under such names, plans, rules, and regulations as they may determine, the income from which shall be applied to the support of Conference Claimants." ¶ 389, § 9, Division (4), "Any other cause cited by the Conference Stewards, provided that for such other cause approval shall be given of two-thirds of the Annual Conference present and voting."

Adopted, May 16.

Report No. 14. Ruling on Annuity of Conference Evangelist

Your Committee on Judiciary, having considered Memorial No. 572, from E. R. Kelley, of the California Conference, asking for the answer to four questions concerning annuity of a Conference Evangelist, makes the following answer:

1. Is an evangelist, who has been granted that relation by a two-thirds vote of his Conference, in effective relation to said Conference?

A. Yes; his appointment is made under the provision of Discipline, 1928, ¶ 257, § 4, Subdivision 9.

2. If he is in effective relation to the Conference, is he not entitled to an Annuity covering the years of such relation?

A. Yes; Discipline, 1928, ¶ 382, asserts the right to claim a comfortable support by Ministers upon retirement who meet all the disciplinary conditions, and also, quoting ¶ 389, § 1, "Retired Ministers are entitled to annuities for the years of service in the effective relation in the Methodist Episcopal Church."

3. If, in your judgment, he is entitled to an Annuity at the time of his retirement, should not the Annuity cover the entire period of his effective relation to his Conference, or does it merely apply to the time of his pastorate?

A. According to the Discipline, 1928, ¶ 257, § 4, Subdivision 9, it should cover the entire period of his effective relation if he has been working under the provisions of said paragraph unless for sufficient reason his claim has been disallowed by vote of the Annual Conference in accordance with Discipline, 1928, ¶ 389, § 9.

4. If he is entitled to an Annuity covering the entire period of his effective relation (including his pastorate and also evangelism) has an Annual Conference any legal right to withhold any of the Annuity?

A. Yes; Discipline, 1928, ¶ 382, §§ 1 and 2, guarantee the claims of their retired ministers to an annuity, but ¶ 389, § 9, makes it possible for an Annual Conference to disallow any annuity claims in whole or in part by stating that the claim may be disallowed by the Conference Stewards for any other cause than those specified in ¶ 389, § 9, Subdivisions 1, 2, 3; provided that it may be disallowed for cause by a two-thirds vote of the Annual Conference present and voting.

Adopted, May 16.

Report No. 15. Rulings of the Bishops

The Committee on Judiciary reports on the ruling of the Bishops as follows: (1) We concur in the ruling of the Bishops as adopted May, 1929, and also the plan of the Bishops for their meetings as is included in the report of that date, (2) the rulings for November, 1929, (3) the rulings for May, 1930, with the exception of Question 169. (4) We concur in the rulings for November, 1930, with the exception of Question 176, and concur in the rulings for May, 1931, (5) and also concur in the rulings of April, 1932.

Inasmuch as there seems to be, in some of its phases, a lack of harmony between the ruling of the Bishops on Question 169, adopted May, 1930, and Question 176, adopted November, 1930, and the Discipline ¶ 63, § 2, and ¶ 107, § 1, and ¶ 111, § 5, Item 9, therefore we recommend that these two rulings be referred to the Bishops, for harmonizing and clarification, and that we request the Bishops to report back to the Judiciary Committee before the adjournment of this General Conference.[1]

We recommend in harmony with their suggestion in answer to Ruling No. 159 the following amendment to ¶ 187, § 7, of the Discipline of 1928 by inserting after "Spring of 1920," the following:

(a) Failure on the part of a Local Preacher to complete the first two years of the course of study within four years shall disqualify such Local Preacher for appointment as a Supply Pastor by a District Superintendent, and (b) failure to complete the entire course of study within eight years shall thereby disqualify such Local Preacher for appointment as a Supply Pastor by a District Superintendent. So that the amended paragraph shall read:

¶ 187, § 7. Local Preachers who are Supplies and who are giving their full time to pastoral work under the District Superintendents shall be required to take the Local Preachers' Course of Study year by year, under the Annual Conference Board of Ministerial Training, this rule to apply to all men and women under forty years of age and likewise to all Local Preachers whose appointments began subsequent to the Spring of 1920; (a) failure on the part of a Local Preacher to complete the first two years of the Course of Study within four years shall disqualify such Local Preacher for employment as a Supply Pastor by a District Superintendent, and (b) failure to complete the entire Course of Study within eight years shall thereby disqualify such Local Preacher for appointment as a Supply Pastor by a District Superintendent. Any Supply Pastor who shall refuse to observe the requirements of this section shall not be employed by the District Superintendent.

Rulings Adopted May, 1929

Question 143. The Ohio Conference, by unanimous action, Session of 1928, page 55, Conference Journal, passed a resolution requiring graduation from college as the educational requirement for Admission on Trial effective 1929 session. This requirement exceeds the requirement of the Discipline, ¶ 185, §2. Is a young man applying for Admission on Trial bound by the action of the Annual Conference or the General Conference in this matter?

[1] See Report No. 34, p. 624.

Answer. In our judgment, the present General Conference legislation is in the nature of a minimum requirement which an Annual Conference is not at liberty to set aside. The Annual Conference itself must be the judge as to whether it will treat this minimum as also a maximum.

Question 144. Can a Lay Electoral Conference consider and vote on any constitutional questions except such as have been handed down by the General Conference?

Answer. Yes. (A duly called Lay Electoral Conference may be considered as so related to the Annual Conference as to be able to consider questions which the Annual Conference can legally consider. The Annual Conference is qualified to vote on other constitutional questions.)

Question 145. B. having withdrawn from the Oklahoma Conference under charges and having shown proper evidence of a purpose to live a good life and having applied to the Conference for restoration of parchments and readmission to the Conference, which request was denied, excepting that he was permitted to become a member of one of our churches, has now joined one of our churches and has been recommended for a Local Preacher's license by this Quarterly Conference in order that he may serve the church as its Pastor. Has B. a right to such a license and would a District Superintendent have the legal right to use B. for such a purpose when his name remains upon the Conference records "Withdrawn under Charges"?

Answer. Relating to the case of Brother B., of the Oklahoma Conference, we refer to ¶¶ 356 and 321 of the Discipline of 1928, which make it plain that the Annual Conference must be the judge of the validity of the contrition, reformation, and confession. The Oklahoma Conference denied his application for the return of his parchments, but granted him permission to unite with the Church. This he has done. As a Church member he is eligible to Quarterly Conference membership and, if so elected, to be licensed as a local preacher. As a local preacher he may be employed as a supply if any District Superintendent so appoints him.

Question 146. J. C., being more than sixty-five years of age, asked at the last session of the Baltimore Conference for the Retired Relation. The question was raised, what action by the Conference was required? Is it necessary in such a case for the applicant to appear before the Committee on Conference Relation? Is a recommendation from that Committee necessary? Is any vote of the Conference required?

Answer. Under ¶ 237, § 2, a member of an Annual Conference who is in good standing and has reached the age of sixty-five years may ask for a Retired Relation and upon his request shall be placed in the Retired Relation. Under this rule, the Annual Conference having passed the character of a man over sixty-five years of age, is under obligation to grant the Retired Relation at his request, but the change of relation must be granted by the Annual Conference.

Question 147. Where there are on a charge two churches controlled by two separate Boards of Trustees, but united in one Quarterly Conference, is each of these churches entitled to lay delegates to the Lay Electoral Conference?

Answer. No. ¶ 397 makes it clear that such churches are subject to one Quarterly Conference and hence entitled to but one lay delegate and one reserve lay delegate.

Question 148. V. C. W., a member of the Upper Iowa Conference and a professor in the Upper Iowa University, having been informed by the Annuitant Secretary of the Annual Conference that this year of service in the university cannot count as an annuitant year, requests a ruling of the Bishops on the law of the Church concerning the matter. What group or Board speaks the final word on this question?

Answer. The Discipline, ¶ 389, § 2, says a Minister is entitled to an annuity for his years of service in the Effective Relation . . . as Pastor, District Superintendent, or under appointment to an institution or organization under the control or auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The Upper Iowa Conference has refused longer to exercise control or to assume responsibility for Upper Iowa University. The Board of Education has ordered that it be dropped from the list of its recognized institutions. Therefore, such years of Conference members as are professors in that institution cannot be counted as years of service, entitling them to annuity in conformity with the Discipline.

Question 149. On the unanimous request of their respective Quarterly Conferences, Churches A and B were united by the Bishop in charge into Church C, and the properties of Churches A and B were transferred by their respective boards of trustees to the board of trustees of the Church C. After approximately four years of the merged society there is now a considerable and influential element in the membership of the united Church C which believes that the merger has not been a success and which desires that the united Church C be dissolved and the original Churches A and B be re-established. The following questions are therefore raised:

Question (1) In whom is the power to authorize and direct the dissolution of the united Church C vested?

Answer. The Bishop in charge. See Ruling 109.

Question (2) Does the dissolution of the united Church C, when ordered by the Bishop in charge, re-establish Churches A and B?

Answer. The dissolution of the united Church C, when ordered by the Bishop in charge, re-establishes Churches A and B. See Ruling 109.

Question (3) Does the membership of those persons who are now members of the united Church C and who were formerly members of Churches A and B at the time of the merger revert to their respective Churches A and B when the dissolution of the united Church C takes place?

Answer. The membership of those persons who are now members of the united Church C and who were formerly members of Churches A and B at the time of the merger reverts to their respective Churches A and B, when the dissolution of the united Church C takes place.

Question (4) How is the membership of those persons who have joined the united Church C since the merger to be determined when the dissolution of the united Church C takes place and Churches A and B are re-established?

Answer. By choice of the member himself.

Question (5) In the event of the dissolution of the united Church C, do the stewards and trustees of Churches A and B at the time of the merger and who are members in good standing in the united Church C at the time of its dissolution become again the stewards and trustees of their respective churches A and B, or do the stewards and trustees of the re-established churches A and B have to be elected anew in the manner provided by the Discipline for the election of stewards and trustees?

Answer. It is our judgment that, owing to the lapse of time, the stewards and trustees of the re-established Churches A and B have to be elected anew in the manner provided by the Discipline for the election of stewards and trustees.

Question (6) Does the formal and official announcement of the dissolution of the united Church C by the Bishop in charge authorize, empower and direct the trustees of the united Church C to transfer the original properties of Churches A and B to their respective boards of trustees?

Answer. The formal and official announcement of the dissolution of the united Church C by the Bishop in charge, authorizes, empowers and directs the trustees of the united Church C to transfer the original properties of Churches A and B to their respective boards of trustees.

Question (7) By whom and in what manner are properties and funds that may have come into possession of united Church C subsequent to the original merger to be divided after the dissolution of the united Church C and the re-establishment of Churches A and B?

Answer. There is no law of the Church governing this question. We therefore recommend the distribution of such properties and funds by mutual agreement of Churches A and B.

Bishops' Conference

I. Meetings—Date and Place

Question 150—May 6, 1929. The Bishops will hold a Conference at least twice in each year, at such times and places as may be agreed upon. (See Part II—7 and 8.)

II. Retired Bishops

Retired Bishops are, by virtue of the action of the General Conference, advisory members of the Bishops' Conference, having the rights and privileges of the other Bishops, except as to voting, but we deem it inexpedient for them to be on the Committee on the Plan, or to be officers of the Standing Committees.

III. Attendance

It is rightfully expected that each Bishop, unless in assignment at a distance or otherwise unavoidably detained, will give prompt and constant attendance at the meetings of the Board.

IV. Presidencies

The Bishops shall preside in order of seniority, beginning at each session with the Bishop next in seniority to the one who presided at the last regular meeting. In case a Bishop is not able to take his regular turn he shall be given the first opportunity when he is present. On the first morning of the Conference the Holy Communion shall be celebrated, and shall be in charge of the Bishop presiding at the time. A full hour shall be set aside for this service of worship and meditation. At each other session of the Board it shall be the duty of the presiding Bishop to open the exercises with prayer, and to close them with the benediction. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Board to notify in advance the Bishop whose duty it is to preside at the first session of each semi-annual meeting of the Conference. He shall also endeavor to give advance notice to each Bishop of the approach of his presidency.

V. Rules of Order

It shall be the duty of the Bishops presiding over the Bishops' Conference strictly to enforce the Rules of Order, in accordance with the practice of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

VI. Standing Committees

On the first day of each Conference, the following Standing Committees shall be constituted; the chairman and secretary of each to be effective Bishops elected by the Committee.

1. On the plan of Episcopal Visitation.

2. On Law and Administration.
3. On General Reference.

At some time before the close of each Conference and before the attendance is depleted, the Standing Committees for the next Board meeting shall be announced and organized. Questions forwarded between Board meetings for action by the Committees on Law and Administration and General Reference, if received early enough, shall be sent to the Committee chairmen to be placed with members of these committees for preliminary study, and for the preparation of action which may be taken by the Committee, if they approve them.

There is also a Committee on Agenda to consist of the Senior Bishop and of two other Bishops, to be appointed at each meeting of the Board for the succeeding Conference.

All Committees of the Board, except the Agenda Committee, shall be discharged by the final adjournment of the Conference at which they were appointed, unless otherwise ordered.

VII. Order of Business

Item 1. Reading of the Minutes.

Item 2. Miscellaneous Business requiring urgency. Such items may be introduced on motion at any suitable time.

Item 3. Review of Administration to be taken up at this point, beginning at the place where the list was suspended at the previous meeting and to be continued in the order of seniority until finished, without interjection of any other business, except by vote of the Board for a specific item. The Review shall then be resumed until none remain present who have not reported. All reviews, unless in special cases by permission of the Board, shall be concluded during the first two days of the session.

Item 4. Pastoral Supply: information to be given concerning vacancies and changes involving transfers.

Item 5. Conversations on the Work of God. At times determined by the Board, on the advice of the Committee on Agenda, fixed periods shall be devoted to the discussion of some theme or themes under the above general heading.

Item 6. Reports from Committees.

Item 7. Miscellaneous Business.

Speakers from outside shall not be introduced to the Board, except at appropriate times by action of the body itself, and under the same limitations as to time as the Bishops are when reviewing their Administration. Discussing of subjects presented in this way shall be reserved until the Board is in Executive session.

VIII. Limitations on Episcopal Reviews

In Reviews on Administration each Bishop shall be allowed ten minutes for uninterrupted statement of his work. Following the report of each Bishop, five minutes shall be allowed for questions and for any action of the Board or reference to Committees which may then seem advisable. There shall be no extension of time beyond the fifteen minutes thus allowed, but after all Bishops have reported their work, any Bishop who feels that additional items ought to be mentioned may at the discretion of the Board make a brief statement of the same.

IX. Elections

Elections of Bishops to membership in the Benevolence Boards, Commissions and other representative bodies of the Church shall be by ballot without nomination, expressed or implied. Such elections shall not occur except as a special order of the day set by the Board and so fixed that as nearly as possible all Bishops may be aware of the same, and may be able to be present.

X. Amendments and Suspensions

Any of these rules may be suspended or amended at any regular Conference Session by a two-thirds vote of all Bishops in attendance upon the Conference.

Rulings Adopted November, 1929

Question 151. Has a Mission the right to constitute a Deaconess Board with the authority that is given to such a Board in an Annual Conference?

Answer. Under the present legislation of the General Conference, a Mission in the United States has not the authority to constitute a Deaconess Board.

Question 152. Has the Annual Conference the right to determine the meaning and content of the word "equivalent" in ¶ 185, § 2?

Answer. The Annual Conference has the right to determine the meaning and content of the word "equivalent" in ¶ 185, § 2, provided it is in harmony with the definite scholastic standards fixed by the General Conference.

Question 153. Is a Treasurer of an Annual Conference required to render to the Conference before its adjournment a full report, as provided in ¶ 94 of the Discipline, under the heading "Conference Treasurer's Report"?

Answer. The Conference Treasurer is required to make a report to the Annual Conference before its adjournment on all the items listed in ¶ 94, and in the form prepared and provided by the Publishing Agents in ¶ 91, § 1.

Question 154. Should the form of Certificates used in the Central Conferences be the same as that employed in the Consecration of General Superintendents?

Answer. It is our judgment that the Certificates given to Bishops elected by Central Conferences should be printed from a new form with specific indications of authority granted.

Question 155. In ¶ 110, §§ 19 and 20, provision is made for the appointment by the Quarterly Conference of a Committee on Pastoral Relation, and a Nominating Committee to nominate the Stewards. According to ¶ 97, § 2 (2) a, the Central Conference has the power to fix orders of business suitable for the Quarterly Conferences within its territory. The question has arisen whether the appointment of said Committee is part of the business of the Quarterly Conference as fixed by the Central Conference, and whether this legislation is not operative in territories where Central Conferences have been organized until the Central Conference has taken action.

Answer. The legislation of the General Conference is immediately operative throughout the entire Church and, in such cases as are presented in this question, can only be modified by formal Central Conference action.

Rulings Adopted May, 1930

Question 156. Mrs. A., the widow of the Rev. B. C., a deceased member of an Annual Conference, married the Rev. D. H., also a member of an Annual Conference. The Rev. D. H. died and Mrs. A. became a widow for the second time. Do Mrs. A.'s annuity claims embrace the total number of years during which she was the wife of the Rev. B. C. and the wife of the Rev. D. H., while they were "in the effective relation"?

Answer. Under ¶ 389, § 3, "A widow's claim is based on the number of years during which she was the wife of a preacher in the effective relation regardless of any intervening period of widowhood."

Question 157. Where shall the names of the Bishops elected by Central Conferences be placed in the list of Bishops' names?

Answer. Concerning the place on the Roll of Bishops elected by Central Conferences, it was ordered that at the end of the list each group of Central Conference Bishops shall be placed in the order of election with the notation "Elected by the Eastern Asia Central Conference," etc.

Question 158. Concerning withdrawal from the Oklahoma Conference. Does this withdrawal, granted by the Oklahoma Conference, imply that he also withdrew from membership in the Church?

Answer. If he withdrew under charges or complaints, that withdrawal implies withdrawal from membership in the Church also.

Question 159. How long may Local Preachers who are Pastors be continued in the Course of Study?

Answer. The law does not specify the time allowed full-time Supply Preachers for the completion of the Local Preachers' Courses. But it is the judgment of the Bishops that, as a matter of policy, Annual Conferences should deal with the matter strictly, observing as nearly as possible the time elements in the case of Traveling Preachers; and that ¶ 187, § 7 should be referred to the next General Conference with a recommendation that the law be made specific as in ¶ 185, § 5.

Question 160. Has the Quarterly Conference the authority to approve for membership in the Quarterly Conference, presidents of organizations other than specified in ¶ 110, §§ 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9, of the Discipline?

Answer. No. ¶ 110 is to be interpreted plainly. A Central Conference may modify.

Question 161. Two communications from Buenos Aires Area inquire, first: Inasmuch as distance and expense make it difficult to secure the attendance of the requisite number of delegates at Central Conference sessions, would a Central Conference constituted of but one half the delegates from the Annual Conference be a legal body?

Answer. ¶ 614, § 1, Item 7, provides definitely for the number of delegates that are required to make a Central Conference a legal body. This minimum number of delegates thus required by the Discipline cannot be reduced by agreement. The number of delegates required for a quorum in any Central Conference session, however, depends upon the requirements of the Central Conference concerned. It is the opinion of the Board of Bishops on the analogy of the quorum required by the General Conference that the same quorum, namely: two thirds of the authorized number of delegates, should be required by all Central Conferences.

Second. Would it be legal for the smaller number of delegates thus proposed to cast more than one vote each so as to secure the full quota of votes?

Answer. No. There is no Disciplinary provision that allows any delegate more than one vote.

Question 162. Does ¶ 256, § 2, authorize an Annual Conference to order the number of its Districts reduced at a specific time, say, while the Conference is in session, when such reduction would make it impossible for the presiding Bishop to adjust the appointments of that Annual Conference so as to take care of all the interests of all the Churches and members of the Conference? In brief, can an Annual Conference, under this paragraph, make it impossible for a Bishop to discharge his primary obligation to the members of the Conference?

Answer. ¶ 256, § 2, of the Discipline of 1928 explicitly vests in the Annual Conference authority to fix the number of Districts, to take effect at such time as the vote may determine.

Question 163. Does the action of the General Conference of 1928, by the addition to § 2 of ¶ 256, require the submission of the question of the number of Districts at every session of the Annual Conference?

Answer. No.

Question 164. May retired ministers be elected to the General Conference?

Answer. There being, in our judgment, nothing in the Discipline contrary to such eligibility, a retired minister is eligible to election as a delegate to the General Conference.

Question 165. An annuitant of the Northwest Iowa Conference who joined the Conference in March, 1890, in a Spring Conference, was retired October 5, 1925. He was one year in the supernumerary relation. He thus has a record of thirty-four years and almost seven months in the effective relation. To what annuity is he entitled?

Answer. His active service having been thirty-four years and an additional period exceeding six months, he is entitled to thirty-five years annuity.

Question 166. A full-time supply pastor in the Maine Conference who began supply work in 1925 has not refused to follow the Course of Study, but in five years has not completed the studies for Admission on Trial which he elected to take instead of the Local Preacher's Course. May the District Superintendent continue to employ him?

Answer. While "refusal" to take such studies would so disqualify him that a District Superintendent could not employ him further, failure to pass such studies attempted will not so disqualify him. He is to be given reasonable time, according to the judgment of his Conference.

Question 167. Bishop Miller asks for a ruling concerning Mexico's relation to the Latin America Central Conference since it is placed in the New York Area.

Answer. Being in the New York Area does not change the status of the Mexico Conference as a part of the Latin America Central Conference.

Question 168. What procedure shall be followed in the rearrangement of the Areas in India in case the Central Conference of Southern Asia elects a Bishop?

Answer. In the matter of the method of exercising the authority conferred on the Bishops under ¶ 613, § 1, Item 6, we appoint the Bishops present at the Conference and the Bishops in consultation with the Central Conference of Southern Asia in fixing the residences and making assignments of Conferences, provided a Bishop is elected at the coming Central Conference session.

Question 169. Does the Discipline require that persons appointed as Class Leaders be approved as such by the Quarterly Conference, or is the approval of the Quarterly Conference limited to membership in the Quarterly Conference? May there be Class Leaders who are not approved as members of the Quarterly Conferences?

Answer. Class Leaders are appointed solely by the Pastor and, according to our law, no one has to approve them either as Class Leaders or for membership in the Quarterly Conference, but such Class Leaders must actually be leading a class or unit.

Question 170. Bishop McConnell made an inquiry concerning the legal size of membership of a Central Conference, and asked for a ruling concerning the status of such a Central Conference in case its membership should fall below the minimum membership requirement possessed at the time it was organized as a Central Conference.

Answer. (N. B. ¶ 97, § 1, or ¶ 613, § 2.) "If the established basis of representation of a Central Conference shall fall below twenty ministerial and twenty lay delegates, it ceases to be a Central Conference and becomes a Central Mission Conference."

Rulings Adopted November, 1930

Question 171. Can an absentee member of the Board of Trustees of a local Church vote by proxy at a meeting of the Trustees?

Answer. There is no provision in the Discipline for members not present at the meetings of any of the Disciplinary organizations of the Church to vote by proxy.

Question 172 (1). Has the Kansas Conference the legal right under the Discipline of our Church to vote a portion of a minister's salary for any purpose, such as that of monthly or annual payments toward the Retired Preachers' Fund of the Conference?

(2) If a minister, after such vote, feels that he has valid reasons which prevent him from acting in harmony with the vote, can he be brought to trial for failure to pay such percentage of his salary for such purpose as the Conference has voted?

Answer (1) No.

(2) No.

Question 173. Can the Quarterly Conference of the Grand Avenue Methodist Church of Kansas City, Mo., for cause to them sufficient, declare a Trustee's seat vacant without due process of trial, but by vote of the Quarterly Conference only, without such trial?

Answer. No. (See Ruling 113.)

Question 174. J. W., formerly a member of the Oklahoma Conference, withdrew under charges and has now been permitted by the Conference to become a member of the Church. He desires to again enter the ministry. Must he go through all the steps usually taken when a member of a Church enters the ministry and joins the Conference, such as being Received on Trial, and then, after two years, being admitted into full membership? Must he also pass again through the Courses of Study?

Answer. Since the status of a man who withdraws under charges is the same as a man who is expelled, it will be necessary for this man to join the Church on probation, be received into full membership, be licensed as a Local Preacher, be duly recommended to the Annual Conference and be received by the Annual Conference on Trial. The Conference is not at liberty to free him from the two years' membership on trial, but at its discretion may release him from any part of the Conference Course of Study. The Conference has the power to restore the parchments of this man at its discretion after it has received him on trial. (See Ruling 246.)

Question 175. Has the Oklahoma Conference a right, under the Discipline, to refuse admission on trial to someone otherwise fully qualified to be received on trial on the grounds that no one will be so admitted who does not take out life insurance on the group plan of life insurance as adopted by the Conference? When a man has taken out life insurance and has been received into full membership in the Conference on the basis of this agreement and then decides to drop the life insurance for reasons which to him seem valid, can he be brought to trial or otherwise dealt with by Conference action?

Answer. An Annual Conference has the right to determine qualifications for entrance and continuation in membership in the Annual Conference, provided such qualifications are not contrary to the Discipline.

Question 176. L. M. asks the Bishops for its interpretation of ¶ 63, § 2, which reads as follows: "A Class Leader or a Unit Leader shall not be approved as a member of the Quarterly Conference on the basis of such leadership unless actually leading a Class or Unit." As the extent of the work done by the Leaders merely consists of having made a personal call on the members, in lieu of a pastoral visit, does not the approval of said Leaders come within the prohibition of the above mentioned paragraph?

Answer. Class or Unit meetings are so arranged as provided in ¶ 62 of the Discipline, "meetings constitute but one element in the leadership 'for prayer and service.'" Approval of Quarterly Conference membership depends on "actual leading" in the light of total service to be rendered, and the decision rests with each Quarterly Conference. It is the conviction of the Bishops that this legislation should never be used, however, merely to increase the number in the Quarterly Conference.

Question 177. A man who is a member of a Conference is accused of imprudent and unministerial conduct. A committee of inquiry at the session of the Conference examined the documents and witnesses available and recommended trial. Trial could not be held at that session of the Conference on account of the fact that sufficient notice had not been given and witnesses were not available. In accordance with the report of the committee, however, the Conference ordered trial under the District Superintendent after the adjournment of the Conference. The Conference finally adjourned. Can a Conference order trial of a Conference member after the Conference has finally adjourned?

Answer. No. A trial must be held during the session of the Annual Conference before the final adjournment (¶ 318, § 3).

Question 178. A Central Conference is established upon a basis of a minimum of forty delegates, elected on the maximum basis of representation. The Latin America Central Conference was so constituted in 1924 and met again in 1928. Since the elimination of the Mexico Annual Conference from the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Latin America Central Conference is left with a maximum of thirty-eight delegates on the Disciplinary maximum basis of representation. Does the Central Conference automatically cease to exist, or does it continue with a maximum total membership of less than the number required to organize in the first place? Can the Central Conference of Latin America thus constituted proceed with the election of a Bishop as authorized by the General Conference of 1928?

Answer. ¶ 97, § 1, or ¶ 613, § 2, "If the established basis of representation of a Central Conference shall fall below twenty ministerial and twenty lay delegates, it ceases to be a Central Conference and becomes a Central Mission Conference." The Central Conference of Latin America has automatically ceased to be a Central Conference because it does not fulfill the conditions set forth in ¶ 97, §§ 1-2 and ¶ 613, §§ 2-17. It is now a Central Mission Conference and as such does not have the right to elect a Bishop under the powers granted by the law of the Church and the action of the General Conference authorizing such an election in a Central Conference.

Question 179. Does ¶ 187, § 7 apply to all Local Preachers licensed since 1920, or only those under forty years of age?

Answer. ¶ 187, § 7 requires all Local Preachers who are Supplies giving their full time to pastoral work under District Superintendents to take the Local Preacher's Course of Study year by year, except those Local Preachers who were licensed before 1920 and were forty years of age or over in 1920 and who have continually held a license from that time.

Rulings Adopted May, 1931

Question 180. A member of the California Conference holding the supernumerary relation was given supply work in the Erie Conference. Was he thereby automatically transferred to that Conference?

Answer. No.

Question 181. The Latin America Central Conference was duly constituted on the Disciplinary basis of a minimum membership of forty delegates elected on the maximum ratio of representation. With the outgoing of the Mexico Annual Conference from the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Latin America Central Conference was left with a possible maximum of thirty-eight delegates, two less than the number required to organize such Conference. Since then, however, the Peru Mission Conference has increased its membership so that it is entitled to two more delegates under the law, thus restoring the legal membership of the Central Conference of Latin America. Does this failure to maintain the requirement of forty members automatically put an end to the Central Conference, or does it continue to exist and with authority to carry out the General Conference empowerment to elect two General Superintendents at its coming session in March, 1932?

Answer. It appears that, due to the increased membership of the Peru Mission Conference and the Eastern South America Annual Conference and the consequent increased representation in the Latin America Central Conference, the Disciplinary membership of that Central Conference will be not less than forty members. Therefore, its status will be that of a Central Conference, with all the privileges and powers conferred upon it by the General Conference.

Question 182. A Supernumerary member of the C Conference, not yet 65 years old or physically disabled, was unacceptable as a Pastor and was officially notified by the Conference of its purpose to locate him. He had formerly served in the W V Conference and was now living within its bounds. A friendly agreement was reached between representatives of the two Conferences that he should be made effective, transferred to the W V Conference, then retired; and that the C Conference would pay him a pension for the three years of effective service within that Conference on condition that the W V Conference would pay a pension for the effective years spent there. He was transferred in 1931.

Since the W V Conference is not legally liable for his pension, has it a right to use any part of its Conference Claimants' Fund for this purpose?

Answer. Yes, by vote of the Annual Conference this can be done.

Question 183. A young man in the T Conference was accused of immorality and charges preferred against him. He admitted his guilt and withdrew from the ministry and membership of our Church. He returned his credentials to the Conference. After more than two years he returned to the Conference and gave satisfactory evidence of "contrition, reformation and confession." Upon his request and that of a Pastor and District Superintendent of the P Conference the T Conference gave its permission for him to unite with the Church in the city of P, but declined to take specific action in regard to "clearing his character."

Does this permission carry with it the clearing of his character?

Answer. The vote of the T Conference did not "clear the character" of the person in question. The Conference accepted as satisfactory his confession and the evidence of his contrition and reformation and gave permission for him to unite with the Church. (See ¶ 321, 1928 Discipline.)

Adopted, May 20.

Report No. 16. Appeal of Russell R. Kletzing

The Judiciary Committee, to which was referred an appeal of Russell R. Kletzing, would report:

The record disclosed the following facts:

Russell R. Kletzing, Appellant, was in 1925 a member in good standing of the Southern California Conference, having been transferred to that Conference from the Wyoming State Conference. He was appointed to the Mission Charge at Bingham, Utah (out of the California Area), in September, 1925, by Bishop Mead, where he served until about 1928.

In 1926 he was advised by one of the Superintendents of his Conference that he must consent to a transfer out of the Conference or be appointed to a charge within the Conference.

Thereafter, in September, 1926, he was transferred to the Wyoming State Conference from the Southern California Conference by Bishop Mead. At the 1927 meeting of the Wyoming State Conference, under the hand of Bishop Mead, he was entered as having been transferred to the Wyoming State Conference from the Southern California Conference. Bishop Burns concurring.

Because of the affliction of his little son he was, in 1928, placed in the Supernumerary Relationship by the Wyoming State Conference, making it possible to place the lad in a school where he might be trained in Braille.

Appellant has been engaged as a supply in the Southern California Conference while a Supernumerary Member of the Wyoming State Conference during the Conference years 1928-31, and now comes contending that he is legally and morally a member of the Southern California Conference and requesting this General Conference to direct the Secretary of the Southern California Conference to place his name upon the effective list.

Opinion: After an examination of the record, we are of the opinion that Russell R. Kletzing is a member in good standing of the Wyoming State Conference in the Supernumerary Relationship, and as such eligible for work as a supply in the Supernumerary Relationship anywhere in the connection.

Adopted, May 20.

REPORT NO. 17. AUTHORITY OF THE EDITORS TO INTERPRET THE DISCIPLINE

The Judiciary Committee, to whom was referred Memorial No. 733, asking whether the Editors of the Discipline have authority to insert in the text of the Discipline their interpretation of any paragraph of the Discipline, basing the inquiry on the fact that in ¶ 488, § 1, in the third line, the Editors of the Discipline inserted the words "but not the constituting," which words were not in the paragraph as adopted by the General Conference.

Your Committee is of the opinion that, while the words in question were not in the action of the General Conference, but are a reminder of the legal method of constituting a church, as stated in ¶ 242 and in Report No. 10 adopted by the General Conference of 1928, both of which are referred to in a footnote, the words inserted in the body of ¶ 488, § 1, should also have been printed as a footnote and the paragraph in question printed as adopted.

It is our judgment that the text of the Discipline should be an exact record and that all Editorial interpretations should be inserted as footnotes or, if very brief, in brackets, or some like distinguishing manner, when inserted in the body of the text, so that whatever is of Editorial origin is at once apparent.

Adopted, May 20.

REPORT NO. 18. COMPUTATION OF ANNUITY OF A MINISTER WHO WITHDRAWS FROM OUR CHURCH AND IS READMITTED

The facts presented to us are as follows: Memorial No. 734 states that Rev. R. N. F. Fairburn was admitted into membership in the Central Illinois Conference September, 1893. After serving charges in that Conference for fourteen years, he withdrew from the ministry and membership of the Methodist Episcopal Church and joined the Protestant Episcopal Church in September, 1907.

After serving that denomination for eight years he was admitted into the membership of the Genesee Conference of our Methodist Episcopal Church, October, 1915. Later he was transferred to the Central New York Conference, in which Conference he has since been retired. The question presented to the Judiciary Committee by the Stewards of the Central New York Conference is this:

"In computing the years of effective relationship for the annuity of a retired minister, is the Board of Stewards compelled to consider the years he served in the Central Illinois Conference, before he, of his own free will and desire, withdrew from the ministry and membership of our Church, and allow him annuity for these years?"

The answer of your Committee on Judiciary to the foregoing question is that in accordance with the law of the Church, as laid down in ¶ 389, § 1, and which reads as follows:

"Retired Ministers are entitled to annuities for their years of service in the effective relation in the Methodist Episcopal Church, provided they have reached the age of sixty-five years or more at the time of retirement or have been retired on account of disability,"

The said R. N. F. Fairburn is entitled to annuity for the entire number of years of service in the effective relation, including those years served in the Central Illinois Conference, irrespective of whether or not such years of service were continuous years of service in the Methodist Episcopal Church.

However, it is within the power of the Annual Conference to disallow any claim, in whole or in part, for cause.

See ¶ 389, § 9, (4)—Discipline, 1928.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 19. Process of Involuntarily Locating a Member of an Annual Conference

The Committee on Judiciary, to whom was referred Memorial No. 826, asking an opinion on the following question, namely: "What is the process by which a member of an Annual Conference is located without consent apart from the location of a supernumerary or retired preacher who fails to report to his Conference, or the automatic location provided for those who do not pass through the Course of Study in a specific time?"

This is the same question answered by No. 141, Rulings of the Bishops, the answer being: "The process does not seem to be clearly defined. The General Conference should clear this matter up" (Journal, 1928, page 522).

The Judiciary Committee of the General Conference of 1928 approved this ruling of the Bishops in its report No. 22 (Journal, 1928, page 522), which report and recommendation was approved by the General Conference May 26, 1928 (Journal, 1928, page 428.)

Ruling No. 141 was then referred to the Committee on Itinerancy, but no action seems to have been taken in the matter of new legislation.

The Judiciary Committee follows the action of the last General Conference in approving the ruling of the Bishops, and recommends that necessary legislation be presented to the General Conference to clearly define the procedure required.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 20. Time of District Superintendent's Appointment Between Conference Sessions

There has been referred to the Judiciary Committee Memorial No. 827, which reads as follows:

"Does the term of office of a District Superintendent who has been appointed to a District between Conference Sessions terminate at the end of six years from the time of appointment, or may he be continued in office until the next session of Conference following his six years of service?"

¶ 257 of the Discipline of 1928 provides the following limitation to be observed by the Bishops when fixing the appointments:

"§ 2. He shall choose and appoint the District Superintendent annually. He shall not allow a District Superintendent to preside in the same district more than six consecutive years. . . . If there shall be a vacancy between the session of the Annual Conference . . . he shall appoint an effective Elder to serve until the next session of the Annual Conference."

The appointment of District Superintendents by the above provision is regularly made "annually." The appointment of an effective Elder to serve in case of a vacancy between sessions is only until the next session of the Annual Conference.

Your Committee is, therefore, of the opinion that such an appointment between sessions is not to be considered in computing the six-year limitation above mentioned.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 21. Allowance of Retired Bishops

The Judiciary Committee, to whom was referred the matter of the allowance of retired Bishops, would report that it is the opinion of the Committee, first, that the fixing of the amount of the allowance to be paid to retired General Superintendents and Missionary Bishops is within the jurisdiction of the General Conference. See ¶ 373, § 2, Discipline, 1928.

2. It is within the competency of the General Conference to proceed forthwith with the election of General Superintendents and to protect the legislation as to their retirement allowance after their election.

Adopted, May 14.

Report No. 22. Appeal of A. M. Wells

The Committee on Judiciary, to whom was referred the appeal of A. M. Wells, being Memorial No. 828, submits the following report:

This appeal raises questions as to the present title to certain church property located in Decatur, Ill., formerly owned by one of the Churches of the Saint Louis German Conference. At the Session of said Conference held in September, 1925, known as the Merger Session, Trustees were appointed for the purpose of taking title to such property.

From the records submitted to your Committee it is evident that the extent of the powers and duties of such Trustees, if the same be questioned, can only be determined by proper action in the Civil Courts.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 23. Power of An Annual Conference to Require its Members to Contribute to its Permanent or Reserve Funds

The Committee on Judiciary, to whom was referred Memorial No. 880, asking whether the Annual Conference had a legal right to require its members to contribute to its permanent or reserve funds, reports that an Annual Conference may by vote assess its members for the above-mentioned purpose, but it has no power to enforce collection. However, it may, upon any member's retirement, withhold from him his annuity claim, in whole or in part, under ¶ 389, § 9 (4), Discipline, 1928, until his debt to the fund is discharged.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 24. Claim of a Twice Married Widow

Your Committee on Judiciary, to whom were referred Memorials Nos. 864 and 887, as to the Annuity claim of a Methodist Minister's widow who a second time married a Methodist Minister and he also died, begs leave to report that the identical case was answered by the Rulings of the Bishops, Question 156, adopted May, 1930, and approved by the Committee on Judiciary.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 25. Appointment of Preachers

Your Committee on Judiciary, having considered Memorial No. 839, relating to the "Appointment of Preachers," reports as follows:

It appears that C. J. Johnson and Otto J. Lyon, Effective Elders in the Detroit Conference, at the 1931 session of that Conference, were left without appointments "in the effective relation awaiting openings for appointments," while at the same session, several preachers, not in the effective relation, including both supplies and preachers on trial, were appointed to various charges.

In the opinion of the Judiciary Committee, the effective Elders, C. J. Johnson and Otto J. Lyon, should have been given appointments at the 1931 session of the Detroit Conference.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 26. Constitutionality of General Conference Legislation on Judicial Procedure of Central Conferences

The Commission of Twenty-five on Central Conferences in Memorial No. 965 has referred to the Committee on Judiciary the question of the Constitutionality of proposed legislation enacting a supplement to the Powers of Central Conferences.

Division III, Chapter I, Article IV, of the Constitution of the Church, as amended, authorizes the organization of Central Conferences "with such powers as the General Conference, by a two-thirds vote, shall prescribe."

It is now proposed to amend ¶ 613, Part II "Power of Central Conferences, § 2, by adding a new item reading substantially as follows:

"A Central Conference shall be authorized to adopt rules of procedure for the trial of its Ministers and appeal therefrom as the necessities of its field may require; provided, however, that such rules shall in all respects conform to the restrictions and limitations prescribed by Article X, ¶ 46, § 5, of the Constitution of the Church."

The Judiciary Committee is of the opinion that it is constitutional and therefore within the jurisdiction of the General Conference, by a two-thirds vote, to enact the foregoing legislation.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 27. Tenure of Office of a District Superintendent in a Merged Conference

The Committee on Judiciary has considered Memorial No. 632 requesting the General Conference to answer the following questions regarding the tenure of office of a District Superintendent, namely:

(a) In a new Conference resulting from the merger of two or more Conferences, does the time limit of six years apply to a District Superintendent who has already served on a District in one of the merging Conferences?

(b) Does Article 2, ¶ 257, of the Discipline permit a member of the new Conference who has served six years as a District Superintendent in one of the merging Conferences, to be appointed to a District in the territory of another of the merging Conferences before the expiration of six years following his last term of office?

The Committee on Judiciary is of the opinion that a new Annual Conference formed by the merger of two or more Annual Conferences carries in itself the former Conferences, so that the rules applicable to the appointment of a District Superintendent in one of the merged Annual Conferences are applicable to an appointment in the new Annual Conference as a continuance of the Conference thus merged.

Accordingly, the answer to question (a) is—Yes.

The answer to question (b) is—No.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 28. Memorial of P. M. Peterson

The Committee on Judiciary, to which were referred Memorials from P. M. Peterson and others, reports as follows:

These papers contain a letter from Anton Bast requesting a lifting of his suspension as a Bishop. The letter raises no question of law. Inasmuch as no errors of law are cited or legal reasons urged in the above-mentioned papers why this case should be reopened or reviewed, we recommend that no further action be taken.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 29. Appeal of E. J. Bristow

This is an appeal of E. J. Bristow, formerly a member of the California Annual Conference, from the action of the Conference in locating said Bristow:

The appellant asks for a decision on several matters, some being suppositious cases, but in reality the only matter before us for adjudication is as to the regularity of the action whereby Bristow was located. From the Conference records submitted to us by the Conference Secretary, certified by the Chairman and Secretary, it appears that at the session of the California Annual Conference in the year 1924 the Appellant was located by regular procedure.

No properly supported evidence has been submitted to us to rebut the presumption that the records so submitted are correct.

Therefore, the Committee on Judiciary recommends that the appeal of E. J. Bristow be dismissed.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 30. Appointment of Delegates to Committees Under Paragraph 74, Rule 43

The Committee on Judiciary has been asked to answer a question submitted by C. F. Bohmfalk of the Southern Conference in Memorial No. 886, namely, "Is an election held by mail, without specifying any date for same, valid, when the Secretary of a Conference fails to call the elected Delegates together for said purpose, under ¶ 74, Rule 43?"

The rule cited refers to the duty imposed upon the Secretary of the Annual Conference to call together as soon as practicable after their election, the Delegates to the General Conference, for organization and assignment to standing committees.

It is our opinion that while the provisions of this rule should be followed, these matters are left entirely to the delegations themselves for final settlement, and are accepted by the General Conference on the basis of the records supplied by the delegations. See further Rule 40, Daily Christian Advocate, page 148.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 31. Powers of Quarterly Conference

Replying to questions raised in Memorial No. 964 by Leroy G. White, the Committee on Judiciary would state that there is raised no specific case, and the propositions submitted are abstract. The Committee on Judiciary is relieved from answering such questions.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 32. Power of a Central Conference Regarding Article XXIII, Articles of Religion

The Committee on Judiciary, to which was referred Memorial No. 907, from the Central Conference of Latin-America asking whether the Central Conference can change Article XXIII of the Articles of Religion referring to the President, Congress, General Assembly, Governors and Councilors of the United States of America so that in their stead special reference be to the officers and institutions of the countries within the bounds of the said Central Conference, would report:

The wording of the Twenty-third Article of Religion may not be changed except by constitutional process, but it should be interpreted by each Central Conference as a recognition of the constituted government of the country or countries in which the Central Conference is located. See Footnote under Article XXIII, Discipline, 1928.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 33. Appeal of George A. Cooke

Your Committee on Judiciary, to which was referred Memorial No. 968 by George A. Cooke, of the Wilmington Conference, recommends for your adoption the following: The facts seem to be that no charges were presented between the sessions of the Annual Conference, ¶ 305, § 1, but that in the Minutes of the Wilmington Annual Conference for the year 1929 will be found a record of charges against Reverend F. A. Lindhorst made at the Conference Session. The charges were presented by Reverend Walter E. Gunby, District Superintendent. The President of the Annual Conference entertained a motion that the charges be not entertained by the Conference. Mr. Cooke maintains that the Bishop was "in error" in his ruling and it should be so declared by the General Conference. Our answer is that there was no error in the ruling of the President of the Annual Conference according to ¶ 315 of the Discipline of 1928, which states that "An Annual Conference may entertain and try charges against its members though no investigation upon them has been held, or though the investigation has not resulted in suspension, due notice having been given the accused." In Report No. 8, page 192, of "Reports of the Judiciary Committee," after quoting the words quoted above, ¶ 315, we find this comment, "if the Conference has the power to entertain and try charges, the plain inference is that it may refuse to entertain and try charges, and based on this Paragraph the ruling of the President of the Annual Conference was correct and must be sustained."

Adopted, May 23.

REPORT NO. 34. SUPPLEMENTAL REPORT ON RULINGS OF THE BISHOPS

The Committee on Judiciary approves the following Ruling of the Bishops:

In order to harmonize question 169 with 176 of the Rulings of the Bishops, it is proposed to change Rule 169, as follows:

169—Class Leaders are appointed solely by the Pastor. (N. B. ¶ 231, § 2.) Under such appointment they are Class Leaders if actually leading a Class, or Unit. (N. B. ¶ 163, § 2.) They are not members of the Quarterly Conference unless approved by the Quarterly Conference for such membership. (N. B. ¶ 111, §§ 5-9.)

Adopted, May 23.

REPORT NO. 35. POWERS OF QUARTERLY CONFERENCE

Memorial No. 975, presented by J. G. Morrison, was referred to the Committee on Judiciary after the report of the Committee upon the Memorial of said Morrison relating to the same subject (No. 492) was adopted. (Report No. 11, Daily Christian Advocate, page 203.)

The former report states in substance what Memorial No. 492 did not disclose, that the matters concerning which information was desired were involved in actual cases; the latter memorial is designed to supply the deficiency in the former one.

It will be observed, however, that the Committee in its earlier report assumed the precise situation in respect to the first question propounded, which the Memorial now under scrutiny reveals; the answer of the Committee, therefore, remains unchanged; it may be briefly restated to be, that the Quarterly Conference of each interested local charge is the agency to treat with the receivers of closed banks in which the subordinate societies have deposited money.

Athletic Clubs, to which the second inquiry refers, are not organizations recognized by the general laws of the Church, but a local society may include such a unit as one of its activities; it may not give it official recognition that the Discipline does not sanction; when such a club ceases to function, the question to whom the bank in which it had deposited money is in such case the debtor is to be determined from facts and conditions of which the local officials have knowledge and of which the Committee has no knowledge.

The Committee recommends that the said local officials act under the advice of legal counsel.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 36. Meaning of Local Ministry

The Committee on Judiciary, to which was referred Memorial No. 971 from the Commission on Central Conferences, inquiring the kind of Local Ministry as used in ¶ 97, § 2, Powers (1), would report that in its opinion the word "local" contained in said Paragraph is used in a geographical sense.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 37. Memorial of J. H. MacDonald

The Committee on Judiciary has been requested in Memorial No. 969 to pass upon the following questions, and the facts set forth in the Memorial are as follows:

"At the last session of the Newark Annual Conference I was granted the retired relation. Later, the Chairman of the Conference Stewards came before the Conference and asked for general instructions as to the disposition of my case since he understood that I was to be employed by one of our Commissions on salary. It was agreed by everyone that my case must come under ¶ 389, § 4, Division 9, of our Discipline, which reads, "Any other cause cited by the Conference Stewards." The Stewards not having met could not cite any cause. This point being brought out, the Presiding Officer ruled that there was nothing before the Conference. Finally someone suggested we assume that the Stewards had met and that we proceed as though they had made a recommendation. Thereupon the motion was made and carried that it be the sentiment of this Conference that no Annuity be granted to a member of the Conference to such an amount that said Annuity, together with such salary as he may receive from Methodist sources, shall exceed the average cash salary, plus house rent, of the effective members of the Conference. Have the Stewards the right to act on the general sentiment of the Annual Conference, as against the specific law of our Church?

"Furthermore, if you decide they can, what shall we understand 'cash salary, plus house rent' to mean? Can it mean anything other than the cash and house rent as reported by the effective members of the Newark Conference?"

In reply to the first question, it is the judgment of the Committee that the Annual Conference has complied with the provisions of the Discipline as stated in ¶ 389, § 9, Division 4.

In answer to the second question, the Committee is of the opinion that the Annual Conference may interpret the meaning of its own action in this regard.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 38. Power of an Annual Conference Over Charges Against One of Its Members

The Committee on Judiciary is requested in a Memorial by a lay member of a Church in Annual Conference "A," to answer numerous questions in the matter of charges preferred against a pastor of a Church in Annual Conference "B."

The Memorial refers to the charges which were presented to Annual Conference "B," it being claimed that said Annual Conference failed and refused to consider such charges and that no information as to the action, if any, by the Annual Conference can be secured.

The Committee on Judiciary has examined the Minutes of Annual Conference "B" and finds: That on the first day of said Conference an executive session was called and that the Secretary read the charges, and "Upon Motion XX, a preliminary Committee of five elders was raised to investigate said charges and report back to the Conference."

On the second day an Executive Session was held and the Chairman of the Committee reported: "The Committee finds that the charges are not sustained by the facts," which report was accepted.

The Committee on Judiciary is of the opinion that the action of Annual Conference "B" in accepting the report of the preliminary Committee appointed by it to investigate such charges cannot be reviewed and asks that the Committee on Judiciary be excused from answering the various questions presented in the Memorial.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 39. Pro Rating District Superintendent's Salary Under Paragraph 378

The Committee on Judiciary has been requested to interpret ¶¶ 371 and 372, Discipline of 1928, where an Annual Conference has adopted Plan No. 2, Division on Finance, ¶ 378, when the income is sufficient to pay the pastor 100% of his salary.

The Committee on Judiciary is of the opinion that while the funds raised for Ministerial Support are to be pro-rated by the Treasurer of the local church (¶¶ 371 and 372), there is no specific command in the Discipline, 1928, under Plan No. 2, ¶ 378, ordering or forbidding the pro rating of the salary of the District Superintendents with the combined salaries for pastoral support.

The same would apply to the amounts raised for Conference Claimants.

Adopted, May 23.

REPORT NO. 40. ANNUITY FOR EFFECTIVE YEARS WHILE ATTENDING SCHOOL

Your Committee on Judiciary has considered Memorial No. 493 from Frederick A. Miller, of the Northern New York Conference, which asks two questions for the interpretation of the Discipline, 1928, ¶ 389, § 2, as follows:

Can a Retired Minister claim an annuity for effective years during which he was left without appointment to attend school?

Can a Retired Minister claim an annuity for effective years during which he was left without appointment under ¶ 235?

We reply: I. A Retired Minister can claim an annuity for effective years during which he was left without an appointment to attend school, subject to the provisions of the Discipline, ¶ 389, § 2, and ¶ 260.

II. To the second question our answer is "yes."

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 41. ELECTION OF DELEGATES BY LAY CONFERENCES

The Committee on Judiciary is asked in Memorial No. 966 to interpret § 1, ¶ 40, of the adopted amendment of the Constitution for the participation of Laymen in the Annual Conference and to declare whether such Lay Conferences may elect Delegates to the General Conference from those outside of the membership of the Lay Conference.

It is the opinion of the Committee on Judiciary that the Lay Conference may elect anyone otherwise qualified not a member of their body to be a Delegate to the General Conference in the same way that the Lay Electoral Conference could formerly do.

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 42. CONSTITUTIONALITY OF ACTION IN DISTRIBUTING BOOK CONCERN SURPLUS

Your Committee on Judiciary, to which has been referred Memorial No. 967 from the Committee on Book Concern, requesting an opinion as to the constitutionality of the following proposed addition to ¶ 427 of the Discipline of 1928, to be known as § 3:

"In the realization of the objectives enumerated in § 2, it shall be the purpose of the Book Concern to share with labor its interests and responsibilities; to develop and maintain such relations and conditions as will stimulate interest in the higher values of life and develop creative ability; to view with favor such individual, group or collective bargaining as may relate to wages, hours, and conditions of employment, or in any other question pertaining to the welfare of the employees, if and when promoted by the then employees or employer.

"It shall also be the purpose of the Book Concern to provide that the surplus of any current year after paying wages, cost of manufacture and interest on invested capital at a prevailing rate consistent with the current commodity price index, shall be distributed pro rata to invested capital and to labor, each individual laborer sharing in proportion to the amount paid him during the year," begs to report that in its opinion that part of said proposed addition to said ¶ 427 and reading as follows:

"It shall also be the purpose of the Book Concern to provide that the surplus of any current year, after paying wages, cost of manufacture and interest on invested capital at a prevailing rate consistent with the current commodity price index, shall be distributed pro rata to invested capital and to labor, each individual laborer sharing in proportion to the amount paid him during the year;" is plainly in violation of the Sixth Restrictive Rule under ¶ 46 of the Discipline, namely:

"The General Conference shall not appropriate the produce of the Book Concern, nor of the Chartered Fund, to any purpose other than the benefit of the Traveling, Supernumerary, and Superannuated Preachers, their wives, widows, and children;" and would therefore be unconstitutional.

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 43. INTERPRETATION OF AMENDMENTS CONCERNING LAY CONFERENCES

The Committee on Judiciary has been asked the following questions in Memorial No. 970 concerning Interpretation of the new Legislation in ¶¶ 36 and 37.

1. Since the right to vote on constitutional amendments is clearly reserved to the Annual Conferences, as stated in ¶ 36 of the amendment, can the same right be given to the Lay Conference as in ¶ 37, § 17?

2. What is the character of the "united Sessions" of the ministerial and lay members of the two Conferences concerned? Are they regular sessions of the Annual Conferences, or not? If they are, is it legal for non-members of the Annual Conferences to vote in them? If they are not regular sessions of the Annual Conferences, what is their authority?

3. Is the action of the Lay Conference in matters relating to lay activities binding upon the Quarterly Conferences, the Official Boards, or the lay membership of the churches within the bounds of an Annual Conference?

4. In view of the fact that the Discipline requires the action of the Annual Conference in certain legal and business affairs, and in view of the further fact that the amendment recently adopted substitutes for such action of the Annual Conference the action of a group described only as "one body" and "the united sessions," is such substitution proper and legal?

The opinion of the Committee on Judiciary is:

First, the right to vote on Constitutional Amendments reserved in ¶ 36 to the Annual Conference is a right it already had, for nothing can be reserved or retained other than that already possessed. The right given the Lay Conference to vote on Constitutional Amendments is, of course, the right already possessed by its predecessor, the Lay Electoral Conference. The intention is clear that the General Conference intended to protect the Annual Conference in its rights and at the same time not to deprive the Lay Conference of its rights in this matter; for further interpretation, see Report No. 2 of the Committee on Judiciary, page 202, Daily Advocate.

Second, it is the opinion of the Committee that the General Conference Legislation already recommended by the Committee on Temporal Economy should, when and if adopted by the General Conference, determine all the matters raised in questions two, three, and four.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 44. Appeal by Guy Willis Holmes

Your Committee on Judiciary, to which was referred the appeal may by Guy Willis Holmes, by reason of his expulsion from the New England Southern Conference, reports thereon as follows:

This is an appeal by Guy Willis Holmes, of the New England Southern Conference, who was expelled from membership in his Conference in 1928.

This appeal was heard in a Judicial Conference convened by Bishop Francis J. McConnell in New York City February 26, 1929. Counsel for the Church moved to dismiss that appeal for the following reasons:

1. That the appellant has forfeited his right to appeal by preaching.

2. That the appellant has forfeited his right to appeal by contumacious conduct.

The Judicial Conference heard arguments and presentation of facts by the counsel of the Church, asking that the appeal be dismissed and answers to the same by the defendant; took into consideration the Bishop's ruling as to what constituted the exercise of ministerial functions, together with his statement that if it was found that defendant had performed any of these ministerial functions, then he had forfeited his right to appeal.

After an examination of the facts presented, based upon this ruling, the Judicial Conference voted that the appellant, Guy Willis Holmes, had forfeited the right to appeal by refusal to abide by the findings of the Trial Court (see Discipline, 1928, ¶ 368, § 1) in continuing to exercise the ministerial functions, after sentence of expulsion had been recorded against him.

¶ 368, § 2, Discipline of 1928, provides:

"The right of appeal when once forfeited . . . cannot be revived by any subsequent Appellate Court."

Opinion. It is the opinion of your Committee on Judiciary that the ruling in this case by the Judicial Conference was according to the law of the Church, and that a right to appeal in this case cannot be revived by your Committee, and that further consideration of this appeal should be denied.

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 45. CONSTITUTIONALITY OF PARAGRAPH 256, SECTION 12 (1), DISCIPLINE 1928

The Committee on Judiciary is requested to rule on the following propositions:

1. Has the General Conference power to suspend the operation of legislation in this instance, ¶ 256, § 12 (1), for a full quadrennium and the next General Conference suspend it from May 2, 1932, to May 5, 1932?

2. Is the legislation in ¶ 256, § 12 (1) constitutional so far as a transfer of a member of an Annual Conference can be made "only on the recommendation of a majority of the District Superintendents of the Conference to which the transfer is proposed"?

The second question should be considered first, as the answer to the first question is only a corollary to the second.

The Constitution, by ¶ 46, § 3, contains the well-known provision that "the General Conference shall not change nor alter any part or rule of our government so as to do away Episcopacy." We are therefore called upon to define "Episcopacy," with special reference to the powers and functions of the General Superintendents in making appointments and transfers.

It has been held by the highest authorities and approved in practice, that the General Superintendent's highest function is in fixing appointments. Here his power is limited only by the restrictions of law as to time. See Merrill's Digest of Methodist Law, page 67.

It has also been held that the power of making transfers is an incident of the power to fix appointments. The theory is that the whole body of the traveling ministry is one body and members of it are liable to be appointed to any section where their services are needed regardless of Conference boundaries. The right of the General Superintendents to make such transfers is undoubted. Where the two Conferences affected by a transfer are in charge of two different General Superintendents, it requires the concurrence of both General Superintendents to complete any transfer. See Merrill's Digest of Methodist Law, p. 70.

From the foregoing, it is plain that the legislation in ¶ 256, § 12 (1), Discipline, 1928, is unconstitutional, on the ground that in effect it is a limitation on the inherent powers of the Episcopacy, and that at the most it can only be construed as a direction to the General Superintendent to consult the District Superintendents to complete a transfer.

Having answered the second question it seems unnecessary to discuss the first question except to say that to the extent that the General Conference has the power to regulate any such action, it would have the right to fix the time when it became effective. However, as we are of the opinion that the provisions of ¶ 256, § 12 (1), above quoted, are unconstitutional, the time when it was to become effective is immaterial.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 46. Bilingual Missions and Paragraph 256, Section 12

The Committee on Judiciary has considered Memorial 979 from the Bishops, which asks, "Is the transfer of members of the Bilingual Mission as required by ¶ 493, § 3, of Discipline of 1928, subject to the requirements of ¶ 256, § 12"?

This matter is fully covered in report No. 45 on Memorial No. 981, which declares said paragraph unconstitutional.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 47. J. A. L. Warren, Appellant

The Committee on Judiciary, to which was referred the appeal of J. A. L. Warren, reports that the appeal should be dismissed and for the following reasons:

(1) It is not an appeal from the decision of a Judicial Conference. Mr. Warren, through his counsel, requested that his appeal to the Judicial Conference be dismissed and by so doing he made impossible any review of any decision of that body by the General Conference;

(2) Mr. Warren alleges that the dismissal of his appeal before the Judicial Conference in 1928 was procured by fraud. Your Committee has read and considered carefully the affidavits and testimony presented by Mr. Warren touching this contention and finds that he has not substantiated his charges of fraud;

(3) The new evidence which Mr. Warren alleges he has with respect to the change of attitude of the accusing witnesses was in his possession at the time of the meeting of the Judicial Conference, according to Mr. Warren's own statement, and was not presented by him to the Judicial Conference;

(4) The verdicts of the Civil Courts in his favor, which Mr. Warren claims to be new evidence, do not in our opinion constitute proper or sufficient grounds for the General Conference to direct the Rock River Conference to grant a new trial.

In conclusion it should be said that the Committee heard Mr. Warren in his own behalf and also Dr. F. D. Stone, counsel for the Church, and Bishop Hughes. Their statements were heard in each others' presence, and the Committee bases its opinion solely upon the statements made by Mr. Warren and the records presented by him. The appeal is hereby dismissed.

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 48. CONSTITUTIONALITY OF TERM TENURE OF CENTRAL CONFERENCE BISHOPS

The General Conference has referred to the Committee on Judiciary the request from the Committee on Central Conferences to render a decision as to the constitutionality of ¶ 613, Part II (4), of the Discipline of 1928, which reads as follows:

"A Central Conference shall have power to fix the tenure of Bishops or General Superintendents elected by the said Central Conference, provided that such tenure shall not be for a term longer than that in force at the time for General Superintendents elected by the General Conference."

The precise question for decision is whether or not the General Conference can confer upon the Central Conferences the right to elect Central Conference Bishops for a limited time.

If it can confer such right the authority for doing so must be found either in the constitutional language in ¶ 46, § 3, of the Discipline, as amended during the quadrennium, "subject to such other conditions as the General Conference shall prescribe," or in the inherent power of legislation irrespective of the amendment; that is, a power that does not come within the inhibitions of the third restrictive rule.

Two types of Episcopal supervision are now recognized by the Constitution—General Snperintendency and Limited Superintendency, the first class is protected by the Constitution from legislative interference in its prescribed functions. The other is subject to limitations imposed by legislation.

The third restrictive rule preserved the perpetuity of the Itinerant General Superintendency from change or destruction by the delegated Conference.

Bishops for Central Conferences are elected by a limited constituency; they are limited both as to the area in which their jurisdiction is to be exercised and are further limited by being subject to such other conditions as the General Conference shall prescribe; General Superintendents are chosen by representatives of the entire Church, are unlimited in their jurisdiction by geographical boundaries, and are not subject to such other conditions as the General Conference shall prescribe.

The conclusion to which the Committee has come may be reached by following one of two courses diverse at their origin, but which meet at a common objective.

One is founded upon the language of the amendment to the Constitution which it is asserted was interpreted by the legislative action under scrutiny which became effective upon the adoption of the amendment.

The other course proceeds upon the theory that the General Conference is restricted in its power to legislate only as to those matters that affect the General Superintendency, but is unfettered in respect of a Limited Episcopacy: that the third restrictive rule has application only to General Superintendency and has no application to the limited jurisdiction of the Central Conference Episcopacy.

The Committee reports that the legislative paragraph above quoted that became effective upon the adoption of the proposed Constitutional Amendment is constitutional and, therefore, that Central Conferences have the right to elect Bishops for a limited term.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 49. Recommitted Report

The Committee on Judiciary, to which was recommitted Report No. 5, would report as follows:

Since our former report was recommitted the Committee on Temporal Economy has recommended legislation relating to this matter which, if adopted, makes the question academic. See p. 447, Daily Christian Advocate, Report No. 33.

Your Committee therefore asks to be excused from further consideration of the Memorial.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 50. Standing Committee Assignments

The General Conference has referred to the Committee on Judiciary the following resolution:

Be it Resolved, That the Standing Committee on Rules be instructed to develop such rules and regulations for the governing of this body as will provide, beginning with the General Conference of 1936, for the assignment of any employees of the General Conference or any of its Boards who may hereafter be elected as delegates to this body, to other Standing Committees than those dealing directly with the problems related to their fields of employment.

The question is as to its constitutionality.

Your Committee reports as follows:

Standing Committees are the creatures of the General Conference authorized and raised by it under the Rules of Order for its organization, ¶ 74, Rule 43, of the Discipline of 1928.

It is within the province of the General Conference upon its organization to adopt any rule the Standing Committee on Rules may see fit to recommend regarding the assignment to Standing Committee of Delegates who may be employees of the General Conference or of any of its Boards.

Adopted, May 24.

XII. PENSIONS AND RELIEF

Report No. 1. Relief of Supply Pastors

Amend the Discipline by the insertion of a new paragraph immediately following the present ¶ 392:

"Fund for the Relief of Supply Pastors.

"¶ 393, § 1. Each Annual Conference which utilizes the services of Supply Pastors, is hereby authorized to create and maintain a relief fund for Supply Pastors to be administered by the Conference Stewards for the purpose of granting relief to aged and disabled Supply Pastors who shall have given not less than twenty years of full-time pastoral service under the direction and control of a District Superintendent. Claimants on this fund shall be known as 'Special Conference Claimants,' and all accounting on their behalf shall be kept separate from the accounts for 'Regular Conference Claimants,' who are retired members of the Annual Conference, their widows and dependent minor children.

"§ 2. Supply Pastors on and after attainment of the age specified in the Discipline for the retirement of ministers who are members of an Annual Conference, may become 'Special Conference Claimants' upon the recommendation of the District Superintendent concerned and the approval of the Annual Conference.

"§ 3. As soon as practicable after the death of a Supply Pastor, the Conference Stewards shall consider the case of his widow, if any, and grant such relief as may be available, subject to the service requirement in § 1 of this paragraph, and provided that she retains membership in the Methodist Episcopal Church.

"§ 4. The Conference Stewards shall require an annual statement from each 'Special Conference Claimant,' and a report with a certificate of character which may be furnished by either the Quarterly Conference, Pastor or District Superintendent where the claimant resides.

"§ 5. Application for disability relief by a Supply Pastor prior to attainment of the age specified in the Discipline for the retirement of ministers who are members of an Annual Conference and before completion of the minimum number of required years of service, must be accompanied by the recommendation of the District Superintendent with a full statement of need and a physician's certificate.

"§ 6. In each Annual Conference the Relief Fund for Supply Pastors shall be the medium for the distribution of funds hitherto distributed direct to Supply Pastors by the Board of Pensions and Relief.

"§ 7. The Annual Conference shall determine the method to be used in raising moneys for this fund.

"§ 8. An Annual Conference may create and maintain a reserve fund for the aid of its aged and disabled Supply Pastors. Such fund shall be invested and administered in such manner as the Annual Conference shall determine, but the accounting shall be kept separate."

Adopted, May 10.

Report No. 2. Connectional Relief

Amend ¶ 518, § 3, of Discipline by striking out the last sentence of the paragraph and substituting therefor the following:

"The Board of Pensions and Relief is also hereby authorized to receive and administer in trust for the benefit of Conference Claimants of the Methodist Episcopal Church, all gifts and bequests wherein the name or corporate title of the beneficiary shall have been stated insufficiently or improperly or phrased in general terms, but where the intent of the donor is clearly shown to be to benefit or aid Conference Claimants of the Methodist Episcopal Church."

So that § 3, as amended, shall read:

"¶ 518, § 3. Moneys for Connectional Permanent Endowment shall be held by the Board of Pensions and Relief, located at Chicago, Illinois, and shall be administered through its connectional Permanent Fund. The Board of Pensions and Relief is also hereby authorized to receive and administer in trust for the benefit of Conference Claimants of the Methodist Episcopal Church, all gifts and bequests wherein the name or corporate title of the beneficiary shall have been stated insufficiently or improperly or phrased in general terms, but where the intent of the donor is clearly shown to be to benefit or aid Conference Claimants of the Methodist Episcopal Church."

Adopted, May 10.

REPORT NO. 3. ADMINISTRATION OF CONNECTIONAL RELIEF

Amend ¶ 519 by adding § 4.

The Board of Pensions and Relief shall turn over to the Conference for which they were intended, gifts and funds received under provisions of ¶ 518, § 3.

Adopted, May 10.

REPORT NO. 4. NECESSITOUS FUNDS FOR CONFERENCE CLAIMANTS

Your Committee has considered Memorial No. 585, requesting the General Conference to change the name of the "Necessitous Fund for Conference Claimants" to "Emergency Fund for Conference Claimants" by inserting in the Discipline the word "Emergency" in place of the word "Necessitous" wherever the latter word appears, and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 5. ANNUITY CLAIMS OF CONFERENCE CLAIMANTS

Your Committee has considered Memorial No. 584, asking for another paragraph under Article 389 of the Discipline to read—"Whenever a man in the effective relation shall be compelled because of his ill health to relinquish his work during the Conference year, and in consequence of which his salary ceases, and who at the next session of his Annual Conference is granted the retired relation, his Annuity Claim shall begin from the date at which his salary ceased"—and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 6. AUTHORITY BOARD OF PENSIONS AND RELIEF

Your Committee on Pensions and Relief, having considered Memorial No. 195, recommends that ¶ 515 of the Discipline of 1928 be amended, as follows:

Amend ¶ 515, § 1, of the Discipline, lines 5, 9, and elsewhere, wherever the title, "Corresponding Secretary," is used. It shall be changed to be "Executive Secretary," in harmony with the statement of duties in ¶ 516, § 1, "Who shall be the chief executive officer of the Board."

Amend ¶ 515, § 5, of the Discipline, as follows:

On the eleventh line of said paragraph, following the words, "for the benefit of," insert the following, "conference claimants in the various Annual Conferences," so that the amended paragraph shall read:

"§ 5. The Board of Pensions and Relief shall be duly and legally incorporated, according to the laws of the State of Illinois, with such powers and prerogatives as shall be needed for the accomplishment of the objects of the Board, as herein stated.

This Board is authorized to adopt such measures as in its judgment are necessary to build up and administer a Connectional Permanent Fund which is hereby established; to increase the revenues for the benefit of Conference Claimants: to take title to, sell, dispose of or hold absolutely, or in trust, property, real or personal, to receive in trust and to administer endowments and other funds for the benefit of Conference Claimants in the various Annual Conferences, Annual Conference Deaconesses, Medical Missionaries, Teachers and other Church workers who are not members of an Annual Conference, and to administer the same in accordance with such trust. Seven members shall constitute a quorum. The office of the Board shall be in Chicago, Illinois."

(N. B. The last two sentences in the above paragraph should be lifted here and inserted, as an editorial correction, following the words "ex-officio" in the second to last line of ¶ 515, § 1.)

Amend ¶ 515 by striking out all that is now § 6 and inserting instead thereof:

"§ 6. The Board of Pensions and Relief is hereby authorized to take shch measures as may be necessary to establish a reserve fund for the relief of aged and disabled Supply Pastors who have served for twenty years or more, giving their whole time as pastors to the work of the Methodist Episcopal Church and for their widows. The distribution of this fund shall be made by the Board to the Conference Stewards to be dispensed by them to the beneficiaries."

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 7. Adjustment of Liabilities in the Case of an Adjustment of Boundaries

Your Committee has considered Memorial No. 460, dealing with the adjustment of liabilities when Conference boundary lines are changed, and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 8. Time of Paying Annuities by the Board of Stewards

Your Committee has considered Memorial No. 460, requesting the General Conference to amend § 7, of ¶ 387, of the Discipline, and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 9. Eligible Annuity Years

Your Committee has considered Memorial No. 189, asking the General Conference to Amend ¶ 260 of the Discipline by adding at the end of the present paragraph "and such years served as Supply Pastor while attending school shall be counted as eligible years in fixing his Annuity Claim," and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 10. Support of Conference Claimants

Your Committee has considered Memorials Nos. 458 and 397 dealing with Conference responsibility for Annuity Claims, and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 11. Widows' Annuity Claim

Your Committee has considered Memorial No. 594, requesting the General Conference to name certain provisions for the Annuity Claim of a Widow—and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 12. Ministers' Annuity

Your Committee has considered Memorial No. 246, asking that the first sentence of § 1 of ¶ 389 be amended to read as follows:

"Retired Ministers are entitled to annuities for their years of service in the effective relation in the Methodist Episcopal Church, provided they have reached the age of sixty-five years or more at the time of retirement, or have been retired because of disability after rendering a minimum of ten years of service," and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 13. Annuity Claims of Widows and Dependent Children

Your Committee has considered Memorial No. 468, dealing with Annuity Claims of Widows and Dependent Children, and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 14. The Annuity of Widows of Ministers When They Marry Retired Ministers

Your Committee has considered Memorial No. 604, asking that the Discipline be amended so that a widow of a minister shall not lose her right to a pension when she marries a retired minister of the Church, and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 15. Amendment to Powers of Bishops

Your Committee has considered Memorial No. 210, requesting the General Conference to amend Chapter XII, Division IV, so that

"The Bishops, as opportunities arise, may appoint members of Annual Conferences as Pastors of Churches in our foreign fields, with the understanding that such periods of service shall not be a charge upon the Conference Claimants funds in the Conferences to which they belong."

We recommend non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 16. Pensions for Supply Pastors

Your Committee has considered Memorial No. 603, requesting that the following words be added to ¶ 385 of the Discipline: "An Annual Conference may also provide in such manner as it may deem best a fund for the relief of retired or incapacitated Supply Pastors," and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 17. Conference Claimants

Your Committee having considered Memorials Nos. 2, 143, 232, 333, 394, recommends as follows:

Amend ¶ 385 by numbering the present matter as § 1 and adding § 2 as follows:

"The Stewards of an Annual Conference are authorized to apportion to an organization or institution of the Methodist Episcopal Church employing a member of the Conference and not providing a pension for his years of service, an amount equal to that apportioned to pastoral charges paying a like salary."

So that the entire paragraph shall read:

¶ 385, § 1. The Annual Conference, through its Stewards, shall determine the total amount required to pay the annuity and necessitous claims, first computing the amount required for all Conference Claimants, and then subtracting from such amount the income received during the previous year from the Chartered Fund, the Book Concern and the Board of Pensions and Relief, and from all other sources for this purpose, except the receipts from the pastoral charges. The remainder shall be equitably apportioned by the Conference Stewards to the several charges within and without the bounds of the Conference served by a member of said Conference; provided, however, that the amount asked for necessitous cases shall be subject to the approval of the Annual Conference.

§ 2. The Stewards of an Annual Conference are authorized to apportion to an organization or institution of the Methodist Episcopal Church employing a member of the Conference and not providing a pension for his years of service, an amount equal to that apportioned to pastoral charges paying a like salary.

Amend ¶ 390 by inserting the following:

"Money received from an institution or organization employing a member of Conference." So that the entire paragraph shall read:

¶ 390. Money designated for annuity distribution shall be distributed on the basis of service and shall consist of:

1. The dividends of the Book Concern and the Chartered Fund.

2. The income from any investments made by the Annual Conference for annuity distribution and held in trust for this purpose.

3. Such gifts and bequests as are made for annuity distribution.

4. Money received from an institution or organization employing a member of an Annual Conference.

5. Such proportion of the money received from the pastoral charges for Conference Claimants as is for Annuity distribution.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 18. Payments to Conference Claimants

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 190, makes the following recommendation:

Amend ¶ 387, § 7, of the Discipline by striking out the word "annually" at the beginning of the third line and by adding to the section the following, "provided, however, that the annuity claim shall accrue only up to the date of the decease of a claimant and shall be paid to the widow or to the dependent children, but not to his estate," so that the section, as amended, shall read as follows:

"§ 7. An Annual Conference may authorize its Stewards to pay the Annuity Claim of its Claimants semi-annually or quarterly, provided, however, that the annuity claim shall accrue only up to the date of the decrease of a claimant and shall be paid to the widow or to the dependent children, but not to his estate."

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 19. Payments to Conference Claimants

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 190, recommends the following:

Amend ¶ 387, § 8, of the Discipline by inserting after the words, "each Conference Claimant," in the fifth line, the words, "including all receipts from Conference organizations or other funds within the Conference" and also by adding two new sections to the paragraph, to be known as § 9 and § 10, so that the amended sections shall read, as follows:

"§ 8. The Conference Stewards shall forward to the Board of Pensions and Relief a certified copy of their Report, made on blanks furnished by the Board, in which shall be shown the annuities and allowances made to each Conference Claimant, including all receipts from Conference organizations, or other funds within the Conference, together with additional data for the guidance of the Board of Pensions and Relief in making its appropriations for Connectional Relief and in preparing its Annual Report; and certifying to the total annuity years of the several Conferences, for the guidance of the Book Committee, ¶ 442.

"§ 9. The Annual Conference may, upon recommendation of the Conference Stewards, be required to designate a bank or other depository for the interim funds held by the Stewards and bond those funds or take other sufficient measures for their security. The Conference Stewards, when authorized by a majority vote of the Annual Conference, may trustee all or any part of the interim funds with the Board of Pensions and Relief, as provided in ¶ 515, § 7.

"§ 10. When they deem it expedient, the Conference Stewards may build up reserve funds from the income for Conference Claimants in order to stabilize the annuity rate paid. Such reserves shall not exceed twenty-five per cent (25%) of the average annual income of the five years immediately preceding. These reserve funds shall be held as the Conference may direct and shall be subject to the requirements set forth in § 9 of this paragraph."

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 20. Annuity Distribution

Your Committee has considered Memorial No. 185, dealing with Annuity distribution, and recommends the following:

Amend ¶ 389, § 2, of the Discipline by striking out the words, "Or auspices," in the fifteenth line and also by adding after the words, "Methodist Episcopal Church," in the same line, the following, "or doing work which receives the formal approval and support of an Annual Conference"; so that the section, as amended, shall read:

"§ 2. The annuity claim of a Retired Minister shall be determined on the basis of an annuity rate to be fixed by his Annual Conference. This rate shall not be less (it may be as much more as his Annual Conference may determine) than one per cent (1%) of the average salary, including house rent at a valuation equivalent to fifteen per cent (15%) of the cash salary of the ministers in his Conference who are in the effective relation, who are Pastors or District Superintendents, multiplied by the number of his years of service in the effective relation in the Methodist Episcopal Church, adding thereto two years on trial, as a Pastor or District Superintendent, or under appointment to an institution or organization under the control of the Methodist Episcopal Church, or an institution or organization doing work which receives the formal approval and support of the Annual Conference; excepting those institutions or organizations which provide an annuity or other income for years of service in them. This provision shall not apply adversely to years of service rendered prior to May 29, 1924. However, when any Annual Conference shall pay twenty-five dollars ($25.00) per year for each year of effective service, it shall be considered to have met the requirements of this paragraph."

Also amend ¶ 389, § 3, of the Discipline by striking out the words, "or auspices" appearing in the thirteenth line, and also by adding after the words, "Methodist Episcopal Church," appearing in the fourteenth line, the following, "or doing work which received the formal approval and support of an Annual Conference," so that the section, as amended, shall read:

"§ 3. The annuity claim of a widow shall be determined by the number of years during which she was the wife of a preacher while he was in the effective relation, as a member of an Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, including two years on trial, regardless of any intervening period of widowhood, and shall be three-fourths of the annuity claim of a Retired Minister for such term of years; provided, however, that such years of service shall have been rendered while her husband was serving in a pastorate or District Superintendency or under appointment to an institution or organization under the control of the Methodist Episcopal Church, or an institution or organization doing work which receives the formal approval and support of the Annual Conference, excepting those institutions or organizations which provide an annuity or other income for years of service in them, and, furthermore, provided that this section shall not apply adversely to years of service rendered prior to June 1, 1928. The annuity claim of a widow shall take effect upon her husband's death."

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 21. Report of the Commission on Reserve Pension Fund Plan

Your Committee, after a careful consideration of Memorial No. 865, endorses the Reserve Pension Fund Plan and recommends that the Annual Conferences participate in the plan as soon as possible.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 22. Reserve Pension Fund Plan

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 900, asking for changes in ¶¶ D and N of The Reserve Pension Fund Plan, recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 23. Report of the Board of Pensions and Relief

Your Committee has studied the report of the Board of Pensions and Relief, Memorial No. 808.

We congratulate the Board on the splendid record it has made and express our grateful appreciation of the work which it has accomplished.

See report in the Handbook, pages 277-295.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 24. Status of Chartered Fund

Your Committee, in response to Memorial No. 726, recommends that the work of the Chartered Fund be merged with the work of the Board of Pensions and Relief; that the funds held by the Trustees of the Chartered Fund be transferred to the Board of Pensions and Relief, to be held and managed by it as a separate fund, the income to be perpetually distributed to and among the itinerant and superannuated or worn out ministers and preachers in the United States of America, and the widows and orphans of such ministers and preachers as set forth in the present charter of the Chartered Fund. And further that we authorize the Trustees of the Chartered Fund to make such transfer; and for this purpose to make the necessary application to any Court or Courts which may have jurisdiction in the premises.

We further recommend that the following be added to ¶ 515 and to be designated as § 7:

"§ 7. The Board of Pensions and Relief is authorized to receive and administer the principal and undistributed income of the Chartered Fund; the principal thereof, together with all sums designated and all legacies hereafter given to the Chartered Fund, shall be funded and kept perpetually as a Special Fund, the interest or income therefrom shall be divided into as many equal parts as there are Annual Conferences from time to time, and paid over in equal proportions to the respective Conferences annually, for the purpose of relieving the distresses and supplying the deficiencies of the itinerant and superannuated ministers and preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States of America, and also for the relief of the wives and children, widows and orphans of said ministers and preachers."

Amend ¶ 539 by adding an additional section to be known as § 8:

"§ 8. When and as soon as the Board of Trustees of the Chartered Fund have transferred the assets in hand to the Board of Pensions and Relief, the provisions contained in this paragraph, namely, 539, shall be suspended except insofar as it may become necessary to qualify it to receive legacies which have been given to the said Chartered Fund. Such fund, when received, shall be immediately transferred to the said Board of Pensions and Relief."

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 25. Revise ¶ 387, § 4, Discipline, 1928

Your Committee has considered Memorial No. 471, requesting the revision of ¶ 387, § 4, of the Discipline, and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 26. Annuity Distribution

Your Committee, having considered Report B on Memorial No. 185, which seeks to change the basis for annuity distribution, recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 27. Forfeiture of Annuity Benefits

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 776, dealing with forfeiture of Annuity Benefits upon withdrawal from Conference membership, recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 28. Amend 1908 Annuity Plan for Conference Claimants

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 198, dealing with amendments to the 1908 Annuity Plan for Conference Claimants, recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 29. Annuities

Your Committee having considered Memorials 866, 742, 869, 868, 867, 962, dealing with Annuities by proposing amendments to ¶ 389, § 11, Discipline, 1928, recommend non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

XIII. STATE OF THE CHURCH

Report No. 1. Message of the General Conference to the Church Regarding World Service

Less than two centuries have passed since John Wesley declared "The World is my Parish." To-day, a far-flung Methodist service line girdles the globe. It is Christ's.

We thank God for the sacrificial giving and sublime service of the people called Methodists. In crucial hours our people have never failed our Church.

Even in this period of economic stress, a greater number of gifts have been received by our World Service Treasury than in 1930-1931. We rejoice in this evidence of loyalty.

Naturally the gifts have been smaller. The total in dollars is less. Our philanthropic, educational and missionary service must suffer no further loss.

Therefore, we urge our people to unite in a church-wide offering to maintain our world-wide service.

To that end, we request our pastors to present this need and opportunity to our people on Pentecost Sunday, May 15, and make every effort to remit the amounts so received not later than May 31.

Adopted, May 7.

REPORT NO. 2. RECOMMENDING CONTINUANCE OF COMMISSION ON WORLD PEACE

We recognize with appreciation the important pioneering work done by the Commission on World Peace during the last quadrennium.

We recommend:

1. That the Commission on World Peace be continued, and that the Treasurer of the General Conference Expense Fund be and hereby is authorized and directed to pay properly certified expenses of the Commission on World Peace, the total not to exceed $3,000 a year.

2. That the educational work for World Peace within the Methodist Episcopal Church, in Epworth League Institutes, Church School Assemblies, and Study Conferences be continued under the direction of the Division of Religious Education in the Local Church of the Board of Education.

3. That for general and public information and persuasion in building a world order upon the foundation of international peace we continue co-operation with the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America through its Commission on International Justice and Good Will and its Committee on World Friendship Among Children, and other existing peace agencies whose resources and facilities are available to the local and general church.

Original Majority Report

We recommend that the General Conference order the continuance of the Commission on World Peace, with its membership reduced from fifteen to nine, and the payment from the General Conference Expense Fund of its expenses up to the amount of twelve thousand, five hundred dollars a year.

Failed of Adoption, May 19.

Report No. 3. The Lord's Day Alliance

Whereas, The Lord's Day Alliance of the United States was initiated by the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at its session in 1888; and

Whereas, Because of its service and efficiency, it has been made the representative of twenty-three other denominations and is now the accredited agency of the Evangelical Churches in America for the protection and preservation of the Christian Sabbath; and

Whereas, The attacks upon this day have never been more persistently vigorous and the need for such an organization has never been so imperative; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we commend the Lord's Day Alliance of the United States, a child of the Church and its official representative in this important work, and rejoice in the large measure of success that has attended its activities.

Resolved, That we elect the following Permanent Committee on Sabbath Observance and renominate them to represent the Methodist Episcopal Church on the Board of Managers of the Lord's Day Alliance of the United States, in which they have rendered such effective services: John H. Willey, Chairman; W. W. T. Duncan, Wallace MacMullen, A. B. Sanford, O. F. Bartholow, C. Oliver Moore and William R. Leslie. We nominate Bishop William F. McDowell and Bishop E. G. Richardson as honorary vice-presidents, and also endorse the President of the organization, Dr. John H. Willey, a member of the Pittsburgh Annual Conference, and commend him and his Committee to our pastors and Churches, and ask their co-operation in the work of the Alliance.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 4. All Methodist Church Sunday

Having considered carefully Memorial No. 680, asking that Sunday, May 24, when that date falls on Sunday, and in other years the Sunday preceding, be known as "All Methodist Church Sunday," we recommend non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 6. World Peace

"The patriotism of the Methodist Episcopal Church has never been challenged. Neither our motive nor our loyalty must be impugned when we insist on the fulfillment of pledges made to the dead and assert our Christian ideals to the living."

In these terms, as in the General Conference of 1924, we set ourselves to create the will to peace, the conditions for peace, and organization for peace. We rejoice in the position taken by the General Conference of 1928 which declared that we are opposed to all military training in high schools and to compulsory military training in colleges and universities, and which further said, "The agencies of our Church shall not be used in preparation for war; they shall be used in preparation for peace."

And now in the name of Christ and in the interest of the prosperity and peace of the world we feel constrained to make the following pronouncements:

We believe that the time has come for the world to acknowledge the fact that the sole guilt of the German nation for the World War cannot in justice be maintained. We hope that religious and other bodies the world around will join with us in urging the League of Nations to seek a revision of this article.

We also believe that the time has come for the world to recognize the fact that further reparations based upon this article should not be demanded of the German people. We take the position that reparations and war debts are not in the same category, either in law or in morals, and insist that this difference in principle be clearly recognized. We believe, however, that they are very closely related and that reduction or cancellations of reparations cannot be made without seriously affecting war debt payments to the United States. We further believe that what the United States might not be willing to do if the demand should be made on the basis of legal right it might be willing to consider in the interest of the prosperity and peace of the world. We therefore urge the government of the United States, inviting the co-operation of other governments which are involved, to arrange for a new settlement of war debts based upon the present economic situation, and upon drastic reduction of armaments and military expenditures.

The governments of fifty-nine nations having by the Pact of Paris officially renounced war, should now abolish weapons designed primarily for aggressive purposes. The drastic reduction or total abolition of such weapons, namely, tanks and heavy mobile guns, airplanes, airplane carriers and gas, would greatly enhance the significance of the Peace Pact, allay deep suspicions and fears among nations less prepared to make war, prevent rivalry in armaments among all nations, and insure the success of the Disarmament Conference now meeting in Geneva.

We call upon the world to witness the fact that the signatories to the Versailles Treaty in forcing the disarming of Germany, solemnly declared they were doing it "in order to render possible initiation of a general limitation of armaments of all nations"; also the fact that the United States, signatory to the Treaty of Berlin, in which is embodied the Preamble of Part V of the Treaty of Versailles, made the same promise to Germany and the world, and in our judgment these nations are all morally and legally bound to a general reduction of armaments.

We commend the President of the United States and the Secretary of State for taking the position that our government will not recognize any situation, treaty, or agreement which may be brought about by violation of treaty agreements. We rejoice in the endorsement of this position given by the Council of the League of Nations. We believe that this position which is in harmony with the Paris Pact and American traditions, and which, as Mr. Hoover has truly said, is "the strongest moral sanction ever proclaimed in the world," ushers in a new day in international diplomacy and brings new hope to mankind.

Believing that the Root Formula fully protects American interests, we now urge the government of the United States to ratify the World Court Protocols, and also to enter the League of Nations with such Senate Reservations as shall harmonize the Constitutions of the League with the Paris Peace Pact.

We recommend the establishment of a Bureau in the Department of State whose duty it will be to promote education for peace.

We appeal for such modification of the present Immigration Act as will place Orientals on the same quota basis as now governs immigration from European countries.

We desire to make our own the following position taken by the Executive Committee of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America:

"In view of certain judicial decisions which raise fundamental questions as to the justice of our present naturalization laws, we desire to put on record the following convictions:

"We hold that our country is benefited by having as citizens those who unswervingly follow the dictates of their consciences, and that a policy of denial of naturalization to aliens of such character is contrary to the ideals of a nation into whose very structure the principle of political and religious liberty has been built.

"If the present naturalization law does, under fair interpretation, require the exclusion from citizenship of applicants who put allegiance to God above every other consideration, we believe that the law should be amended.

"Furthermore, we believe it to be the duty of the churches to give moral support to those individuals who hold conscientious scruples against participation in military training or military service."

We petition the government of the United States to grant to members of the Methodist Episcopal Church who may be conscientious objectors to war the same exemption from military service as has long been granted to members of the Society of Friends and other similar religious organizations. Similarly we petition all educational institutions which require military training to excuse from such training any student belonging to the Methodist Episcopal Church who has conscientious scruples against it.

We earnestly petition the government of the United States to cease supporting all military training in civilian educational institutions. We urge Methodists in all parts of the world to make a like request of their respective governments, and further to plead for the abolition of compulsory military service in countries where it is now required.

Adopted, May 23.

Report No. 9. Divorce

Having considered Memorials Nos. 157, 610, and 654, we recommend: that ¶ 70 of the Discipline be amended as follows:

Beginning on the fourth line of § 1, eliminate the words: "We recognize as lawful a divorce granted by the State" and add all of § 2 as a closing part of § 1.

Change § 3 to read § 2, and, beginning on the fourth line of this section, change the wording of part (1) so that it will read "(1) to the innocent person when it is clearly established by competent testimony that the true cause for divorce was adultery or other vicious conditions which through mental or physical cruelty or physical peril invalidated the marriage vow, nor".

Renumber § 4 to read § 3.

So that ¶ 70, as amended, will read:

§ 1. We hold that true marriage is an institution, both human and divine. It is the function of the State to determine the ground upon which a valid divorce may be granted. It is the function of the Church to determine the regulations that shall govern Ministers in the solemnizing of marriage of divorced persons and in the reception of divorced persons into Church membership.

§ 2. No Minister shall solemnize the marriage of a divorced person whose divorced wife or husband is living and unmarried: but this rule shall not apply (1) to the innocent person when it is clearly established by competent testimony that the true cause for divorce was adultery or other vicious conditions which, through mental or physical cruelty or physical peril, invalidated the marriage vow, nor (2) to divorced persons seeking to be reunited in marriage.

§ 3. A divorced person seeking admission into membership in our Church who manifests a proper spirit and satisfactorily answers the usual inquiries may be received.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 10. Revision of the Ritual

There has been referred to your Committee the report of the Commission on the Revision of the Ritual; Memorials Nos. 90 and 91 from the California Conference; Memorial No. 94 from the Rock River Conference; Memorial No. 96 from the Northwest Iowa Conference; Memorial No. 98 from the Eastern South America Conference, and Memorial No. 99 from the New York East Lay Electoral Conference.

The General Conference of 1928 ordered the revision of the Ritual. The Commission was organized almost immediately and proceeded to study the present Ritual of the Church. Every member of the Commission was provided with a copy of "The Rites and Ritual of Episcopal Methodism," by Nolan B. Harmon, M.A., D.D. This is the most accurate and thorough study of the history, sources and usage of Methodist liturgy and ritual. The Commission moved with the purpose to guarantee that Methodist standards should prevail throughout the revision. A great number of groups and individuals throughout the Church were consulted. All the theological seminaries were asked to make suggestions. After more than two years of study a printing of five hundred copies of the proposed revision was made. This was widely distributed to all of our Bishops, many ministers, District Superintendents, seminary professors, editors, secretaries, and others deeply interested in this important phase of our Church life. The Commission asked that these persons make individual and group study of the proposed revision and send to the Commission any criticisms, suggestions and amendments.

After most careful study with many differences of opinion and divergent points of view the Commission concluded its work in Christian amity and good will. The report of the Commission on the Revision of the Ritual, as printed on pages 421 to 490 of the Handbook of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, comes to the General Conference with the unanimous approval of the Commission.

A sub-committee of the Committee on the State of the Church has carefully studied the proposed revision. Three open hearings, that have been duly announced, have been held to give every member of the General Conference an opportunity to present suggestions, criticisms or amendments. A number of members of the General Conference appeared to present their views.

We recommend that the proposed revision of the Ritual be adopted with such minor amendments as the following:

(References are to the pages of the Handbook of the General Conference).

Line 17, page 422, substitute the word "elements" for the words "bread and wine."

Line 3, page 423, place period after the word "Spirit," drop the word "and" and capitalize the word "they."

Lines 7 and 14, page 427, use bold faced type on the word "Amen."

Line 14, page 428, the parenthetical directions "here may the minister take the plate in his hands" to be in italics, and Line 18, page 428, the parenthetical directions "here he may take the cup in his hands" to be in italics.

Line 43, page 428, substitute the word "cup" for the word "wine."

Line 30, page 438, place "Amen" at the close of the prayer.

Page 439, strike out the prayer following line 10 (a typographical error).

In the Order for the Solemnization of Matrimony, in line 10, page 439, drop the words "and consummation."

Page 440, in lines 8 and 17, place the "N" calling for the name. After line 23, page 440, place "Answer, I do."

In the Order for the Burial of the Dead indicate separations between the various Scripture lessons by spacing.

Page 446, line 26, insert after words "Forasmuch as the" the words "spirit of the," so as to read "Forasmuch as the spirit of the departed."

Page 446, insert after line 29 as an alternate the present words of Committtal as in the Discipline of 1928, Paragraph 560.

The Committee recommend that editorial power be given to the Book Editor for the corrections of any infelicities, grammatical or typographical errors without change of form or meaning.

In recommending the adoption of this revision of our Ritual the Church expresses its high appreciation to the Commission for its scholarly and painstaking work in producing this Ritual which conserves the noblest values of our rich evangelical heritage and speaks the vital language of to-day. The prayer is that as the Church uses this Ritual it will find it helpful in making real the presence of the Living God.

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 11. METHODIST COMMISSION ON WORSHIP AND MUSIC

Referring to the Report of the Methodist Commission on Worship and Music, and Memorial No. 924, this Committee reports:

In the light of the deepening and growing interest of our people in the music and worship of the Church, and of the introduction of new orders and ideals of worship, and of the preparation of a new hymnal to be introduced to the Church during the coming quadrennium, and of the upward trend of musical and artistic standards in all of the Churches and in the country at large it is desirable that the people of our Methodist Episcopal Churches should be informed and stimulated to the end that the music and worship of our Methodist Episcopal Churches should be as effective as possible in the promotion of the interests of the Kingdom of God on Earth.

1. We commend the work that has been done during the past two quadrenniums by the two Commissions dealing with the problems of Worship and Music.

2. We recommend that the Bishops be authorized and instructed to appoint, for the ensuing quadrennium, a Commission on Worship and Music of fifteen members, five Bishops, five other ministers and five lay members.

3. We recommend that this Commission co-operate with the Commission on Worship and Music of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

4. We recommend that in each Annual Conference there be appointed a Commission on Worship and Music to co-operate with this General Conference Commission.

5. We recommend that $250 a year be provided by the General Conference Expense Fund to cover the expenses of this Commission.

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 12. RESOLUTION ON THE ECONOMIC SITUATION

In response to Memorials Nos. 27 and 542, we respectfully submit the following resolution on the Economic Situation:

The present economic crisis comes as a rebuke and a spur to the Christian Church operating within and supported by the present social order, and all too largely conforming to it. Current conditions constitute an inescapable criticism of the industrial system now functioning. Labor is an indispensable partner in the creation of wealth, yet to-day society provides no adequate economic security for many who help to produce its wealth. Meanwhile, the financial control of the world tends to be concentrated in the hands of a few, who thereby are able to exercise undue power over their less favored fellows and to have luxuries while others are in want. Such a state of society is not merely economically unsatisfactory; it also falls far short of the fulfillment of the Christian standard of life, which clearly emphasizes that in a well-ordered Christian Society positions of power in government, finance, and industry are forms of stewardship.

It is basic in the religion of Jesus that mankind is one great family, its members sharing the Father's love and finding their greatest joy in serving the common good. Whatever be our social pattern, the people who call themselves Christians are bound by their profession to live by this vision and to try to kindle its flame in all whom they touch. By its light we see clearly that human values must take precedence over all others. The human fact outweighs the property fact, the ecclesiastical fact, the traditional fact, and the institutional fact. The community exists to provide the free and abundant life for all of its members. We cannot be complacent members of any society that is less than Christian, and no society is Christian which does not open up freely and equally to all of its members the opportunity to live the completely healthy life, physically, emotionally, mentally, and spiritually. Such a society is that Kingdom of God in which the prayers of Jesus shall find their answer in the Brotherhood of Men.

Toward such an ideal we would see our present social order move. Therefore, we urge the appointment of a Commission by the President of the United States, under authority of Congress, to consist of representatives of the Executive and Legislative Departments of the Federal Government, distinguished leaders in Labor, Industry, and Agriculture, and outstanding Professors of Economics and Social Sciences, to report to the President concerning remedies for the present economic disorders and to consider, among other things, the following propositions for legislation and amendment to the Constitution, if necessary, namely:

1. Replace our present policy of unplanned competitive industrialism with a planned industrial economy, which aims definitely at economic security for all.

2. Modify our anti-trust laws.

3. Grant to industry the right to organize in a definite way and regulate itself under Federal supervision.

4. Create and empower a Commission or Commissions to regulate the industries organized under this permissive law.

5. Offset technological and general unemployment by shortening the hours of labor, thus providing that men shall not lose employment through the advancing excellence of machinery and providing also that labor shall share with capital in the advantages obtained by the utilization of machinery in industry.

6. Establish unemployment insurance, accident and disability insurance, and old age pensions, planned and administered on the basis of sound actuarial experience.

7. Abolish child labor, which, in addition to its contribution to child welfare, will also release work now done by children to adult workers.

8. Turn public income from the economic waste involved in the building of armaments to productive enterprises which enrich the common life.

9. Make an investigation of the needs of the nation for public works to be carried on by Federal, State, and municipal agencies in periods of depression and unemployment.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 13. Federal Relief for the Unemployed

The following resolution was presented to your Committee for consideration and report:

Whereas, Thirty-seven of the largest cities in the United States report no signs of improved employment, and one of them at the end of the third winter reports 700,000 unemployed; and

Whereas, Private charity and State relief funds now reduced almost to starvation level will soon be exhausted; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church urge upon the President and the Congress of the United States the imperative need of immediate Federal Relief; and further be it

Resolved, That a delegation from this General Conference go in person to Washington and present this request in the name of the Christ.

Your Committee recommends the adoption of this resolution and that the delegation to go to Washington consist of Bishop William F. McDowell, Bishop Francis J. McConnell, and the Bishop resident in Washington.

Report No. 14. A Christian Appraisal of the Acquisitive Society

Confronted by the spectacle of the breakdown of our social and economic structure around the world, with its toll of human want and misery, it is clear that the Church must not acquiesce in the continuance of the present status. An economic order that produces privileged classes has proved itself incapable of performing the elementary duty of providing the whole population with the means of existence and growth. The least definition with which the Christian conscience can be satisfied in that society is an organized co-operation for providing the largest possible measure of life for the greatest possible number of its members. Our present social order fails even to approximate this definition, for it produces a few incomes that are great beyond either need or reason, while condemning large sections of population to abject want through no fault of their own.

As our Bishops declared in 1930, "We cannot escape the conclusion that a more equitable distribution of wealth is basic."

The present industrial order is unchristian, unethical and anti-social, because it is largely based on the profit-motive, which is a direct appeal to selfishness. Selfishness is never morally right, never Christian, and eventually never benefits anybody. It is now clear that this moral defect produces functional incapacity by throwing the forces of consumption and production out of balance. A satisfactory social organism cannot grow out of an unsocial seed. Self-interest is both planless and, in the largest sense, without social intelligence, thus producing the periodic economic crises which from time to time plunge the world into depression and want.

The present calamity is becoming increasingly threatening, so that it makes imperative a reconstruction of our economic order Therefore, it is an urgent duty now devolving upon us to make clear the ethical issues involved in the functional causes of our current economic crisis. We must stir the conscience of mankind to create a social way of life in which all men have opportunity to develop their capacities to the fullest possible extent.

Report No. 15. Interdenominational Relations and Church Union

Your Committee having considered the report of the Commission on Interdenominational Relations on pages 382 to 392 of the Handbook of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the supplementary report on page 159 of The Daily Christian Advocate and Memorial No. 565 from the Rock River Conference and Memorial No. 79 from the Genesee Conference, submits the following report:

1. We heartily commend the work of the Commission on Interdenominational Relations which was created by the General Conference of 1928. Real progress has been made toward the achievement of Christian unity in the life of the churches. As Methodists we recognize that there is a spiritual unity of the Church underneath all the differences of the communions in which the Church is organized. We desire to see that unity expressed and organized in that form which will make every follower of Christ aware of his fellowship with all other Christians, and which shall enable the leaders of the Church to plan its work and order its forces to meet all the needs of the society it must transform into the Kingdom of God.

2. We recommend the continuation of the Commission on Interdenominational Relations to be known as the Commission on Interdenominational Relations and Church Union, to be composed of five Bishops, ten other Ministers and ten laymen, to which all matters relating to Church union, unification or federation shall be referred, and that this Commission shall be appointed by the Bishops, and that the expenses of this Commission, not to exceed $5,000 during the quadrennium, be paid by the Treasurer of the General Conference Expense Fund.

3. We recommend the approval and adoption of the report of the Commission on Interdenominational Relations on pages 382 and 392 of the Handbook of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church and the supplementary report of the Commission as contained in The Daily Christian Advocate, page 159, May 9, 1932. We particularly call attention to the following paragraphs of the report of the Commission and affirm:

"That without committing ourselves to any particular plan, we especially recommend that the reunion of the Methodism of the United States be made a theme for major consideration in the Sesqui-Centennial celebration at Christmas in 1934 with reunion then or as noon thereafter as possible as a goal of that celebration.

"That we recommend that in the meantime, by prayer and fellowship, and by co-operation in all good work, we labor everywhere in all the Churches to promote a spirit of union which will, before the sun goes down upon our earthly lives, make a visible as well as a spiritual union of these Churches which we love."

4. The Methodist Episcopal Church makes its own confession of sin where it has needlessly contributed to waste and inefficiency due to disunion. Too many small Churches whose main effort is directed to the mere struggle for economic existence in competition with other small Churches cannot adequately serve the spiritual needs of their communities. We stand ready to unite and work with all Evangelical bodies of Christians to make effective the Gospel of Christ in every community of our country and in every foreign mission field. We direct that the Commission on Interdenominational Relations and Church Union issue a call to all Christian Churches to face the problem of Under-Churched and Over-Churched communities and seek to work out a practical basis of comity and union.

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 17. Social Problems

In response to various memorials dealing with many phases of our social relations we affirm the following principles:

1. In the name of that common brotherhood in Christ, which is expressed in the world-wide membership of our Church embracing all races and nations, we oppose all forms of race discrimination and urge our Church to operate all its Boards, Commissions, official groups, and institutions without discrimination against any person on account of either race or nation.

2. Because we have learned from Jesus that it is not the Father's will that one of his little ones should perish we urge upon our national and local governments that they plan and provide for adequate housing so as to make possible better home-building through the elimination of slums.

3. Recognizing the growing influence of moving pictures both at home and abroad we go on record as favoring such plans for distribution of films, for supervision of their production, and for control of their exportation, as will safeguard local moving-picture houses, the morals of growing children, and the reputation of America abroad.

4. Accepting the fact that our whole democratic way of life is threatened by any invasion of the constitutional rights of free speech, free assembly, and a free press, we declare ourselves anew in behalf of these essential rights of citizenship.

5. Holding lynching to be inhuman, irrational, and thoroughly criminal, we assert that we are unalterably opposed to it under any circumstances and will use every resource at our command to end it everywhere.

6. Knowing the increasing power of the radio we urge federal and state authorities to repress radio broadcasting of a degrading nature and to restrict within reasonable limits the commercialization of all communications by air, and to secure for educational and religious broadcasting a fair opportunity for the use of radio broadcasting.

7. Desiring to cultivate among our people an intelligent study of social and economic conditions we endorse the pamphlets of the Delaware Conference entitled "The Significance of Jesus Christ in the Modern World," and the publication by our World Service Agencies of "Toward the New World."

8. The Methodist Federation for Social Service, supported by voluntary contributions, headed by Bishop Francis J. McConnell, and directed by Dr. Harry F. Ward and Miss Winifred Chappell, is continuing to do an invaluable work through its publications and other activities, and therefore we heartily approve and endorse its continuance.

9. Perceiving that many workers both in the city and country are suffering from unemployment without adequate opportunity to make their condition known, we heartily endorse hearings on this subject and urge our pastors and churches to give the fullest possible co-operation to such hearings in every part of our country.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 18. Abolition of Capital Punishment

Your Committee has carefully considered Memorial No. 265, asking for a declaration in favor of the abolition of capital punishment, and recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

XIV. TEMPERANCE, PROHIBITION AND PUBLIC MORALS

Report No. 1. The Temperance Paragraph of the Episcopal Address

The Committee on Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals has duly considered that portion of the Episcopal Address committed to it, and recommends:

(1) That the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals be instructed to print this portion of the address in suitable form and transmit it to the President of the United States, the members of the House of Representatives and the Senate of the United States Congress, the Governors of the various states, and the known candidates for nomination of the political parties to the Presidential office; and that the Board be further instructed to make every effort to secure the general circulation of this document in inexpensive form throughout the Church and Nation.

(2) That the Pastors of the Church be urgently requested by the Bishops of the various Areas to read this Section of the Episcopal Address from their pulpits, and to make every effort to secure its general consideration by the young people of their Churches and communities as soon as practicable.

Adopted, May 4.

Report No. 2. Change in Name of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals

In reference to Memorials Nos. 68, 290, 503, asking for a change in the name of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, the Committee recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 3. The Prohibition Statement

Grateful to Almighty God for the tidal wave of conscientious conviction which engulfed the American saloon and swept the legalized liquor traffic from the United States of America, we solemnly declare our unswerving opposition to every proposal which has for its purpose the restoration of this traffic. Every plan that has been suggested for dealing with the liquor traffic, other than prohibition, contemplates the return of this traffic in some legal form. The disastrous effect of beverage alcohol on the individual and on society is now universally conceded. This effect cannot be mitigated by the adoption of one form of distribution instead of another. No people can drink itself into a sober, industrious and prosperous nation, no matter what form of distribution it adopts. Prohibition alone is founded upon the conviction that for the State to permit the traffic is wrong; prohibition alone proposes its ultimate extinction. We, therefore, reaffirm our whole-hearted support of national prohibition as the fixed policy of the United States.

Prohibition is not only sound in principle, but it has been vindicated by experience. The social, economic and moral benefits of this policy have been amply demonstrated in increased industrial efficiency, a larger degree of safety on the highways and in factories, unparelleled savings, despite a world-wide depression, an unequaled public health record, a remarkable decrease in the national death rate, and unprecedented evidences of social and moral well being. The conservation of the higher faculties of manhood, reduced sorrows of womanhood and mitigated wrongs against childhood eloquently proclaim the success of prohibition as a sound policy of government which has made it "easier for men to do right and more difficult to do wrong." Judged by all the evidence in the case, prohibition, despite the difficulties of enforcement, is shown to be better than the legally sanctioned traffic with regulation at its best.

We, therefore, call upon all local, State, and Federal public officials of America to enforce the law of the land as their oaths require, and we commend the many who are loyally doing their full duty in this respect. But there is still inadequate enforcement in many localities. We regard the officer who knowingly permits the violation of the prohibition law, or any other law, as a public menace. We are convinced that an honest enforcement of the prohibition laws of the State and Nation will go far toward solving the present lawlessness which unthinking persons are wrongly attributing to prohibition itself. We register our firm conviction that the only proper policy for the Government is the steady, relentless and honest administration of the law until the ascendancy of organized society over crime has been established beyond dispute.

We appeal to every patriotic citizen to observe the law. We appeal particularly to the press of America to lend their moral support to the prohibition law. We demand clear and definite declarations on the part of candidates and parties appealing to our constituency for their suffrage and urge the support of candidates who stand against the restoration of the liquor traffic in any form.

In the face of the most insidious propaganda ever directed against any policy of government, we call for a more aggressive and definite campaign of education in the interest of our common objective. Total abstinence must be stressed, the vital importance of law observance as basic to adequate law enforcement must be emphasized. There must be a revival of scientific temperance instruction in the public school. The pulpit, the Church School, the young people's societies and all other agencies of the Church must take an aggressive and constructive course of action. We must speedily get to the people the whole truth about the nature and effects of beverage alcohol, the truth about the real character and activities of the local, national, and international liquor traffic, and the truth about all methods tried or schemes proposed for the solution of the problem.

Permanency of prohibition in America requires international action, while the success of a world movement for sobriety depends upon the success of prohibition here. We, therefore, pledge to our brothers in other countries our fullest possible co-operation in the struggle against the international traffic which seeks not only to stem the tide of temperance advance in other lands, but also to undermine prohibition in America.

We urge upon our people everywhere increased support of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, which has a record of which we are justly proud, and to which Methodists everywhere should rally with increased enthusiasm and confidence. We recommend and endorse the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in its national and international leadership among women, the Anti-Saloon League, our approved agency for co-operation with other Churches and with temperance organizations in America for united effort against the common foe, and the World League Against Alcoholism, in which are federated the principal anti-liquor organizations in the several countries for international and interdenominational effort for temperance and reform. We rejoice in the present campaign of the Allied Forces for Prohibition, and to all temperance and prohibition agencies and movements, which are aggressively and effectively pressing for moral reform in America and abroad, we appeal for renewed activity and co-operative effort.

We face the issues before us with confidence and determination. We believe in the common sense of the people. We believe in the triumph of right. We believe in the hand of God in our national affairs. We appeal to Methodists everywhere so to live in conformity with the spirit of Christ that by their lives they may emphasize decency, sobriety and self-control, and that by their co-operative efforts they may help to create a social order free from the evils that inhere in the beverage liquor traffic.

Adopted, May 20.

Report No. 4. Habit-Forming Drugs

The Christian Church must ever be the protector of humanity against those customs and practices which tempt, debase and destroy. We should never be indifferent to those evils which disgrace and molest mankind. It is the mission of Christ's Church to help destroy these and to give to our nation and to the world the divine chance of becoming what Christian civilization ought to be. Only as human nature has the opportunity to attain its ideals can it approximate success. We view with alarm the distribution and sale of narcotic drugs in the United States and in other countries of the world. We call upon the forces of law in the United States for a more rigid enforcement of the laws against this traffic and urge our government to unite with those of other countries for an ultimate extermination of this evil.

Adopted, May 20.

Report No. 5. Social Instruction

We are convinced that upon Christian citizens devolves the sacred privilege of counteracting that pagan conception of life which puts a low estimate upon personality, fosters the vulgar and the obscene, develops the irreverent and the frivolous, encourages sensuality and vice, and forever tempts mankind to live on the plane of the animal. We call upon parents and leaders of young people, such as teachers in church schools, Epworth Leagues, Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A. and kindred organizations, to carefully instruct and guide our youth in their choices and decisions, and seek to bring them to a realization of the sacredness of the human body, calling their attention to that Pauline teaching, "Know ye not that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit." We urge them to keep themselves pure by abstaining from habit-forming drugs, including cigarettes and tobacco in any form; and we condemn the misleading advertising of these harmful and pernicious products.

Adopted, May 20.

Report No. 6. Administration of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals

A review of the work of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals for the past quadrennium gives evidence of exceeding care in the carrying out of its mission. The boundaries of its activities have been so closely defined that even the intense feeling of the campaign of 1928 resulted in no utterances or acts not fully protected by the constitutional right of free speech, free press and public assembly. A thorough investigation of the activities of the Board, at its own invitation, by a subcommittee of the Committee on Judiciary of the United States Senate disclosed absolutely nothing which could be used in substantiation of the charges of its enemies.

We must protest with all the vigor at our command against the systematic persecution to which eminent leaders have been subjected as the result of their faithful defense of prohibition in 1928. Unjustified allegations of crime, the rifling of private files, the skillful assassination of character by vicious propaganda constitute a challenge to right-thinking citizens, wet or dry.

We call attention of the Church to certain major activities of this Board:

"The Clipsheet" holding rigidly to educational standards, goes regularly to hundreds of newspapers all over the United States. Of this agent a leading newspaper has said, "In the interest of education, it is the ablest and most effective instrument for advertising a cause that comes our way."

The Voice reaches every Methodist pastor each month, giving a review of the news of Prohibition and other reforms, and furnishing a background for the public presentation of these great causes.

The Department for work among colored people, of which Dr. A. R. Howard is the Secretary, has secured total abstinence pledges from hundreds of thousands of colored school children as a fruit of its labors.

An increasing emphasis has been laid upon young people's work, and there is now a regular department having this work in charge.

In the general propaganda, the Board has held hundreds of meetings in churches, parks, streets, factories, and public halls.

The General Secretary, Dr. Clarence True Wilson, has spoken eleven hundred times during the quadrennium, participated in debates, addressed civil forums, and everywhere he has been where the fighting was heaviest.

Adopted, May 20.

Report No. 7. The Temperance and Prohibition Section of the Episcopal Address

Resolved, That the portion of the Episcopal Address to this General Conference, dealing with Temperance and Prohibition, be and hereby is made an official declaration of this General Conference on that important matter.

Adopted, May 20.

Report No. 8. Temperance Education

Your Committee on Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, having considered Memorials Nos. 573 and 674, recommends that we amend ¶ 521, § 7, Article VI, of the Discipline, as follows:

First: By striking out the word "annually" in line 3 thereof, and substituting in lieu thereof the word "Quarterly."

Second: By inserting after the word "collection," in line 4 thereof, and immediately preceding the word "which," in the same line, the following: "annually, on World Temperance Sunday if practicable so to do."

Third: By striking out the words "World Service Commission," at the end of the 5th line and the beginning of the 6th line thereof, and substituting in lieu thereof the words "World Service Commission as a designated gift."

Fourth: By inserting after the comma following the word "Temperance," in line 9 thereof, the following: "That a more vigorous campaign of temperance instruction be instituted among the youth of our Church Schools and Epworth Leagues by lectures, programs, and the proper distribution of literature so that they may know the truth relative to the undermining influence and effect of intoxicants upon the individual as well as upon society, and shall thereby be kept free from this deadly scourge which threatens not only our sacred human values, but also the very fabric of our government."

Fifth: By striking out the words "that temperance instruction be given" appearing in lines 9 and 10 thereof.

So that ¶ 521, § 7, VI, as amended, shall read:

"¶ 521, § 7, Article VI, It shall be the duty of Pastors, with the aid of the Committee on Temperance, to present quarterly to each congregation the cause of temperance, and to take a public collection annually, on World Temperance Sunday if practicable, which shall be paid to the World Service Commission as a designated gift.

"It shall be the duty of Pastors to see that each Church School is organized into a Board of Temperance, that a more vigorous campaign of temperance instruction be instituted among the youth of our Church Schools and Epworth Leagues by lectures, programs, and the proper distribution of literature so that they may know the truth relative to the undermining influence and effect of intoxicants upon the individual as well as upon Society, and shall thereby be kept free from this deadly scourge which threatens not only sacred human values but also the very fabric of our government. Pastors shall provide that, as far as possible, the members of the School and the young people within the reach of the Church shall be pledged to total abstinence. The District Superintendent at the fourth Quarterly Conference, shall inquire if these requirements have been observed."

Adopted, May 24.

Report No. 11. Reaffirmation of Faith in the Eighteenth Amendment

The Methodist Episcopal Church believes in National Prohibition. Experience with it vindicates the wisdom and vision of those who gave us the law. Its merits are not determined by a straw-vote referendum.

We believe in the will of the majority when it is expressed through the ballot box, but maintain that such will of the majority should be expressed in a legal and constitutional manner. We submit that the American people will never sanction violations of the principles, or deviations from the provisions of our Constitutional Government, whether it be to amend or repeal any part of our Constitution.

There is no authority in the Federal Constitution for a popular referendum. The Constitution itself would have to be amended in order to invest a general referendum with legal and political responsibility.

The clamor, therefore, for a referendum on the Eighteenth Amendment, when it is impossible to have a referendum, serves no good purpose, but only tends to confuse and debauch public opinion.

It required a hundred years to organize the temperance movement into law, municipal, state and national. The Eighteenth Amendment was put into the Constitution by Constitutional processes. It can be taken out in no other way. As a part of the supreme law of the land, it is binding upon every official of the Republic from the least to the greatest, to support it, and upon every citizen to obey it.

We reaffirm our faith in the Eighteenth Amendment; we are unalterably opposed to its repeal; and we pledge our unwavering support to every agency charged with the enforcement of it.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 12. Selection of Secretary

Your Committee has considered Memorials Nos. 855 and 894 and, inasmuch as we are now on the eve of a critical battle in defense of the Eighteenth Amendment and any action providing for a change of method for the selection of a General Secretary would be misrepresented by the wet press, we recommend non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 13. Gambling

In response to Memorials Nos. 201 and 664, your Committee submits the following:

A great menace to business integrity as well as to strong moral character is the widespread sin of gambling. It permeates all society. It is destructive of the interest of good government, breeds criminals and is a burden upon legitimate business. It is directly responsible for broken fortunes and homes, defalcations and suicides. In none of its forms is it a greater danger to organized society than in the form of stock gambling with the pyramiding of false values which crush the innocent in their fall and destroy true values without regard to the interests of the legitimate investor. Stock speculation in its various forms, the short selling of securities and market pool manipulations disturb the confidence of the people in the business structure and constitute a serious injustice to legitimate industry, commerce and finance, frequently depriving useful corporations and individuals of that access to credit which is essential to prosperity.

We believe that the Government should, insofar as law and its administration will permit, secure the restriction of credit to the purposes of sound business, denying it to the gambler. We call for the suppression of those places where gambling is tolerated, believing that in them crime and social difficulties originate and the integrity of government is undermined. We ask that our Christian leaders direct the attention of our people, especially the young, to the difference between the profits of honest toil and legitimate business, with adequate return for service rendered and goods exchanged, and the securing of something for nothing by the devices of chance.

Adopted, May 25.

XV. TEMPORAL ECONOMY

Report No. 1. Amend Constitution, ¶ 39, §5

Your Committee considering Memorial No. 46, dealing with the eligibility of lay delegates to the General Conference, reports non-concurrence.

Your Committee considering Memorial No. 107, which asks for annual official reports of Daily Vacation Bible Schools, votes non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 11. BARBARA HECK BICENTENARY

Your Committee on Temporal Economy, having considered Memorial No. 300, would report:

That we concur in the memorial of the Official Board of Old John Street Methodist Episcopal Church in New York City, N. Y., and that we request the General Conference of 1932 to appoint a Women's Bicentenary Commission to plan for a fitting commemoration by New York and world-wide Methodism in honor of the bicentenary of the birth of Barbara Heck, this commission to serve without expense to the General Conference.

Adopted, May 11.

REPORT NO. 12. CONTINUATION JASON LEE COMMISSION

Your Committee considering Memorial No. 244, which asks that the Jason Lee Commission be continued for another quad-rennium, votes non-concurrence because this action respecting the Commission is unnecessary.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

Report No. 13. Revision of Blanks for Quarterly Conference

Your Committee on Temporal Economy, having considered Memorial No. 443, respectfully requests the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church to appoint a Committee to revise and bring into such form as shall more nearly meet the needs of the Church to-day the forms used by the First and Fourth Quarterly Conferences. We request that this be done during the General Conference of 1932 and embodied in the new 1932 Discipline.

Your Committee recommends the adoption of this report and that it be referred to the Book Committee for incorporation into the proper blanks.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 14. Inactive Membership

Your Committee on Temporal Economy, having considered Memorials Nos. 39, 147, 152, 154, 368, 411 and 651 recommends that ¶ 58 of the Discipline be stricken out and that the following be substituted in lieu thereof:

"V. Inactive Membership.

"¶ 58, § 1. Inactive members resident and nonresident.

"(a) Resident:—When it is found that a member living in the community has, without sufficient reason, absented from the appointed means of grace for two consecutive years, and has failed to contribute to the support of the Gospel and the various benevolence enterprises of the Church, the name of such member, after personal, prayerful visitation and earnest effort by the pastor and membership committee has failed to arouse such member to the keeping of his vows, may, upon recommendation of the committee and the pastor, reporting on each case separately, and by vote of the Quarterly Conference, be recorded "Inactive."

"(b) Nonresident:—When a member has resided in another community for at least one year, and has manifested no interest in continuing his membership in the Church from which he has moved, either by visitation, correspondence, or contributions, the name of such member may be marked 'Inactive,' after ineffectual attempts have been made by correspondence or visitation to relate said member to a church in the community where he resides.

"(c) Inactive List:—The inactive list shall include the names of both resident and nonresident members as described in sub-sections (a) and (b). The names on the inactive list shall be included in the Annual Conference reports of full membership, but there shall be a separate column in which shall be reported the inactive members for examination in the making of apportionments.

"§ 2. Disposal of nonresident inactive members.

"(a) A nonresident member whose address is or is not known after three consecutive years of absence, shall no longer be counted in the statistical returns, and there shall be written after his name, 'Removed without certificate.' But, no name shall be so designated until the pastor and membership committee shall have made faithful effort to find and to relate said member to a church where he resides.

"(b) It shall be the duty of the pastor and the membership committee to call upon a member moving to a new community before his departure, if possible, and to ascertain his wishes as to his future church relations. In case a member moves without having arranged for his future church relationships, the pastor or membership committee shall, as soon as possible after the removal, address a notice to such member, together with a blank form for reply as follows: (see blanks 1 and 2).

"In like manner a notice shall be sent to a pastor near the place of residence of the member, together with return blank as follows: (see blanks 3 and 4)."

We recommend that necessary changes in other paragraphs of Discipline in keeping with the above be made as follows:

Amend ¶ 92, § 6, by striking out the word "Nonresident," so that the section as amended shall read:

"¶ 92, § 6. Inactive members shall not be reckoned in making apportionments."

Also amend ¶ 93 under "Full Members" by striking out:

"Number of Full Members now on the Roll, not including:

"Nonresident-Inactive Members.

"Number of Nonresident-Inactive Members."

and substitute therefor:

"Number of Full Members now on the Roll, not including:

"Inactive Members.

"Number of Inactive Members."

Also amend ¶ 113, § 2, by striking out Item 11, which reads—

"Members placed on Nonresident-Inactive List this year," and substituting therefor:

"Names of Members placed on Inactive List this year."

Also amend ¶ 113, § 2, Item 14, by striking out the word "Nonresident," so that the Item, as amended, shall read:

"14. Total Inactive Members."

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 15. Receiving Children as Members of the Church

Your Committee on Temporal Economy, having considered Memorial No. 484, recommends that ¶ 53 of the Discipline of 1928 be amended by striking out:

"on Doctrines and Discipline, as,"

so that the paragraph, as amended, shall read:

"¶ 53. Whenever baptized children shall understand the obligations of religion and shall give evidence of piety, they may be admitted into membership in the Church, on recommendation of the Official Board or the Leaders' and Stewards' Meeting, with the approval of the Pastor, after publicly assenting before the Church to the Baptismal Covenant and to the usual questions prescribed in the Ritual."

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 16. Annual Meeting in Local Church and Quarterly Conference

Your Committee on Temporal Economy, having considered Memorial No. 744, recommends that ¶ 369, § 1, be amended by inserting in the first line before the word, "There," the words, "When a Quarterly Conference so decides," and by inserting in the fifth line after the word, "absence," the words, "a traveling elder appointed by him or," so that ¶ 369, § 1, shall read:

"¶ 369, § 1. When a Quarterly Conference so decides there may be held annually in connection with the Quarterly Conference next preceding the Annual Conference a meeting of the members of the Pastoral Charge. The District Superintendent, or in his absence, a traveling elder appointed by him or the pastor, shall preside at this Annual Meeting."

Your Committee also recommends that ¶ 369, § 2, be stricken out and that the following be substituted therefor:

¶ 369, § 1. The regular business of the Annual Meeting shall be:

(1) To hear and approve the annual reports of organizations and activities of the Church.

(2) To elect, upon nomination of the Nominating Committee, Trustees of Church property according to ¶ 394. When the Quarterly Conference decides to refer the election of Trustees to the Annual Meeting a request of ten members mentioned in ¶ 394, § 2, shall not be required.

(3) To elect, upon nomination of the Nominating Committee, the Stewards for the ensuing year.

(4) To elect or approve other officers of the Church and its organizations as specified in ¶ 111, §§ 3 to 5.

(5) To elect, upon nomination of the Nominating Committee, such committees as the Annual Meeting or Quarterly Conference may direct.

(6) The Annual Meeting may also decide other questions in the order of business of the fourth Quarterly Conference if they are not properly referred to the Annual Meeting by a formal action of the Quarterly Conference, except the following:

1. ¶ 111, §§ 14 to 19, inclusive, regarding license to preach and the standing of local preachers, exhorters and deaconesses.

2. Purchase and sale of property.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 18. Benevolence Boards

Your Committee had assigned to it the following task—"To study the possibility of combining all Benevolence Boards into three Boards." We interpret this to mean three major Boards, or any merger that would reduce the present number of Boards.

In approaching this task the committee took into account the urgent request for a reduction in the number of Boards, and there was submitted to it for consideration to be used as an aid in arriving at some solution of this problem, sixteen memorials. These memorials in brief were of the following types:

Seven relating specifically to World Service and suggesting the following: Reorganization into three Boards, permitting the Board of Foreign Missions to make its own direct appeal; the appointment of a special commission to study the matter of administration and promoting and limiting the expense to 10% of the receipts; one limiting the expense of co-operative promotion to 6% of the total receipts; the World Service Commission report and a memorial revising the World Service Commission so as to reduce its size; to place all work outside the United States under the jurisdiction of the Foreign Board; and to divide the Board of Education into two Boards.

There were further memorials which, in part, affect our problem suggesting that all missionary education be the joint responsibility of three Boards, that there be created a Commission on Church Policy to study the matter of Church Boards and effect a revision; a memorial to reduce the number of Board Secretaries, set their salaries and eliminate duplication; a Memorial to consolidate the Home and Foreign Boards; one to set up a Commission on Benevolences to take the place of the World Service Commission; one urging the elimination from our benevolence appeal all organizations capable of securing self-support such as the Epworth League; and two protesting against combining the Board of Hospitals, Homes and Deaconess Work with any other Board. All these Memorials were, for the greater part, simply suggestions without setting up any definite plan of organization.

In the limited time the Committee has had at its disposal, and in using the information we could obtain, our approach to the problem was along the line of a study of each Board, taking into account its charter, articles of incorporation, investment in property, endowment funds, present financial status, its staff, purpose, type and field of service, keeping continually in mind matters of duplication and overlapping, with the thought that if a merger could be effected it should be for the purpose of economy without impairing efficiency.

Your Committee finds the six major Boards to have been incorporated in various States; two have charters, one of which is quite valuable and liberal, and all of which grant certain powers and outline the purpose of the organization. We found that any merger would present legal problems meaning changes in charter and articles of incorporation, and, in the case of the Board if merged, might mean the loss of said charter. We also found that in the case of certain types of work it did not seem to be possible to effect a merger and secure the desired results.

We considered very carefully combining Boards that, in our opinion, would permit a large, or even a small portion, of their work being carried on in conjunction with another Board.

After giving the matter a thorough consideration your Committee believes that for the reasons stated the merging of the present six Boards of Benevolences into three is not possible at this time and under present conditions. Your Committee is impressed with the fact that what is very often done in business to effect economies and increase efficiency is not so easy to accomplish with respect to Boards of the type under our consideration, which have been in existence for a great many years and some of which are rendering a highly specialized form of service.

We are of the opinion, however, that a more intensive and intimate study than is possible at this time should be given to all phases of this problem and that if this is done we believe there will result some economies and increased efficiency.

Your Committee unanimously recommend the following as a substitute for Article I of the World Service Commission report:

Article I—World Service Agencies.

¶ ?, § 1. Co-operating Constituent Boards.

In order the more effectively to conserve and advance the total missionary and benevolence program of the Church, there shall be the following units of service, otherwise called the Boards:

(1) Board of Foreign Missions;
(2) Board of Home Missions and Church Extension;
(3) Board of Education;
(4) Board of Pensions and Relief;
(5) Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals;
(6) Board of Hospitals, Homes and Deaconess Work;

(7) The responsibility of the Methodist Episcopal Church to the American Bible Society.

(The term "Board," as used in ¶ ?, shall include the American Bible Society in its relationship to the Methodist Episcopal Church.)

Adopted, May 18.

REPORT NO. 19. WORLD SERVICE COMMISSION AND BENEVOLENCE BOARDS

Your Committee on Temporal Economy, having considered Memorials relating to reorganization of the Benevolence Boards recommends the following legislative proposals touching the work of the Co-operative Constituent Boards of Benevolence of the Methodist Episcopal Church:

ARTICLE I. BENEVOLENCE BOARDS

¶?, § 1. Co-operating Constituent Boards

In order the more effectively to conserve and advance the total missionary and benevolence program of the Church, there shall be the following units of service, otherwise called the Boards:

(1) Board of Foreign Missions;
(2) Board of Home Missions and Church Extension;
(3) Board of Education;
(4) Board of Pensions and Relief;
(5) Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals;
(6) Board of Hospitals, Homes and Deaconess Work;
(7) The responsibility of the Methodist Episcopal Church to the American Bible Society.

(The term "Board," as used in ¶ ?, shall include the American Bible Society in its relation to the Methodist Episcopal Church.)

§ 2. Promotion

The Constituent Boards, through their Executive Secretaries, shall jointly co-operate in the education and enlistment of the Church in its total Benevolence work in such manner and by such methods as said Boards shall deem most effective; provided that no separate promotional organization shall be maintained, but the Boards may provide for joint promotion to be directed by one of the Executive Secretaries of the Constituent Boards.

The Constituent Boards, severally and jointly, shall have regard to the fiscal years of the various Annual Conferences in the enlistment of the Church, and in the financial reports of the various Annual Conferences. They shall operate, as they may plan, through the regularly constituted officials, including Bishops, District Superintendents and Pastors; and shall promote and encourage the organization of World Service Councils in every Episcopal Area, Conference, District and Local Church.

ARTICLE II. WORLD SERVICE COMMISSION

¶ ?, § 1. Composition and Election.

There shall be a World Service Commission elected by the General Conference for the Quadrennium, and composed as follows: One member from each Episcopal Area in the United States, nominated by the Bishops so that ministers and laymen shall be in equal numbers. In case this method results in an uneven number, they shall make an additional nomination to effect parity. The Bishops shall also nominate for election by the General Conference, two of their number to serve on the Commission. When vacancies occur during the Quadrennium they shall be filled by the Bishops from the Areas in which the vacancy occurs, or in case of a Bishop from their number.

As advisory members there shall be one representative each from the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, to be chosen by their respective organizations; together with one Executive Secretary from each of the Benevolence Boards of the Church.

With the exception of the Bishops, no member of the Commission shall be a member of any of the Constituent Boards, or be employed in an administrative capacity by an institution or agency receiving financial support from a Constituent Board. The advisory members shall have the privilege of the floor, but shall not have power to vote or to make a motion.

§ 2. Officers

The officers of the Commission shall be a President, a Vice-President, a Recording Secretary, and a Treasurer. The President, Vice-President and Recording Secretary shall be elected annually by the Commission from its own membership; their duties shall be such as are usually connected with these offices.

The Treasurer, who may be the Treasurer of one of the Constituent Boards, shall be elected quadrennially by the Commission, and he shall be an advisory member of the same. His duties shall be such as are usually connected with this office; and he shall administer the Central Treasury, and receive and distribute all World Service funds to the several Boards under the direction of the Commission. The Commission shall create such committees as it may find necessary.

§ 3. Meetings

The Commission shall meet annually at such time and place as it may determine. Special meetings may be called by the President, and shall be called upon the request of one-fourth of the members of the Commission.

§ 4. Authority and Functions

The Commission shall:

1. Determine what projects and activities should be included by the Church as a whole in its benevolence and missionary program.

2. Fix the total budget askings for the Constituent Boards.

3. Fix the plan and ratios for the division of funds and determine all questions involved in designated and undesignated gifts.

4. Provide out of undesignated moneys for the relief of any Board which, through shortage of income, is suffering hardship.

5. Maintain a Central Treasury which shall receive all World Service funds in cash or vouchers and distribute them to the several Boards according to designation or according to the ratios established by the Commission.

6. Determine questions of policy in which the several Boards do not come to agreement, and decide on all complaints from the contributing field.

7. Aid in standardizing annuity rates and formulating policies for the writing of annuities by institutions or agencies operating under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

8. Receive, take title to, sell, dispose of, or hold absolutely or in trust, property, real and personal, for the benefit of the General Benevolences of the Church and for distribution thereto.

9. Present to the next General Conference a report of its activities, with recommendations.

§ 5. Budgets and Askings

1. The Commission, after hearing the full presentation by the several Boards of the needs of the field and estimated costs of administration, shall determine the amount to be asked of the Church for the support of the general Benevolences for each ensuing year, listing the askings separately for each Constituent Board.

The Commission shall then, by the most equitable method that it can devise, allocate the proportionate shares of this total of askings for General Benevolences to the respective Areas, Conferences, Districts and Charges. Such share to each charge shall be preserved as a separate and distinct amount free from combination and confusion with apportionments for other causes and so presented to the Pastor and through him to his Charge.

2. The Bishops in their Area, the District Superintendents in their Districts and the Pastors in their Charges, with the co-operation of the Boards, shall encourage the Churches to make their benevolence budgets on the basis of the General

Benevolence askings and to provide their proportionate amounts of the total benevolence budget of the whole Church.

§ 6. Remittances

All moneys collected for General Benevolences in the Pastoral Charge shall be remitted monthly to the Central Treasury.

§ 7. Gifts and Credits

1. World Service credit shall be given to the Pastoral Charge, unless otherwise requested by the donor, and vouchers shall be issued for any moneys received for any of the constituent Boards or institutions under their direction, for any objects included within the program of the Boards approved by the World Service Commission. However, such vouchers shall not be given for bequests, estate notes, gifts to permanent funds, emergency relief appeals, as, for example, for flood and famine sufferers, or gifts subject to annuity contracts, but honor vouchers may be issued for moneys so received.

2. When a Bishop or any general officer or any representative of any Constituent Board or of any project or institution under the direction of any Board shall receive money for the support of the work of such Board from any member or constituent or any Pastoral Charge, he shall be required to account for the gift to such Board or to the Treasurer of the Commission, and shall issue a receipt for the amount to the donor, or the donor's Pastor, and when the amount shall have been duly accredited by the Board or the Treasurer of the Commission, a voucher may be issued to the Pastoral Charge.

3. All appeals for and all collection of funds, by representatives of the Boards for work of the Boards, shall be for objects specifically included in the budget of askings of such Boards approved by the Commission. Annual Conferences shall not unite appeals for Conference causes with those for General Benevolences. These provisions shall not apply to solicitations for bequests, estate notes and annuity contracts, nor to emergency relief appeals as, for example, for flood and famine sufferers for which honor vouchers may be given.

4. Churches, individuals or groups may designate their gifts to the work of any Board or to one or more projects or types of work under the direction of any Board which have been included in the program of the Boards as approved by the Commission, provided such designation is made prior to the subscription of the gift. Such gifts shall be applied by the Board receiving them to the work to which they have been designated and shall not be charged as a part of the ratio share of the Board or Boards receiving them in the distributable General Benevolence Funds.

The Constituent Boards are urged to give special emphasis to the support of the General Benevolence program of the Church to the end that the important recurring items in the programs of the Boards may be steadily maintained.

5. The Minutes of the Annual Conferences shall provide columns for reporting from each charge the total distributable receipts and also columns for the designated amounts received by the several Constituent Boards for which World Service credit is given.

§ 8. Expenses

The expenses of the Commission and of the Central Treasury shall be paid out of General Benevolence receipts.

ARTICLE III. LOCAL ORGANIZATION

¶ ?, § 1. World Service Councils

A—There shall be a World Service Council or Committee on Benevolence in the Pastoral Charge, which shall be constituted in harmony with the Disciplinary financial plan, ¶ 114, §§ 1 and 4.

B—There shall be a World Service Council in each District to be constituted as the World Service Commission may advise or the District may determine. In the District Council, ministers and laymen shall be represented in equal numbers.

C—There shall be a World Service Area Council in each Area of the United States, consisting of the Resident Bishop, District Superintendents, members of the World Service Commission resident within the Area, one minister, and one layman from each District, and such other Area representatives as may be nominated by the Bishop and District Superintendents and approved by the Area Council. The ministers shall be elected annually by the Conferences or Districts which they represent; provided, however, that in the interest of economy in the very extensive Areas such reduced representation may be formed as may be agreed upon by the Bishop and the District Superintendents of the Area. The laymen shall be elected annually by the Lay Conference, or in such manner as may be locally determined, pending which election the resident Bishop may appoint members of the Area Council.

§ 2. In Fields Outside the United States

In territories that have a Central Conference, authorization is given to create a Central Conference World Service Council. Such Council shall consist of the Bishop or Bishops, resident in the territory concerned, and at least five other members chosen in such manner as the Central Conference shall determine.

§ 3. Expenses

All expenses of the Area World Service Councils shall be provided for by the respective Areas.

§ 4. Area Secretary for World Service

Each Area shall determine whether it desires an Area Secretary for World Service, and if one is desired, he shall be supported by the Area in such manner as it may desire except that World Service funds shall not be used for the purpose.

Adopted, May 23.

REPORT NO. 20. CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Your Committee, considering proposition II of Memorial No. 175, seeking to remove Article X, ¶ 46, § 1, Discipline, 1928, reports non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 23. CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Your Committee, considering proposition V of Memorial No. 175, re Removing the Articles of Religion and the General Rules from the Constitution, reports non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 24. REPRESENTATION IN THE GENERAL CONFERENCE

Your Committee, having considered Memorials Nos. 470, 426, 74, 93, 334, 374, 692, and 247, recommends that the ratio of representation of Annual Conferences in the General Conference be fixed at sixty under the authority of Division III, Chapter II, Article II, ¶ 38, § 1, of the Discipline of 1928.

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 27. GENERAL CONFERENCE ADVISORY MEMBERS

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 420, providing for General Conference Advisory Members, recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 28. NOMINATION AND ELECTION OF PUBLISHING AGENTS, EDITORS AND CERTAIN CORRESPONDING SECRETARIES

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 439, asking that the present method of nominating General Conference officials be altered, recommends non-concurrence.

Received and Recorded, May 25.

REPORT NO. 29. BUILDING OR REMODELING CHURCH PROPERTY

Your Committee has considered Memorials Nos. 170, 396, 405, 15, 286, 840 and 743 concerning Building and Remodeling Church Property and recommends in place of ¶ 405 of the Discipline of 1928, reading as follows:

"¶ 405, § 1. Let all our churches be plain and decent, and with free seats wherever practicable; and not more expensive than is absolutely unavoidable.

"§ 2. In order more effectually to prevent our people from contracting debts which they are not able to discharge, it shall be the duty of the Quarterly Conference of every Charge where it is contemplated to build a house or houses of worship, to secure the ground or lot on which such house or houses are to be built, according to our Deed of Settlement, which Deed must be legally executed; and said Quarterly Conference, upon nomination of the Pastor, shall appoint a judicious Committee of not less than three nor more than seven members of our Church, who shall form an estimate of the amount necessary to build; and one half of the money required, according to such estimate, shall be secured or subscribed before any such building shall be commenced."

the following be substituted:

"¶ 405, § 1. Let our church buildings be designed in keeping with the lofty purpose of providing for divine worship, for the administration of the Holy Sacraments and be suited to the ministries of preaching, religious education, and Christian fellowship and service. Funds devoted to the erection and equipment of church property should be most judiciously and effectively administered and building projects should become religious and spiritual advances in the life of the congregation.

"§ 2. Wherever it is contemplated to build or remodel property for church or parsonage purposes it shall be the duty of the Quarterly Conference:

"1. To have the property, whether land, or land and building, acquired and held if possible by an absolute title, fee simple, legally executed. See ¶ 401.

"2. To secure the written consent of the District Superintendent and of the Resident Bishop to such enterprise.

"3. To appoint a judicious committee of not less than three or more than seven members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who shall form an estimate of the amount necessary to build or remodel.

"4. To require that one half of the said estimate shall be secured before construction is begun.

"§ 3. Before any new or remodeled property shall be dedicated, there shall have been secured in cash or its equivalent sixty-five per cent of the cost of land, building, furnishings and fixtures, and the remainder shall have been covered by good subscriptions.

"§ 4. Whenever a church shall incur indebtedness contrary to or in disregard of this Paragraph, it shall be ineligible to receive aid from the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension."

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 30. Episcopal and Other Residences

Your Committee, having considered Memorials Nos. 647 and 649 from the Bishops, also Memorial No. 780, recommends that the present ¶ 412 be stricken out and the following paragraph be substituted:

"¶ 412, § 1. In case an Episcopal Area wishes to secure a Residence for the Resident Bishop, it is recommended that the property shall be held in trust by the Trustees of the Annual Conference within which the Residence is located, but the purchase price and maintenance costs shall be equitably distributed by the Trustees among the several Conferences in the Area.

"§ 2. In case a District wishes to secure a residence for its District Superintendent it is recommended that the property shall be held in trust by the Trustees of the Annual Conference.

"§ 3. Whenever the Trustees of an Annual Conference are requested to hold in trust property for Area or District Parsonages, the declaration of trust shall clearly set forth the interest of donors, and disposition of property when the trust shall terminate and make proper provision for management, control and maintenance of the property.

"§ 4. It is recommended that in every Pastoral Charge a lot of ground shall be purchased, a parsonage be built thereon and that the parsonage shall be provided with at least the heavy pieces of furniture."

Your Committee further recommends that ¶ 413, of the Discipline of 1928 become § 5 of ¶ 412.

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 31. TRANSFER OF PROPERTY OF MERGING CHARGES

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 648, from the Bishops, recommends that ¶ 411, as now written, become ¶ 411, § 1, and that § 2 be added, as follows:

"¶ 411, § 2. Whenever any Church or Parsonage property be not needed for worship or residence on account of a merger of non-English speaking Conferences or Churches with English-speaking Conferences or Churches, if the civil laws permit, the Trustees of the Annual Conference within whose bounds said property lies may, on vote of the Conference, sell said property and use the proceeds of the sale for the benefit of the Conference Claimants of the Conference."

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 32. CHANGING OFFICE TO ORDER

Your Committee on Temporal Economy, having considered Memorial No. 857, recommends:

That the word "order" be substituted for the word "office" in the third, fifth and sixth lines of ¶ 183 of the Discipline of 1928, so that said paragraph, as amended, shall read as follows:

"¶ 183. When a preacher shall have passed his examination, and shall have been admitted into Full Membership, and elected to the Order of Deacon, but fails of his Ordination through the absence of the Bishop, his eligibility to the Order of Elder shall count from the time of his election to the Order of Deacon."

Also, amend ¶ 184, of the Discipline of 1928, by substituting the word "order" for the word "office" in the third line, so that the paragraph, as amended, shall read as follows:

"¶ 184. The Annual Conferences in India are authorized, with the concurrence of the Bishop presiding, to elect to the Order of Deacon or Elder, Local Preachers who have been engaged in the regular work for two years, or four years, respectively."

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 34. LAY ELECTION AND OTHER LAY ACTIVITIES

Your Committee, having considered Memorials Nos. 92, 245, 421, 423, 457, 633, 662, 856, 871, relating to the meeting of Lay Conferences with the Annual Conferences, and other matters referred to the Committee by the General Conference, makes the following recommendations:

Amend Part II, Chapter III, as follows: Strike out the word "Electoral" in the title so that it shall read:

"LAY CONFERENCES"

Change the sub-title "I. Election of Delegates" by striking out the word "Delegates" and substitute the words "Lay Members" so that it shall read:

"I. ELECTION OF LAY MEMBERS"

Repeal § 1, ¶ 95, and substitute therefor the following:

"¶ 95, § 1. The first, second, or third Quarterly Conference of each Charge shall appoint one Judge of Election and two Tellers, who shall constitute the Election Board of the Charge; provided the said Charge be composed of but one Church. The Election Board shall fix the time and place for holding an election for one Lay Member and one Reserve Lay Member in accordance with the provisions of Division III, Chapter I, Article IV, ¶ 37 of the Constitution of the Church. The Election Board may also provide for a meeting of the members of the Church previous to the time of election for the purpose of nominating by ballot candidates for Member and Reserve Member of the Lay Conference."

Amend ¶ 95, § 2, by employing the term "a majority vote" for the term "the highest number of votes," wherever the latter term appears.

Amend ¶ 95, § 3, by adding at its close the following:

"In case of a tie vote the Quarterly Conference shall cast the deciding vote determining the election."

§ 4 of the said paragraph remains unchanged. Repeal § 5, ¶ 95, and substitute therefor the following:

"¶ 95, § 5. The Secretary of the fourth Quarterly Conference shall certify the result of the ballot without delay to the Secretary of the preceding Lay Conference, or to any other person designated by said Conference to prepare the roll for the ensuing Lay Conference. Said certificate shall contain the name of the Lay Member and of the Reserve Lay Member elected, the post office of each and the name of the District and Pastoral Charge."

In order further to put into effect the provisions of the Constitution for the participation of Laymen in the Annual Conferences, add to Division II, Chapter III, the following sub-division, numbering the paragraph 96, and naming the sub-title:

"II. MEETINGS OF THE LAY CONFERENCE" the entire paragraph reading as follows:

"¶ 96, § 1. The Lay Conference shall meet annually at the seat of the Annual Conference, and shall organize by electing a President, a Secretary, and a Treasurer; shall adopt its own rules of order, and shall be the judge of the election, returns, and qualifications of its own Members.

"§ 2. The members of the Lay Conference shall meet with the members of the Annual Conference, with equal rights and privileges, on the first two days of each session of the Annual Conference, unless otherwise agreed to by the two Conferences, or by their officers, for the transaction of all business other than those matters reserved to either body by the provisions of the Constitution.

"§ 3. The meetings of the members of the Lay Conference with the members of the Annual Conference shall be known as the United Sessions of the Lay and Annual Conferences, and the officers of the Annual Conference shall be, ex-officio, the officers of the United Sessions."

Change the number of the present ¶ 96 to be ¶ 97, and change the title "II. Laymen's Associations" so that it shall read:

"III. LAY ACTIVITIES"

"¶ 97, § 1. There may be organized a General Conference Laymen's Association of the Methodist Episcopal Church which may be assembled at the seat of the General Conference or elsewhere in the interim of the General Conference Sessions.

"§ 2. There may be organized in each Annual Conference a Conference Brotherhood, Junior Laymen, or similar organization for the purpose of cultivating a more effective participation of men in the total activities of the Church.

"§ 3. There may also be organized in each Annual Conference a federation of women's societies or similar organization for the purpose of advancing local and Conference work among women."

Amend ¶ 83, title "III. Order of business." (After the separate organization of the Annual and Lay Conferences has been made, they shall assemble in a United Session with this suggested order of procedure: (1) the Holy Communion; (2) the reports of the District Superintendents; (3) the regular order of business.)

Amend ¶ 81 to read as follows:

¶ 81. A—The business of the United Session of the Annual and Lay Conferences is to inquire:

§ 1. Who are the members of the Lay Conference present, and who are its officers?

§ 2. (a) Is the Annual Conference incorporated according to the requirement of the Discipline? (¶ 75, § 1.)

(b) What officers and persons holding moneys, funds, etc., are bonded, and in what amounts according to the requirement of the Discipline?

§ 3. What are the Statistical and Financial Reports for the year?

(a) From the Statistician.

(b) From the Treasurer.

(c) Other Items.

§ 4. What are the Items and Aggregate of General Conference Benevolences apportioned to this Conference and approved by this body for the ensuing year?

§ 5. What Reports and Exhibits are presented by Conference Boards and Institutions?

§ 6. What are the Items and Aggregate of Annual Conference Benevolences approved by this body for the ensuing year?

§ 7. What Approved Financial Campaigns are to be carried on in this Conference during the ensuing year, and for what amounts?

§ 8. Is there a Conference Sustentation Fund Society and what is its report?

§ 9. What are the approved Claims for the Support of District Superintendents, Bishops, and Conference Claimants for the ensuing year?

§ 10. What shall be the Evangelistic and Religious Educational Plan for the ensuing year?

§ 11. What Standing Committees shall be appointed by this body?

§ 12. Where shall the next Conference be held?

§ 13. What other items of business shall be considered by this United Session?

B—The business of the Annual Conference is to inquire: (Here will follow §§ 2 to 28, inclusive, and 38, and 39, ¶ 81, as now printed in the Discipline, but which shall be renumbered as §§ 14 to 42, inclusive.)

Amend ¶ 79 by inserting in the second line, after the words "Annual Conference" the words "and in the United Session of Annual and Lay Conferences," so that, as amended, the paragraph shall read:

"¶ 79. A Bishop shall preside in the Annual Conference and in the United Session of the Annual and Lay Conferences." (The rest of the paragraph to remain unchanged.)

Amend also ¶ 80, § 1, by inserting after the words "Annual Conference" in the second line the words "and of the United Session of the Annual and Lay Conferences," so that the said section, as amended, shall read:

"¶ 80, § 1. A Journal recording the proceedings of each Annual Conference and of each United Session of the Annual and Lay Conferences, etc., the rest of the section to remain as in the Discipline of 1928."

Amend § 2 of said paragraph, sub-section (1) I. which now reads "Officers of the Conference" so that it shall read as follows:

"I. Officers

(a) Of the Annual Conference.

(b) Of the Lay Conference."

Amend further ¶ 80, § 2, which reads, "IV. Disciplinary Questions" by adding thereto sub-divisions as follows:

"(A) Of the United Sessions of the Annual and Lay Conferences.

"(B) Of the Annual Conference."

So that, as thus amended, it shall read:

"IV. Disciplinary Questions:

"(A) Of the United Sessions of the Annual and Lay Conferences.

"(B) Of the Annual Conference."

Amend still further ¶ 80, § 2, sub-section (1), (d), by striking out the word "Association" and substituting therefor the word "Conferences," so that, as thus amended, it shall read:

(d) Lay Conferences.

SUPPLEMENTARY RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, Pastoral Charges of Annual Conferences which are to meet before January 1, 1933, may not have sufficient time to avail themselves of the right to elect representatives to said Lay Conference, as provided for in the legislation; therefore,

Resolved, That this General Conference recommend that delegates to the last Lay Electoral Conference from such Charges be recognized as Members of said Lay Conferences until representatives may be chosen in the regular way. But where provisional Lay Members have already been chosen, they shall be accredited until their successors are elected as provided for in the legislation.

Adopted, May 24.

REPORT NO. 35. ECUMENICAL METHODIST CONFERENCE COMMISSION

The report of the Sixth Ecumenical Methodist Conference Commission was referred to your Committee on Temporal Economy.

We note with great satisfaction the extent of interest and scope of matters discussed in that Conference. We note with pleasure the proposal to carry on an extension of that work during the decade.

It is worthy of note that the expenses of the Commission from the Methodist Episcopal Church for the quadrennium amounted to only $417.09, which is less than twenty-five per cent of the amount authorized, and have been paid from the General Conference Expense Fund, as authorized.

The Commission offers the following recommendation:

1. That you approve the actions taken by the Commission.

2. That you approve the appointment of Bishop F. D. Leete, Bishop Herbert Welch, Bishop A. W. Leonard, George W. Dixon, James R. Joy, Elmer L. Kidney, M. S. Davage, Mrs. H. E. Woolever, Mrs. Frederick C. Reynolds, E. D. Soper, Frank Kingdon, Merle N. Smith, F. C Eiselen, John R. Edwards, Daniel L. Marsh and Richard C. Raines as the Methodist Episcopal representatives in the Ecumenical Methodist Council; and

3. That you authorize the Treasurer of the General Conference Expense Fund to pay the secretarial expense and the expenses of such members, incurred in the discharge of their duties, and certified by proper vouchers, to an aggregate amount not exceeding $500 in each year of the quadrennium 1932-1936.

Your Committee on Temporal Economy recommends the hearty approval of the actions of our Commission and also recommends the allowance of this maximum expense for the succeeding quadrennium.

We take satisfaction in the report that it was the general verdict of British and American delegates alike that the Sixth Ecumenical Conference, in the breadth and timeliness of its program, the personnel of its speakers, and the strength of its deliverances, was the most successful of the series initiated in 1881.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 36. Federation of Ladies' Aid Societies

Your Committee, having considered Memorials Nos. 30 and 703, recommends the amendment of the Discipline of 1928 as follows:

Add to ¶ 426 an additional section to be known as § 5, to read:

"¶ 426, § 5. There may be organized, in any Annual Conference, a Conference and District Federation of Ladies' Aid Societies, Women's Association, or similar organization, for the purpose of advancing a program of local Church and Conference work among women."

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 37. Financial Policy of the Methodist Episcopal Church

Your Committee, in consideration of Memorial No. 846, which is the pronouncement of the Committee of Twenty-one raised to consider the whole question of debts of various organizations of the Methodist Episcopal Church, recommends the following resolution:

"The Methodist Episcopal Church is determined to meet her various financial obligations. The good name and credit of Methodism must be preserved in the future as it has been in the past. It is our profound conviction that our energies and resources must first be devoted to the discharge of present financial obligations before undertaking any new enterprises dependent upon the generosity and support of members of the Methodist Episcopal Church."

Your Committee further recommends that this resolution be presented for adoption to every Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church and that it be placed in the Appendix of the 1932 Discipline.

W. B. FARMER, Chairman;
A. CLAY DARLING, Secretary.

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 38. BOARD OF FINANCIAL REVIEW

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 846, recommends that following ¶ 404 there be inserted in the Discipline a new paragraph bearing the title "Board of Financial Review," to read:

"¶ ?, § 1. Each Annual and Lay Conference may establish a Board of Financial Review to consist of the several District Superintendents and two Ministerial members and two Lay members, none of whom shall be employed officials of any philanthropic or educational agency within the bounds of the Conference.

"§ 2. The Board of Financial Review shall study the financial condition and the policies of such institutions within the Conference which shall seek financial aid from the Pastoral Charges of the Conference.

"§ 3. This Board shall be consulted by each institution before launching a financial campaign, incurring bonded indebtedness, receiving gifts or investments on the basis of annuity contracts and shall be given detailed information in order that the Board may report to the Annual and Lay Conferences with recommendations."

Your Committee also recommends that under "Powers and Duties" of the Annual Conference there be inserted a new paragraph after ¶ 85, to read:

"¶ ?. Each Annual Conference may establish a Board of Financial Review, whose powers and duties are set forth in ¶ ?."

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 39. FOREIGN-LANGUAGE CONFERENCES

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 507, recommends that ¶ 571 of the 1924 Discipline, § 6, Fifth Recommendation, be amended by adding the following words: "When a local Church, supporting a Pastor or a group of local Churches comprising a pastoral charge and supporting a Pastor, is transferred to the jurisdiction of an English-speaking Conference, the Member from said foreign-language Conference shall also be transferred to the same English-speaking Conference and all liability for annuities on account of service in the Effective Relation rendered prior to such transfer shall rest with the Annual Conference to which the Member is being transferred," so that the Fifth Recommendation, as amended, shall read:

"Fifth, that any local Church or Mission Center, located in a foreign-language Conference, Mission Conference, or Mission in the United States of America, may be transferred to the jurisdiction of the English-speaking Conference within whose geographical territory it is located when two thirds of the membership of such Church or Mission Center, twenty-one years of age or over, take action favorable to such transfer in a meeting called for this purpose by the Quarterly Conference; and when the Bishops having jurisdiction concur, the Church or Mission Center and its property shall be transferred. Property adjustments shall be made in accordance with the provision of the Discipline now in force. If, however, the Bishops fail to concur, the matter shall be referred to the Board of Bishops for action. When a local Church, supporting a Pastor in the Effective Relation, or a group of local Churches comprising a pastoral charge and supporting a Pastor is transferred to the jurisdiction of an English-speaking Conference, the Member from said foreign-language Conference shall also be transferred to the same English-speaking Conference, and all liability for annuities on account of service in the Effective Relation rendered prior to such transfer shall rest with the Annual Conference to which the Member is being transferred."

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 41. RELATION OF THE JAPAN MISSION COUNCIL TO THE GENERAL CONFERENCE

Your Committee on Temporal Economy, having considered Memorial No. 953, recommends the adoption of the following resolution:

WHEREAS, The development within the past quadrennium of national Methodist Churches in Korea and Mexico has brought to the consideration of the General Conference the matter of the relation of missionaries in those countries to this General Conference, and their representation in that body; and

WHEREAS, The Commission on the Korean Church has, in its report, made certain suggestions as to legislation upon these matters;

We respectfully memorialize the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, requesting that such rights of representation as shall be accorded to the Methodist Episcopal Missionaries in Korea, shall similarly be accorded to the Methodist Episcopal Missionaries in Japan, as organized in the Japan Mission Council.

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 42. RECOGNITION OF OLD SAINT GEORGE CHURCH

Your Committee, having considered Memorials Nos. 666 and 681, recommends the adoption of the following resolution:

"WHEREAS, The Saint George Methodist Episcopal Church, built in 1763, in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, is the oldest church building in the world that has been continuously used by the Methodist Episcopal Church; and

"WHEREAS, The first Methodist Conference in America was held there July 14, 1773; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That this General Conference recognize Old Saint George Church as a landmark of Methodism in America and authorize its dedication to Almighty God and in memory of Captain Webb, Francis Asbury and other fathers and leaders of early Methodism."

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 43. BOARD OF CHURCH LOCATION

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 323, recommends that in place of ¶ 404, the following be substituted:

"¶ 404, § 1. There shall be in each District of an Annual Conference a Board of Church Location, consisting of the District Superintendent, three ministers and three laymen, nominated by the District Superintendent and elected by the Annual and Lay Conference.

"§ 2. Whenever a Quarterly Conference, City or Rural Missionary Society, having the approval of District Superintendent and Resident Bishop, proposes to select a new church or parsonage site, or to build or extensively remodel church or parsonage property, the proposition shall be referred to the Board of Church Location before committing the respective organizations to the undertaking.

"§ 3. It shall be the duty of this Board to study carefully the entire situation in relation to the said undertaking, to consider its financial soundness, and to report its conclusions as to the feasibility of the enterprise, to the Quarterly Conference or Missionary Society which proposes said selection, building or remodeling.

"§ 4. The decision of this Board, unless overruled by an Annual and Lay Conference, shall be final and any church which disregards it shall be ineligible to receive aid from the Conference, the City or Rural Missionary Society, or from the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension.

"§ 5. The Quarterly Conference, in case of an adverse decision by this Board, shall have the right to appeal to the Annual and Lay Conference, and shall be entitled to a review of financial considerations by the Board of Financial Review, which shall report on the same to the Annual and Lay Conference."

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 44. REPORT WORLD SERVICE COMMISSION

Your Committee on Temporal Economy, to which was referred The Quadrennial Report of the World Service Commission to the General Conference of 1932, recommends:

1. That the General Conference approve the portion of the report which constitutes a review of the activities of the World Service Commission for the quadrennium now closing.

2. That the Conference adopt the recommendations of the World Service Commission on Christian Stewardship, as follows:

"In order that Christian Stewardship be separated as far as possible from money-raising activities and that a more unhindered emphasis be given to education in its deeper social and spiritual phases, the World Service Commission shall assign to any one of the existing agencies of the Church, or to an agency specially created for the purpose, the task of carrying out a program of education in Christian Stewardship during the quadrennium in accord with the principles and practices of Christian Stewardship as outlined in ¶ 73 of the Discipline."

3. That the Conference adopt the recommendation of the World Service Commission on missionary education, as follows: "That the promotion of missionary education be referred jointly to the Board of Foreign Missions, the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension and the Board of Education, and that these Boards be charged with the responsibility for promotion of this great cause."

The Committee would further report that it has carefully considered the legislative proposals submitted by the World Service Commission in its quadrennial report to the General Conference and has made extensive use of said proposals in its report, No. 19, on Benevolence Boards (see The Daily Christian Advocate, page 387).

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 45. Commission to Study Whole Benevolence and Connectional Program

Your Committee, having given consideration to the resolutions presented to the General Conference and referred to the Committee on Temporal Economy, with reference to the study of the functions and organization of the supervisional agencies and Benevolence Boards of our Church, recommends the following report:

First, with reference to the recommendation offered by Ray Allen and others suggesting a study of the work and efficiency of the Benevolence Boards of the Church, with the thought of immediate reorganization of these agencies, we call attention to Report No. 18 of the Committee on Temporal Economy as best expressing our own thought on that matter.

Concerning the resolution offered by J. M. Walker and others and the various memorials presented regarding a study during the coming quadrennium of the total supervisional and connectional agencies of the Church, we offer the following resolution for your consideration:

WHEREAS, It is apparent that the Methodist Episcopal Church stands to-day on the threshold of new and hitherto unprecedented opportunities for evangelization and service; and

WHEREAS, Many even among the leaders of our Church are inquiring as to whether or not the objectives of the Church are sufficiently clearly defined and our Church organization so geared to the tasks before us as to enable us adequately to meet the challenge of this modern world;

We therefore recommend to the General Conference that there be raised a commission consisting of two Bishops and fifteen other persons, ministers and laymen, appointed by the Board of Bishops representative of the various interests of the Church, to arrange for a sympathetic and disinterested study of the total supervisional, connectional and promotional agencies of the Church, their policies, programs and efficiency.

We further recommend that this Commission present an appeal to some great foundation of research for the necessary expert assistance to carry through such a survey.

In the event of failure to secure the aid of an independent research foundation, we recommend that the General Conference Expense Fund make available an amount not to exceed $10,000 for the quadrennium for the work of the Commission and that in addition the Commission be authorized to solicit from individuals in the church and the agencies interested funds for this study.

We recommend further that the members of this Commission be authorized to associate with themselves from time to time, in an advisory capacity, such representatives of the agencies to be studied as they may deem wise, and that the various agencies concerned shall be directed to co-operate to the fullest extent necessary to the completion of the survey.

We recommend further that this Commission be authorized to co-operate to the fullest extent with similar commissions or agencies of other branches of Methodism and other denominational branches of the Christian Church, and the members of the Ecumenical Methodist Council from our own Church.

We further recommend that the Commission report its activities to the mid-quadrennial meeting of the Bishops and to the annual meetings of the World Service Commission and present to the Church through its press the final report of its findings and recommendations at least six months prior to the General Conference of 1936.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 46. Favoring Church Unions in Southern Asia

After consideration of Memorial No. 256, your Committee recommends approval and endorsement of the declaration of the recent session of the Central Conference of Southern Asia in favor of removing the difficulties in organization that prevent approach toward union into one Church of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Southern Asia, the present United Church of North India and the Baptist Churches in India that are in association with the Baptist Missionary Society in England, and endorses the proposal of a Joint Committee of these Churches, to hold, in India, a Joint Commission, our representatives to be appointed by the Bishops, to consider proposals for a United Church, and its relation to Mission Boards and Churches abroad.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 47. First-Broad Methodist Episcopal Church, Columbus, Ohio

Your Committee has considered Memorial No. 547, which sets forth the situation in relation to payment of debts incurred by the First-Broad Methodist Episcopal Church, of Columbus, Ohio, which still remain unpaid. Since the two churches included in the merged First-Broad Methodist Episcopal Church have been unable to agree upon their respective responsibilities for said debts, your Committee recommends:

That the General Conference authorize, direct and empower the incoming Resident Bishop of the Cincinnati Area to appoint a Committee of Investigation and Determination, to be composed of seven members, and whose duty it shall be to investigate and determine without expense the respective responsibilities of the two churches formerly included in a merger, namely, the First Methodist Episcopal Church and the Broad Street Methodist Episcopal Church.

The findings and decisions of this Committee shall be final and binding upon each of the churches.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 49. Trustees, John Street Church

Your Committee, considering the report of the Trustees of Old John Street Methodist Episcopal Church, recommends:

That such power as is sought by the Trustees in their report to this General Conference be granted to them, provided the terms of the grant meet the approval of the Bishops.

In accordance with the law of the Church, we present the following nominations for election as Trustees of the John Street Methodist Episcopal Church, New York City:

Carl H. Fowler, Williams Phillips Hall, James R. Joy, William Kennedy, E. P. V. Ritter, Millard L. Robinson, Paul Sturtevant, Wilson P. Tanner, Winthrop M. Tuttle.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 50. Report of Commission on Adequate Support and Equitable Apportionment

Your Committee has considered the report of the General Conference Commission on Adequate Support and Equitable Apportionment and recommends:

1. That the General Conference of 1932 extend its sincere thanks to the members of this Committee who have performed distinguished service for the whole Methodist Episcopal Church through a Commission which was raised "without expense to the General Conference."

2. That every member of an Annual Conference and that every member of the coming Lay Conferences study carefully the comprehensive report upon this subject published in the Handbook of the 1932 General Conference, pages 517 to 524, and Final Report on page 270 of The Daily Christian Advocate of May 13, 1932.

3. That enabling legislation presented for adoption by this General Conference be given most careful consideration and attention, especially as there seems to be no intention of extensive radical departure from present provisions of the Discipline.

4. That we request that this Commission be continued for the very necessary further study of Equitable Apportionment, and that expenses not to exceed $250 be allowed from the General Conference Expense Fund.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 51. Schedule of Minimum Support

Your Committee has considered Memorial No. 798, which has certain recommendations of the General Conference Commission on Adequate Support and Equitable Apportionment. (Refer to Handbook, page 519.) Your Committee has also considered Memorials Nos. 61, 70, 108, 790 and 319, regarding Sustentation, and recommends:

That from ¶ 81 strike out Question 37, which reads: "Is there a Conference Sustentation Fund Society, and what is its report?" and substitute:

¶ 81, § 37, "What is the Schedule of Minimum Support?"

That for ¶ 381 there be substituted ¶ 381, § 1, "Each Annual Conference, after careful study of its needs and its sources of income for ministerial support, may adopt a Schedule of Minimum Support for its pastors. This schedule shall specify the minimum financial support compatible with effectiveness for members of the Conference, for Supply Pastors who are accepted by the Annual Conference, and for student pastors. This schedule may allow for differences in living conditions, number of dependents in the family, or any other variants, as desired by the Annual Conference.

"§ 2. When adopted by vote of the Annual Conference, this Schedule of Minimum Support shall be observed by the Bishops and District Superintendents in arranging the appointments, as provided in ¶ 239, §§ 3 and 4 (see § 3, below), and in ¶ 257, § 1.

"§ 3. If it is necessary in order to maintain a satisfactory Schedule of Minimum Support or to assist its pastors in special need, a sustentation fund may be apportioned to the pastoral charges, collected and disbursed as the Annual Conference may direct.

"§ 4. In order to supplement such a fund an equitable assessment may be made on the salaries of all effective members of an Annual Conference above the minimum salary fixed by said Annual Conference."

That to ¶ 239, § 3, there be added: "Provided that he shall not appoint any pastor to a charge where the minimum support adopted by the Annual Conference is not reasonably anticipated." So that the paragraph, as amended, shall read:

"¶ 239, § 3. To change the appointments of the Preachers in his District, if necessary, during the interval between the sessions of the Conference, in the absence of the Bishop, provided, that he shall not appoint any pastor to a charge where the minimum support adopted by the Annual Conference is not reasonably anticipated."

That to ¶ 257, § 1, there be added: "Provided, he shall not appoint any pastor to a charge where the minimum support adopted by the Annual Conference is not reasonably anticipated."

So the paragraph shall read:

"¶ 257, § 1. He shall appoint Preachers to Pastoral Charges annually after consultation with the Superintendents of the Districts in which such charges are located. Provided, he shall not appoint any pastor to a charge where the minimum support adopted by the Annual Conference is not reasonably anticipated."

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 52. Members Japan Mission Council

After consideration of Memorial No. 831, your Committee finds that, with the change in the status of the Mission organization in Korea, general and consultative relationship to a general superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Church will be less convenient for the Japan Mission Council. It is therefore recommended that the appointing power over the members of the Japan Mission Council be hereafter vested in the Japan Methodist Church, through its Bishop, in conference with the Personnel Committee of the Council, or in any other way which may hereafter be provided by the Constitution of this Council, and with the approval of the Bishop assigned to the presidency of the Japan Mission Council.

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 53. COMMISSION ON METHODIST UNION IN KOREA

We have received with profound interest and appreciation the report of the Commission on Methodist Union in Korea. We rejoice in the completed organization of the Korean Methodist Church. We approve what our Commission has done, in co-operation with a like Commission from the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. We are especially happy in the creative part taken by the Koreans themselves in the organization of the new Church. It is Korean in fact as well as in name.

We must not think, however, that because the Korean Methodist Church is now independent, it no longer needs the financial help of the Mother Churches. It is developing self-support as rapidly as possible, but the financial ability is very limited. We, therefore, approve the small grant of money made by the Book Committee for the publication of the Discipline in English of the Korean Methodist Church.

We also authorize and instruct the Board of Foreign Missions, the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, the Committee on Religious Education in the Foreign Field, the Commission on Conference Courses of Study, to continue to help Korea as before the union—working in co-operation with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. We note with approval that a joint Committee of Co-operation between our Church and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has already been set up.

1. Retired Korean Methodist Preachers. Inasmuch as there were several Retired Korean Methodist preachers in the Korean Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at the time of the organization of the Korean Methodist Church, and inasmuch as these retired Korean preachers by the law of the Church participated in the dividend of the Book Concern, therefore we recommend that such preachers retired before the organization of the Korean Methodist Church receive consideration from the Board of Pensions and Relief of the Methodist Episcopal Church and that the Book Committee be requested to co-operate.

2. Official Relations between the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Korean Methodist Church.

a. In response to the request of the Korean Methodist Church, we authorize the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church to appoint an official representative to the General Conference of the Korean Methodist Church. The expenses of said delegate shall be paid from our General Conference Expense Fund.

b. The Central Council of the Korean Methodist Church is authorized to elect and send one member of the Korean Methodist Church as its representative to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, said representative, like the representative from the Japan Mission Council, shall have his expenses paid from the General Conference Expense Fund and shall be accorded the privilege of sitting with all Committees of the General Conference, with the right to speak when questions relating to our work in Korea are being discussed.

3. Missionary Relationships. Our missionaries in Korea have been completely absorbed into the Korea Methodist Church and by the act of union have technically ceased to be members or ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Obviously, that connection should be restored and maintained.

We, therefore, recommend that there be added to ¶ 470 of the Discipline, § 4, to read as follows:

a. Present or former missionaries of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Korea, who have now become ministers or members of the Korean Methodist Church, are, by the act of this General Conference, restored to their former standing in the Methodist Episcopal Church, this action to be retroactive to the time of the union, so that their record in our Church may show no break.

b. Our missionary ministers and members in Korea shall be hereafter allowed to maintain a double membership in the churches or Conferences of the Korean Methodist Church and of the Methodist Episcopal Church when the missionary so desires.

c. We authorize and request the Bishops to transfer such ministers and members to the Conferences and churches of the Methodist Episcopal Church, to which they formerly belonged or to such other Conferences and churches of the Methodist Episcopal Church as may seem necessary to the Bishops.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 54. Ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church Formerly Serving in Mexico

Because of the laws of Mexico and the formation of the Methodist Church of Mexico, Ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church serving in that country are left without Conference connection; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the General Conference authorizes and requests our General Superintendents to arrange to transfer such ministers to some Conference or Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States to which they formerly belonged, or to some other Conference or Conferences as may seem wise to the Bishops.

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 55. SESQUI-CENTENNIAL OF AMERICAN METHODISM

Your Committee, to which was referred Memorials Nos. 693 and 963 on the matter of a proposed Sesqui-Centennial Commemoration of the Organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church in America, heartily concurs with the general proposition and recommends to the General Conference the following resolutions:

1. We approve the action of the Board of Education taken at the suggestion of the Sesqui-Centennial Commission in appointing a Committee consisting of Doctors Bugbee, Eiselin and Hawk, who are now making definite plans for embodying in our Church School literature for the year 1934, articles and courses of lessons relating to the History of American Methodism.

2. We ask that special recognition be given to the Sesqui-Centennial Celebration in the Year Book, the Annual Conference Journals and the various periodicals of the Church.

3. We recommend that each local church be urged to prepare a history of its own life and accomplishments and that copies of these local histories be placed with the Conference Historical Society for preservation.

4. We recommend that at the session of each Conference in the year 1933 the Presiding Bishop be asked to appoint a Committee to arrange for a proper celebration at the session of the year 1934.

5. We approve the Commission of the Sesqui-Centennial of the Organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church in America, and that expenses, not exceeding $5,000, be allowed from the General Conference Expense Fund.

Adopted, May 25.

REPORT NO. 57. COMMISSION ON FINANCE

Your Committee, having considered Memorials Nos. 61, 117, 166, 721, 488, 506, 535, and 595 relative to constitution of, and duties of, the Commission on Finance, recommends that for ¶ 378, § 1, which now reads:

"¶ 378, § 1, An Annual Conference may establish a Commission on Finance to consist of the several District Superintendents, together with one Minister and two Laymen from each District."

there be substituted the following:

"¶ 378, § 1. An Annual and Lay Conference United Session may establish a Commission on Finance to consist of the several District Superintendents, together with one Ministerial member and two Lay members from each District."

Your Committee recommends that throughout the paragraph, wherever the words "Annual Conference" appear there be inserted the words "and Lay" so the body referred to shall be the "Annual and Lay Conference."

that there be added, § 10, as follows:

"The Commission on Finance when ordered by an Annual and Lay Conference, shall apportion to the several pastoral charges the amount voted by the Annual and Lay Conference to be raised for distribution to the Conference Claimants."

That ¶ 385 be amended by inserting in the last sentence of the paragraph after the words, "Conference Stewards," the phrase, "or by the Commission on Finance, when so ordered by the Annual and Lay Conference," so that the sentence shall read:

"The remainder shall be equitably apportioned by the Conference Stewards, or by the Commission on Finance, when so ordered by the Annual and Lay Conference, to the several pastoral charges; provided, however, that the amount asked for necessitous cases shall be subject to the approval of the Annual and Lay Conference."

Your Committee recommends that ¶ 378, now having title "Plan No. 2—Committee on Finance" be given the new title "Commission on Finance" and placed in the Discipline after ¶¶ 371 and 372, which have the title "Ministerial Support Defined."

Your Committee recommends that a new paragraph be provided in the Discipline following the paragraph entitled "Commission on Finance," as follows:

COMMISSION ON APPORTIONMENT

"¶ ?, § 1. An Annual and Lay Conference may establish a Commission on Apportionment which shall assume the duty of apportionment heretofore required of the Commission on Finance.

"§ 2. This Commission shall consist of one Ministerial member and one Lay member from each District, elected annually by the united session of the Annual and Lay Conference. After the first year the term of service of newly elected members of this Commission shall begin one month after the adjournment of the Annual and Lay Conference.

"§ 3. The Commission shall organize by electing its own officers. These shall be a President, Vice-President and Secretary.

"§ 4. It shall be the duty of the Commission on Apportionment to receive estimates of amounts to be raised for any or all of the following purposes, when so directed by the Annual and Lay Conference:

"1. Support of Bishops.

"2. Support of District Superintendents.

"3. Sustentation Fund.

"4. Conference Claimants.

"5. General Conference Expenses.

"6. Annual and Lay Conference Expenses.

"§ 5. The Commission on Apportionment shall recommend an equitable basis and apportionment and, upon approval of the same by the Annual and Lay Conference, shall apportion the required amounts to the District and to the several Pastoral Charges.

"§ 6. When possible the Commission on Apportionment shall report the District apportionments for the coming year to the united session of the Annual and Lay Conference for publication in the Minutes of that session."

Your Committee further recommends that, under the title, "Support of District Superintendents" the explanatory sentence which now reads, "The support of District Superintendents shall be provided by either of two plans": Plan No. 1. "District Stewards meeting" be changed to read, "When the Annual and Lay Conference does not establish a Commission on Finance, the support of District Superintendents shall be provided by a 'District Stewards Meeting.'"

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 58. Fraternal Delegates to Japan Methodist Church

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 952, recommends that the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church name a fraternal delegate, each quadrennium, to the General Conference of the Japan Methodist Church and that this expense be a charge upon the Expense Fund of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Adopted, May 25.

Report No. 59. Mortgage and Sale Church Property

Your Committee, having considered Memorial No. 802, recommends that ¶ 408 of the Discipline of 1928 be amended as follows:

Strike out all of the first paragraph after the word "corporation" in line five and substitute therefor, "said Trustees or their successors, if they have the consent of the Pastor and District Superintendent and if they receive from the Quarterly Conference authority with such limitations and restrictions as said Quarterly Conference may judge necessary, a majority of the members of the Quarterly Conference concurring, may mortgage or sell and convey such property";

So that this portion of the paragraph, as amended, shall read:

"Whenever it shall become necessary for the payment of debts, or with a view to reinvestment, to mortgage or make a sale of Church property that may have been conveyed to the Trustees of the Church corporation, said Trustees, or their successors if they have the consent of the Pastor and District Superintendent and if they receive from the Quarterly Conference authority with such limitations and restrictions as said Quarterly Conference may judge necessary, a majority of the members of the Quarterly Conference concurring, may mortgage or sell and convey such property."

The remainder of the paragraph in three portions, the first word of which is "Provided," shall remain unchanged.

Adopted, May 25.

B. REPORTS OF SPECIAL COMMITTEES AND COMMISSIONS

I. COMMISSION ON ADEQUATE SUPPORT AND EQUITABLE APPORTIONMENT

The General Conference of 1928 was convinced that something should be done regarding the injustices and inequalities of Ministerial Support. It created this Commission to formulate and recommend the course to be followed. (Journal, page 605.)

Your Commission, through meetings, wide correspondence with representatives of Annual Conferences and published articles in all Church papers, has kept in touch with our whole Church and also with other religious bodies. The preliminary report was submitted to the Secretary of the General Conference on September 1, 1931, and is printed in the Handbook, pages 517 and 524.

As we proceeded with this matter, we came to see with increasing clearness that more than financial support is involved in it. There exists a vicious circle. Half a Church with half support tends to make half a preacher who in turn makes half a Church with half support, which continues the process. Churches are broken by inadequate preachers in charge and preachers are broken by being assigned to inadequate churches.

We found that "effective" is a technical term in Methodism and may be applied to an inefficient preacher. Ineffective members of an Annual Conference have to be appointed to a church or dismissed for character reasons, sometimes by trickery. Also, we found that supply preachers are not under the control of the Annual Conference and are usually brought in to serve inadequate churches. These factors cannot be separated, and constitute a single problem. While your Commission brings three recommendations, it submits them as phases of a single matter. The omission of any one of them cripples the others. Your Commission, therefore, has recommended that:

First—Each Annual Conference shall fix a schedule of minimum support for its members and minimum support for accepted supplies. Careful legislative plans for putting this into practice have been submitted in a second report placed in the hands of the Secretary of this General Conference and by your action referred to the proper Committees.

Second—The Annual Conference shall be empowered to locate inefficient members without reflecting upon their character. It is impractical to require standard support for substandard men. If the Conference has made a mistake in receiving an ineffective man, it must take the responsibility for correcting its own error and cease to certify him as an "effective" preacher. Proposed legislation to this end has been submitted in a third report to this General Conference.

Third—The Annual Conference shall pass upon the character, ability, training, and effectiveness of supply preachers if they are to be employed as preachers in charge of churches belonging to the Annual Conference. The churches of an Annual Conference, which do not choose a pastor, but receive him by appointment, have a right to expect that all preachers shall be approved by their Annual Conference. A fourth report has been filed suggesting legislation in this matter.

Fourth—Equitable apportionment needs further study.

Adopted, May 24.

II. COMMITTEE ON CENTRAL CONFERENCES

Report No. 1. Central Conferences

Your Committee on Central Conferences have considered the report of the Commission on Central Conferences referred to it by the General Conference and printed on page 97 of The Daily Christian Advocate, and the following Memorials:

206, 225, 226, 227, 229, 242, 255, 258, 313, 342, 355, 356, 357, 384, 391, 392, 428, 442, 518, 601, 619, 755, 756, 757, 758, 760, 761, 768, 778, 779, 850, 855, 906, 923, 120, and present the following report:

¶ 613, Part II. Powers of Central Conferences, § 1. (Organization) Item (7), which reads as follows:

"The Central Conferences shall be composed of Ministerial and Lay members in equal numbers, chosen in such manner and with such qualifications as the Central Conference shall itself determine, provided that each Annual Conference, Mission Conference, and Mission shall be entitled to at least two Ministerial and two Lay Delegates, and that no other selection of Delegates shall be authorized which would provide for more than one Ministerial Delegate for every six members of an Annual Conference, Mission Conference, or Mission, except that a fraction of two-thirds of the ratio fixed by a Central Conference shall entitle an Annual Conference, Mission Conference, or Mission to an additional Ministerial Delegate, and to an additional Lay Delegate."

Shall be amended so as to read:

"The Central Conferences shall be composed of Ministerial and Lay Members, both men and women being eligible, in equal numbers, chosen in such manner and with such qualifications as the Central Conference shall itself determine. Each Annual Conference, Mission Conference, and Mission shall be entitled to at least two Ministerial and two Lay Delegates, and that no other selection of Delegates shall be authorized which would provide for more than one Ministerial Delegate for every six members of an Annual Conference, Mission Conference, or Mission, except that a fraction of two-thirds or more of the number fixed by a Central Conference as the ratio of representation shall entitle an Annual Conference, Mission Conference, or Mission, to an additional Ministerial Delegate, and to an additional Lay Delegate."

2.

¶ 613, Part II. Powers of Central Conferences, § 2 (Powers) Item (7), which reads as follows:

"Central Conference shall supervise the missionary work undertaken by the Church located within its bounds and provide suitable organization for such work; provided that when a Central Conference enters upon such work outside its borders, it shall first consult the Board of Foreign Missions."

Shall be amended so as to read:

Item (7). A Central Conference shall supervise the missionary work undertaken by the Church located within its bounds and provide suitable organization for such work; provided that when a Central Conference enters upon such work outside its borders, it shall first consult the Board of Foreign Missions and the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

Add to Item (6) in this same paragraph and section the following:

"The Secretary of a Central Conference, where one or more Bishops or General Superintendents have been chosen, shall report to the Secretary of the General Conference the names of the Bishop or Bishops and the residences to which they have been assigned by the Central Conference. The Secretary of the General Conference shall in turn report to the Committee on Episcopacy, to be embodied in said Committee's report."

¶ 613, Part II. Powers of Central Conferences, § 2 (Powers) Item (11), which reads as follows:

"The Central Conference, with the concurrence of the Resident Bishop or Bishops concerned, shall have authority to supervise such institutions, interests and properties of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the territory within its jurisdiction as may have been provided by funds raised within said jurisdiction, or as may be intrusted to it. It shall have the power to make rules and regulations for the purpose, holding and transfer of any such property or institution secured or established from resources raised within its jurisdiction, and of such other properties as may be transferred to it by the Conferences or such other organizations, local or general, holding same; provided, however, (a) that all procedure shall be subject to the laws of the country or countries concerned; (b) that no transfer of property shall be made from one Conference to another without the consent of the Conference holding such property; (c) that the existing status of properties held by local Trustees or other holding bodies shall be recognized. The Central Conference shall not alienate any property or institution, or the proceeds derived from the sale of transfer thereof, from the Methodist Episcopal Church, nor shall the Central Conference involve the Board of Foreign Missions, or any other organization of the Church, in any financial obligation without the official approval of said Board or organization."

Shall be amended so as to read:

"The Central Conference, with the concurrence of the Resident Bishop or Bishops concerned, shall have authority to supervise such institutions, interests and properties of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the territory within its jurisdiction as may have been provided by funds raised within said jurisdiction, or as may be intrusted to it. It shall have the power to make rules and regulations for the purchase, holding and transfer of any such property or institution secured or established from resources raised within its jurisdiction, and of such other properties as may be transferred to it by the Conferences or such other organizations, local or general, holding same; provided, however, (a) that all procedure shall be subject to the laws of the country or countries concerned; (b) that no transfer of property shall be made from one Conference to another without the consent of the Conference holding such property; (c) that the existing status of properties held by local Trustees or other holding bodies shall be recognized. The Central Conference shall not alienate any property or institution, or the proceeds derived from the sale or transfer thereof, from the Methodist Episcopal Church, nor shall the Central Conference involve the Board of Foreign Missions, the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, or any other organization of the Church, in any financial obligation without the official approval of said Board or organization."

¶ 613, Part II. Powers of Central Conferences, § 2 (Powers) Item (14), which reads as follows:

"A Central Conference shall have the power to organize Women's Conferences within its jurisdiction and to determine conditions of membership and powers of the same."

Shall be amended so as to read:

"The Central Conference shall have a Standing Committee on Women's Work. This Committee should preferably be composed of the women Delegates and such other persons as the Committee may elect.

"The duty of this Committee shall be to study the relation of women to the Church and to devise ways and means of developing this portion of the Church membership to the end that it may assume its rightful responsibilities in the extension of the Kingdom. The Committee shall make recommendations to the Central Conference regarding women's organizations within its Area, the conditions of membership and the function of the same."

¶ 613, Part II. Powers of Central Conferences, § 1. (Organization), add a new item which shall be (11), reading as follows:

Item (11). Central Conferences shall maintain a co-operative and consultative relationship with Boards authorized by the General Conference which have work within said Central Conferences.

¶ 613, Part II, Powers of Central Conferences, § 2 (Powers) add a new Item, which shall be (16), reading as follows:

Item (16). A Central Conference shall be authorized to adopt rules of procedure for the trial of its Ministers and appeal therefrom as the necessities of the field may require; provided, however, that such rules shall in all respects conform to the restrictions and limitations prescribed by Article X, ¶ 46, § 5, of the Constitution of the Church.

Substitute for ¶ 613, Part II, Powers of General Conferences, § 2, (Powers) Item (6), which reads as follows:

"A Central Conference shall have authority to edit and publish abridged editions of the Discipline, omitting such sections as refer exclusively to activities in the United States of America."

the following paragraph:

Item (6). A Central Conference shall have authority to edit and publish a Central Conference Discipline which shall contain, in addition to the constitution of the Church, such sections from the general book of Discipline as may be pertinent to the entire Church; and also such revised, adapted or new sections which shall have been enacted by the Central Conferences concerned under the powers given by the General Conference with the understanding that legislation passed by the General Conference becomes effective immediately throughout the entire Church.

In a Central Conference using a language other than English, legislation passed by the General Conference shall not take effect until three months after the close of the General Conference, in order to afford the necessary time to make adaptations and to publish a translation approved by the resident Bishops.

¶ 613, Part II, Powers of Central Conferences, § 2 (Powers), Item (1), which reads as follows:

"To a Central Conference shall be committed for supervision in harmony with the book of Discipline and Interdenominational contractual agreements, the educational, industrial, publishing, medical and other connectional interests of the Annual Conferences, Mission Conferences, and Missions concerned, or by order of the General Conference."

Shall be amended so as to read:

§ 2, Powers, Item (1). To a Central Conference shall be committed for supervision, in harmony with the Central Conference Discipline, [See Item (6)] and interdenominational contractual agreements, the missionary, educational, industrial, publishing, medical, and other connectional interests of the Annual Conferences, Mission Conferences, and Missions within its territory, and such other matters as may be referred to it by the Annual Conferences, Mission Conferences, and Missions concerned, or by order of the General Conference; and shall provide such suitable organizations for such work and elect the necessary officers for the same. When a Central Conference enters upon such work outside its borders, it shall first consult the Board of Foreign Missions and the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

¶ 613, Part II, Powers of Central Conferences, § 2 (Powers), Item (12), which reads as follows:

"A Central Conference may fix the boundaries of the Annual Conferences, Mission Conferences, and Missions within its bounds, proposals for changes first having been submitted to the Annual Conferences concerned as prescribed in the book of Discipline, ¶ 511, (¶ 540, 1928) § 4, provided, however, that the Annual Conferences which may be organized within the bounds of a Central Conference shall first have been determined by the General Conference, and provided further that no Annual Conference shall be organized with less than twenty-five members. It may also, with the consent of the Resident Bishops, enter into agreements with other Churches or Missions for the division of territory or of responsibility for Christian work within the territory of the Central Conference."

Shall be amended so as to read:

Item (12). "A Central Conference may fix the boundaries of the Annual Conferences, Mission Conferences, and Missions within its bounds, proposals for changes first having been submitted to the Annual Conferences concerned as prescribed in the Discipline, ¶ 540, § 4, provided, however, that the number of Annual Conferences which may be organized within the bounds of a Central Conference shall first have been determined by the General Conference. No Annual Conference shall be organized with less than twenty-five members."

and that there be added a new Item (12a), which shall read as follows:

"A Central Conference may, with the consent of the resident Bishops, enter into agreements with other Churches or Missions for the division of territory or of responsibility for Christian work within the territory of the Central Conference."

10

For ¶ 613, Part II. Powers of Central Conferences, § 2 (Powers), Item (13), which reads as follows:

"A Central Conference shall have power to fix orders of business suitable for the District and Quarterly Conferences within its territory."

Substitute a new Item, to read:

"A Central Conference shall have power to add to the business of the Annual Conference supplementary questions considered desirable or necessary for meeting its own needs; to make such changes and adaptations in procedure as the peculiar conditions of the fields require; and to adapt the temporal economy of the Church with its own territory, including orders of business suitable for District and Quarterly Conferences."

11

¶ 613, Part II, Powers of Central Conferences, § 2 (Powers), Item (17), which reads as follows:

"A Central Mission Conference shall become a Central Conference upon fulfillment of ¶ 95 (¶ 97, 1928), § 1, (1) and upon the ratification of the Annual Conferences," shall be amended so as to read:

Item (18). "A Central Mission Conference may become a Central Conference upon the fulfillment of the necessary requirements (¶ 97, § 1 (1)) and upon the authorization of the General Conference."

12

For Chapter XI, Part III, for ¶ 255, on "Bishops elected by Central Conferences," which reads as follows:

"A Bishop or General Superintendent elected by a Central Conference shall have the same rights and duties as a General Superintendent elected by the General Conference."

Substitute the following:

"¶ 255. A Bishop or General Superintendent elected by a Central Conference shall have during his tenure the same status, rights and duties within the territory mentioned in ¶ 46 as a General Superintendent elected by the General Conference. He shall also have, upon invitation and assignment by the Bishops, the right to preside at sessions of the General Conference. Upon invitation of the Bishops he shall have the privilege of full participation in the meetings of the Bishops whenever the interests of his Central Conference, or the interests common to all Central Conferences are involved."

13

¶ 613, Part II, Powers of Central Conferences, § 1 (Organization), Item (10), which reads as follows:

"The presiding Officer of the Central Conference shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the Central Conference, and he shall decide questions of law subject to an appeal to the General Conference; but questions relating to the interpretation of the Rules and Regulations made by the Central Conference shall be decided by the Central Conference."

Shall be amended as follows:

Item (10), "The presiding Officer of the Central Conference shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the Central Conference, and he shall decide questions of law subject to an appeal to the General Conference; but questions relating to the interpretation of the Rules and Regulations made by the Central Conference for the governing of its own sessions shall be decided by the Central Conference."

14

¶ 97, § 1, Item 1 (Organization), which reads as follows:

"There shall be such Central Conferences as have been heretofore authorized, or shall be hereafter authorized by the General Conference, or as may develop from authorized Central Mission Conferences as set forth in § 2 (2) d, with the privileges and powers as hereinafter set forth, provided that a Central Conference shall have at least a total of twenty Ministerial and twenty Lay Delegates on the basis of representation as set forth in Item (2) hereof," within the territory mentioned in ¶ 46.

Shall be amended with the addition of the following words:

"except in the cases wherein reasons may be deemed sufficient by the General Conference said General Conference may fix a smaller number," for, and read:

(1) ORGANIZATION. There shall be such Central Conferences as have been hitherto authorized or shall be authorized by the General Conference, or as may develop from authorized Central Mission Conferences as set forth in § 2 (2) d. They shall have the privileges and powers as hereinafter set forth, provided that a Central Conference shall have at least a total of twenty Ministerial and twenty Lay Delegates on the basis of representation as set forth in Item (7) hereof; except in the cases wherein reasons may be deemed sufficient by the General Conference said General Conferences may fix a smaller number.

Chapter IV, Central Conferences, to ¶ 97, § 2, Powers, add a new section (9), as follows:

"A central Conference shall have authority to examine and acknowledge the Journals of the Annual Conferences, Mission Conferences, and Missions located within its bounds, and to make such rules for the drawing up of the Journals as may seem necessary according to the special requirements of the countries involved."

16

Chapter II, Annual Conferences, 11, Secretary and Journal, ¶ 80, § 1, which reads as follows:

"A Journal recording the proceedings of each Annual Conference shall be kept by a Secretary chosen for the purpose, and shall be signed by the President and Secretary. A copy of the Journal shall be sent to the General Conference for examination. Journals properly attested shall be approved by the General Conference."

Shall be amended to read:

¶ 80, § 1. "A Journal recording the proceedings of each Annual Conference shall be kept by a Secretary chosen for the purpose, and shall be signed by the President and Secretary; and a copy of the Journal shall be sent to the General Conference for examination and for approval when properly attested; provided, however, that a copy of the Journal of an Annual Conference which is a constituent of a Central Conference shall be sent to the Central Conference for examination and for approval when properly attested."

Chapter IV, Central Conferences, to ¶ 97, § 4, add a new Section "c," as follows:

¶ 97, § 4 "c." A Central Conference shall have power to authorize the congregations of a certain state or country to form special organizations in order to receive the acknowledgment of the state or country according to the laws of such state or country. Such organizations shall be empowered to represent the interests of the Church to the authorities of the state or country according to the rules and principles of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and they shall be required to give regular reports of their activities to their respective Annual Conferences.

To ¶ 466, add a new section (3), as follows:

¶ 466, § 3. In the territory of a Central Conference where a Council of Co-operation has been organized in accordance with the enactments of the Central Conferences, the Field Finance Committees shall be responsible to the Board of Foreign Missions for the administration of its funds and properties, except that the Committees shall be directly responsible to the Council of Co-operation for the administration of funds and properties which have been transferred by the Board to the Council for determination.

Chapter IV. Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, to ¶ 477, add a new § 8, as follows:

¶ 477, § 8. In the territory of a Central Conference where a Council of Co-operation has been organized in accordance with the enactments of the Central Conferences, the Field Finance Committees shall be responsible to the Society for the administration of its funds and properties, except that the Committees shall be directly responsible to the Council of Co-operation for the administration of funds and properties which have been transferred by the Society to the Council.

20

We recommend that such publications of the Methodist Book Concern as are sent to General Superintendents elected by the General Conference shall be sent to General Superintendents elected by the Central Conferences.

21

We recommend that wives of Bishops elected by Central Conferences be afforded travel expenses by the Episcopal Fund from the place of their Episcopal Residence to their homes once in every four years and return to the Area residence assigned, in accord with the custom in vogue for wives of Bishops elected by the General Conference, who are assigned to residences outside the United States.

22

We recommend that the General Conference order the appointment of a Commission on Central Conferences to which shall be referred questions, that have arisen in the discussion of Central Conference problems, for further study and report to the General Conference of 1936. Said Commission shall be composed of fifteen members of the Methodist Episcopal Church; three shall be Bishops, six other ministers, and six laymen; and shall be appointed by the Bishops. In case of a vacancy by death or withdrawal of a Commission member from the Methodist Episcopal Church, the vacancy shall be filled by the Bishops at their next meeting. The expense of said Commission shall be borne by the General Conference Expense Fund and shall not exceed $2,000.

1. We refer the following Memorials to the proposed Commission for further study:

768, authorizing the organization of Malaya and Sumatra Conferences into a Malaysia Central and Philippine Islands Central Conference.

392, referring to the establishment of a Malaysia Central Conference.

356, referring to representation of Central Conferences in General Conferences.

923, referring to representation of Annual Conferences within Central Conference territory in General Conferences.

2. We recommend that the Commission consider the possibility of changing the term "Central Conference" to "Regional Conference."

3. We recommend to the proposed Commission for study during the quadrennium the matter of General Conference representation by Central Conferences, as follows:

¶ 38, § 1. "Each Annual Conference shall be entitled to at least one Ministerial Delegate"—shall be amended so as to read:

"Each Annual Conference not included within the jurisdiction of a Central Conference shall be entitled to at least one Ministerial Delegate."

(The remainder of the section is unchanged.)

¶ 38, § 4.

This shall be a new section reading as follows:

"Each Central Conference shall be entitled to at least two Ministerial Delegates. The General Conference shall not allow more than one Ministerial Delegate for every seventy-five members of an Annual Conference or Mission Conference, nor less than one for every hundred and sixty; but for a fraction of two-thirds or more of the number fixed by the General Conference a Central Conference shall be entitled to an additional Delegate."

¶ 39, § 4.

"Each Lay Electoral Conference shall be entitled to elect as many Delegates to the General Conference as there are Ministerial Delegates from the Annual Conference"—shall be amended to read:

"Each Lay Electoral Conference organized in an Annual Conference which is not included within the jurisdiction of a Central Conference shall be entitled to elect as many Delegates to the General Conference as there are Ministerial Delegates from that Conference."

¶ 39, § 6.

This shall be a new section, reading as follows:

"Each Central Conference shall be entitled to elect as many Lay Delegates from the Central Conference as there are Ministerial Delegates elected from that Central Conference."

4. Anxious that no policy regarding Central Conferences shall in any way be interpreted to retard Church Union we recommend that the Commission study the effect of Central Conferences upon Church Union with this in mind.

5. The Committee recommends to the proposed Commission the consideration of changes in ¶ 613, Part II. Powers of Central Conferences, Item (2), so that it will read as follows:

"A Central Conference, when authorized by a specific Enabling Act of the General Conference, shall have power to elect one or more Bishops or General Superintendents from among the Traveling Elders of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The number of Bishops or General Superintendents to be elected by each Central Conference shall be fixed from time to time by the General Conference.

"Whenever a Central Conference exercises within a previous quadrennium the power to elect Bishops or General Superintendents no Delegates to the General Conference from that Central Conference or from its constituent Annual Conferences shall be entitled to vote for General Superintendents in the General Conference."

6. We recommend for consideration by the proposed Central Conference Commission that the principle of organization by Central Conferences be accepted for the entire Church and that as rapidly as possible it be made effective throughout the connection. It is our judgment that plans should be sufficiently advanced during the quadrennium to permit the organization of a Central Conference or Central Conferences within the United States of America at the General Conference of 1936.

Enabling Acts

Latin America

The Central Conference of Latin America during the next quadrennium is hereby authorized to elect two Bishops or General Superintendents, provided that by such election there shall be no more than two Bishops, General Superintendents or Missionary Bishops resident within the bounds of the Central Conference of Latin America during the quadrennium ending with 1936. The Central Conference in Latin America, however, is authorized (¶ 97, § 1 (1) as amended) by the General Conference to conduct a Central Conference, with the privileges and powers as provided under Central Conference legislation, provided that they shall have at least a total of 15 Ministerial and 15 Lay Delegates on the regular basis of representation.

Eastern Asia

The Central Conference of Eastern Asia is hereby authorized to elect two Bishops or General Superintendents for China, provided that by such election there shall not be more than three Bishops, General Superintendents or Missionary Bishops resident during the quadrennium ending in 1936.

Southern Asia

The Central Conference of Southern Asia is hereby authorized to elect one Bishop or General Superintendent at the session of the Central Conference immediately preceding the General Conference of 1936.

Episcopal Vacancies

If an Episcopal vacancy should occur, by death, resignation or otherwise, within the bounds of the Central Conferences of Latin America, Eastern Asia or Southern Asia during the quadrennium, the Central Conference within which such vacancy occurs is authorized to elect a Bishop or General Superintendent, in case the vacancy is in an area previously filled by a Central Conference; it is also authorized to elect a Bishop or General Superintendent in case of a vacancy previously filled by a General Superintendent elected by the General Conference, in case the Bishops do not fill the vacancy by appointment of a retired Bishop, and provided that at no time shall there be more than two Bishops, General Superintendents or Missionary Bishops within the bounds of the Central Conference of Latin America; or three within the the bounds of the Central Conference of Eastern Asia; or four within the bounds of the Central Conference of Southern Asia.

¶ 97, § 1, Item 1 (Organization), provides that a Central Conference shall have at least a total of 20 Ministerial and 20 Lay Delegates on the basis of representation.

The Central Conference in Latin America, however, is authorized by the General Conference to conduct a Central Conference, with the privileges and powers as provided under Central Conference legislation, provided that they shall have at least a total of 15 Ministerial and 15 Lay Delegates on the regular basis of representation, so that the provision which reads "with the privileges and powers as hereinafter set forth, provided that a Central Conference shall have at least 20 Ministerial and 20 Lay Delegates," shall have added thereto:

"except that the Central Conference of Latin America, during the quadrennium 1932-36, shall have at least a total of 15 Ministerial and 15 Lay Delegates on the same basis of representation."

Adopted, May 20.

III. COMMITTEE ON EVANGELISM

Report No. 1. Pronouncement and Authorization

Your Committee on Evangelism, having made some study of the present situation, submits the following report:

1. Without the Church, and too often within it, there is a paralyzing doubt concerning God. To many He seems to be a mere creature of our wishful thinking. By others He is regarded as an impersonal interaction making for the good life. Some who infer a personal God despair of the possibility of knowing Him. Any experience of God other than that which comes through the perception of truth, the appreciation of beauty, the devotion to righteousness is regarded as an illusion.

It is our task therefore to reveal to men a knowable God; to identify and clarify the experience of God so that it will become to the contemporary mind attainable and desirable: to teach in explicit terms the way whereby men may enter conscious fellowship with God: to create in our day an Aldersgate Fellowship of Warm Hearts.

2. In every community are initiates of this Fellowship, but they are living in isolation, with little encouragement and with none of that enrichment which comes from a pooling of deep spiritual experiences. The old class meeting at its best brought such souls together. Something like it will certainly be necessary if the life of isolated individuals is to be quickened and enriched by the sharing process.

3. Conversions are often conspicuously absent. Those which do occur are sometimes after a very thin and meager pattern. Men and women are saved from sins of the flesh and from unpleasant personal demeanors, but they are not rescued from intellectual dishonesty, from the love of luxury and the more unsocial attitudes in business and industry. We do not want people who are simply emotionally aglow over such phrases as "absolute honesty, purity, unselfishness and love." We must produce men and women who in all their relationships, domestic, political, industrial, commercial, ecclesiastical are actually honest and unselfish and pure and loving as Christ was and are advancing to the fulness of the mind of Christ. To achieve such a result our preachers must be taught how to awaken a more inclusive sense of sin and to lead people along the path of repentence and faith until personality is reintegrated about the ideal of life in Christ Jesus. There is a pathetic helplessness here which often passes into tragedy.

4. We need to inquire, not critically but helpfully, whether our methods of religious education are producing Christlike personalities among youths in our Sunday and week-day schools of religion and to ask if there is anything we can do to help make education evangelistic in the best sense.

5. There is great need for an agency whereby the technique of successful preaching missions, group conferences, and personal evangelism, whether among children or college groups or in great industrial centers, may be made available for all.

6. The official leadership of the Church, Bishops, and District Superintendents ought to foster genuinely Spiritual Retreats for our ministers. The most disturbing feature of our time is not the indifference of the general public, nor the inertia of the pew, but the bewilderment in our pulpits. Meetings in every district where preachers might gather under competent leadership, not to discuss ecclesiastical business nor to hear speeches, but to be guided into an understanding of their own hearts and into redemptive fellowship with Christ would make a real contribution to the life of the Church.

7. There should be a serious study of our approach to the unchurched multitudes about us. We build our stately temples and invite people to come and worship and listen, but the numbers who accept the invitation are but a fraction of those who need Christ. How can they be reached? Shall we hire theaters, stand once again upon the street corners, employ the radio, establish a Protestant order of Preaching Friars, to carry Methodism's unique emphasis upon conversion and religious experience to the mind and heart of America and of the world?

These and many other considerations make it imperative that there be some special group on whom may rest during the ensuing quadrennium the responsibility for serving as a clearing center for evangelistic activities and inspiration and to lead the whole church into a vigorous crusade to save the world. To this end we recommend that the Bishops be authorized and directed to appoint a Commission of Twenty-five, composed of ten laymen, ten ministers and five Bishops, the Commission to serve without expense to the General Conference Expense Fund.

Adopted, May 19.

Notation:

In considering this Report, the General Conference voted to refer to the Authorized Commission on Evangelism for careful study and action the following proposed amendments:

No. 1. We also recommend that our Area Bishops and the District Superintendents at every opportunity shall urge pastors and official members of the Church to respond to the appeal of our Bishops to aid in bringing the nation back to God, persuading the Church to go to its knees in prayer and in enthusing the people to evangelistic efforts.

Further, that pastors be urged to co-operate in the evangelizing movement by sounding the evangelistic note in preaching, in instructing the children, in guiding the young people, in pastoral visitation, in a season of local spiritual earnestness by whatever name called; in group and district revival meetings and in city-wide or community evangelistic campaigns.

And, that inasmuch as it is getting more and more difficult to secure sane, safe, competently equipped by head, heart and body Methodist evangelists for great evangelistic gatherings, we strongly urge our Bishops and theological schools to unite in securing and training men for this absolutely necessary department of our ministry.

Also, that we earnestly pray for our ministry and people the baptism of Pentecostal power to help us in our great task of leading men, women and children to Christ and in building up the kingdom of our Lord.

No. 2. We are encouraged by reports that where special methods, approved by the Board of Education, have been used, results have been secured in winning to Christ, and leading into the membership of the Church, correspondingly large numbers; and we urge that increased emphasis be placed upon such methods of religious education in our Sunday and week-day schools of religion as shall most certainly produce Christ-like personalities. We need to ask if there is anything we can do to help make education evangelistic in the best sense.

Action taken, May 19.

IV. COMMISSION ON JUDICIAL PROCEDURE

The General Conference of 1928 made a number of changes in the Discipline, affecting Part V—Judicial Administration.

For the purpose of this report reference is made only to Report No. 23 of the Committee on Episcopacy, Title: Judicial Procedure, Serial No. 286, page 629, adopted May 30, 1928, page 702, The Daily Christian Advocate, amending ¶¶ 244, 245, 246, 247 of the Discipline of 1924, being respectively ¶¶ 295, 296, 297, 298; also to the last paragraph of said report, which reads:

"We further recommend that a Commission consisting of five persons be named at this General Conference, to report to the General Conference of 1932, recommendations for a revision of the entire subject of Judicial Procedure."

Immediately upon the adoption of Report No. 23 of the Committee on Episcopacy, the Committee of Elected Chairmen named the following Committee on Judicial Procedure: H. L. Jacobs, E. L. Kidney, W. H. G. Gould, F. R. Bayley, G. W. Henson, and they were so elected by the General Conference. This Committee, having given careful study to the subject, respectfully submits the following for your consideration:

That in place of Part V, Chapters I to XIV, inclusive, and Appendix, ¶ 616, § 1, now in the Discipline, the paragraphs subjoined be substituted.

Chapter I. 1. Investigation and Trial of a Bishop

¶ 291, § 1. If a Bishop shall be accused of any of the offenses hereinafter mentioned in ¶ 300 in the interval between sessions of the General Conference, the District Superintendent within whose District the offense is said to have been committed shall call to his aid the Triers of Appeals of that Annual Conference as a Committee of Investigation who shall carefully inquire into the case; and if, in the judgment of a majority of them there is reasonable ground for such accusation, they or a majority of them shall prepare and sign the proper charges, unless such charges have already been prepared; shall send a copy of the same to the accused, and shall give notice thereof to the Secretary of the Bishops, furnishing him also with a copy of the charges.

§ 2. The Secretary of the Bishops shall within thirty days thereafter convene the Bishops resident in the United States and they shall forthwith appoint one of their number who shall fix the place and time for the trial and convene the Triers of Appeals of four neighboring Conferences of whom twelve shall be chosen as the Trial Court. The Church and the accused each shall have, in addition to the right of unlimited challenge for cause, the right of peremptory challenge to the number of four. The Bishop so appointed shall preside at the trial and appoint a Secretary who shall keep a correct record of the proceedings and the testimony. The Court, as thus constituted, shall have full power to try the accused and by a majority vote suspend him from the functions of his office; to depose him from his office, or the ministry or both or expel him from the church, or in case of minor offenses to fix a lesser penalty. Its findings shall be final, subject to appeal to the General Conference as hereinafter provided and shall be reported to the General Conference for entry on its Journal; and the records of the trial, including the testimony, shall be signed by the President and Secretary and shall be placed in the custody of the Secretary of the General Conference together with all the documents in the case for preservation with the papers of the General Conference and shall be the basis of any appeal which may be taken.

§ 3. In case of appeal the General Conference, either in executive session or through the Committee on Judiciary, shall review the evidence, the findings and the sentence, and take such action as the facts and law may warrant. No oral or additional documentary evidence shall be permitted to be presented at the General Conference.

§ 4. In all cases of complaint filed against a Bishop in the General Conference notice shall be given to him and to the Secretary of the General Conference by registered mail at least thirty days before the first day of May in the year in which the General Conference shall meet. Otherwise such complaints shall not be considered at the General Conference, except in cases which, in its judgment shall merit attention; however, it may assume original jurisdiction in any case and provide for trial either by a court composed of members of the General Conference or Triers of Appeals as provided in §§ 1 and 2.

§ 5. In case of challenge of any of the Triers of Appeals for cause which shall be sustained by the Bishop presiding at the trial, reducing the number below twelve, additional Triers of Appeals from other contiguous Conferences may be summoned by him to take the place of the members challenged so that the membership of the Trial Court shall consist of not fewer than twelve members.

§ 6. In cases in which the General Conference shall elect to try the accused by a Court composed of members of the General Conference, the Conference shall appoint for the purpose a select number of its own members, who shall be ministers, to consist of not more than seventeen nor fewer than twelve. The Church and the accused having the right to challenge for cause; the accused shall have peremptory challenges to the number of four. The Court, as thus constituted, shall have the powers mentioned in § 2. Its findings shall be final, subject to appeal to the General Conference on questions of law only and shall be reported to the General Conference for entry on its Journal; and the records of trial shall be placed in the custody of the Secretary of the General Conference and for use in case of appeal.

§ 7. When charges against a Bishop which could not have been investigated and tried within thirty days of the first day of the session of the General Conference are presented directly to the General Conference, said charges shall be filed with the Secretary of the General Conference in the same manner as memorials and shall be referred to the Committee on Episcopacy, which Committee shall duly consider said charges and shall make report to the General Conference with recommendations, either that the charges be not entertained or that trial be ordered under §§ 1 and 2, or 6 of this paragraph.

¶ 292. A Bishop suspended or deposed from his Episcopal office in accordance with the provisions of ¶ 291, §§ 2 or 6, shall have no claim upon the Episcopal Fund for salary, house rent, or any other expenses from the date of such suspension; but in case he is thereafter found by the General Conference not guilty of the charge or charges for which he was suspended or deposed, his claim upon the Episcopal Fund for the period during which he was deprived of the functions of his office shall be paid to him.

¶ 293. If an alleged offense has been committed beyond the bounds of any District, the District Superintendent within the bounds of whose District the Bishop resides shall proceed as hereinbefore provided.

Chapter II. 1. Investigation and Trial of a Bishop Elected by a Central Conference or of a Missionary Bishop ¶ 294, § 1. If a Missionary Bishop be accused of a violation of any of the offenses enumerated in ¶ 300 during the interval between the sessions of the General Conference, the District Superintendent of the Annual Conference, Mission Conference, or Mission, within which the offense is alleged to have been committed shall call to his aid the Triers of Appeals of the Conference or Mission as a Committee of Investigation who shall inquire into the case, and if in the judgment of a majority of them the accusations appear to be well founded, they shall prepare and sign the proper charges in the case, and shall send the same to the nearest effective Bishop or effective Missionary Bishop, and a copy thereof to the accused.

The said Bishop or Missionary Bishop shall call not less than eleven or more than fifteen Effective Elders, all of whom shall be Missionaries under the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, to form a court for the trial of the alleged charges, and a Bishop or Missionary Bishop shall preside over the same. The accused shall have the right of peremptory challenge, yet so as not to reduce the number below nine.

§ 2. In case of challenge of any of the Effective Elders for cause which shall be sustained by the Bishop presiding at the trial reducing the number below nine, additional Effective Elders from other contiguous Conferences or Missions shall be summoned by him to take the place of the members challenged so that the membership of the trial Court shall consist of not fewer than nine members. The presiding Bishop shall appoint a Secretary who shall keep a correct record of the proceedings and the testimony. The Court, as thus constituted, shall have full power to try the accused and by a majority vote to suspend him from the functions of his office, depose him from his office, or from the ministry or both, or expel him from the church, or in the case of minor offenses to fix a lesser penalty. Its findings shall be final, subject to appeal to the General Conference as hereinafter provided, and shall be reported to the General Conference for entry in its Journal; and the records of the trial, including the testimony, shall be signed by the President and Secretary and shall be placed in the custody of the Secretary of the General Conference together with all the documents in the case for preservation with the papers of the General Conference and shall be the basis of any appeal which may be taken.

§ 3. In Annual Conferences, Mission Conferences, or Missions outside the United States, the District Superintendent within whose district the offense is said to have been committed shall call to his aid the Triers of Appeals of the Annual Conference, Mission Conference or Mission as the Committee of Investigation; and the Court, in the case of a Mission Conference or Mission shall consist of Effective Elders, all of whom shall be Missionaries under the Board of Foreign Missions, from one or two other Annual Conferences, Mission Conferences, or Missions, either or both selected by the Bishop appointed to convene the Court. In all other respects the Investigation and Trial shall conform to the provisions contained in §§ 1 and 2 hereof.

¶ 295. A Missionary Bishop suspended or deposed in accordance with the provision of ¶ 294 shall have no claim upon the Episcopal Fund for salary, house rent, or any other expenses from the date of such suspension; but in case he is thereafter found by the General Conference not guilty of the charge or charges for which he was suspended or deposed his claim upon the Episcopal Fund for the period during which he was deprived of the functions of his office shall be paid.

¶ 296. The several Central Conferences shall make suitable rules for the investigation and trial of charges against Bishops elected by them. In the absence of such rules the same proceedings shall be followed as are hereinabove set forth for the investigation and trial of Missionary Bishops, except that the Effective Elders, forming the Trial Court, shall be members of an Annual or Mission Conference or Mission within the Central Conference; and the appeal shall be to the Central Conference; in case of Trial by a Central Conference, the procedure set forth in ¶ 291, § 6 shall be followed.

¶ 297. When charges against a Missionary Bishop are presented directly to the General Conference, the General Conference shall try the accused in the same manner as is prescribed for the trial of a Bishop.

Chapter III. Trial of a Member of an Annual Conference

Note—In all matters of Judicial Administration the rights, duties and responsibilities of Members of Mission Conferences are the same as those in Annual Conferences, and the procedure is the same.

¶ 305, § 1. The several Annual Conferences shall at each session elect five Elders, men of experience and sound judgment in the affairs of the Church, who shall be known as Triers of Appeals, and also two reserve Triers of Appeals.

The reserves shall serve in the absence or disqualification of the principals.

§ 2. If a Member of an Annual Conference, in the interval between sessions of that body, shall be accused of any of the offenses enumerated in ¶ 300, his District Superintendent, or the Superintendent of the District within the bounds of which such acts are alleged to have taken place, shall call the Triers of Appeals of the Annual Conference as a Committee to investigate the same, and, if possible, bring the accused and accuser face to face; the accused shall have the right to make a statement in his own behalf, but shall not present any witnesses. The District Superintendent shall preside throughout the proceedings, and shall certify and declare the judgment of the Committee.

§ 3. If the accused is a District Superintendent, the Resident Bishop shall call in the Superintendent of any other District of the Annual Conference, who shall call in the Triers of Appeals of the Annual Conference of which the accused is a Member, as a Committee to investigate the case; and he shall preside at the investigation; but in case there is only one District Superintendent in the Conference, or if the other District Superintendents are so related to the case as to make it improper for any one of them to serve, then the Bishop in Charge shall appoint an Elder to act in the case.

§ 4. If in either case, in the judgment of a majority of the Triers of Appeals there is reasonable ground for such accusation, they shall prepare and sign the proper charges, unless they are previously prepared, shall send a copy of the same to the accused, shall give notice thereof to the Resident Bishop and Secretary of the Annual Conference of which the accused is a Member, together with a copy of the charges. They shall, if the evidence warrants it, suspend the accused from all ministerial services and Church privileges until the trial of the charges.

§ 5. The Resident Bishop shall, within sixty days after the receipt of a copy of such charges, appoint counsel for the Church and notify the accused in writing to meet at a fixed time and place not less than ten days after service of such notice to select the Effective Elders who shall try the charges presented. At the appointed time the Bishop, upon nomination of a majority of the District Superintendents, shall in the presence of the accused and his counsel, if requested, and counsel for the Church, select twelve Effective Elders of the Annual Conference of which the accused is a member. The counsel for the Church and the accused shall each have peremptory challenges to the number of four, and challenges for cause without limit. In case by reason of challenges, which are sustained, the number is reduced below nine, additional Effective Elders shall be named to take the place of the members challenged so that the membership of the Trial Court shall consist of not fewer than nine members. The Resident Bishop shall also fix the time and place for the trial, notice of which shall be given in writing by the counsel for the Church fifteen days in advance of the time fixed. The Resident Bishop or another Bishop, appointed by him, shall preside at the Trial. The Presiding Bishop shall appoint a Secretary who shall keep a correct record of the proceedings and of the testimony. The Court, thus constituted, shall have full power to try the accused and to suspend him from the functions of his office, to depose him from his office or the ministry or both, or expel him from the Church or in case of minor offenses to fix a lesser penalty as it may deem his offense warrants. Its finding shall be final, subject to appeal to the Judicial Conference as hereinafter provided. It shall make a faithful report in writing of all its proceedings, duly attested by the President and Secretary of the Committee, to the Secretary of the Annual Conference for entry in its Journal and deliver up to him therewith the bill of charges, the evidence taken, and the decision rendered, with all documents brought into the trial.

§ 6. In the case of the illness of a Resident Bishop, or absence from his Area, the duties placed upon him in this paragraph shall be performed by any Resident Bishop of a contiguous Area to whom notice is given.

¶ 299. The Annual Conference, at its discretion, may try an accused Member by one of the following methods.

§ 1. The trial, including the examination of witnesses, may be by the Conference in executive session.

§ 2. The Bishop may appoint an Elder as a Commissioner to take the evidence in the case, in whole or in part; said Commissioner shall cause a correct record of the proceedings in the case and of the evidence taken by a stenographer where possible signed by the witnesses respectively, to be laid before the Annual Conference; upon which evidence and such other evidence as may be admitted the case shall be determined.

§ 3. The Conference may appoint from its Members a Select Number of not less than nine nor more than eleven, to try the accused, who shall have the right of unlimited challenge for cause and the peremtory challenge of three, which Select Number, in the presence of a Bishop, or of a Chairman whom the President of the Conference shall have appointed, and one of the Secretaries of the Conference, shall constitute the Court. The Court, thus constituted, shall have full power to try the accused and to suspend him from the functions of his office, to depose him from his office or the ministry or both or expel him from the church or fix a lesser penalty as it may deem his offense warrants. Its finding shall be final, subject to appeal to the Judicial Conference, as hereinafter provided. It shall make a faithful report in writing of all its proceedings, duly attested by the President and Secretary of the Select Number, to the Secretary of the Annual Conference for entry in its Journal before its final adjournment, and deliver up to him therewith the bill of charges, the evidence taken, and the decision rendered, with all documents brought into the trial.

§ 4. If a case cannot be tried during the session for want of testimony, the Annual Conference shall appoint the Select Number, as set forth in § 3, to try the accused, the Triers of Appeals shall prepare the charges and the Conference shall determine whether the case is of such gravity as to require that the Minister be left without appointment until the Trial shall be held. The Select Committee shall proceed as in ¶ 299, § 3 and make its report to the ensuing Annual Conference.

§ 5. In all cases of trial under ¶ 299, §§ 1, 2, or 3, the Triers of Appeals shall prepare the charges unless such charges have been already prepared.

§ 6. If in any trial the Court finds that the evidence does not sustain the charges as made, but does show that the accused has been guilty of improper or unministerial conduct, it may so declare, and may suspend the offender from all ministerial functions until the ensuing session of his Annual Conference, at which the penalty shall be fixed by the said Conference.

Chapter IV. Offenses for Which a Bishop or Member of an Annual Conference May Be Tried

(Bishops in this Chapter includes a Bishop elected by the General Conference, or by a Central Conference or a Missionary Bishop.)

¶ 300. A Bishop or Minister shall be liable to accusation and trial upon any of the following charges:

(a) Immorality or crime.

(b) Disseminating, public or privately, doctrines which are contrary to the Articles of Religion or the established standards of doctrine. Charges under this heading shall be designated "Teaching contrary to the standards of the Church," and shall be signed by five Elders, three of whom have heard or read the statements upon which the charges are based.

(c) Habitual neglect of the exercise of his Episcopal or Ministerial office, without proper cause.

(d) Imprudent and Unministerial conduct.

(e) Disobedience to the order and Discipline of the Church.

(f) In the case of a Bishop or Minister convicted in a Civil or Criminal Court involving moral turpitude the Triers of Appeals shall institute an inquiry into the matter. If, in the judgment of a majority of appropriate Triers of Appeals, there is sufficient reason, they shall prefer charges and proceed as in ¶ 291, if the accused is a Bishop, or ¶ 298 or 299 if the accused is a Minister. No charge shall be entertained for any alleged offense which shall not have been committed within five years immediately preceding the filing of the complaint, except in cases where there is a conviction in a Civil or Criminal Court, and in such cases the charges must be filed within one year after the entry of the final judgment.

¶ 301. Any Member of an Annual Conference who shall hold religious service within the bounds of any Pastoral Charge, when requested by the Preacher in Charge not to hold such service, shall be deemed guilty of disobedience to the order and discipline of the Church; and if, after admonition by the Superintendent of the District within which the offense has been committed, he shall not refrain from such conduct, he shall be liable to charges and investigation, and trial.

¶ 302. If a Member of an Annual Conference is charged with disseminating publicly or privately, doctrines which are contrary to our Articles of Religion, or our other existing and established standards of doctrine, and the Minister so offending shall solemnly promise the Triers of Appeals not to disseminate such erroneous doctrines in public or private, they may waive suspension, that the case may be laid before the next Annual Conference, which shall determine the matter.

¶ 303. Whenever specific complaint is made in writing and signed by five responsible persons (of whom three have heard or read the statements upon which the charge is based), members or Ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church, charging a Teacher in one of our Theological Schools, who is a Minister, with violating his pledge to the Bishops of loyalty to our doctrine and polity, said complaint shall be lodged with the Superintendent within whose District the accused holds his Quarterly Conference membership, who shall carefully consider the same; and if in his opinion the complaint is of sufficient gravity to require an investigation, he shall immediately proceed according to the provisions of the Discipline in ¶ 298.

¶ 304. If the Teacher referred to in ¶ 303 is a Lay Member or Local Preacher, the complaint shall be lodged with the Preacher in Charge of the Church to which the said Teacher belongs, who shall proceed in accordance with the provisions of the Discipline for the investigation or trial of members or Local Preachers.

¶ 305. If a Bishop or Member of an Annual Conference fails to do the work to which he was duly appointed, except in case of sickness, serious disability, or other unavoidable circumstances, the District Superintendent shall proceed, if a Bishop, as directed in ¶ 291, if a member of an Annual Conference as directed in ¶ 298. If the District Superintendent fails to do so, he shall be accountable therefor to the next Annual Conference.

¶ 306. In cases of improper temper, words, or actions, the Minister so offending shall be admonished by his senior in office. Should a second transgression take place, one or more Ministers are to be taken as witnesses. If he continues to offend, the District Superintendent shall proceed as directed in ¶ 298, § 2.

¶ 307. Any Member of an Annual Conference, residing beyond the bounds of his own Conference, shall be subject to the investigation and trial prescribed in ¶ 298, under the authority of the Superintendent of the District within which he resides or within which he is employed. And the Committee of Investigation shall consist of the Triers of Appeals of that Conference. If he reside or be employed within the bounds of a Mission, he shall be subject to investigation under the authority of the Superintendent of the District within which he holds his Quarterly Conference Membership or of the Superintendent of the Mission and the Triers of Appeals of the same. If he is the Superintendent of the Mission, the Bishop or Missionary Bishop in charge shall appoint an Elder to act in the case.

¶ 308. An Annual Conference may entertain and try charges against its Members though no investigation upon them has been held or though the investigation has not resulted in suspension, due notice having been given the accused.

¶ 309. Whenever a Member of an Annual Conference is by the unanimous action of the District Superintendents adjudged to be so unacceptable, inefficient, or indifferent, or whose ministry is so seriously impaired for any other reason as to be no longer useful in the ministry, or engages in secular business, they shall notify him in writing of their judgment, at least six months before the meeting of his Annual Conference and ask him to request his location. If he refuses, the District Superintendents may certify the facts to the Committee on Conference Relations, who shall report their findings to the Annual Conference for such action as it deems wise. If the Committee on Conference Relations reports that the Member be located and the Annual Conference approves the report, he shall, by this action, be located. However, if such located preacher remain a Member of the Methodist Episcopal Church in good standing until age sixty-five he shall be held to have the right to his annuity based on the years of his effective ministry subject to the action of the Annual Conference. He shall have the right to appeal within six months to a Judicial Conference.

II. Maladministration

(All complaints under this Division shall be designated "Maladministration.")

¶ 310, § 1. Complaint against the administration of a Bishop or Missionary Bishop may be forwarded to the General Conference and entertained there; provided at least thirty days' notice in writing shall have been given to the accused and the Secretary of the General Conference.

§ 2. Complaint against the administration of a Bishop elected by a Central Conference shall be heard in the Central Conference where the alleged error in administration occurred subject to appeal to the General Conference.

§ 3. A Minister shall be answerable to his Conference on a charge of corrupt, negligent, or partisan administration, but not for errors in judgment. The violation of the advice concerning Divorce, in ¶ 70 of the Discipline, shall be considered an act of Maladministration.

§ 4. Errors or defects in Judicial Proceedings shall be duly considered when presented on appeal. But Errors of Law or Administration connected with investigations under ¶ 298, which are not followed by Trials at Conference, and Errors of Law made by a District Superintendent in cases of appeal, are to be corrected by the President of the next Annual Conference on appeal in open session, and the Conference may also order just and suitable remedies, if injury has resulted from such errors.

§ 5. Errors of Administration, not connected with Judicial Proceedings, may be presented in writing to the Annual Conference for its judgment thereon, and the Annual Conference may order just and suitable remedies when the rights of Ministers or members of the Church have been injuriously affected by such errors.

Status of a Bishop or Minister Deposed or Expelled

¶ 311. In case a Bishop or any Member of an Annual Conference shall have been deposed from the Ministry without being expelled from the Church, he shall have his membership in the Church where he resided at the time of his deposition.

¶ 312. In case a Bishop or any Member of an Annual Conference shall have been deposed from the Ministry or expelled from the Church for teaching publicly or privately doctrines contrary to our Articles of Religion, or our other present existing and established standards of doctrines, he shall not again be licensed to preach until, if he is a Minister, he shall have satisfied the Conference from which he was deposed or expelled; or if he is a Bishop he shall have satisfied the Conference from which he was elected Bishop, and in either case shall have promised in writing to desist wholly from disseminating such doctrine.

¶ 313. After a Bishop or Minister shall have been tried regularly and expelled he shall have no privileges of Society or Sacraments in our Church, without contrition, reformation, and confession, satisfactory to the Annual Conference by which he was expelled, if a Minister; and to the Conference from which he was elected, if a Bishop.

¶ 314. When a Bishop is accused of any of the offenses named in ¶ 300 and desires to withdraw from the Church, the General Conference may permit him to withdraw; in which case the record shall be "Withdrawn under Complaints." If formal charges have been presented, he may be permitted to withdraw; in which case the record shall be, "Withdrawn under Charges"; and if thus "Withdrawn under Complaints," or "Withdrawn under Charges," his relation to the Church shall be the same as if he had been expelled.

¶ 315. When a Member of an Annual Conference is accused of any of the offenses enumerated in ¶ 300 and desires to withdraw from the Church, the Annual Conference may permit him to withdraw under the same conditions as are set forth in ¶ 314.

Chapter V. Trial of a Preacher on Trial

¶ 316. A Preacher on Trial in an Annual Conference, in reference to Amenability and Appeal is considered as a Local Preacher; but in his case the District Superintendent shall perform the duties which are assigned to the Preacher in Charge in the case of an accused Local Preacher.

Chapter VI. Trial of a Deaconess

¶ 317, § 1. When a Deaconess is accused of any violation of a moral law, the District Superintendent under whose supervision she works shall call a Committee of three or more for investigation. This Committee shall consist of one representative of the Deaconess administration under which the accused serves, and two or more members of the Annual Conference Deaconess Board of which the accused is a member. She shall appear before this Committee, and if charges are sustained, she shall be suspended from all deaconess services until the next regular meeting of the Annual Conference Deaconess Board, or until a special meeting of said Board shall be held. If the accused be found guilty, the Annual Conference Deaconess Board shall suspend, or deprive her of office and credentials. A Deaconess may be tried by an Annual Conference Deaconess Board without preliminary investigation, provided fifteen days' written notice shall have been given her.

§ 2. In case of improper temper, words, actions or disloyalty to the rules and regulations of the administration or other organization with which she serves, the Deaconess so offending shall be admonished by the President of the Annual Conference Deaconess Board. If she continues to offend, the case shall be investigated as provided in § 1, or she shall be tried at the next meeting of the Annual Conference Deaconess Board or at a special meeting of the Annual Conference Deaconess Board and, if found guilty and impenitent, she shall be expelled from her Deaconess relationship.

§ 3. If a Deaconess shall contract debts which she is not able to pay, the president of the Annual Conference Deaconess Board shall appoint three judicious members of the Annual Conference Deaconess Board to consider her accounts, contracts, and circumstances. If, in their opinion, she has behaved dishonestly, or contracted debts without the probability of paying, the same procedure shall be followed as defined in §§ 1 or 2 of this Chapter.

Chapter VII. Trial of a Local Preacher

¶ 318. When a Local Preacher, ordained or unordained, is accused of any of the offenses enumerated in ¶ 326, the Preacher in Charge shall call a committee of Investigation, consisting of three or more Local Preachers, before which it shall be the duty of the accused to appear, and by which, if the charge be sustained, he shall be suspended from all ministerial services and Church privileges until the next District or Quarterly Conference; which Conference shall try the case, and if the accused be found guilty the Conference shall suspend, deprive of ministerial office and credentials, or expel him. But a Local Preacher may be tried by a District or Quarterly Conference without preliminary investigation, provided at least fifteen days' notice in writing shall have been given him.

¶ 319. Should the District Conference, having jurisdiction in the case of an accused Local Preacher judge it expedient to try him by a Select Number, it may appoint not less than nine nor more than fifteen of its members for that purpose, the accused having the right of challenge for cause; which Select Number, in the presence of the President of the District Conference, or of an Elder, appointed by him, and a Secretary, appointed by the said Conference, shall have full power to consider and determine the case according to the rules applicable thereto; and the Secretary shall make a correct report in writing of all the proceedings and evidence to the Secretary of the District Conference, and shall deliver to him all the papers in the case.

¶ 320, § 1. In case of improper temper, words, or actions, the Local Preacher so offending shall be admonished by the Preacher in Charge. Should a second transgression take place, one or two members of the Church are to be taken as witnesses. If he continues to offend, the case shall be investigated as provided in ¶ 318 or he shall be tried at the next District or Quarterly Conference, and, if found guilty and impenitent, he shall be expelled from the Church.

§ 2. If, on due trial by the District or Quarterly Conference, a Local Preacher be found neglectful of his duties as a Local Preacher or unacceptable in his Ministry, he may be deprived of his ministerial office, in which case, if he be ordained, the District Superintendent shall require him to deliver up his credentials, that they may be returned to the Annual Conference.

§ 3. A Local Preacher who shall hold religious services within the bounds of a Pastoral Charge, when requested by the Preacher in Charge not to do so, shall be deemed guilty of imprudent conduct, and if he persist, after admonition by the Superintendent of the District within which the offense has been committed, he may be brought to investigation or trial, either or both of which may take place in the said Charge under the proper officers of the Church where the forbidden service has been held.

¶ 321. If a Local Preacher disseminates, publicly or privately, doctrines which are contrary to our Articles of Religion, or our other present existing and established standards of doctrine, the same procedure shall be observed as is prescribed in ¶ 318.

NOTE—Touching complaints against a Local Preacher for erroneous teaching in a Theological School, see ¶ 304.

¶ 322. If a Local Preacher shall fail in business, or contract debts which he is not able to pay, the Preacher in Charge shall appoint three judicious members of the Church, one of whom shall be the Trier of Appeals to inspect the accounts, contracts, and circumstances of the supposed delinquent; and if, in their opinion, he has behaved dishonestly, or contracted debts without a reasonable probability of paying, the same procedure shall be observed as is prescribed in ¶¶ 318, 319.

¶ 323. If, in the judgment of the District Superintendent a fair and impartial trial cannot be had in the Quarterly Conference where the accused holds his membership, the District Superintendent shall refer the case for trial to some other Quarterly Conference within the bounds of his District.

¶ 324. If the trial is by the Quarterly Conference, the accused shall have the right of challenge for cause. If by reason of said challenge or other cause the number of the members of the Quarterly Conference present shall fall below seven, which number shall be required for a quorum in any such trial, the Quarterly Conference, if the District Superintendent so request, shall adjourn to a subsequent date, to be named by him, to try the case; or, the District Superintendent may refer it to some other Quarterly Conference in his District.

¶ 325, § 1. In Missions in the United States, its Territories, and insular possessions the power to try Local Preachers shall remain with the respective Quarterly Conferences; but Local Preachers so tried and convicted shall have the right of appeal to the Annual Meeting of the Mission.

§ 2. The Ministerial members of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension shall constitute a Judicial Conference to hear appeals of Local Preachers convicted at an Annual Meeting of a Mission. A Bishop shall preside over such Judicial Conference.

Chapter VIII. Trial of a Church Member

Offenses for which a lay member may be tried

¶ 326, § 1. A member shall be liable to accusation and trial upon any of the following charges:

(a) Immorality or crime.

(b) Disseminating, publicly or privately, doctrines which are contrary to the Articles of Religion or the established standards of doctrine, and Charges under this heading shall be designated, "Teaching Contrary to the Standards of the Church" and shall be signed by five Ministers or Laymen, three of whom have heard or read the matter upon which the charge is based.

(c) Disobedience to the order and Discipline of the Church.

(d) In the case of a member convicted in a Civil or Criminal Court involving moral turpitude the Preacher in Charge with two lay members (one of whom shall be the Trier of Appeals) shall institute an inquiry into the matter. If, in the judgment of the Committee, there is sufficient reason to proceed, they shall prefer charges.

No charge shall be entertained for any alleged offense which shall not have been committed within five years immediately preceding the filing of the complaint except in cases where there is a conviction in a Civil or Criminal Court and in such case the charges must be filed within one year after the entry of the final judgment.

§ 2. A member of the Church, who, after private reproof and admonition by the Pastor or Class Leader, persists in using, buying, or selling intoxicating liquors as a beverage, or who signs a petition in favor of granting a license for the sale of such liquors, or who signs a petition of consent for the sale of such liquors, or who applies for a license for the sale of such liquors, or who as attorney or otherwise procures a license for himself or another for the sale of such liquors, or who becomes bondsman of any person or persons engaged in such traffic, or who rents his property as a place in which, or on which, to manufacture or sell intoxicating liquors, shall be brought to trial, and if found guilty he evinces no real humiliation, he shall be expelled.

IMPRUDENT CONDUCT

¶ 327. In cases of neglect of duties of any kind; imprudent conduct; indulging in sinful tempers or words; "taking such diversions as cannot be used in the name of the Lord Jesus"; or disobedience to the order and Discipline of the Church; on the first offense, let private reproof be given by the Pastor or Class Leader, and if there be an acknowledgment of the fault and proper humiliation, the person may be borne with. On further offense the Pastor or Class Leader may take with him one or two discreet members of the Church. On continued offense let him be brought to trial, and if found guilty he evinces no real humiliation, he shall be expelled (¶ 71).

NEGLECT OF MEANS OF GRACE

¶ 328. If a member of the Church shall habitually neglect the means of grace, such as the Public Worship of God, the Lord's Supper, family and private prayer, searching the Scriptures, class meeting and prayer meeting, the Preacher in Charge shall visit him and explain to him the consequences if he continue his neglect. If he does not amend, he shall be brought to trial, and if found guilty of willful neglect he shall be expelled.

CAUSING DISSENSION

¶ 329. If a member of the Church shall be accused of endeavoring to sow dissension in the Church by inveighing against its Doctrines or Discipline, its Ministers or Members, or in any other manner, the person so offending shall first be reproved by the Preacher in Charge; and if he persists in such pernicious practice, he shall be brought to trial, and, if found guilty, shall be expelled.

DISAGREEMENT IN BUSINESS—ARBITRATION

¶ 330, § 1. In case of any disagreement between two or more members of the Church concerning business transactions, which cannot be settled by the parties, the Preacher in Charge shall inquire into the circumstances of the case, and shall recommend to the parties that such disagreement be submitted to arbitration. If this method of settlement be agreed upon, one arbitrator shall be chosen by each party, and the two shall choose a third. The said arbitrators shall be members of our Church, who have no personal or pecuniary interests in the result. The Preacher in Charge shall preside, and the Disciplinary forms of trial shall be observed. If either party refuses to abide by the judgment of the arbitrators, he shall be brought to trial, and if he fail to show sufficient cause for such refusal, he shall be expelled.

§ 2. If any member of the Church, in case of debt or other dispute, shall refuse to refer the matter to arbitration, when recommended to do so by the Preacher in Charge, or shall enter into a law suit with another member before these measures are taken, he shall be brought to trial, and if he fail to show that the case is of such a nature as to require and justify such a course, he shall be expelled.

§ 3. If, in the case of debt or dispute, one of the parties is a Minister, the duties assigned to the Preacher in Charge in this paragraph shall be performed by the District Superintendent of the Minister concerned. If both be Ministers, the District Superintendent of either may act in the case.

FRAUD AND DISHONESTY

¶ 331, § 1. Preachers in Charge are required to execute faithfully the rules against all frauds, and particularly against dishonest insolvencies, suffering no one to remain in the Church who is found guilty of fraud.

§ 2. To prevent scandal, when any member of the Church fails in business, or contracts debts which he is not able to pay, two or three judicious members of the Church, designated by the Preacher in Charge, shall inspect the accounts, contracts, and circumstances of the supposed delinquent; and if they believe that he has behaved dishonestly, or borrowed money without a reasonable probability of paying, he shall be brought to trial, and, if found guilty, shall be expelled.

¶ 332. In all the foregoing cases of trial enumerated in this chapter the accused member shall be brought to trial before a Committee of not less than seven members of the Church. They shall be chosen by the Quarterly Conference or Official Board by ballot. The accused may challenge for cause and in case of such challenge, if the Preacher in Charge judge it advisable for the obtaining of a fair trial, he shall call in seven Triers of Appeals from any part of the District. The Preacher in Charge shall preside at the trial.

PENALTIES

¶ 333. If the accused person be found guilty by the decision of a majority of the Committee, the Preacher in Charge shall then and there pronounce the sentence of expulsion.

¶ 334. If, in view of mitigating circumstances and of humble and penitent confession or other sufficient reason the Committee find that a lower penalty would be proper, it may impose censure on the offender, at its discretion, or suspend him from all Church privileges for a definite time.

¶ 335. An expelled person shall have no Privileges of Society or of the Sacraments of the Church without confession, contrition, and satisfactory reformation.

Chapter IX. Appeal of a Bishop, a Bishop Elected by a Central Conference or a Missionary Bishop ¶ 336, § 1. A Bishop or a Missionary Bishop shall have the right to appeal to the General Conference in case of an adverse decision by the trial court hereinabove prescribed in such cases; provided, that within thirty days after his conviction he shall notify the Secretary of the General Conference in writing of his intention to appeal, unless such decision shall be rendered within thirty days of the meeting of such Conference, in which case notice shall be given within ten days after his conviction.

§ 2. A Bishop, elected by a Central Conference, shall have the right to appeal to the General Conference in case of an adverse decision by the Central Conference upon the questions of law involved, provided, that within thirty days after the decision of the Central Conference he shall notify the Secretary of the General Conference in writing of his intention to appeal, unless such decision shall be rendered within thirty days of the meeting of such Conference, in which case notice shall be given within ten days after his conviction.

§ 3. All such appeals shall be heard and determined by the General Conference Committee on Judiciary.

§ 4. If during the session of a General Conference a Bishop, or General Superintendent, or a Missionary Bishop shall have been convicted, the General Conference term of service of the Committee on Judiciary shall be automatically extended until it shall have disposed of a possible appeal in any such case.

§ 5. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the General Conference, on receiving notice of such appeal, to inform the senior effective Bishop resident in the United States, whose duty it shall be, after conference with the parties in interest, to fix the time and place for the hearing of the appeal, and to instruct the Secretary of the General Conference to give due notice of the same to all concerned.

Chapter X. Appeal of a Member of an Annual Conference—Judicial Conference

¶ 337, § 1. A Judicial Conference shall determine two questions only:

a. Does the evidence sustain the charge or charges?

b. Were there such errors of law as to vitiate the verdict?

These questions shall be determined by the records of the trial and the argument of counsel for the Church and the accused. They shall in no case hear witnesses nor allow ulterior influences to sway them.

§ 2. For the provision for Election of Triers of Appeals in Annual Conferences, see ¶ 298.

§ 3. In Foreign Missions or Foreign Mission Conferences, remote from other Missions or Conferences, there shall be not less than nine nor more than thirteen Elders selected as Triers of Appeals, and also three reserves, and from these, thus selected, shall be chosen the Triers of Appeals to constitute the Judicial Conference for said body.

§ 4. When notice of an appeal has been given to the President of an Annual Conference, he shall proceed, with due regard to the wishes and rights of the Appellant, to designate three Annual Conferences conveniently near to that from the decision of which the Appeal is taken, and the Triers of Appeals of such Conferences shall constitute a Judicial Conference. He shall fix also the time and place of its sessions. He shall also give notice thereof to the said Triers of Appeals and to all others concerned. Such Judicial Conference shall be competent to hear appeals which may be presented to it from any Conference conveniently near, due notice having been given to all concerned.

The appellant shall have the right of peremptory challenge, yet so that the number of Triers of Appeals present and qualified shall not fall below nine, which number shall be required for a quorum.

¶ 338. A Bishop shall preside in a Judicial Conferenee and shall decide all questions of law arising in its proceedings, subject to an appeal to the General Conference. The Judicial Conference shall appoint a Secretary, who shall keep a faithful record of all the proceedings, and at the close of the hearing shall transmit the records made and the papers submitted in the case, or certified copies thereof, to the Secretary of the General Conference, to be filed for use by the General Conference in case of appeal. In all cases the findings of the Judicial Conference shall be reported by its Secretary to the Secretary of the Annual Conference whose membership is affected thereby, and if no further appeal shall have been taken on a question of law, the same shall be published in the Journal of said Annual Conference.

¶ 339. In all cases of trial and conviction of members of an Annual Conference, an appeal shall be allowed to a Judicial Conference, constituted as hereinbefore prescribed, provided that the intention to appeal shall be signified in writing to the Resident Bishop and the Secretary of the Annual Conference within thirty days after the conviction. Special cases in which six months are allowed for appeal are covered in ¶ 309.

¶ 340. When the case of any Minister who has been suspended or expelled is remanded for a new trial, his suspension from all ministerial functions shall continue until the next ensuing session of the Annual Conference.

¶ 341. Should a Member of an Annual Conference be suspended by a Committee of Investigation or Trial in the interval between the sessions of his Conference, and subsequently be found guilty and deposed or expelled, his claim upon the funds of the Conference shall cease from the time of his suspension. Should a Member of an Annual Conference be suspended, deposed or expelled and afterward be restored, he shall have no claim upon the Pastoral Charge nor upon the funds of the Conference during the period he was deprived of the functions of his office.

¶ 342. The General Conference, on appeal, or on complaint, shall carefully review the decisions of Questions of Law contained in the records and documents transmitted to it from Judicial Conferences; and in case of serious error therein, shall take such action as justice may require. The papers submitted shall be returned by the Secretary of the Committee on Judiciary to the Chairman of the Delegation of the Annual Conference of which the accused is a Member.

Chapter XI. Restoration of Credentials

When Voluntarily Surrendered

¶ 343. When an ordained Minister of any class who is in good standing shall surrender his Credentials for any reason, the Annual Conference at any subsequent time may restore the same upon the recommendation of the District or Quarterly Conference of the Charge in which he has membership as a Local Preacher.

When Involuntarily Surrendered

¶ 344. When a Member of an Annual Conference shall have been deprived of his Credentials, by expulsion or otherwise, they shall be filed with the papers of his Conference. In case the said Member has come from another Church, so that he holds the certificate of our Church, and his original Credentials indorsed by our Church, he shall be required to surrender to his Conference both the certificate of our Church and the original Credentials bearing our indorsement. If at any future time he shall give satisfactory evidence to said Annual Conference of his amendment, and procure a certificate from the Quarterly Conference of the Charge in which he resides, or from an Annual Conference which may have received him on Trial, recommending to the Annual Conference of which he was formerly a Member the restoration of his Credentials, the said Annual Conference may restore them.

¶ 345. When a Local Elder or Deacon shall have been expelled or deprived of his Ministerial Office, the District Superintendent shall require of him the Credentials of his ordination, to be filed with the papers of the Annual Conference within the bounds of which the expulsion has taken place. Should he, at any future time, produce to the Annual Conference a certificate of his restoration, signed by the President and countersigned by the Secretary of his Quarterly Conference, his Credentials may be restored to him.

Chapter XII. Appeal of a Deaconess

¶ 346, § 1. In case of conviction, a Deaconess shall be allowed to appeal to the Board of Hospitals, Homes and Deaconess Work, provided that within thirty days after her conviction, she shall signify in writing to the District Superintendent or President of the Annual Conference Deaconess Board by which she was tried, her determination to appeal. The Board of Hospitals, Homes and Deaconess Work, in full session, or by a special Committee of not less than seven nor more than nine, shall hear the appeal, and its decision shall be the final determination of the case, subject only to an appeal to the General Conference by either party on questions of law.

§ 2. An appeal by a Deaconess from an Annual Conference Deaconess Board within the jurisdiction of a Mission Conference, shall be to the Board of Hospitals, Homes and Deaconess Work.

§ 3. Any bills of charges shall be according to forms prescribed in ¶ 616.

Chapter XIII. Appeal of a Local Preacher

¶ 348. In cases of conviction, a Local Preacher shall be allowed to appeal to the Annual Conference; provided that within thirty days after his conviction he shall signify in writing to the District Superintendent of the District and the President or Secretary of the District or Quarterly Conference by which he was tried, his determination to appeal; upon receiving notice of such appeal the District Superintendent shall fix a time and place to hear the appeal and summon the Triers of Appeals of the Conference for the purpose. The District Superintendent shall preside at the hearing of the Appeal unless he had previously presided at the District Conference where the trial was held—in such case another District Superintendent shall preside or if the other District Superintendents be so related to the case as to make it improper for any one of them to serve, the Resident Bishop shall appoint an Effective Elder to preside. The presiding officer shall appoint a Secretary, and shall pass upon all questions of law, but shall take no part in the decision. The Appellate Court, as thus constituted, shall review the testimony and the questions of law involved. In case the testimony has not been taken in writing it may be offered on behalf of the Church or the accused. The decision of said Triers of Appeals shall be the final determination of the case, subject only to an appeal to the Judicial Conference by either party on questions of law.

¶ 348. An appeal by a Local Preacher from a Quarterly Conference within the jurisdiction of a Mission shall be to the Annual Meeting of the said Mission.

Chapter XIV. Appeal of a Church Member—Court of Appeals

¶ 349, § 1. At the Fourth Quarterly Conference of each year each Pastoral Charge shall select from among the members of the Church one person of experience and sound judgment in the affairs of the church, who shall be known as a Trier of Appeals for Members.

§ 2. When due notice of appeal has been given to the Superintendent of any District, he shall proceed, with due regard to the wishes and rights of the Appellant, to convene a Court of Appeals, which shall be constituted of such of the Triers of Appeals on his District as he shall summon, the number so summoned by him to be not more than fifteen nor less than nine; but the Trier of Appeals of the Charge to which the accused member belongs shall not be one of the number summoned. The District Superintendent shall give not less than ten nor more than thirty days' notice of the time and place at which the Court of Appeals will assemble, and such notice shall be given to all concerned. The Appellant shall have the right of peremptory challenge, provided, that the Triers of Appeals present and ready to proceed with the hearing shall not fall below seven, which number shall constitute a quorum. The District Superintendent shall preside.

§ 3. Said Court of Appeals shall be competent to hear appeals which may be presented to it from any Pastoral Charge on the District, due notice having been given to all concerned.

§ 4. If the District Superintendent shall find the convening of such a Court to be impracticable, or seriously inconvenient to the parties involved, with due regard to the rights and wishes of the Appellant, he shall have the appeal heard by a Quarterly Conference within his District; in which case no one who was in any way connected with the Trial shall sit as a member of the Quarterly Conference, to hear the appeal.

¶ 350. Any member of the Church against whom judgment is rendered by a Committee on Trial may appeal from such judgment to the Court of Appeals for Members as hereinbefore constituted, by giving written notice of his intention to the Preacher in Charge and to the District Superintendent within thirty days after said judgment is rendered.

Chapter XV. General Directions

Testimony and Notice

¶ 351, § 1. The testimony shall be taken by a stenographer, if convenient, and reduced to writing, and certified to by the Presiding Officer and Secretary. The record, which shall include all documents, papers, and evidence in the case, shall be the basis of any appeal which may be taken.

§ 2. The testimony of a witness who is not a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church shall not be rejected on that account.

§ 3. It shall be the duty of a minister and a member of the Church to appear and testify when summoned.

§ 4. The President of any Court before which a case may be pending or the Resident Bishop of an Annual Conference shall have power, whenever the necessity of the parties or of witnesses shall require, to appoint, on the application of either party, a Commissioner or Commissioners, either a minister or layman or both, to examine witnesses; provided due notice of the time and place of taking of such testimony shall have been given to the adverse party, or the Court may appoint one or more of their number to act as Commissioner or Commissioners; Counsel for both parties shall be permitted to examine and cross examine the witness or witnesses whose testimony is thus taken. The Commissioners so appointed shall take such testimony in writing as may be offered by either party.

§ 5. All questions as to relevancy or competency of the testimony so taken shall be determined by the President of the Court when the evidence is to be considered. The testimony properly certified by the signature of the Commissioner or Commissioners shall be transmitted to the Chairman of the Court before which the case is pending.

§ 6. If in any case the accused person, after due notice has been given him, shall refuse or neglect to appear at the time and place set for the hearing, the investigation or trial may proceed in his absence.

§ 7. In all cases wherein it is provided that notice shall be given to a Bishop or District Superintendent and the charges or complaints are against that particular person, then such notice, if a Bishop, shall be given to the Bishop next in seniority, if a District Superintendent, to the Resident Bishop.

RECORDS

¶ 352, § 1. In all investigations or trials the records should be accurate and full; they shall include the proceedings in detail and all the evidence taken stenographically, if possible, including the documents admitted, together with the charges, specifications, and findings, and shall be approved and attested by the President and Secretary. In all investigations the Presiding Officer shall appoint a Secretary to keep a record of the proceedings and documents, of which records, when properly attested, the said Presiding Officer shall be the custodian. The custodian shall deliver the entire record to the President or Secretary of the Conference or Court to which the case shall go for final disposition.

§ 2. In the trial of a member of the Church the Preacher in Charge shall appoint the Secretary, and said Preacher in Charge shall be the custodian of the records, when properly attested. If no appeal be taken, he shall deliver the records to the Recording Steward for preservation. If an appeal be taken, he shall deliver the records to the President of the proper Appellate Court, and after they have been used in this Court they shall be returned by the Secretary to the Recording Steward of the Charge from which they came.

§ 3. The Secretaries of Quarterly, District, and Annual Conferences and of the General Conference shall be the custodians of the records, which in all cases shall be made by them or their assistants, of all trials occurring in their bodies respectively; and in case of appeal they shall deliver said records to the President or Secretary of the proper Appellate Court. After the said appeal has been heard, the records shall be returned to the Conference from which they came.

COUNSEL

¶ 353. In all cases of investigation or trial the accused shall be entitled to appear and to be represented by Counsel of his own selection and to be heard in oral or written argument. Such Counsel shall be a member of an Annual Conference, if the accused is a Bishop or a member of an Annual Conference, or a member in good standing in the Methodist Episcopal Church, if the accused be a lay member.

¶ 354, § 1. In all cases where counsel has not been provided for either the Church or the accused such Counsel shall be appointed as follows:

§ 2. In the investigation of a Bishop or of a Missionary Bishop, Counsel shall be appointed by the officer presiding; and in case of a trial by the General Conference Counsel shall be appointed by it. Such Counsel shall be an Effective Elder or Elders.

§ 3. In the investigation of a Member of an Annual Conference, Counsel shall be appointed by the District Superintendent; and in case of trial the appointment shall be by the Resident Bishop or President of the Annual Conference. In either case such Counsel shall be Members of an Annual Conference.

§ 4. In all other cases, Counsel shall be appointed by the Presiding Officer and shall be members of an Annual Conference or members in good standing in the Methodist Episcopal Church.

CHARGES

¶ 355, § 1. Amendments may be made to a bill of charges up to the time of the opening of the trial, at the discretion of the Presiding Officer, provided they relate to the form of statement only and do not change the nature of the alleged offense and do not introduce new matter of which the accused has not had due notice.

§ 2. Amendments to charges against Members of an Annual Conference shall be presented and ruled upon by the Presiding Officer before the case is committed to the Select Number for trial.

§ 3. A charge of slander shall not be entertained unless signed by the person alleged to have been slandered.

§ 4. Charges and specifications for the trial of a Bishop, Minister, Local Preacher, Deaconess or Member shall define the offense by its generic term as set forth in ¶ 616.

TRIALS

¶ 356, § 1. In all cases of investigation or trial at least fifteen days' notice in writing shall be given to the persons accused. Notice shall be given also to such witnesses as either party may name, and shall be issued in the name of the Church and be signed by the President of the tribunal which is to investigate or try the case. Said notification shall be delivered personally or sent by registered mail to the last known post-office address of the person to be notified.

§ 2. In all cases, sufficient time shall be allowed for the person to appear at the given place and time, and for the accused to prepare for the investigation or trial. The President of the tribunal to investigate or try the case shall decide what constitutes "sufficient time."

§ 3. In all cases of investigation or trial both parties shall have the right of challenge for cause. It shall be the duty of the Presiding Officer to see, if possible, that there be present a sufficient number of properly qualified persons as substitutes to prevent the number from being reduced below that required for the investigation or trial.

§ 4. As soon as the Court has convened the accused shall be called upon by the Chairman to plead to the charge and his pleas shall be duly recorded; and on his neglect or refusal to plead, the plea of not guilty shall be entered for him, and the trial shall proceed; provided, that for sufficient cause the Court may adjourn from time to time as convenience or necessity may require and provided, also, that the accused shall, at all times during the trial, have liberty to be present, except as hereinafter mentioned, and in due time and order to produce his testimony and to make his defense.

§ 5. The Court shall be a continuing body until the final disposition of the charge. In case any member of the Court shall be unable to attend all of the sessions, he shall not vote upon the final determination of the case, but in such case the remainder of the Committee may proceed to judgment and it shall require a majority of the original membership of the Court to sustain the charges.

§ 6. All objections to the regularity of the proceedings and the form and substance of charges and specifications shall be made at the first session of the trial. The Court, upon the filing of such objection, shall, or on its own motion may, determine all such preliminary objections and may dismiss the case or permit, in the furtherance of truth and justice, amendments to the specifications or charges not changing the general nature of the same.

§ 7. Objections of any party to the proceedings shall be entered on the record.

§ 8. A charge shall not allege more than one offense; several charges against the same person, however, with the specifications under each of them, may be presented at one and the same time and may be tried together. When several charges are tried at the same time a vote on each specification and charge must be separately taken.

§ 9. No witness afterwards to be examined except a member of the Court shall be present during the examination of another witness, if the opposing party objects. Witnesses shall be examined, first by the party producing them; then cross-examined by the opposite party, after which any member of the Court or either party may put additional questions. Irrelevant or frivolous questions shall not be admitted, nor leading questions by the parties producing the witnesses except under permission of the Court as necessary to elicit the truth.

§ 10. In case of investigation, trial or appeal the Presiding Officer shall not deliver a charge, reviewing or explaining the evidence or setting forth the merits of the case. He shall remain and preside until the judgment is expressed, the findings completed, and the record signed; but without expressing any opinion on the law or facts unless the parties in interest be called in. Counsel and witnesses shall withdraw and not return unless recalled for the above mentioned purpose.

§ 11. Where possible the witness shall be asked to make the form of oath or affirmation as set forth in the Appendix.

FORM OF OATH

I, ... a witness summoned to testify on the trial of a charge against ....., now pending, do most solemnly call God to witness that the evidence I am about to give shall be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, so help me God.

or if preferred the witness may make affirmation in form—

I, ... a witness summoned to testify on the trial of a charge against ....., now pending, do most solemnly declare and affirm that the evidence I am about to give shall be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, and I do affirm.

APPEALS

¶ 356, § 1. An appeal shall not be allowed in any case in which the accuser has failed or refused to be present in person or by counsel at his trial. Appeals, regularly taken, shall be heard by the proper Appellate Court unless it shall appear to the said Court that the Appellant has forfeited his right to appeal by misconduct, such as refusal to abide by the findings of the Committee of Investigation, or of the Trial Court or withdrawal from the Church, or failure to appear in person or by counsel to prosecute the appeal, or prior to the final decision on appeal from his conviction resorting to suit in the Civil Courts against the Complainant or any of the parties connected with the Ecclesiastical Court in which he was tried.

§ 2. The right of appeal when once forfeited by neglect or otherwise cannot be revived by any subsequent Appellate Court.

§ 3. The right to take and to prosecute an appeal shall not be affected by the death of the person entitled to such right. His heirs or legal representatives may prosecute such appeal as he would be entitled to do if he were living.

§ 4. In no case shall an appeal operate as a suspension of sentence. The finding of the Trial Court must stand until it is modified or reversed by the proper Appellate Court.

§ 5. The records and documents of the trial, including the evidence and these only, shall be used in the hearing of any appeal, except as set forth in ¶¶ 309 and 310.

§ 6. In all cases where an appeal is made, and admitted by the Appellate Court, after the charges, findings, and evidence have been read and the arguments concluded, the parties shall withdraw, and the Appellate Court shall consider and decide the case. It may reverse, in whole or in part, the findings of the Trial Court, or it may remand the case for a new trial. It may determine what penalty, not higher than that affixed at the trial, shall be imposed. If it neither reverses, in whole or in part, the judgment of the Trial Court, nor remands the case for a new trial, nor modifies the penalty, that judgment shall stand. The Appellate Court shall not reverse the judgment nor remand the case for a new trial, on account of errors plainly not affecting the result.

§ 7. In all cases the right to present evidence shall be exhausted when the case has been heard once on its merits in the proper Court; but questions of law may be carried on appeal, step by step, to the General Conference.

§ 8. If in any case of appeal of a Member of an Annual Conference, of a Bishop, or of a Missionary Bishop, the Appellate Court is convinced that new evidence has been discovered material to the issue, it may remand the case for a new trial.

§ 9. If, within sixty days after the conviction of a member of the Church, he shall make application in writing to the Preacher in Charge for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence, and submit therewith a written statement of the same, and if it shall appear to the Preacher in Charge that such evidence is material to the issue involved, he shall grant a new trial.

§ 10. In no case shall a new trial be granted upon newly discovered evidence which could have been obtained for the trial in the exercise of due diligence, or which is merely cumulative in its effect.

§ 11. In all cases of appeal the Appellant, at the time he gives notice of his appeal, shall furnish to the Officer receiving such notice, and to the Counsel for the Church, a written statement of the grounds of his appeal and the hearing in the Appellate Court shall be limited to the grounds set forth in such statement.

§ 12. When any Appellate Court shall reverse, in whole or in part, the findings of a Trial Court, or remand the case for a new trial, or change the penalty imposed by that court, it shall return to the Annual Conference or to the Secretary of the Trial Court a statement of the grounds of its action.

§ 13. The order of appeals on Questions of Law shall be as follows: From the decision of the Preacher in Charge to the District Superintendent presiding in the Quarterly or District Conference; from the decision of the District Superintendent to the Bishop presiding in the Annual Conference; and from the decision of the Bishop to the Judicial Conference in case of appeal; otherwise to the General Conference; and from a Central Conference to the General Conference.

§ 14. When an appeal is taken on a Question of Law, written notice of the same shall be served on the Secretary of the body in which the decision has been rendered, whose duty it shall be to see that an exact statement of the question submitted and the ruling of the Chair thereon shall be entered in the Journal. He shall then make and certify a copy of the said question and ruling and transmit the same to the Secretary of the body to which the appeal goes. The Secretary who thus receives said certified copy shall present the same in open Conference and as soon as practicable lay it before the Presiding Officer for his ruling thereon; which ruling must be rendered before the final adjournment of that body, that said ruling, together with the original question and ruling, may be entered in the Journal of that Conference. The same course shall be followed in all subsequent appeals.

CHARGES

¶ 616, § 1. (1) In drafting charges and specifications for the trial of an accused Bishop, Minister or member of the Church there should be a brief statement, defining the offense by its generic name, such as "Defamation," "Dishonesty," "Lying," "Imprudent Conduct," "Indulging Sinful Tempers or Words," "Disobedience to the Order and Discipline of the Church," "Neglecting Prayer Meetings," "Neglecting Class Meetings," "Teaching Contrary to the Standards of the Church," "Maladministration."

Each charge should be accompanied with one or more specifications germane to the charge; and the following forms may serve to illustrate the manner of preparing charges and specifications. The charges and specifications must be so varied in the several cases as to meet the facts or evidence relied upon for conviction. The bill of charges should be signed by one or more members of the Church, and must be addressed to the Preacher in Charge of the Circuit or Station in which the accused person holds his membership, or to the District Superintendent, or the Annual or General Conference, respectively.

NOTE: § 1. (2) is to remain as in the Discipline, 1928.

Adopted, May 24.

V. COMMISSION ON SOCIAL SERVICE ACTIVITIES

The General Conference of 1924 named a Commission of nine members, two Bishops, four ministers and three laymen, to study the whole question of the organization of all the Social Service Activities of the Methodist Episcopal Church and report to the General Conference. (General Conference Journal, page 599, adopted May 28, 1924.)

The General Conference of 1928 received a brief report of this Commission which was referred to the Committee on State of the Church (General Conference Journal, 1928, pages 219, 1679, and 1680). Upon the recommendation of which Committee the General Conference continued the Commission, directing that it go forward with its investigations, complete its survey, and report its findings to the General Conference of 1932 (General Conference Journal, 1928, page 614).

Acting in harmony with this mandate, your Commission on Social Service Activities presents the following report:

Historical Attitude of the Church

From the prison visitation carried on by members of the Oxford Holy Club to the world-wide social service of a world Church, the people called Methodists have sought to minister in the name of their Lord. For them, "The gospel demands a new life in society as well as in the individual. To the social organism, as to the persons who compose it, the message is 'Ye must be born again.' Not reconstruction by external changes, but by inner transformation, is the purpose of Christianity." Methodism has insisted that the doctrine of regeneration shall have its social as well as its personal interpretation.

The Wesleyan Revival marked the birth of movements that have evolved into our modern programs of philanthropies, social legislation, and preventive activities that seek to remove the causes of social ills. Wesley established clinics and loan societies, to be sure, but he saw that a social order organized around the idea of selfishness and grounded in a philosophy of materialism was a fit subject for conversion. For him the message of repentance was individual and social.

The British Labor Movement is not and never has been Marxian. Methodism is in large measure responsible for this fact. The rise of the labor organizations of Britain was coincident with that of the Wesleyan movement. Wesley preached to the men who came from coal pit, factory, and field. The miners who came to his preaching with faces black returned to their work with hearts white. These men joined the classes of Wesley. They were taught to speak in public, to organize, and to understand the truths of a just God's word. Many became class leaders and local preachers. It was at this period that exploited workers became restive and sought to organize for the purpose of improving their lot. Who were to lead these newly formed organizations? None other than the men of Wesley, who knew how to speak, to organize, and to proclaim justice. Practically all of the early British labor leaders were Methodist local preachers. The first representative of labor in Parliament was a Methodist local preacher, and the present leader of the British Labor Party, who presides to-day at the first world-wide disarmament conference in the history of man, is likewise a Methodist local preacher. The result is that this movement has sought to bring abundant life to men. It has thought of humanity first and economic programs second. The program has never been an end in itself. British labor has, therefore, never turned to Marxian abstractions and the resultant dogmatic economic program which is to be forced upon society by dictatorship. It has thought in humanitarian terms and has turned to the engineer to draft a program whereby the humanitarian ideals may be realized among men. Methodism has been historically a major factor in this development.

With such a background it would be expected that the Methodist Episcopal Church would maintain a ministry of social service second to none and state its understanding of the implications of the religion of Jesus in terms destined to challenge Protestant Christianity. It is with distinct pride that Methodism points to the fact that the Social Creed of the churches was written by Methodists and first adopted by the General Conference of 1908. This creed has been adopted by many Protestant bodies, as well as by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

There follows herewith a brief sketch of the social service of the Church. In the nature of the case, salient features alone are presented.

The Board of Foreign Missions

The service of the Board of Foreign Missions reaches the uttermost parts of the earth. This Board has faced the perplexing problems associated with the rise of intense nationalism in many lands and has sought to interpret these social movements to the Church at home. It has attempted to meet the compelling social needs that have grown out of unsanitary areas, famine, and flood. These needs have been reflected in appeals from all parts of the world. It has been active, likewise, in its co-operation with national and international agencies, such as:

Committee on Co-operation in Latin America.
Liberia Advisory Committee.
Brussels Agency.
Bureau of African Language.
African Christian Literature Bureau.
China Christian Student Association.
International Association of Agricultural Missions.

Bureau of International Missionary Council in Geneva.
Flood Relief in China.

The Board of Foreign Missions co-operates with other missionary agencies in the United States and Canada, through the Foreign Missionary Conference in North America, and is represented on the International Missionary Council. It has dealt with national and international social issues, among which have been: slavery, enforced labor in Africa, the status of women in Africa, rural education in India, Korea, China, and Africa (through the new studies made by Dr. Kenyon L. Butterfield, the agricultural authority), child-labor in Shanghai, child-labor in Japanese glass factories, and labor conditions in Belgian, French, and Portuguese colonies. In the fifty-three Conferences and forty countries in which the Board of Foreign Missions works, it is continually related to all phases of social service. Much of this work has resulted from its own initiative, but it has been active also in carrying out the suggestions of native Christian groups and the National Christian Councils in China, India, Japan, Korea, the Philippine Islands, and Mexico. In Africa it has been concerned with the conditions of native kraals, mining centers, industrial work, medical work, and educational literature. In Japan it is related to the industrial and other social phases of the Kingdom of God Movement under Doctor Kagawa; in China to the Mass Education Movement and to the social aims of the Five Year Movement, and in India to the study of the Mass Movement and the various educational surveys. Several Conferences in the foreign field have active social service commissions, and several of them report social service activities which include special studies and recommendations. Perhaps the most important and far-reaching social progress of the quadrennium has been in the study of rural needs, agricultural, community, religious, educational, and sanitary. Throughout all the mission fields an almost wholly "unreached rural billion" has been found and plans presented to give them the advantages of Christianity and to reconstruct the world's rural life.

The Board of Home Missions

The Board of Home Missions, by its very nature, carries on its activities in neighborhoods that are neediest because local funds are at a minimum where local needs are at the maximum. This means that its workers are continuously in contact with city neighborhoods, where juvenile delinquency, crime, racketeering, and vice are rampant. It is part of its duty, therefore, to help in the solution of problems created by these conditions and by conditions in the open country that are just as perplexing and which are brought about by isolation, poverty, and differences of race and language. The field of the Board of Home Missions includes continental United States, Porto Rico, Alaska, and Hawaii.

One of the chief contributions that its Department of City Work has been able to make to the solution of complicated city problems has been through the Councils of Cities and City Institutes. The Councils of Cities have been held occasionally, the last meeting being in Cleveland in February, 1930. These councils have brought together ministers and other workers in city churches for group presentations and discussions of pressing city questions. At Cleveland such problems as "Religion and the Machine Age," "A Scientific Study of City Church Strategy," "Is America Adolescent or Decadent?" "The Pastor and His Staff," and "A Regional Plan for Churches," were discussed by nationally known leaders. The work of this more general Council of Cities has been supplemented in different cities by the City Institutes. Somewhat the same plan is followed, excepting that the city pastors attempt in a small group to study local problems under the leadership of local men who are working at the task. These councils have made a significant contribution to intelligent social service during the past fifteen years. They present a unifying of purpose and plan for city church work such as no other agency provides. In addition to these groups mentioned, there are churches by the hundreds and centers of social work where devoted and loyal ministers and workers are constantly meeting changing situations and are permeating strange but neighboring groups with the gospel ministry.

In September, 1931, in Indianapolis the Director of the Bureau of Negro Work called together the Negro city pastors and workers for the study, in much the same fashion, of the especially pressing problem of unemployment. The subject of the meeting was "The Laborer Looks to His Church." For three days the group listened to carefully prepared papers and addresses upon the effect of unemployment in our cities, especially among Negroes. Much time was given to the discussion of specific problems brought forth by ministers and social workers. The peril to character-building agencies in a time of such general unemployment was brought out, as well as the responsibility of the Negro himself, by the quality of his work and hence his opportunity for work. The Church's part in co-operating with social agencies, imparting the spirit of social service, upholding the principles of the gospel and their application to social affairs was stressed.

The city church has found itself in many instances in the past two decades in the midst of changing polyglot communities. In order to adapt itself to the needs of these people, the church in such cases has turned itself from an ordinary English-speaking residential church into a real Church of All Nations. In Lowell and Boston, Massachusetts, New York City, and Los Angeles, it has actually taken this name for itself. In all these polyglot and foreign-language churches, the pressure caused by the terrific economic depression is heavy. These churches are valiantly going ahead with their important work in character building, but at the same time they are having to meet the definite needs for food and employment among their people.

Recent years have been trying ones in nearly all rural fields. Deflation of agriculture has affected living conditions among both pastors and people, and special relief measures have been necessary in many cases. Through pastors' training schools and institutes, special attention has been given to the interpretation of social and economic problems in rural areas and pastors have been trained to deal with particular situations. In some areas, particularly in the mountains of Tennessee and Kentucky, special attention has been given to the improvement of basic economic conditions, through demonstration and guidance in crop raising, through the finding of markets for produce, and through the providing of employment for the unemployed. In these same territories a program of social alleviation, involving clinics and house-to-house visitations, has been carried on. Through addresses and the printed page, the Department of Rural Work strives to uphold the ideals of social justice and promote practical plans for the improvement of rural conditions.

The Goodwill Industries idea grew a generation ago in the mind and heart of a home missions pastor as he faced the desperate need of the city community in which his church was located. The program has now been extended to more than forty cities in the United States, and it has thrust itself across the Atlantic to Europe, across the Pacific to the Orient, and South to the countries of our Latin American neighbors. In the United States these industries give employment each year to ten thousand aged, crippled, or otherwise handicapped workers. Most of the industries center about regularly organized home mission churches, with congregations, Sunday schools, week day programs, daily chapel services, summer camp work, and similar activities. Multiplied thousands of men and women, discouraged with life, have had their hopes renewed and their lives transformed by contact with these institutions which get so close to the very heart of life. Through the millions of dollars which these institutions have paid to needy workers, they have lived up to their motto, "Not Charity, but a Chance." Repeatedly during the past eighteen months it has seemed that the Goodwill Industries had been raised up under God for just such a time as this. It is safe to say that wherever they are established they have been doing a good work that no other religious or social agency is prepared to do. $1,505,987.62 is spent for handicapped and opportunity wages in a single year; 2,105,882 Goodwill bags have been collected; 5,118,683 hours of employment have been given; and 37,767 different people have been employed. The Goodwill Industries have this year made a social, economic and spiritual contribution that is beyond estimate.

The Rev. Clarence B. Howell, a representative of the Board of Home Missions, conceived the idea of which he called a reconciliation trip. The object has been to enable groups who differ from one another in society to meet each other and to understand one another. The object of the visits which he has organized has not been that of slumming or sight seeing, but rather the serious purpose of coming to understand the motives which dominate others. The work began in New York City in 1921 with trips of Methodist pastors, students, and others to radical headquarters, to Chinese communities and institutions within the city, and to other racial and social groups. Since then the idea has been extended to include many other groups. More recently return visits have been arranged, when Negro groups, Oriental groups, radical groups, and others pay visits to the institutions which more distinctly represent the older American groups and have a chance to exchange ideas with leaders in such institutions. College professors, students, and visitors from all over the United States have shared in these trips, which have resulted not only in the acquisition of new ideas, but also in the development of attitudes of friendship and good will between the groups involved. Similar work is being carried on in Philadelphia, Chicago, Milwaukee, and Boston.

The Departments of City and Rural Work of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension have kept the mind of the Church alive in regard to the economic and social trends in city and rural life and the effect of the same upon the Church. The programs that have been developed to educate and inspire the ministry in meeting the increasing difficulties of our economic life have met with a ready response. As a result of these activities, our Church has been in the vanguard of all the movements that have given to the city and rural church a Christian conviction and a constructive program for the Church's task in rebuilding the social order. We are again challenged by the exigencies of this economic system, and must now march out upon the new frontiers of need which have been created and give to the Church and the world a leadership, and also assist in providing the machinery through which the Church can assist those who are the victims of this system by giving expression to their needs and by changing the motives of society. The City and Rural Departments are equipped to carry to our ministry the ideals and a program to deal with these intricate and difficult tasks.

It is impossible to record the social services that are rendered by thousands of our churches in the crowded city and in the open country. Suffice it to say that the spirit that prompted Wesley to establish clinics, organize schools, and permeate the work life of men with new idealism is alive in the Church he founded and that no report, however voluminous, can tabulate these ministries in the name of the Master.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, in response to a request for an outline of its activities that carry out the principles of the Social Creed of the Churches, presented in substance the following extraordinary survey of world-wide service:

"How is the social creed of the Methodist Episcopal Church, adopted by the General Conference, May, 1908, being expressed through the activities of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society? From the beginning of its work in 1869 when a teacher, Isabella Thoburn, and a doctor, Clara Swain, were sent to India, missionaries of the Society—now more than 700—have been working 'for the fullest possible development of every child by the provision of proper education and recreation' and for 'the conservation of health.' By training the girls who are to be the wives and mothers, new standards for the 'family' life have been introduced in the most effective way. Mothers' meetings have been organized with far-reaching results. Vocational schools have helped in the 'prevention of poverty.' Many missionaries of the Society are very active and ardent leaders in the struggle with 'the liquor traffic.'

"The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society shares in the work of the Foreign Missions Conference of North America and of the International Missionary Council. It is represented in the Committee on Co-operation in Latin America and recently has shared in the efforts for the Educational Advance in South America which includes a health program. The Society is, also, one of the constituent members of the Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions which addressed to the International Missionary Council in 1926, a letter from which the following extracts are quoted:

"'. . . at our annual meeting, held at Atlantic City, January, 1926, much attention was given to the missionary enterprise in its relations to industrialism as it affects the work of women and children. The subject of industrial relations was recognized as one of major importance to all Mission Boards in this new day of changing emphases. . . .

"'One . . . realizes that, as in the past, the Mission Boards have sent evangelists, doctors, nurses, teachers, agriculturists, so now we should send those equipped to extend the love of Christ into complex relationships of industry.

"'The following recommendations were adopted:

"'1. That there be a program of education to enlighten the Christian public, especially the Church membership at the Home base as to:

"'(a) The far-reaching social changes due to the impact of modern industrialism in the Orient, especially as it affects home life and the group consciousness of the workers.

"'(b) The deplorable conditions, wages and hours under which women and children are working.

"'(c) The need of studying and translating into action the pronouncements of our church bodies in relation to these great industrial problems.

"'2. That we study the way in which the Christian Church in China has approached the relationship of Christianity and industry.

"'3. That we study the effects of industrial conditions on international relationships.

"'4. That missions industries always be carried on, not for profit, but to serve human needs, to improve living conditions and to develop Christian life.

"'We are continuing this study and our efforts to educate public opinion, and now feel that the time has come for the International Missionary Council and Christian principles and activities upon this industrial situation.'

"The following are among the more direct efforts in social service under the direction of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society:

China

"The industrial work organized in 1900 by one of our missionaries in Foochow to aid poor women is well known in this country through the beautiful handiwork sold here. This work has recently merged with an interdenominational industrial school.

"Another of our missionaries, a nurse who went to Foochow in 1907, helped to organize the Nurses Association of China and is one of the national secretaries of the Association. In 1922 there were only eight Chinese members, to-day over a thousand with membership of the national association in the International Council of Nurses.

"In the latest report of the Foochow Woman's Conference, we read the following:

"'The discussion on Social Service was led by Miss Dorothy Tiang. The realization of social service is the aim of Christianity, and it is this very fact that has made Christianity different from the other religions.

"'A short report was given of the present conditions of the majority of the Chinese common people: 1. Poverty; 2. Social customs; 3. Smoking and drinking.

"'What should be the Church's responsibility toward this present situation of our society?

"'Churches should establish the social service organization to carry out the following work in the different districts and towns: 1. For the sick, hospitals. 2. For the poor, occupations; a. Preach about self-supporting; b. Factories; c. Limit of time for laborer; 3. Amusement; 4. Reformation of the family life.

"'Mrs. Emily Ding discussed the question, "What contribution has Christianity made to the home in China?"

"'Christianity has given us new light and new attention toward life.'

"Missionaries of the Society have conducted or co-operated in institutional church work and social centers in many other cities. Health programs for schools and communities are increasingly developed, and our representatives on the Council on Health Education have made a notable contribution.

Japan

"In 1902 one of the first day nurseries in Japan—if not the first—was opened in Yokohama under the direction of our missionaries, but supported locally. Mrs. Caroline Van Petten had long wanted to provide for the children of mothers working in the seafaring go-downs and when a fire swept a poor section of the city and money was sent in for relief by foreign residents beyond the immediate need, a fund was started and soon a building appeared on the hill above the crowded section. A teacher from a kindergarten, ministering to a wealthy section, came and with her many gifts from Japanese. This nursery was much appreciated by the Japanese officials, who were represented at the opening. Mrs. Ninomiya, who represented our schools in dealings with the local government offices, and Mrs. Van Petten both received government decorations for such service and when the earthquake of 1923 swept away our buildings and the work was discontinued by our Society there were government grants from city and province to Mrs. Ninomiya, who still carries on.

"There are social centers and work among factory girls conducted by our missionaries in Japan.

Korea

"In Seoul is an important social evangelistic center in which our missionaries co-operate with those of the Methodist Church, South, and those of the Presbyterian Church. The Social Service Department has organized the women into clubs reaching 1,000 homes, many of them of the higher class not before open to Christian teaching. The extension work reaches hundreds of 'street children' who are unable to go to regular schools. Homemaking, Child Welfare, and Public Health Education are all emphasized.

"A new feature of the medical work is that of a doctor who, with a car full of medicines and accompanied by a nurse, itinerates through the villages treating the sick and teaching the people disease-prevention.

"Baby Welfare Work has been established in several places with lectures on hygiene, food, and sanitation. In all our schools health examinations and health lectures are given.

India

"In India there are vocational schools, the Baby Folds and health teaching. Several Conferences are promoting health programs aiming at regular physical examinations for every worker and for every child in school with careful and regular health instruction. Health talks with lantern slides are reaching high caste purdah women. Baby shows, Baby Welfare Work, Maternity Welfare Work are increasingly popular.

"Girls at Isabella Thoburn College have long practiced their sociology in community service. The letters of Flora Robinson Howells, recently published, give intimate glimpses of this work which includes playgrounds, popular lectures, mothers' clubs and classes for adults.

"One of our missionaries was asked to serve on a municipal council. She was the only Christian and the only woman on the Council, but in that strategic position her advice was sought and given as to the desirability of woman's suffrage and compulsory education.

Malaya

"In Malaya social service activities are connected with the Epworth League with which our missionaries work in close co-operation. The schools include health and industrial education. There are a few day nurseries.

Philippine Islands

"In Manila one of our doctors has done an outstanding piece of work along the line of Social Hygiene. Lectures at the University of the Philippines, at the request of one of the professors, were much appreciated and requests led to the publishing of helpful leaflets.

Africa

"In Rhodesia our schools keep close to the needs of the people. Farming is the major interest, the girls learning improved methods in growing much of the food used. Sanitation and care of babies are given much attention.

"In the Portuguese provinces of Angola and Inhambane our schools form social centers for the people. Several forms of the industrial arts are being taught and in connection with each school instruction is given in the care of fruit trees and gardens.

Europe and North Africa

"Concerning Crandon Institute, Rome, we read: 'At the beginning of the term a definite program was agreed upon that would express kindly consideration for others in need. The girls have each month brought money, food and clothing which have been distributed to Casa Materna, the boys' school in Venice, the blind school, Fresh Air Fund, Red Cross, Orthopedic Clinic for Children, and to needy families. The actual material contribution is the smallest part of the work, for the girls have in all cases given themselves with the gifts.'

"In France and North Africa are several hotels for girls, some of whom are in business, some students. Summer camps are another feature of the work for girls.

Latin America

"Concerning the Gleason Institute, the Christian Social Service center in Rosario, the latest report has the following:

"'Industrial classes of all kinds teach the girls useful handicraft; medical and dental clinics bring relief to scores who could not otherwise have the help of doctor or dentist. The girls' club is systematically reading the gospels. At first it was the rule that the girls should return each gospel when it had been read, but when requests came to be permitted to pass them on to others, the missionaries gladly consented.'

"In Mexico City a missionary 'has devoted most of her time to the social service work in connection with the Aztecas Street Church—English and singing classes, club work, game nights, etc.—all of which have done much to make this church the social and religious center for the neighborhood. Children's Week was celebrated in June with lectures by nurses, doctors, and educators, an exhibition of health posters, and the distribution of health literature. A baby clinic for children under four years of age has also been started. This clinic will undoubtedly do much to bring down the death rate of Mexico City, which is the highest in the world.'

"The motto of the Society is 'Saved for Service' and wherever there is a school, a hospital, an evangelistic worker there is a center of service to the community. With the general increase of emphasis on 'Social Service' and the training of workers for this work there has been increasing effectiveness on the part of our missionaries in reaching their communities."

The Woman's Home Missionary Society

The Woman's Home Missionary Society, in response to a similar request to that sent to the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, has outlined its social service activities under the following headings: Policies, Co-operation, Training in Citizenship, National and World Problems, and Concrete Social Service Activities.

I. Policies

"The Woman's Home Missionary Society has appointed a 'Committee on National Policies' to consider the relationship of the organization to national and world problems. In supporting 'World Fellowship,' 'World Prohibition,' and 'World Peace,' this Committee made the following pronouncements, which were adopted by the annual meeting:

"'Resolved, That the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church shall be tolerant and broad in all its racial relations, shall cultivate co-operation and helpfulness in all its contacts with individuals and groups, and shall be outspoken for justice and true in fellowship.

"'Resolved, That the Council of Women for Home Missions re-affirms its endorsement of federal and state legislation looking to the endorsement of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States; and that in particular it pleads for the preservation of the Volstead Act and its definition of legal alcoholic content of beverages as one-half of one per cent.

"'Resolved, That all bodies participating in the Council of Women for Home Missions be urged to co-operate in a definite campaign of education on the subject of alcohol and its effect, of the various attempts to control its manufacture and use, and on the reasonableness of giving the present attempt in our country an uninterrupted and sufficient trial.

"'Resolved, That the Council of Women for Home Missions re-affirms its approval of the proposed adherence of the United States to the World Court, and advises continued interest, co-operation, and education to this end.'

"The Annual Meeting of the Society in 1927 adopted the following resolutions: 'We call upon our women to remember that the Child Labor Amendment, though delayed, is undefeated; to never cease agitation until the more than one million children who now toil in sweat shops and factories are placed in public schools and given the opportunity to grow into intelligent American citizens.'

II. Co-operation

"The Society is a member of the Council of Women for Home Missions, whose program includes: Summer Stations for Farm and Cannery Migrants, A Bureau of Reference for Migrating People, Printing of Religious Books in Braille for the Blind, Study of Legislation as Related to Home Mission Interests.

"Action taken on such problems as child labor, law enforcement and the prevention of the sale of peyote to the Indians.

"Through this affiliation and that with the Missionary Education Movement, study of home missionary problems is promoted in constituent groups of the Society throughout the country by means of the authorized interdenominational study courses.

"Affiliation with the Commission on Interracial Co-operation is maintained.

"Co-operation in work among Latin Americans is secured through the 'Committee on Co-operation in Latin America.'

"Joint study and planning of the best approach to meet home missionary needs with other agencies of the Church is secured through committees on co-operation with the Board of Home Missions and the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

"Many local projects of social service have become affiliated with community chests, thus developing standards which conform to other social service agencies.

III. Training in Citizenship

"The Society has a Department of Temperance, Prohibition and Christian Citizenship, promoting law enforcement and emphasizing the necessity of continued education of young people and children.

"A new call to Patriotism has been recently sounded by the Board of Trustees, from which we quote:

" 'Active participation in all matters which relate to government and public welfare, through the use of the ballot, is the patriotic duty of every woman of voting age. This is patriotism in action.

" 'Our objective as Home Missionary women is the winning of America to Christ. We realize to-day as never before that this objective can be reached only by purifying the political, social, and economic conditions of our country.

" 'Our missionary task is not alone the establishment of settlements, the alleviation of suffering and distress, and the care of under-privileged women and children; it is also our task to discover what gives rise to poverty, inefficiency, unemployment, child labor, and kindred conditions and to abolish the causes. The study of affairs which have to do with public welfare in government and our participation in them is a very important means to this end.'

"All settlements contribute to the training in Christian citizenship of the foreigner in our country.

IV. National and World Problems

"In its approach to the racial problem, the Society has established an interracial commission, which is affiliated with the National Commission on Interracial Co-operation. It has established homes and schools for various races. These schools number at present Negro, 16; Spanish, 4; Japanese and Korean, 3; Chinese, 1.

"In the Friendship Homes for Negro Working Girls, leadership has been given the Negro.

"The Society is in close touch with industrial conditions through its work in mining areas, particularly at Rock Springs and Wyoming in Pennsylvania, Byesville in Ohio, Bingham Canyon in Utah, and at Gary, Indiana. It faces the rural problem among the American highlanders of the South, where six institutions are maintained which seek to aid in solving the problems of illiteracy, ill health, and the lack of scientific understanding of agricultural procedures.

V. Concrete Social Service Activities

"A. Settlements:

"The National Woman's Home Missionary Society has under its care sixteen settlements, with classes for children, young people and mothers, and including recreational, social, educational, industrial and religious activities. New work in a difficult field has recently been taken over in Tijuana. Many settlements of similar character are conducted by Conference Societies of the organization. New buildings have been erected for Christian Social Service. Among them are:

"Bingham Canyon Settlement, Utah.

"Bloodgett Community House, Hazleton, Pa.

"Those projected, with appropriation approved, are:

"Marcy Center, Chicago.

"Portland Community Center, Portland, Ore.

"Hull Street Medical Mission, Boston, Mass.

"The Society co-operates with city social service agencies in case work and confidential exchange, as a Mother's Memorial Social Center, Cincinnati, Ohio.

"B. Social Service to Special Groups:

"1. To soldiers and sailors. A Deaconess continues her work at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, ministering to the sailors in the hospital and prison, and to the wives and families who have followed the husband and father there.

"2. To lepers. The Society provides the salary of the Protestant chaplain in the Hospital No. 66, Carville, La., which is the federal hospital for lepers. The chaplain has community programs and ministers to any social or religious needs of the lepers. In this work close co-operation is maintained with the 'American Mission to Lepers.'

"3. To flood sufferers. During the great Mississippi flood, the boys' dormitory and schoolhouse of the Sager-Brown Orphanage were turned over to the Red Cross for Negro refugees. Four hundred men, women and children and many babies were cared for. Two babies were born.

"C. Medical Work:

"1. Hospitals. Total value of free work at current rates, $16,516.

"Sibley Memorial Hospital, Washington, D. C., 210 beds, 90 girls in training. Much free work done.

"Methodist Deaconess Sanatorium, Albuquerque, New Mexico, for tuberculosis patients, 65 beds.

"Methodist Deaconess Hospital, Rapid City, South Dakota, 50 beds, a missionary hospital ministering to the frontier people.

"Brewster Hospital, Jacksonville, Florida, for Negroes.

"Maynard-Columbus Hospital, Nome, Alaska. Medical social service is carried on in the community also. Santo Domingo. We have a share in the Evangelico Hospital, which is administered by an interdenominational board. Clinic treats about 1,000 cases a month. A baby clinic, special instruction to mothers, and a nurse who does follow-up work in the homes are some of the phases of work.

"2. Clinics. These are maintained in connection with many settlements among Jews, Mexicans, and those from European countries.

"3. Hull Street Medical Mission, Boston, Mass., is a settlement given over entirely to medical work, and 16,000 patients have been treated in one year, touching 20 different nationalities in two years.

"4. Nurses in industrial homes care for the health of the students, give instruction and in some cases reach out into the community.

"5. In connection with the twenty-five kindergartens under the national society and the many others under Conference auspices, lunches of crackers and milk are furnished through the 'Cracker Boy Fund' of the Children's Department, and Mothers' Clubs are organized to help the parents in the care of their children.

"D. Deaconess Department:

"The Deaconesses, under the administration of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, number 477, with 30 Associate Workers.

"Two hundred and seven are engaged in Parish Work, as Directors of Religious Education, pastor's assistants, or church secretaries.

"One hundred and ten are in social service or settlements.

"Twenty-three are acting as superintendents of institutions.

"Thirteen are nurses.

"Twenty teach in Training Schools or missionary schools.

"Seventeen are in Field Work, National, Conference, and District.

"Eight have office or secretarial positions.

"The remainder work as Traveler's Aid, Chaplains in Hospitals, Matrons, and other forms of service recognized by the Church. Some of their work includes:

"Fresh Air Work. Total number of children aided, 3,702. Vacation days for women and children, 2,937.

"Relief Work. Number of different families given material relief, 3,548. Number of different persons aided, not included in families report, 707. Value of supplies used, $5,135.15. Amount of money used, $12,569.72.

"E. For Girls:

"1. Epworth School in Saint Louis is maintained for the 'pre-delinquent' or the 'Problem' girl, where fifty girls can be accommodated. They are committed by the Juvenile Court and mostly from broken homes and 85 per cent of them make good.

"2. Esther Halls for working girls have been opened in cities and now number fifteen.

"3. Esther Hall, in Ogden, Utah, is a protection for girls in Mormon territory.

"4. Friendship Homes for Negro working girls were opened at the time of the large migration of Negroes from the South. There are now five of these.

"5. Immigrant girls who are just arriving are helped by workers at Ellis Island, East Boston and Angel Island. A home is provided for any who need one while waiting to secure a position, in New York City and in East Boston.

"6. Japanese and Korean girls are given a Home in four institutions.

"F. For Children:

"1. Nine Children's Homes are providing Christian environment for children from surroundings of poverty, ignorance, irreligion and immorality.

"2. Two of the Homes for Japanese and Koreans have many little children.

"3. One hundred Indian children are brought from the Navajo desert and given a chance for right living in Farmington, New Mexico.

"4. Two groups of Alaskan children have been moved from Unalaska and Nome, and established in a new orphanage in Seward."

The Board of Education

It is quite impossible to catalogue the social service activities that flow from the service of the Board of Education. Naturally, the departments of sociology in the various universities and colleges are sending forth highly trained experts in this field and are creating a social consciousness which must of necessity be the foundation upon which the New Society is to be built. This service cannot be tabulated. Perhaps no more effective work is being done among our young people than that by the training given in the Church Schools and the Epworth Leagues in the social field. Such courses as the Bible and Social Living may be pointed out as evidences in support of this statement. The Epworth Herald has presented from ten to twenty articles each year dealing with the application of Christian principles to the social order. The topics for the year 1928-1929, under the general theme, "Adventures in Social Living," represent an extraordinary achievement. The topics themselves deserve mention. For instance:

"Echoes of the Nazareth Sermon."
"Hymns and Prayers of the Social Awakening."
"Poetry of the Social Awakening."
"Books and Dramas of the Social Awakening."
"Pioneers in Christian Adventure." (Such as Wilfred T. Grenfell, Frances E. Willard, Booker T. Washington, William Booth, Walter Rauschenbusch.)
"Making Our Community Home Christian."
"What Is Our Community Like?"
"How Can We Meet Immediate Needs?"
"Building a Better Community."
"Citizens in the Making."
"Christian Principles in Industry and Agriculture."
"Understanding Between Our Racial and National Groups."
"Thinking Through the Problems of World Peace."
"Making Our Friendship Christian."
"Making Our Life Careers Christian."

The Board of Temperance

The Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals has limited its service almost entirely to the field of legislative reform or to the educational work necessary to sustain or bring about a proper attitude toward matters of public morals. Its particular duty and extraordinary service has been in the activities that led to the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment and the maintenance of an opinion supporting that Amendment since its adoption. It has sought, likewise, to promote total abstinence, to curb the traffic in narcotic drugs, to discourage demoralizing tendencies in theatrical productions, to suppress salacious literature, to restrain commercialized sports which are brutal, such as prize fighting, and those sports irretrievably entangled with gambling. The Board has at times, through its publications, dealt with the problems of child labor, public education, and peace.

The Young People's Department of the Board has sought to promote the advance of intelligent temperance sentiment among young people, both in our church and out of it. During the year past another church-wide prohibition essay contest was conducted with noticeably improved interest and participation. It is probable that five thousand Methodist young people wrote essays in this general contest during 1931.

The Secretary of the Department has acted as a member of the interdenominational committee for co-operative temperance work through the International Council of Religious Education. Experimental work has been carried on by the Board's Young People's Department in Standard Training Schools; also, similar experimental work in the college field. Another phase of the work has been the stimulation of interest on the part of local groups. About five hundred local temperance superintendents have been enrolled, and this number is rapidly increasing each month. Various Epworth League Institutes were visited, and an additional number will be visited this coming summer. Classes in Christian Citizenship, Sabbath Observance, Prohibition, and Temperance Education will be conducted. In one instance a post-graduate course in Temperance Education will be conducted. At a summer camp, a two or three-day seminar will be led.

This Department is also charged with the circulation of the Board's literature. The year's total sale of leaflets increased over one hundred per cent over last year, and the increase in sale of other literature was proportionate.

The official study unit on Prohibition, written by the head of the Department, adopted officially by the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, is now the official study unit in five other denominations. It is also the recognized unit recommended by the International Council of Religious Education.

Another member of the staff wrote the booklet Youth Seeks the Truth, which is now the official youth document of the International Council.

The Department of Colored Work majors in work among school children, especially in the rural districts. During the year 1931, 100,231 boys and girls in the colored schools of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, and Texas were reached with total abstinence pledges. A total of over 700,000 pledges has been secured by this department.

The Clipsheet reaches all the daily newspapers, most of the weeklies and bi-weeklies, hundreds of correspondents, and those doing editorial work, and many others, giving a steady presentation of fresh, argumentative material in support of temperance, prohibition and public morals. This comes from the Research Department, which Department, also, compiles a large amount of authentic, authoritative and accepted material. Much original research is conducted.

Other Temperance Activities

Our Church has rendered signal service along temperance and prohibition lines, through its co-operation with the Anti-Saloon League of America, which has been the approved agency for co-operation with members of other churches and with temperance organizations in America.

We have helped to make effective the work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and other organized temperance agencies.

Through our efforts, both in America and in foreign fields, we have co-operated with the World League Against Alcoholism, in which are federated the principal National Anti-Liquor Organizations in the several countries for international and interdenominational effort in the interest of temperance reform. We have likewise co-operated in the work of the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

The Church has regarded the reform toward which the activities of these organizations have been directed as one of the greatest achievements of the century in the fields of Social Service.

Work Among Negroes

A study of the occupations of Negroes shows that 4,892,872 are gainfully employed. Of this number, 1,000,000 are in domestic and personal service; 2,150,000 in agricultural pursuits; 575,000 in trade and transportation service and 1,060,000 are employed in the industrial plants of the country. This field offers unlimited opportunities for various forms of social service. The only agency of the Church functioning in this field is the Bureau of Negro Work of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension directed by W. A. C. Hughes. This agency promotes a Conference annually in which ministers and the few social workers employed among our Negro people sit in conference to study methods by which the Church can relate itself to city social agencies supported by philanthropy and city governments and render effective service.

The Board of Home Missions, through this Bureau, gives financial assistance and helps develop a program of social service through the Stewart Settlement House in Gary, Ind.; the Saint Marks Church in Chicago; Mount Zion and Calvary Churches in Cincinnati; the Sharp Street Community House in Baltimore, Md.; the Zoar Baby Clinic in Atlanta, Ga.; the People's Center and the Messiah Clinic in New Orleans, La; Saint Andrews Social Center in Fort Worth, Tex., and Cory Church, Cleveland, Ohio. Scholarships are being granted several Negro young people to train for Social Service at the Atlanta School of Social Service.

The Board also promotes six Negro City Mission Societies, several of which have found a profitable line of work in Juvenile Courts. The Board of Hospitals and Homes has done a distinct service at The Flint Goodrich Hospital, New Orleans, La., and the Hubbard Hospital at Nashville, Tenn. The Woman's Home Missionary Society is doing a distinct service through the Brewster Hospital at Jacksonville, Fla. Several of our Negro Conferences are supporting Homes for the Aged, one in Baltimore and another in New Orleans, La.

The Woman's Home Mission Society supports an orphanage in Baldwin, La. The Woman's Home Missionary Society renders a fine service through its Homes for Negro working girls in Chicago, Cincinnati and Philadelphia. But when all is summed up the work done by the Church in the field of social service is rather fragmentary. No opportunity in the Christian Church is so challenging.

In some respects this is the most critical period in the life of the Negro. Negroes seeking employment frequently find the traditional policy of plants against employing them. This is especially discouraging to young Negroes, who have had some school advantages. With the Negro in many sections of the country being the marginal worker, he is finding it extremely difficult to get profitable employment in this period when so many workers are idle—there is sure to follow a serious threatening of the disintegration of their home life. Machinery has forced white workers to a lower level of employment which in turn has forced thousands of Negroes to idleness. We must see to it that the radical element in America does not infect Negro life at this critical period. There must be economic justice. Negroes must not be forced to live in the slums of the cities; they must have social justice. When arrested for trivial crimes they must have civil justice.

An unusual service is being rendered the Negro in rural life by the Bureau of Negro Work of the Home Board in bringing together Negro pastors in fifteen centers of the South and in ten day schools, training them in rural social service and health. To this work the Rosenwald Fund is contributing $17,000 over a period of three years.

Scientifically Organized Service

The Board of Pensions and Relief is by its very nature a social service agency of the Church. It seeks to carry into practice the recommendations that have come from scores of social service commissions to the effect that some form of old age insurance be devised whereby a person who has rendered service to the State may secure and receive such returns from his investments as may enable him to live in a fair degree of comfort, such returns being the result of business procedure, scientifically organized, and not the result of charity unscientifically distributed.

The Board of Pensions and Relief, during the present quadrennium, has distributed $47,724 to the members of the supply pastors group, which had been on the basis of relief grants. These are the lay preachers of Methodism who have no membership in the Conference and who serve on the hardest charges where there is least support and where the living conditions are most difficult.

This support in 1928 went to 130 families, in 1929 to 125 families, in 1930 to 130 families and in 1931 to 135 families. The maximum grant in the earlier years of the quadrennium was $150 per year. In 1931 the maximum grant was $110. These lay ministers or their widows usually are in cases of extreme economic need. In addition to those who were granted an allowance for the year others, who were emergency cases, were granted help at various times as a matter of brotherhood and church fellowship.

The General Conference has directed the Board to give aid to the so-called "weaker Conferences" and this has been a part of the main responsibility of the Board. The "weaker Conferences" are those where economic conditions are altogether unfavorable or where our people are in the minority in total population. Some of them are mountain Conferences, where the dominant influence of Mormonism prevails. Others are mountain Conferences where the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, prevails in the better sections and where resources or funds of any kind are very limited. Still others are in the colored area where funds are exceedingly meager and collections difficult. Here they can hardly be said to be pensions at all, but rather they are grants to people that are little more than a dole.

During the present quadrennium, when there has been such extensive and distressing reduction in the collections from the churches and also in the dividends from the Book Concern, the Board has fortunately been able to be of extraordinary help by a process of rigid economy and foresight. The Board has saved certain reserve funds against such a time as this. It was able, therefore, during 1931, to declare an "extra special dividend" ranging from $50 to $300 per Conference to the neediest of the connection. This was of such great benefit that many of the Conferences found in the contributions of the Board a large share of their distributable funds.

In the Negro group, in addition to these matters, two men have been supplied by the Board to help to encourage contributions from the churches and from individuals and also to conserve all funds gathered by the Conferences by a careful and accurate distribution to those most entitled to them. The Board has also assumed for this group the entire responsibility of investment of the funds of these Conferences so that they may not be wasted in unsafe investments or in inaccurate distribution.

The emphasis of the Board and its officers has been against group consciousness. Sympathetic interest has been given to movements working toward a minimum salary for ministers and for such co-operative funds as may tend to lift the load off those who are hardest pressed for resources. One of the real contributions of the Board during 1931 was a study by Professor Leiffer, of Garrett Biblical Institute, which set out the possibilities and the needs of the living support among the ministers.

One fifth of the distribution fund of the Board goes to the so-called foreign Conferences and is almost the only help for aged and dependent ministers, their widows and orphans in the foreign field of our Church. Close co-operation has been carried on with the Bishops and missionary leaders of those areas so as to study the needs and apply the funds in the most equitable way.

Personal Services Through Hospitals and Homes

The Board of Hospitals, Homes and Deaconess Work is also an agency that can be described only in terms of social service. Its quadrennial report, which lists the number of the hospitals and homes for business girls and young men, deaconess homes, deaconess schools and other institutions, carries with it an itemized account of the respective services rendered. This service, which is so distinctively personal, represents social service upon its highest plane.

There are 2,000 deaconesses in the United States and Europe engaged in every form of Church work, including parish visitation in the local church, teachers in colleges, training schools and missionary schools, work in settlements, homes for children and aged, nurses in hospitals, homes for working girls, and many other types of Christian work. This form of woman's work is recognized by the General Conference. The Deaconesses in the United States and Europe have given 70,000 years of active service in the social and spiritual activities of the Church.

The 77 Methodist Hospitals, with a valuation of $64,000,000, represent another great social agency of Methodism. In ten years over 2,000,000 patients have received the very best of surgical and medical care in these hospitals. Thirteen thousand five hundred nurses are in daily service, while 5,000 physicians and surgeons render the best of technical care to the sick. In ten years more than $17,000 worth of guest service has been rendered to the sick and suffering in the United States.

In the Homes for the Aged, 2,600 aged people receive loving care each year. This form of service is of great value to those who are unable to care for themselves. The Church has invested over $13,000,000 in this form of Christian activity. Twenty-six thousand and eighty people have been cared for over a period of ten years.

The Child Welfare program of Methodism is carried forward through 43 homes in which 4,000 orphans annually receive the loving care of Christian matrons and teachers. The Church, in ten years, has given $6,000,000 of guest service to these needy children. This is one of the most helpful forms of social service. Its great value to society cannot be calculated.

Other types of social work as the "Homes away from Home" for business young women and young men, the sanatoriums for those suffering from tuberculosis and other institutions represent social agencies operating under the direction of the Board of Hospitals, Homes and Deaconess Work. This is Christ's work and the Church serves him through such social activities.

The Methodist Federation for Social Service

The Methodist Federation for Social Service has been in operation for twenty-five years, having been organized in 1907. The object of this Federation is to help secure a Christian social order by attempting to ascertain what such an order really means and how that ideal may best be realized.

The Federation does not speak, nor does it attempt to speak, officially for the Church. The General Conference is the only body which can so speak. The peculiar function of this Federation, however, is to raise pertinent social questions for the consideration of the Church and to present the results of these investigations for the information of the Church in any study made by it as to the social implications of the gospel of Jesus.

The General Conference at various times has assigned to the Federation certain social questions for study, has approved certain measures of social reform and principles of social progress presented in the reports of the Federation and has commended the Federation for its activities.

The governing body of the Federation consists of a general council of fifty-six members and an executive committee of five members.

This Federation operates on an annual budget of about $8,000. The principal items in this budget are the salaries of the two women secretaries in the office at 150 Fifth Avenue, New York City, the office rent, office supplies, the information service of the Federal Council of the Churches and the publication of the Social Service Bulletin.

The amount of this budget is raised by voluntary contributions ranging from $1 to $200 each, including two annual contributions of $200 each, one of $125, seven of $100 each and seven of $50 each. Other contributions are for smaller amounts, including membership dues of $5 each.

Something of the contribution made by the Social Service Bulletin in raising important questions is indicated by the topics presented in that periodical during the last eight years among which are included the following:

"The Spy in Government and Industry," "The Profit Motive and the Child Labor Amendment," "The Missions and Our Chinese Diplomacy," "Our Foreign Investments and Their Meaning," "Taxation in Its Human Aspects," "Is Justice Breaking Down in the United States?" "Mexico and the United States," "Company Unions and Organized Labor," "The New Red Hunt," "The Rural Mind and the Economic Order," "Concerning Property," "The Present Coal Strike," "The United States and the New China," "Militarism in Education," "Russia and Religion," "The United States and the World Economic Depression," "Concerning the Business Cycle," "The Revolt of the Miners," and "Can Powers Disarm?"

Bishop Francis J. McConnell, President of the Methodist Federation for Social Service, suggested something of the significance of the task of the Federation and the importance of its Social Service Bulletin, when he said, "These questions we raise in our Bulletin simply have to be got up for consideration in religious circles. We cannot be bothered to discuss what everyone else is discussing. We must go ahead and raise other questions."

Our study of the methods and work of the Methodist Federation for Social Service leads us to the conclusion that the peculiar and exceedingly important work which has been undertaken by this body of Methodists can best be prosecuted through an agency organized and operating in the manner which has characterized this Federation during the last quarter of a century.

We are convinced, moreover, that the commendations of this social agency which, from time to time, have been given by the General Conference have been fully justified by the splendid service which this agency has rendered.

FRATERNITY

THE METHODIST CHURCH OF JAPAN

See Journal, Pages 244-246

Ralph B. Urmy, Chairman of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates: I notice in the Episcopal Address that the conviction was expressed by the Bishops that however Methodism might develop in its world-wide program, there was a profound conviction that all sections of Methodism should be united by living links.

I am happy to say that we have with us this morning one of those living links, binding the Methodist Church, or rather the Japan Methodist Church, to the Mother Church here at home. I have the honor to present to you, Mr. President, and through you to this General Conference the Rev. Seimei Yoshioka, Doctor of Divinity, who represents as Fraternal Delegate to this body the Japan Methodist Church.

Doctor Yoshioka is pastor of the Ginza Methodist Church in Tokyo. He is also Superintendent of the Tokyo District, one of those rare pastors who has himself for his District Superintendent. He is also a member of the Executive Committee of Doctor Kagawa's Kingdom of God Movement, a member of the Executive Committee of the National Christian Council of Japan, and is very highly commended to us by the Bishop of that Church.

I am now very happy to present to you Doctor Yoshioka, the fraternal delegate of the Japan Methodist Church, to this body.

Bishop Hughes: Doctor Yoshioka, dear brethren, is one of my own boys, working under my jurisdiction for many successive years in the Pacific Northwest, ere he went back to Japan; greatly beloved by all of his comrades in the Pacific Japanese Conference, even as he is greatly beloved throughout the flowery kingdom. Dr. Seimei Yoshioka!

Fraternal Address of Dr. Seimei Yoshioka, Delegate of the Methodist Church of Japan

Dear Fathers and Brethren: It is an honor and pleasure for me to visit your great Conference and bear you fraternal greetings from the General Conference of the Japan Methodist Church, held in Tokyo in January. I come, representing thirty-six thousand Methodist people in Japan, and bringing their sincere love and deep appreciation for all that you have done for them in the years past, in the name of our common Lord.

Sixty years ago next month one might have witnessed the farewells of your first missionaries, as they departed for Japan. They arrived in the land of the Rising Sun in the early summer of 1873. I, by the way, was born the very month they reached Yokohama. They were Merriman C. Harris, of the Pittsburgh Conference; Julius Soper, of Baltimore Conference; John C. Davison, of Newark Conference, and Dr. R. S. McClay, from China, who had been for some time in Foochow. In the same year A. H. Correll joined the group, making five in all. Doctor McClay was chosen superintendent of the new mission, a band of noble, consecrated pioneers. Of them all, the venerable Doctor Soper alone remains, living in retirement with his daughter in Southern California. For sixty long years since those early days you have been reinforcing this first impact with the same noble type of men and women, and the same consecration of wealth to the cause of giving my people a knowledge of redemption in Christ. Brother Ukai, the fraternal delegate four years ago, refers to a remark made by Mr. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan & Company. He said: "Is Christianity making a real contribution to Japan? I have made considerable investments in the missionary cause myself, and feel that I have a right to ask." More than fifteen years ago, at a great reception given him in New York, Baron Kikuchi, President of the Tokyo Imperial University, was asked the same question. No doubt, you too, who have made similar investments, are asking the same question. I can only reply in the words of our Lord, "The fields are white unto the harvest," and "Truly the harvest is plenteous, but the laborers are few."

In the same year that your first missionaries came, the Methodist Church in Canada established a mission, with Drs. John Cochran and Davidson McDonald as its founders. Twelve years later the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, opened its first work in Kobe under J. W. and W. R. Lambuth, of Mississippi, and O. A. Dukes, of South Carolina. They had been in China. From that time on until 1907 these three Methodist families worked in brotherly harmony. Missionary and Japanese leaders felt that the time had come for organic union, and they so memorialized the home churches. In response, a commission was set up, and your representatives who came to Japan were the venerable Bishop Cranston and Doctor Leonard, the famous missionary secretary, and father of our present Bishop Leonard. The conference of the three commissions in Tokyo eventuated in the creation of the Japan Methodist Church in 1907, with Y. Honda, the President of Aoyama Gakuin chosen as its first Bishop. We are now celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of our Church, with Bishop Akazawa as our fourth Bishop in order. We elect for a term of four years—Bishop, Board Secretaries, and all other General Conference officers. Our District Superintendents are chosen by the Bishop from panels elected by the members of Annual Conference.

Let me give a few figures concerning our Church: Members, 36,000; Sunday-school pupils, 49,000; Epworth Leaguers, 5,000; number of churches, 584; annual giving, 355,000 Yen, or an average of 10 Yen per member. More details can be obtained from our Year Book. But rather than burden you with statistics I will cite a few illustrations of what Christianity does accomplish. The old religions of my country have taught moral conduct, but in Christianity there is a new emphasis. Some fifty years ago Mr. Kataoka, who was widely known throughout the country, was arrested for political agitation and imprisoned. In an indignant and rebellious spirit he was sitting in his cell one day when a friend brought him a copy of the New Testament. At first he saw nothing in it, but later his eye happened to rest on the tenth verse of the fifth chapter of Matthew and stopped there. "Blessed," it said, "are those who are persecuted for righteousness' sake." "Well," he thought quietly in his heart, "I have been persecuted for righteousness' sake, but I have been indignant. This book says there is a blessing in it. Here is a new and better teaching." He followed the new light and was transformed into a humble Christian. As Speaker of the House and as a prominent statesman, he long retained the respect of all parties in Japan.

According to our old teaching, revenge of a parent's enemy was considered the sacred duty of a son. During the trouble in Formosa a man named Inouye was killed by the aborigines in a brutal way. Word was brought back home to the town in the north, where his son was a student in high school. When he heard the news what did he do? Did he decide to lynch his father's enemy? He might have done so under the old code. But he was a Christian. Instead, he dropped on his knees in prayer for his father's murderers, and in that moment offered his life in service for their salvation. He took a course in medicine, and after four years set off for the mountains of Ali, in remote Formosa, to bring healing to the aborigines. He is today preaching the Gospel among them with all his old-time fervor. It is Christianity that made all this possible.

In the Kyushu Imperial University, of which Doctor Arakawa is a dean, there are thirty or more Chinese students. Since the present trouble between China and Japan many of the Chinese students in other institutions have voluntarily returned home, but these thirty have remained, and are quietly and contentedly continuing their studies. What is the reason? Near the university is a hospital, and in this is a patient, Miss Shu Kijo, a very bright Chinese girl student, who is receiving the kindest possible treatment. The dean, Doctor Arakawa, has assumed all her hospital expenses, so that she remains without financial worry as long as she requires care. Who is this good samaritan? Doctor Arakawa is a Christian gentleman.

The ritualism of the Roman Catholic Church makes a certain appeal to many of our people, trained as they have been in Buddhism. Liberal Christianity, too, seems congenial to the modern Japanese mind. But thank God, spiritual Protestant Christianity, too, has struck its roots deep into the hearts of many in Japan. The type we know is pre-eminently that of the Puritans of New England. Although the early missionaries came from all the major denominations they were one in their emphasis on evangelical faith and a redemptive gospel. As a result, their teaching has had a great effect upon moral ideals, both individual and social. Commercial ethics, ideas on marriage, sex and other social problems are changing under Christian guidance, and even non-Christians look to church members for examples of probity in character. It is taken for granted by society that Christians are to be honest and reliable, with no habits of drinking or smoking, cheating or lying. Some time ago Count Itagaki, an old-style Japanese gentleman became very much interested in Christianity, but he was estopped from joining the Christian movement by the fact of his dual marriage. Our missionaries, while taking the lead in the improvement of social conditions have been true to the traditions of Wesleyan Methodism by preaching Scriptural holiness. Even Toyohiko Kagawa, though a Presbyterian, preaches Wesley's Christianity, seldom speaks without quoting him, and has translated and published his Journals.

Now permit me to tell a few things about Methodist affairs in particular. The Aoyama Gakuin, formerly known as Goucher College, with a history of fifty years, has over three thousand students, and ranks as one of the largest and best Christian Colleges in Japan. More than 300 Christian workers have gone out from the School of Theology of Aoyama, most of them now being active in the service of our Church. To Dr. Arthur D. Berry, among many others, belongs the highest honors for having brought the school to its present position of influence. Your Woman's Board started a girl's school in Tokyo, which was later transferred to Aoyama, and is now amalgamated with the college. It is a school of the very highest quality, with a thousand students. The president of the Alumnæ is Mrs. Kozaki, one of the first graduates and now, though seventy years of age, the vigorous president of the national Japanese Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Down in Nagasaki another boy's school was started, also about fifty years ago. It was called Chinzei Gakuin, and was founded by Dr. C. S. Long. Mr. S. Kawashima, one of your delegates from California was an old boy there, as was I myself. We were educated on strictly Christian principles and treated almost as though it were a theological school. At examination time the teacher gave us the questions and left the room, committing everything to our consciences. And this method was justified, for during my six years in the school I never heard of a single case of dishonesty. Once a friend in the United States offered a money prize for an oratorical contest, but no boy of my class would make application. We all feared that even an oratorical contest might break up the family spirit that we shared with our brother-students in the school.

Away north lies the city of Hirosaki, with the famous Hirosaki Church. From this one church alone have come our Bishop Honda, Doctor Abe, many district superintendents, and altogether over a hundred and twenty men and women into Christian work. Here, too, there is the To O Gi Juku, the only Methodist School for boys in all northern Japan.

Coming back to the center of the country, in Tokyo, there is the Ginza Church, of which I have had the honor to be pastor for the past nine years. We carry on a Gospel Night School, and years ago in this school General Yamamuro, the head of the Salvation Army in Japan was converted as a young man. Almost all the leaders in the temperance movement in my country have been Methodists—Tsuda, Ando, Nemoto and others.

Mr. Segawa, one of the laymen of my church, has taken the lead in the organization this year of the first foreign mission work undertaken on any large or interdenominational scale. I have been asked by this association to make an investigation of similar work in the United States, and on the way home to visit Japanese churches here and in Canada.

Four years ago my church was rebuilt, after complete destruction in the Great Earthquake of 1923. I wish to thank you for your generous gifts at that time, which reached us through the Reconstruction Committee of the Japan Methodist Church. On our part, our members, over a period of three years, gave with self-sacrificing devotion. One widow gave her wedding ring; a man walked back and forth to his office to save carfare; another man in one way or another saved every day fifteen cents, the price of one brick. Doctor Sugihara and his good wife subscribed 5,000 Yen as the utmost they could give. But as they recalled that a few years before they had paid 6,000 Yen for their home they felt ashamed before the Lord to have given more for their own house than for his. So they knelt in prayer for guidance, and when they rose from their knees it was with a determination in faith to subscribe 10,000 Yen. One week before the dedication they had completed the last payment, and with what joy you can imagine.

Our General Conference, this year, was approaching its closing day. Amid an atmosphere of heaviness the budget for the next four years was passed—reduced item by item to a total cut of forty per cent. Some delegates prayed the night long for some way out for the Church. The morning dawned. Conference was in session again, grinding through its last heavy tasks of unfinished business. Quite unnoticed by the Conference, a layman delegate slipped to the Chairman's table, laid on it an envelope, and resumed his place without being observed, even by the Bishop. The morning session was adjourned, and the note still lay on the desk. During the afternoon session it caught the Bishop's eye, and on opening it he found in it 4,000 Yen in cash. It was anonymous, but the use of the money was indicated. After some gifts to churches in the region of famine in the north, it read: "3,000 Yen as a seed-offering for a New Movement." Instantly Mr. Toyama, a lay delegate, was on his feet with a motion calling for a time of prayer and offering, to take up the challenge of the seed. Though scarcely fifty of the seventy-four delegates were then left present when heads were lifted and the offering taken, over eleven thousand Yen had been pledged for the new movement. No wonder our Conference came to a triumphant end with praise and thanksgiving on all lips.

In closing, let me thank you again for your interests and efforts for our Japan Methodist Church. These incidents I have given you, and many more, are but the harvest of your toil for us during the past sixty years. I cannot, however, close my message without referring to the bishops whom you have sent to reside in the Far East. Doctor Abe, at the last General Conference, referred to Bishop Herbert Welch as a name spoken among us with sincere gratitude and deep affection. This is indeed true, and we do profoundly miss him still in Japan. And now, Bishop Baker, another noble man, most unassuming, but full of love and understanding comes among us. We love him. We respect him. Why can we not keep such men as our own longer? The bishop's assignment by you reads, "Korea, and the Japan Council." Are we in Japan selfish in asking that this be changed to be "The Japan Council, and Korea?" I do not wish to trespass beyond the limits of my special mission as fraternal delegate, but I cannot refrain from this frank expression of my own heart's desire, and I know that the people of my country are with me in this.

In 1898 your venerable Bishop Cranston ordained me Deacon. Some time later I received Elder's ordination from the hand of Bishop David H. Moore. One day he laid his hand on my shoulder, and with long insight said to me, "Well, brother, should there ever be any misunderstanding or unexpected ill-feeling between your country and mine, our missionaries will prove to be your truest friends, and will furnish the strongest bonds of kinship between the two nations." Your people at large may misunderstand us and our people may at times not understand you, but at such times let us thank God for men like Bishop Harris, Bishop Welch, Bishop Baker, and many other missionaries who know us well, and can truly represent us to you. One cannot speak at such a time as this without having as a background the sad conflict of interests and forces in the Far East. The issues are far too complicated for our mortal wisdom or knowledge. All we can do is to pledge ourselves before God our common Father, to maintain a spirit of sympathy and understanding, and to be guided by him step by step until we are led through these distressing days into a time of full international brotherhood and peace.

May the Lord hold you in his one hand, and us in his other one. And may he pour out upon you and upon this Conference his blessing that it may be in every way worthy of the great name of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

THE WESLEYAN METHODIST CHURCH (ENGLAND)

See Journal, Pages 248, 249

Ralph B. Urmy, Chairman of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates:

Mr. Chairman: I do not wish to consume any of the time of the Conference with any extended remarks in presenting our honored guests who have come representing the Church across the sea.

We are peculiarly privileged and honored in having two representatives, fraternal delegates from the British Wesleyan Conference. One is a minister and the other a layman. Apparently they believe in equal representation. For the first time in the history of this representation from the British Wesleyan Conference, the minister has been accompanied by a layman.

Let me speak to you now of both of these men and present them afterward, in the order of the layman preceding the minister.

The Rev. Dr. Wilbert F. Howard is Professor of New Testament Greek in the Theological College, Birmingham, England. He is known as a very great scholar, an illuminating teacher, and a preacher of wide influence. With all that, he is a delightful companion, as many of us have discovered since he has been among us, and a brother beloved. Some years ago he was a visiting professor in Drew University, and there very rapidly gained the respect and the affection of President Tipple, the members of the faculty and the student body. Someone has referred to him as the Moffatt of Methodism, and he is famous in the academic world as one who has continued the work of that great scholar, Doctor Moulton, and is the most recent giver of the Fernley Lectures.

The layman who accompanies him is Mr. R. Parkinson Tomlinson, former member of the British House of Commons, a business man, an authority upon all matters pertaining to the British countryside, and above all, a man of deep religious convictions, who gives himself unstintedly to the work of his own local church, Poulton-le-Fylde, in Lancashire, England.

I do not know just what it was that persuaded the Book Committee to set the General Conference here by the Eastern shore, but it is rumored that though laymen have not come to represent British Wesleyanism at this Conference in other years, though appointed, Mr. Tomlinson promised that if the Book Committee would set the General Conference as close to the shores of Old England as possible, he would by all means be present.

I am very glad to bring him to you at this time and to present him to the President of this body, who will in turn present him to you.

Bishop Leete: I have the honor and pleasure of introducing Mr. R. Parkinson Tomlinson to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church!

Fraternal Message of Mr. R. Parkinson Tomlinson

When I was appointed by the great Church in that little country across the Atlantic to be one of the representatives to this great Conference, I counted it a very great honor. This morning I realize the responsibility, because I also realize it is a very great privilege to have the opportunity of speaking a word or two to this great Conference, and I bring from the Methodists of my country fraternal greetings.

A day or two before I left home I had a letter from an old man nearly ninety years old, who said, "Tell them to keep on singing the song that we used to sing when I was a boy, 'England and America United,'" and I believe that the Methodists of England want me to say to you this morning that we recognize very fully the value of the great work that you are doing for human kind, and that we appreciate the leadership that has come to all the churches from some of your most distinguished sons.

When I came to New York a few days ago and saw something of your great buildings and your great churches, I thought I ought to go on to see something of America, and so I went on to Washington to pay homage at the shrine of your great statesmen that we have all learned to love and that we all regard not only as American statesmen but as citizens of the world. And as I was there, I realized that you have not only produced great statesmen, but great prophets and preachers, and I recall some of the distinguished representatives that you have sent to our Conference in the years that have gone.

I am afraid I shall be rather clumsy if I attempted to say anything about the words of Bishop Hamilton, Bishop Hughes and Bishop McDowell, but let me say that their words were an inspiration to us and have meant much for the enrichment of our Church ever since they visited us.

This morning I would like to say just a word or two about the spirit that I seem to have caught in your great Conference. I am not sure, Mr. President, whether I didn't detect on more than one occasion a fear lest in these days of strain, through which the world is passing, whether you are not just a little afraid that the opportunities in the coming days might not be quite so great as the opportunities in the days that have gone, and I would bid you be of good cheer. Some people talk about the good old days; I think these days are better, richer in opportunity; but whether these are better or not, of this I am sure, that neither past nor present are half so glorious as the future is going to be, and God has given us as a Church this great opportunity, and the world is waiting for the message that we have to proclaim.

I believe that in our national life and in our civic life and individual life, people everywhere are listening, sometimes listening in vain, for the message that as churches we ought to be proclaiming.

We need to hear in these times a voice leading us along the only avenue along which I think we shall find an escape from our difficulties, and that is an avenue along which as we travel we shall hear the words of the Lord Christ, "Bear ye one another's burdens"; "Let us forgive one another."

I believe that if by that spirit your great countrymen and mine, and others who think as we do, will be governed, we shall be able to solve these great problems that confront us sooner than we sometimes think.

We are responsible for improving the conditions of the people. I wonder if as churches you protested very often against some of the conditions in your large centers of population. You may be very much better off than we are in the old country, but in our country we have such problems as the housing problem and as churches we have not spoken as we ought to have done on these great questions.

Sir, I remember well being in the House of Commons on one occasion and a gentleman got up on a bench just beside me, and he said, as he pleaded for better conditions for the people, to bring equality of opportunity for every man, to give every child a fair chance in life, "I would that over every slum tenement these words might be written, 'It is not the will of your Father which is in Heaven that one of these little ones should perish.'"

It is in that spirit that we shall have to carry out our work in the municipalities, but individuals are needing the message of the Church. A. B. Bruce said on one occasion, "I have spent my life in trying to see Jesus, and to show him to others." I am not quite so sure whether some of us in these days are as ready as men were in the days that are gone to tell others, to hear our witness, to realize that we are messengers, and that is what I feel is the call that comes to me. Men want to hear about Jesus Christ, who alone can meet their deepest needs, and in these days, if we are loyal to the tasks that await us, God has greater victories for us than we have yet seen.

Brethren, let us give ourselves to these high and holy tasks. I believe that while there are wrongs to be righted, greater liberties to be wrung and greater freedom to be secured, God is calling us to service.

As we give ourselves to these great tasks, the evangelization of the world, the improving of conditions in our cities and in our large centers, in seeking to win people in the remote areas of our land for Jesus Christ, God himself will welcome us and we shall go forward to great victories.

Brethren, be ye well assured that every bit of service that we have rendered, and every sacrifice that we make, will be a contribution toward the construction of a road over which the forces that are making for peace and love and brotherhood and righteousness shall travel, and travel one day soon to great and glorious victory.

I appreciate more than I can tell you the honor of coming to your great Conference to bring you greeting. I am but the King's cupbearer. The King will follow.

Bishop Leete: I have the great honor and pleasure of introducing to you Doctor and Professor Wilbert F. Howard, of England and the world:

Fraternal Address of the Rev. Wilbert F. Howard

Mr. President, Fathers and Brethren: How proud I feel at this moment to be associated with my dear friend, Mr. Parkinson Tomlinson, who has just shown you what the best type of British Methodist layman and local preacher is like. They are the strength of our Church, the glory of Methodism on the other side of the Atlantic.

Mr. Parkinson Tomlinson is the first lay delegate to come from the British Conference to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. I am last of a long line of ministerial envoys from John Wesley's Conference, last of all, less than the least of the apostles, not worthy to be called an apostle with most who have come before; but by the Grace of God, I am here, and I want to say to you that John Wesley's own Conference can never send another envoy to you, because John Wesley's Conference is merging in a greater union still in next September when all branches of British Methodism will have come together, and all old enmities and feuds, all unhappy memories of battles long ago, are buried, and henceforth we become one Methodist Church in Great Britain.

Sir, I need not tell you that some, when they assemble in that great meeting next September, will feel much like the older men who were present at the dedication of the new Temple after the exile. The young men cheered but there were tears in the eyes of the older men. There are some of those who will regret the passing away of some of the dear landmarks that point all the way back for the best part of two centuries, but we are glad to surrender those things that were dear to us as a denomination because we know that that wider union will be able more worthily to bear testimony to the whole world of the oneness of the Christian faith and the oneness of our devotion to the service of the kingdom of God.

We do not stand here as strangers. How could a British Methodist be a stranger in this great Assembly? If I may speak for myself, it has been my joy to meet from time to time many distinguished strangers, many distinguished visitors and envoys from your Conference to ours, and their welcome and your welcome here in America and in Atlantic City have made us feel at home.

More than that, I see out there before me now the faces of some that we met in joyous companionship on the Berengaria on the way across, men from Burma and India, as well as those of us who come from England. I think, too, that I see before me dear friends from Germany, Bishop Nuelsen, and other dear brothers from Germany, friends who have done so much in England and in Germany to bring together two nations that once unhappily were sundered but that long since have cast away the last remnant of bitterness. Our only longing is that in the future we may work together in the course of civilization and for the promotion of the ends of the kingdom of God.

With regard to prohibition, I want to say this: You can do us a very great service in our country by reinforcing the propaganda in favor of prohibition. It is more unfortunate than I can possibly describe to you that our British press so largely obtains its information from the press of the City of New York. It is not becoming that a visitor to your shores should talk critically even of the American press, it would be immodest on my behalf, but if I may express an opinion that has been borne upon me for a good many years now, I should describe that particular section of your press as dripping wet. Unfortunately, the overflow comes over into our press which becomes proportionately damp.

Every story that can be told about any failure to make the great act of legislation effective in any of the big cities is repeated in our papers as if that were the whole of the story. The vast measure of success that it has obtained over a wide field of territory in this country is very rarely set forth with fairness in our papers.

What I want to say is this, there have been three stages in the strategy of our enemy on this matter: First of all, if you went by the British press, you were told that though prohibition was very effective, yet it was leading a great number of addicts of alcohol to poison themselves with drugs. Our answer is that if a person is so foolish as to drink poison, there is no help for him.

Was it a device of big business to secure greater efficiency? The obvious reply on our side was this, "Very well, then, if it is proving so effective in the economic sphere, the best thing that we can do is to follow that example, otherwise we shall be left hopelessly behind in the race."

That appeared to be a two-edged argument.

Then the next stage was to try to beguile us into believing that the experiment had broken down entirely and was a gigantic farce. Now what I plead for is this: that our people in Britain should be enlightened, that you should, through your vast organization and with your wonderful gifts of publicity, do something to make known in our country the immense measure of success that that has already achieved.

Whatever may be the view of some sections of English opinion, I think it is fair to say this: If you read the three great organs of free church opinion—the British Weekly, the Christian World and, last, but by no means least, the Methodist Recorder—you will find that you have a solid backing of free church opinion in your superb attempt to achieve nation-wide prohibition of alcoholic drink.

Once again America came to our help in the Kellogg Pact and what I want to remind you is this: Whereas, in August, 1914, there were nations that went to war because they were pledged to fulfill a certain treaty, we are now pledged by that Kellogg Pact to settle our differences by another method than that of war. If once we had to go to war to keep a treaty, now we have to keep the peace if we are to keep a treaty.

And, Mr. President, if the demands of honor are inviolable in one case they are equally inviolable in the other. I do not speak as a consistent pacifist in the intellectual sense of the word, but I do say as a practical man when once that pact has been signed, its obligation is not to be treated lightly. We are pledged to it, and it is to America that we owe that return to the better way of the nations.

Now I want just to endorse what my honored colleague has already said. I do not wonder that America is concerned at the appalling waste of precious treasure upon armaments in some of the nations of the world. I do not wonder that you protest against that. I want to say what my colleague said with equal fervor and it is this: You will never find England coming to you with a cringing appeal for relief from an obligation. When once that word has been given, it is not from England that the request will come, but let me say this: If at any time America, recognizing the situation not only in Europe, but throughout the world, once again comes in with that largeness of mind and heart, that width of imagination that has so often inspired her policy in the past, she may yet be able to lift from the shoulders of nations that are crushed a burden that they can no longer bear.

I speak as an Englishman when I say this: I know that Germany cannot pay another cent and they ought not to be asked to. If one nation goes down in the vortex all of us will be drawn in as well, and I do not think that it is only Europe that will perish in that disaster.

I want to say this: I come from a country that has been suffering financial depression for twelve years now. There was one year of boom that followed the war and then there came a swift and sudden descent, not quite into the abyss. We were saved from that, but we have carried on. I should like to pay a tribute to the splendid devotion and heroism of the rank and file of the English working folk. They have borne their burdens with a courage that is simply beyond description.

May I now just come to the last point which is this: I think of the optimism in the church that greeted a stranger thirteen years ago. And I take it that in England and in America alike we have known something of the ebb tide since then and have sometimes been in danger of falling into pessimism. I think of a passage in one of those glorious essays of Hazlett on the sense of immortality in youth, who tells us how his sun rose with the outbreak of the French Revolution, how it seemed to him that they were as strong men to run a race together, and he never thought then that he would live to see that age go down in blood, that never since that day of disillusionment had he ever felt young again.

It may be that there are some here to-day who have lost that first ardor of youth, because it has seemed as though the tide was against us all the time. It was the inevitable reaction after the war. I do not think we should be surprised. You cannot proclaim a moratorium on moral values for four and one half years and then with a military word of command say, "As you were," and expect everything to be as it was before.

But now that is just where the opportunity and the challenge comes to the Church. We ought always to remember surely that Christianity began in the midst of a hostile world. Contemporary philosophy was not friendly to the Christian faith in the first century, that triumphant age of Christian aggression.

Do you think that philosophy was in favor of Christian ideas in the second century? Their best thinkers within the Christian Church, those apologists of the second century, did their best to state a case for Christianity, and faith held on and hope became brighter.

We to-day are living in an age in which it seems to me that the whole trend of things is against the well being of the Church, and yet you know that just as our muscular strength is developed by resistance to force, so it seems to me the virility and the vigor of the Christian Church will be proved in the hour of peril.

You have all read those words of Dr. T. R. Glover, in which he tries to explain the way in which, in that first Christian age, Christianity triumphed over paganism. He gives three reasons. Christianity conquered paganism because it outlived paganism, it outdied paganism, and it out-thought paganism. That is a threefold challenge to-day.

Outlived! Oh, I do not mean to say that the actuarial estimate for the length of life of a member of the Christian Church is unduly high. God forbid. It is in the quality, not the quantity of life that a Christian has to outlive the man outside the Church.

He outdied it. The first Christians had an exuberant faith in immortality. They believed in a future life.

He out-thought it. The best thinking of the Christian Church ultimately proved better than the best thinking of the pagan world.

Now that is a challenge for us to-day—to outlive our surrounding civilization by achieving a higher quality of morality and social ethics. The practical ethical appeal of Christ in the matter of money and morals must be higher than that of those who surround us.

We must outdie those around us. John Wesley used to say, "Our Methodist people die well." I am afraid we have abolished hell and very largely abandoned heaven. Hell is there as a reality, around us all the time. We are seeing that more and more clearly, but eternal life now is a possession that can make us sure of eternal life beyond the grave.

Finally, I want to say something about the need of outthinking our contemporary world. Enthusiasm, courage, chivalry—we need these, but in the end we must also bring all our resources of mind to bear upon the contemporary situation.

I would like to tell you of two ways in which it seems to me that in our own country across the seas we have proved that we are trying to rise to that opportunity. We have gone through twelve years of almost unparalleled financial depression, and yet are you aware of this—the amount of money contributed by our people year by year to the cause of foreign missions is far bigger than it was in the year when war broke out.

The last example I will give is this: In spite of the almost appalling situation economically in Great Britain, our Methodist Church in that country three years ago, under the splendid leadership of Dr. J. H. Wrightson and Mr. Edmund Lamplough, determined to put the ministerial training of our Church on a more secure footing than it had ever been before.

We have five noble theological colleges where our men have three years of training. No man goes unless he has been accepted for the ministry of the church. Every man who has been accepted for the ministry of our Church by our Conference, be he poor or be he rich, is allowed to have three years in one of those colleges.

If he can pay anything he is allowed the privilege of doing so. If he is not able to do so, he is allowed the privilege of coming in without paying. Poverty is not a barrier to entrance into the ministry of our Church.

Our Church said, "In these days of stress and strain, in these days when Christianity is on the defense, the keynote to the future is with the ministry and the training of the ministry, the mental and moral training of men to be fit for the leadership of life in these days."

And will you believe me when I say that within three years a sum of a quarter of a million pounds at the time when that effort was begun (that would be equivalent, I suppose, to a million and a quarter dollars now) has been raised by our little Church of half a million members without allowing any of the ordinary funds of the Church to suffer?

That is sacrificial giving, because our people in Britain believe that the future of our land depends upon the future of the Church, and the future of the Church depends upon the quality and training of the ministry. We are to go forward unabashed, unafraid, confident in faith and hope, believing that the future is still ours by the grace of God.

I should like to stop to quote some words that were written by one of the greatest Englishmen two and one half centuries ago. They were written about England. May I quote them also of your dear land as well as mine:

"Methinks I see in my mind a noble and puissant nation, rousing herself like a strong man after sleep, and shaking her invincible locks. Methinks I see her as an eagle mewing her mighty youth and kindling her undazzled eyes at the full noonday beam; purging and unscaling her long-used sight at the fountain itself of the heavenly radiance."

God grant that that vision may be true of dear old England.

God grant that it may be equally true of this glorious Republic of the West.

Bishop Leete: May the Chair make the comment that many of us here were greatly profited at Atlanta last year by the splendid addresses of the delegates from across the seas, and we congratulate those of you that were not there last year on the privilege you have had this morning to hear similar expressions of high sentiment and idealism. We are grateful for this hour.

THE UNITED CHURCH OF CANADA

See Journal, Page 252

Ralph B. Urmy, Chairman of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates: I have the honor now to present to this body representing the United Church of Canada, the Rev. Jesse H. Arnup, one of the Secretaries of the Board of Foreign Missions of that Church.

We all realize that the United Church of Canada has shown not only to us in our search for Church Union, but to all the world a very moving example, and we are grateful for the opportunity of receiving here to-day a representative of that body that has shown such success in reaching the union of evangelical Christianity so largely in the country that lies so near to us.

I have great pleasure and great honor in presenting Doctor Arnup at this time.

Bishop McConnell: It gives me very great pleasure to present Doctor Arnup, of the United Church of Canada.

Fraternal Address of the Rev. Jesse H. Arnup

Mr. Chairman and Members of the General Conference:

I would have you understand at the outset that the importance of the Church I represent and their high regard for this General Conference are not to be measured by the size of their representative.

I throw myself upon your mercy. Already I have received as much kindness as if I were grown up. I can only claim to come from the country that produced Bishop Nicholson, who led our devotions this morning, and the late Bishop Warne, and my home Church also sent into the ministry the late Bishop Joseph F. Berry. In fact, you have made so many of our Canadians into Bishops over here that one feels a little nervous about coming over.

The sight of this Conference reminds me of an obligation. At the Christmas Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which met at Baltimore in 1784, a Canadian was present. He was William Black, a twenty-four-year-old Yorkshire immigrant from Nova Scotia and he was tremendously impressed by the men he met there. "Perhaps," he wrote, "such a number of godly men never before met in Baltimore, perhaps not in America." To-day I am in a position to appreciate the remarks of my fellow-citizen, William Black. Because of the way you treated that first ambassador of Canada I have returned, after the lapse of one hundred and fifty years, to say "Thank you!" and with your permission, I beg leave to speak for a few minutes about the debt owing from the United Church of Canada to the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Coming from Canada, I represent the first foreign mission field of the Methodist Episcopal Church. In the heart of my home city there stands the tallest building in the British Empire. It houses the head office of one of our largest banks. Upon the outside wall of that building there is fastened a bronze plaque. To passers-by it witnesses the fact that on that site there was erected, in the year 1817, the first Methodist Church in Toronto. It was a Methodist Episcopal Church, holding membership in the old Genesee Conference. An Irish Methodist preacher from the United States mortgaged his Canadian homestead for the money to build that church. Its history, culminating in the great Metropolitan of to-day, represents one small item in the debt we owe to the Methodist Episcopal Church.

A real fighting Irishman was that Elder Ryan who built our first church, and as full of wit as he was courageous. On one occasion, as he rode up to the meeting house a group of lewd fellows of the baser sort were lounging outside the door. "Oh! Elder Ryan," said one of them, "have you heard the news?" "What news?" "Why, that the devil is dead." "Indeed!" Ryan looked him in the eye and then glanced round the group, "Well, he seems to have left a lot of fatherless children."

A full generation before, Canada had welcomed as immigrants Paul and Barbara Heck and the family of Philip Embury, their colleague in founding Methodism in New York City. There on the banks of the Saint Lawrence, not far from the Thousand Islands, these two families once more founded a Methodist community in a new land. Canada holds as a shrine to-day the grave of that devoted woman who startled Phillip Embury into action in New York with her stern words, "You must preach to us or we shall all go to hell together." Another item in our debt to the Methodist Episcopal Church.

I have mentioned the presence of a Canadian at the Christmas Conference and the impression made upon him by the men he met there. He had come to ask them for a Methodist missionary for the Eastern British provinces. He appealed to Coke, the irrepressible missionary, and to Francis Asbury, that great leader who thought in continents; and he found his case strongly supported by Freeborn Garrettson, who volunteered for the work in Nova Scotia.

Thus the first appeal of Canada met with instant response. Conference took up a collection of $150 to pay the expenses of Garrettson and his companion to Nova Scotia and the party left for the northern wilderness. There Freeborn Garrettson was in labors abundant for the space of almost five years. In Halifax stones were thrown at him, not as an American, but as a Methodist; nevertheless, he bore faithful and frequent witness, as the record of one day's work will show. The account is from his own diary: "Preached at 8 A. M. in the preaching house; at 10 at the poor house; at noon, at the preaching house; at 4 P. M. in a private house; and at candle light in the preaching house."

But this refers only to city work; most of his labors were performed among scattered settlements out in the woods. Of this work the early chronicler says: "He traversed the mountains and valleys, frequently on foot, with his knapsack on his back; up and down the Indian paths in the wilderness, where it was inexpedient to take a horse, and had often to wade through the mud and water of morasses; and frequently to satisfy his hunger from his knapsack, to quench his thirst from a brook, and to rest his weary limbs on the leaves of trees." For this sort of labor he received the regular Methodist salary of $16 per quarter, with board and lodging—but he laid the foundations of a great church in a new land. Is it any wonder that when the time came for that territory to receive regular organization as a Methodist Conference, Freeborn Garrettson was offered the post of Bishop of the Maritime Provinces. To the great regret of the people, however, he was unable to return. The memory of his work remains as part of the debt of Canada and of our United Church of Canada to the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Canadian, William Black, became Superintendent of the Maritime Provinces and Bishop Asbury used to send to his aid such young men as would volunteer for that work. It was characteristic of the Bishop's dealings with Canada as a foreign mission field that he never once appointed a man there who was not already a volunteer. He complained to William Black, however, that "the young men who returned to us are not so humble and serious as when they went to Nova Scotia." Relations between Bishop Asbury and his young Canadian colleague continued friendly until the close of the great Bishop's life. Indeed, when Bishop Asbury died, William Black was one of those chosen, after the custom of those days, to sit by his coffin throughout the night. At the funeral next day the Canadian was further honored by a place at the head of the procession, where he walked as the personal attendant of Bishop McKendree, who had charge of the services.

One of the by-products of the work of Freeborn Garrettson is worthy of passing mention. In Nova Scotia at that time were two or three settlements of emancipated slaves. These colored folk welcomed Garrettson as the man who, on his conversion, had set free the slaves whom he had inherited with his father's estate. Methodism made a great appeal to them and several churches were built up. In 1791 the British government repatriated these freedmen in West Africa, forming the colony of Sierra Leone. Among the 1,200 emigrants were many Methodists, who carried on their usual services and built churches in their new home. Thus was Methodism introduced into the Dark Continent.

Continuing our story we return to Upper Canada. When Paul and Barbara Heck and the family of Philip Embury settled along the Saint Lawrence, about 1780, practically the whole country was a wilderness. Following the Revolutionary War, Loyalist immigrants established scattered settlements, but outside of military stations they found no organized church nor regular ministry of whatever name or sign. The native Indians continued in their pagan state. As late as 1790 there were no more than six recognized ministers among a scattered population of 12,000 souls.

Then came the pioneer Methodist preachers. In the early winter of 1790 a man came through the woods riding on a huge black horse. He had only one useful arm, but it is recorded that he rode usually at a gallop. That was William Lossee, of the New York Conference, and he had been sent under the superintendency of that same Freeborn Garrettson who had so endeared himself to Nova Scotia. As Lossee rode, so he preached, at a gallop, and his words were quick and powerful. An ignorant, wicked young man, says the chronicle, attempted repeatedly to create a harmful diversion in one of his meetings while Lossee was leading in prayer. Finally the preacher lifted his eyes and hands to heaven and cried out, "Smite him, my God; my God, smite him." The interrupter fell to the floor and there writhed in agony, "Until the Lord in mercy set his soul at liberty." Some of the settlers had known Mr. Lossee before his conversion when he used to ride in races.

One of the boon companions of those earlier days sent him a message by his sister, "Ask Bill if he still remembers that little black horse he used to ride." The answer was incisive, "Tell Tom to be careful or he'll ride the little black horse to hell."

Horses and horsemanship, indeed, seem to have had a natural association with those early Methodist preachers from the United States. It is written that a local magistrate, lately appointed, attempted to take a rise out of Lossee's later colleague and successor, the Rev. Darius Dunham. The magistrate met Dunham riding on a fine-looking horse and said, with a sneer, "Elder Dunham, I'm surprised to see you so much better mounted than your Master; he was content to ride upon an ass." "Very true," replied the preacher, "but asses are very scarce hereabouts; the government has made them all up into magistrates."

Within little more than a year of his coming William Lossee had begun to build the first Methodist church in Upper Canada. That building, erected in 1792, still stands along the Bay of Quinte shore and is being preserved as a shrine by the United Church of Canada. It perpetuates the memory of our debt to the Methodist Episcopal Church.

In 1799 a young American school teacher and surveyor left his home on the east branch of the Delaware river to settle in the wilderness of Upper Canada. He was accompanied by his sister and her husband. The two men walked through the woods of upper New York State while the woman and all their effects were carried on an ox-sled. They crossed the Niagara river near where Buffalo now stands and settled on the Canadian side. There, through the services of a Methodist preacher, Joseph Sawyer, the young man was converted, and after what the record describes as "some humbling failures" he began to preach. That young man was Nathan Bangs. He was destined to become one of the most distinguished figures in the Methodist Episcopal Church. Our chronicler asserts that "he just escaped being a bishop."

The pioneer spirit of Nathan Bangs did not suffer eclipse at his conversion. In 1804, while still convalescing from a siege of typhus fever, he attended Conference in New York City. There he sought an interview with Bishop Asbury and volunteered to evangelize the Canadian wilderness farther west. In this stripling the Bishop found a man after his own heart and after being ordained deacon and presbyter on successive days, young Bangs was appointed to the Thames River, which flows into Lake Saint Clair, not far from Detroit. On horseback through the woods he made that trip, preaching to the scattered settlers as far west as Fort Detroit. At that place he found a very wicked community and a reception not at all to his liking. There is a report, which I cannot trace to an historical source, that he said, "When God rained fire on Sodom and Gommorah, he forgot about Fort Detroit!"

From the Detroit river to old Quebec, Nathan Bangs preached the Gospel in the land where he had found salvation. He was one of the first Methodists to preach in what is now the city of Toronto, and one of the first of any Protestant communion to preach to the Canadian Indians. He was stationed in Montreal, where he received forty dollars less than his actual expenses and lacked money to take him to Conference. In Quebec city his early income averaged one dollar a week and he was obliged to borrow a shilling to pay the woman who brought the milk. Moreover, he was now a married man, having found a wife in Canada.

Beyond peradventure, the seven years' conspicuous service of Nathan Bangs entitles him to rank as one of the founders of the Canadian Methodist Church. When, in 1828, the Canada Conference became independent, Doctor Bangs was strongly urged to accept election as its Bishop. By this time, however, he was already a city pastor in New York and could not be induced to return to Canada. I mention him both as part of our debt and as a contribution from Canada to the Mother Church of the United States.

What shall I more say? For time would fail me if I tell of that eccentric evangelist, Lorenzo Dow, of the saintly Calvin Wooster, of Sylvanus Keeler, of William Case, founder of Methodist Missions among Canadian Indians and in 1924 of our Missionary Society and of many others, who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness and—yes, stopped the mouths of lions. One or two incidents of their history, however, simply must be told.

In 1811 occurred a notable event in the visit to Canada of the man who is, with only one exception, the greatest figure in Methodist history, Bishop Francis Asbury. The Bishop was then in the fortieth year of his ministry and in a state of health which would have excused a lesser man from such an arduous trip. But Bishop Asbury was not an excusing sort of man. Two years earlier, in Kentucky, he had written, "If spared, I shall see Canada before I die."

The journey was made on horseback and included crossing the Saint Lawrence at Saint Regis, where the river is from two to three miles in width. According to our Canadian chronicler, this crossing was effected in a peculiar manner. He says, "We hired four Indians to paddle us over. They lashed three canoes together, and we put the horses in them, their forefeet in one canoe, their hind feet in another. It was a singular load; three canoes, three passengers, three horses and four Indians." Arrived in Canada the Bishop received "a welcome worthy of patriarchal times." "Everywhere he was treated as the angel of the churches." His own diary records: "Here is a decent, lovable people. My soul is much united to them." He visited at the home of the Hecks and with the family of Philip Embury. And everywhere, as he went he preached. Canadian friends had him exchange his saddle for a closed carriage, which, however, overturned on the bad roads, endangering the good Bishop's limbs and life. Crossing Lake Ontario on the return journey the sailboat in which he traveled was all but wrecked in a terrible gale. Nevertheless, the visit of Bishop Asbury to Canada was a triumphant success. I set it down along with all his years of friendly helpfulness, as part of the debt of the United Church of Canada to the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Looking at the situation more seriously, we find the Methodism of that day occasionally demonstrating its unity by rising superior to international boundaries and differences. During the war of 1812-14, the Dunham circuit extended over both sides of the border between Vermont and Quebec. One minister served the combined territory. At the height of the war the Methodists of Dunham circuit met for their love feast. The service was held in an old warehouse built for the convenience of smugglers, with the international boundary line running through the center of the building. Here gathered Canadians and Americans alike. Officially they were at war, but they sang the same hymns, prayed together and in each others' hearing offered testimony to the saving power of the same God. Then, across the low barrier in the center, they gave each other the right hand of fellowship.

In 1820 the Genesee Conference met for the second time in Upper Canada. This second meeting was held near Niagara Falls, at Lundys Lane, the scene of one of the most stubbornly contested battles of the war of 1812-14. Twenty men were ordained to the work of the ministry. Several of these men had fought on opposite sides in this great battle, only seven years before. After the service, says our record, these men could be seen, overcome with emotion and weeping in each others' arms.

These missionaries of your Church faced greater hardships than poverty and long rides through the bush. They were appreciated by those who knew them best, but they suffered much from the attitude and action of high churchmen and high Tories who offered objection to their politics as a means of expressing real opposition to their religion. By the year 1820, out of about two hundred recognized Protestant religious leaders in Upper Canada, almost one hundred and fifty were Methodists—elders, local preachers or exhorters. Various steps were taken to discredit this dissenting communion which was growing so rapidly in numbers and power. Their ministers were denied the right to solemnize matrimony and repeated aspersions were cast upon the loyalty of preachers and people. Finally the worm turned and influential Methodists brought up the matter in the Legislative Assembly of Upper Canada. In 1928 that British body adopted the following resolution in reference to the Methodist ministers of the Province, many of whom had come from the United States. I quote it only in part:

"To the disinterested and indefatigable exertions of these pious men, this Province owes much. At an early period of its history when it was thinly settled, and its inhabitants were scattered through the wilderness and destitute of all other means of religious instruction, these ministers of the Gospel, animated by Christian zeal and benevolence, at the sacrifice of health and interest and comfort, carried among the people the blessings and consolations and sanctions of our holy religion. Their influence and instruction, far from having a tendency hostile to our institutions, have been conducive to the reformation of their hearers from licentiousness, and the diffusion of correct morals, and foundations of all sound loyalty and social order. No one doubts that the Methodists are as loyal as any of His Majesty's subjects."

The Assembly went further and adopted an Address to the King, testifying in similar vein. This was done to counteract the effects of a letter to England from a highly placed ecclesiastical official in Upper Canada. Part of the address was as follows:

"We humbly beg leave to assure Your Majesty that the insinuations in the letter against the Methodist preachers in this Province do much injustice to a body of pious and deserving men, who justly enjoy the confidence, and are the spiritual instructors of a large portion of your Majesty's subjects in this Province. We are convinced that the tendency of their influence and instruction is not hostile to our institutions, but on the contrary, is eminently favorable to religion and morality; and their labors are calculated to make their people better men and better subjects."

Considering its source, that is one of the most remarkable acknowledgments of an obligation that was ever accorded to missionaries from another land. As a life-long student of Canadian Methodist history I have no doubt that the tribute was richly deserved.

There is one further incident that has to do with our obligation of a later day. In 1867, Virgil C. Hart founded the Central China Mission of the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1887 he was chosen to re-establish your West China Mission which had been wiped out by anti-foreign riots. Four years later he was convalescing from malaria on his farm on the Canada side of Lake Ontario, not far from the home of Mrs. Hart, who was a Canadian. In that year the Methodists of Canada were projecting their first Mission to China and Doctor Hart was called into consultation. The outcome was a request to your Board of Foreign Missions to loan the services of this natural pioneer to the Canadian Church. As a result he became the founder of our West China Mission, which has grown to be one of the largest missions in all China. It owes much to its founder from the Methodist Episcopal Church.

In that work we have come into partnership with your great Church in the organization and support of the West China Union University, which holds a place unique among all the educational institutions I have visited, right across the world. Its brilliant young Chinese President is a member of this General Conference.

Now I have spent almost all my time and have scarcely mentioned the United Church of Canada, which I came here to represent. In 1904 the Church Union movement in Canada began to take definite form. Nor was American influence entirely lacking in that great adventure. In that year I was a Home Missionary of the Methodist Church on a pioneer prairie circuit. When we came to organize a Quarterly Official Board, its membership, as to antecedents, included Congregationalists, Methodist Episcopals and one Universalist, all recently come from the United States. There were just enough Canadian Methodists to give the composition a salty flavor! Pioneer conditions called upon all supporters of the Church to get together upon any definitely Christian platform that was set up in the neighborhood. Yet what followed? At the first I was the only resident minister; but before twelve months had passed religious services were being held in that community by no less than five different denominations. All the people were newcomers, meeting common hardships and overcoming common handicaps in a new land. With the forthrightness of pioneers those settlers from Eastern Canada and immigrants from the United States alike rebelled against such a fractional presentation of religion, imposed upon them from without. When the movement for Church Union lagged, they began to form local union churches. Before the general Union was consummated in 1925, those local unions on the prairie had spread to more than 1,200 communities. It is safe to say that although pioneer conditions did not furnish the full cause of Church Union the prairies did precipitate the issue.

Since our new Church was formed seven years have passed and you ask me, "What about the Union?" My reply can be given in two words, "It works." Let me follow the fashion of an old-time Methodist and give my testimony. To me the consummation of union with our Presbyterian and Congregational brethren brought great personal blessing. In the joy of a wider and richer fellowship I found a fresh religious impulse the like of which had not come into my life since the day of my ordination to the Christian ministry. Other men have testified in similar vein. Each year I have attended Annual Conferences and a total of scores of Presbytery gatherings and I have never heard a discussion nor witnessed a vote where the house divided on denominational lines. Since the general Union took effect, over eight hundred charges have entered into local unions, thus further greatly reducing the number of competing churches. And during the first six years of union new members added on profession of faith reached a total of 150,000, exceeding in number those members of the Presbyterian Church who voted themselves out of the United Church.

We of the United Church of Canada have every reason and desire to cherish our former family relationships in the Christian Church. My presence here is a witness to the value we place upon our Methodist heritage. The United Church of Canada is a member in good standing of the Ecumenical Conference, which speaks for world Methodism. In this Conference our relation is still more intimate and personal. "Daughter am I in my mother's house" is what our Church has always claimed the right to say here. Now, a married daughter is no less a daughter. She becomes something more, a living link between two families. Canada is often referred to as an interpreter between our Motherland and the United States. So the United Church of Canada, with membership in the World Council of Congregational Churches, the World Alliance of Presbyterian Churches, and the Ecumenical Methodist Conference would rejoice to stand as an interpreter and an exponent of warmer and closer relationships among these great organized expressions of our common Christian faith.

A Canadian has written a line about the flags of our two countries which I would apply also to our Churches. The United Church of Canada drapes over her doors the white flag of Puritanism, the blue banner of Presbyterianism and the blood-red cross of Methodism. We look at their blended colors and we say,

"There let their varying folds unite
And form in Heaven's light
One arch of Peace."

W. A. C. Hughes, Member of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates:

Mr. Chairman, Members of the General Conference: November 29, 1758, John Wesley baptized the first Negro Methodist. In 1766 the first Methodist Congregation of five met in Philip Embury's home in New York City, and one of that number was "Betty," a Negro servant. To-day, there are 1,543,000 Negro Methodists in the United States, and if you multiply that by the usual figure to get the constituency, we have nearly four million Negro Methodists. They are divided into four major groups.

We have the honor this morning of presenting to you Dr. Buford F. Gordon, editor of Church School Literature, of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, who will bring greetings to you from that denomination.

Bishop McConnell: I have the honor of presenting Doctor Gordon.

Fraternal Address of Dr. Buford F. Gordon

Bishops, Lay and Ministerial Delegates:

As Fraternal Messenger of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, I bear you the greetings and the good will of more than 500,000 loyal, sacrificing sons and daughters, whose most ambitious task has been to conserve the ideals and principles of Christ, and to extend the boundaries of the Christian kingdom, through the channels of Methodism, to the endless parts of the world.

I deem it a high privilege to appear before you as the representative of my Church—a signal honor conferred upon me by our Board of Bishops. I feel my unworthiness for so holy a task—holy because it is my responsibility to bear a fraternal message of good will from a holy child to a holy parent, whose rightful places in our social order have been made secure by unmeasured Christian devotion and sacrifice.

They wish me to congratulate you, first, upon your continued and insistent emphasis upon the belief in the Trinity; the fall of man and his need of repentance; the freedom of the will; the certainty of future rewards and eternal punishment; the sufficiency of saving grace and the efficacy of the Holy Scriptures for salvation as are set forth in your Articles of Religion, and Wesley's published sermons and his notes on the New Testament. We are happy to note that, in this age, when much emphasis is being placed on an illusive "holy" humanism, you yet maintain that the one condition required of those who seek admission to church membership is "a desire to flee from the wrath to come and to be saved from their sins."

Your phenomenal growth and outstanding accomplishments have more than justified your heritage to this Wesleyan legacy. For since the time that Philip Embury, a Wesleyan local preacher from Ireland, formed a society in New York in 1766 which became known as the John Street Church, your membership has grown from a small nucleus to an aggregate of 5,177,467 souls, whose Christian influence is felt from the frigid north to the torrid south; from the Atlantic to the Pacific; and in nineteen foreign countries.

We congratulate you because of your maternal altruism toward the Negro Methodists such as the African Methodist Episcopal Church, the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, and the Union Methodist Episcopal Church.

We congratulate you for your 134 schools, accredited colleges and universities with a valuation of over $138,000,000 that are devoted to lifting mankind from the darkness of ignorance and superstition to the marvelous light of cultural knowledge. And we wish to especially congratulate you upon the establishment of 17 schools of learning for Negroes; and for your Freedman's Society, now the Department of Education for Negroes, which has—in the past sixty years—contributed to the education and training of more than 200,000 Negro youths; and has spent for grounds, buildings, and operation of schools for Negroes more than $10,000,000.

We take note of the fact that a distinct contribution has been made to Negro Christian leadership through Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Georgia, which has adequately trained many Christian ministers to intelligently and effectively administer to the social and religious needs of the people; and Meharry Medical College, Nashville, Tennessee, which has prepared physicians, dentists, pharmacists, and nurses to administer to the physical needs of suffering humanity.

We wish to congratulate you upon the prevalence of your keen sense of justice and your moral integrity which have been exemplified by your relentless campaigns against the imminent sins of our social order, which efforts have been successfully waged by your Board of Temperance, Prohibition, and Public Morals.

We congratulate you upon your missionary adventures that have made possible the establishment of Christian centers in over 19 countries, and that have gathered in an aggregate membership of over 672,000. Your true spirit of missionary enterprise is clearly set forth by the eagerness with which your 1,887 missionaries have entered the foreign fields, and by the results that they have obtained. Your missionary generosity is unquestionably shown by the aggregate investments that you have made in the purchase and maintenance of missionary enterprises at a cost of over $32,000,000.

The 500,000 members of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church wish me to say to you that they share with you this common task of evangelization and human redemption; and they also wish me to remind you that our common faith makes us inseparable, though our organizations may remain distinct units, for God is our Father, Christ our elder Brother, and the redemption of the world through the channels of Methodism is our accepted way of meeting this common challenge.

We wish to assure you that since our forefathers decided, in 1796, to effect an organization that would be devoted to the specific needs of our group, we have not strayed from the true paths of Methodism nor evacuated the praying, shouting camps, but have been true sons and daughters, completely engrossed with our Christian task.

All of our days have not been bright and sunny, yet God has blessed and prospered us. So that as we come to you this day, we are happy to report that since the time we held our first Conference in New York City, June 21, 1821, when we had only six churches, nineteen preachers, 1,426 members, we, too, have had a phenominal growth; so that to-day we have 4,000 preachers, 500,000 members, 2,466 churches, 44 Annual Conferences, 11 Bishops, and 21 General Officers. In answer to the Macedonian call we have gone into Liberia, Gold Coast Colony, Nigeria, South America, and the West Indies and established 120 stations which are operated by sixteen American missionaries and 82 native missionaries and helpers. We now have over 18,000 communicants in our mission field in Africa. We have 24 schools in Africa, two in South America, with a total enrollment of 2,344 pupils.

In our effort to dispel the dark clouds of ignorance and superstition we have established nine schools and colleges, with a valuation of $1,000,000; and our principal institution is Livingstone College, at Salisbury, North Carolina, where we are engaged in training Negro youths for Christian leadership.

Time will not permit me to tell you of the many achievements we have made through our Publication Department, Religious Education Department, Educational Department, Church Extension Department, Home Missions Department, Foreign Missions Department, Brotherhood and Ministerial Relief Departments, and the Bureau of Evangelism. It is sufficient to say that through these agencies our work has prospered and our future is hopeful.

We wish you to know that we are conscious of the grave responsibilities that now devolve upon organized Christianity. For we are yet laboring under the shadow of the World War that is reflected in the low ebb of the morals of the nations of the world; we are greatly impeded and sorely harassed by a strained economic status; and we are much disturbed over the nation-wide revolt against authority—in the home, the church, and in the state; and in this present social crisis, when it seems that we are tottering, we brace ourselves in the knowledge that the words of Lowell are true:

"Truth forever on the scaffold, Wrong forever on the throne—
Yet the scaffold sways the future, and, behind the dim unknown
Standeth God within the shadow, keeping watch above his own."

If the ultimate objective of organized Christianity is the realization of the kingdom of God, a social order wherein the will of God is realized in the complete good and well being of all men, then it becomes the prime duty of the Christian Church to make conditions favorable for its coming. Therefore, the Church cannot be released from the task of social adjustment and of uprooting those things that have made possible the crime waves that have encircled the western hemisphere and kept in constant danger the lives of the high and the low, the rich and the poor. The Christian Church as leaven must so change the whole social order that no such conditions will obtain as will force our peace-loving, law-abiding citizens to resort to the perpetrators of crime in an effort to rescue their loved ones from villains; and to arm themselves to secure the protection of their families because established agencies of justice have been completely baffled, and have hopelessly failed. No one is completely saved, and the new Kingdom is not absolutely secure until the community is safe and until righteousness is on the throne.

Organized Christianity must not withdraw itself from the arenas of life, but must continue its righteous battles until prohibition has been established, not only hither and thither, but within the hearts of men; and until racial good will has become one of the dominating motives of our social order; so that a "clash of color" will be made impossible and everyone, irrespective of race, color or nativity, will have the unrestricted privilege to enjoy the full rights and opportunities of our native land.

We are thoroughly aware of the fact that efficiency and technique, however desirable, must not so obscure our vision that we cannot see the untold sufferings and the distortion of character that are caused by technical and periodic unemployment. Therefore, we wish you to know that we believe that the Kingdom cannot come fully until organized society gives due regard to personality and recognizes human well-being as the nation's greatest asset. Men must not be considered as mere cogs in the wheel of our social order that may be replaced at will by machinery, but machinery must be the servant of man. Industry and the Church alike must become the holy arms of God reaching out to save men, and to establish, in this age, a Democracy of God.

As we face the future with you, hoping, striving, and tirelessly working for the dawn of a better day, we have no desire to be released from the task of solving these perplexing problems that retard us. We, knowing that you stand for individual and social redemption, are happy to bring you greetings and good will as we share with you this common task. With God as our Father, Jesus as our Lord and Master, we twain cannot shrink from the responsibility of extending the boundaries of Christendom until it becomes as wide as the expanse of humanity and as everlasting as endless time.

Then in the wake of untrammeled truth we shall see the noontide of a new day when there will be no sordid indifference, no spiritual repression, no racial animosities, no fear of common criminals, no human suffering from a widespread poverty, and no selfish desire for material acquisition at the expense of human welfare. In that day we will find ourselves in the midst of a holy human society where the Spirit of God shall cover the earth as the waters cover the channels of the seas.

THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH

See Journal, Pages 263, 288

Ralph B. Urmy, Chairman of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates:

Mr. President, and Members of the General Conference: The Fraternal Delegate who is about to be introduced really needs no introduction. He has won his way to our hearts by his delightful social contacts, and gave us proof of his passionate devotion to Christ in the winning appeal that he made in this room last evening. He comes, however, this morning representing officially the great Methodist Episcopal Church, South, our largest and nearest sister denomination.

We have been doing a great deal of courting during many years. In 1930 we sent one of our handsomest and tallest and most winning personalities, Dr. Merle N. Smith, to see this Southern beauty, and to say some words that might attract her affection and her life-long devotion. He tells me that he had a great reception with her at Dallas, Texas.

And now this morning there comes one who is just as handsome and just as winning, to sit here by the whispering waves of the Atlantic and to speak, I trust, some tender and winning words to us. A good many of us think that it is about time this courtship came to an end, and that we both called in the preacher and had something done.

I have great honor in presenting to you, through the Chairman of this meeting, Bishop Arthur J. Moore, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, resident in San Francisco.

Bishop Welch: Bishop Moore, I need not assure you of our most hearty welcome as you come to bring your message.

Fraternal Address of Bishop Arthur J. Moore

Dear Fathers and Brethren: As the Fraternal Messenger from the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to the Methodist Episcopal Church, I stand before you greatly honored, but not unmindful of the grave responsibility which is mine. The task assigned me calls for ability far beyond any I dare claim, but if a peculiar and tender affection for your great Church, an admiring interest in your activities, and a very keen delight in your spiritual triumphs around the world be considered equipment, then I shall in part be justified in speaking. Let me ask in advance your Christian indulgence and beg you to look beyond me to the more than two and one half million Methodists whose representative I am. I thank God upon every remembrance of you, and pray that your great Church shall be made increasingly beautiful, glorious and triumphant through the conscious life and power of the ever-present Redeemer.

Although I am here as the representative of another branch of American Methodism, I have much difficulty in realizing I am a stranger among you. I feel quite at home. From the hour of my arrival in this city you have surrounded me with gracious courtesies. Many of your distinguished leaders have labored with us in the Southland. No words of mine can adequately express how rich has been the contribution made by them. I am charged with the supervision of the Conferences of our Church on the Pacific Slope. Here our two Methodisms labor side by side.

In this presence I bear glad testimony that from the hour of my assignment your Bishops, pastors and people have given me every evidence of the fine spirit of fraternity and co-operation which is most characteristic of your Church. Bishop Charles Wesley Burns, Bishop Titus Lowe, and Bishop Wallace E. Brown have, by their brotherly consideration and unceasing co-operation, helped to solve many of my problems, and we have faced our common task in the spirit of co-operation rather than competition.

Our entire Church thanks you for sending Dr. Merle N. Smith as your Fraternal Messenger to our last General Conference. No representative you might have selected could have made a more favorable impression upon our people. His charming personality and brotherly spirit captured our hearts the day he arrived. We waited eagerly for his message, and when it came it was worthy of him and of you; it won not only our applause and admiration, but made a real contribution to the spirituality of our sessions. His prophetic insight into world conditions, his insistence upon Jesus as the only cure for the ills of the world, and also his assurance of your love and prayers, gave us light and leadership, which caused us to thank God and take courage.

STATISTICS

I shall not weary you with any statistical display of our activities. My figures will be few. We have many evidences of the abiding presence of the God of our fathers. The decade ending in 1930 showed the largest membership gain of any ten-year period in our history. Our gains for the past eighty years have been as follows: 1850-60, 161,616; 1861-70, 34,441; 1871-80, 270,112; 1881-90, 371,336; 1891-1900, 267,415; 1901-10, 400,062; 1911-20, 384,170; 1921-30, 402,063. 1931 witnessed a decrease of 39,750, but of this number 26,357 were included in the new Methodist Churches in Brazil, Mexico and Korea. They were not lost to Methodism. Our present membership is 2,656,885. These figures reveal that in its evangelistic spirit and effort our Methodism has not departed from the fundamentals of the faith. Statistics, however, do not reveal many noteworthy advances. Our educational, missionary, benevolent and evangelistic labors are multiplied and reasonably successful.

For a quarter of a century now we have been enjoying unusual material prosperity. During this time we had an era of expansion. Many beautiful and expensive churches, adequate and costly college and hospital buildings were erected. Unfortunately our credit was too good, and now heavy indebtedness strains many congregations, and endangers several of our noble institutions. The consequent financial demands have helped to reduce contributions for missions, education and other benevolent causes. We face a most distressing situation, and only supreme sacrifice can prevent financial loss and spiritual hurt.

Subscriptions for the enterprises of the Church have been steadily declining. Our lack of funds, with which to carry on the program of the Church, is due in part to the economic situation through which we are passing. Truth compels me to add, however, that the old fervor for worldwide missions seems, in not a few, to have been succeeded by questionings, if not by total indifference. This lack of fervor is apparent among the older generation, but is particularly true of the younger generation. The burning zeal of early Methodists to share Christ with all mankind seems to have been somewhat quenched. Apparently we have not succeeded in educating our people in the fundamentals of Missions. Too often our churches have followed the line of least resistance by placing the apportionments for world service in budgets and our missionary education has been left largely to our excellent women.

Some of our most discerning leaders have a growing conviction that the better days for which we long can never come until the Church has been re-impassioned for a missionary effort worthy of Christ and in obedience to the commission which he gave. Our loss of world vision has weakened the Church at home. The prophetic words of the sainted Dr. W. W. Pinson need to be heard again: "The missionary enterprise is the supreme adventure of history. It is the challenge of hope and courage in a world of paralyzing fears and demoralizing futilities. It is the sole claimant as a moral substitute for war. It is the only accredited messenger of good news to a bewildered world, and the lone champion of love and good will in a world of hate and war; any lowering of its standards, or lessening of its power, or cheapening of its motives is the betrayal of the race and a yielding of the only fortress that flies the flag of brotherhood."

The recovery of the apostolic ardor and missionary passion of other days is an indispensable factor in the problem of the present hour. From the beginning Methodism has regarded itself as the herald of a body of truth which brings the joyful tidings of redemption to those who believe in Christ. This gospel not only brings peace to the human heart and produces in men self-denial and brotherly service, but is also the sure source of power for social regeneration. It points the only way to a safe, friendly and happy world. The great commission of Jesus, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature," furnishes us definite purpose, practical program and sustaining energy. In obedience to it the early Methodists went everywhere proclaiming the good news. They were stopped by no obstacle and discouraged by no difficulty. If the radiant, heroic and romantic features of our greatest eras are to be restored, this responsibility must be laid with a new emphasis upon the conscience of our people.

PROHIBITION

Fourteen years ago the moral and religious leadership of the nation overthrew the legalized liquor traffic, and secured national prohibition. This was the result of a struggle that had continued for more than a century. From the beginning of our nation until that hour the liquor traffic had defied every regulation and broken every law enacted for its regulation. It had been the cause of more poverty, crime, suffering and disease than any other one evil which had afflicted our people. Henry W. Grady, a brilliant leader out of our Southland, accurately described it when he said, "It is the destroyer of men, the terror of women and the shadow on the face of childhood. It has dug more graves and sent more souls to judgment than all the pestilences since Egypt's plagues, and all the wars since Joshua stood before the gates of Jericho."

After only fourteen years of effort on the part of the federal government to banish this corrupting traffic, some of its friends delight to magnify the few unhappy evils that must of necessity accompany every effort to suppress such a gigantic wrong, and now plead that it again be granted a legal status. A widespread propaganda is under way to create the impression that our prohibition laws are a failure.

The nearly three million Methodists for whom I speak tonight purpose to meet all these insidious attacks on our prohibition laws with an unbroken and aggressive front. We are committed both to the observance and enforcement of this law. We purpose to continue teaching our children and youth the menace of the liquor traffic. We intend to preach against it, pray against it, and vote against it; we mean to sustain our officers in the enforcement of the law. Any political party, any organization, any person who is the friend and patron of the liquor traffic, or who encourages the violation of the Eighteenth Amendment may expect no armistice, no compromise from us. War has been declared. We are enlisted for its duration. Against this evil we mean to stand with sleepless vigilance and with loins girt. This we count our high privilege and sacred duty.

UNION OF THE TWO CHURCHES

The Episcopal Address delivered to our last General Conference contained these significant words concerning the union of the two Episcopal Methodisms:

"By all the ties of history and of doctrine and spiritual kinship we hold a relation to the Methodist Episcopal Church closer than to any other of the evangelical churches. Not only are we related; we are brethren. . . . As is well known, the Plan of Unification was not acceptable to a sufficiently large majority of our people. We believe, however, that this failure was only temporary, and we cherish the hope that at some future time we shall be wise enough to find a way whereby a united Methodism with undivided energies and unwasted resources may deliver her full strength upon the common task."

A Commission on Interdenominational Relations, composed of fifteen members, was set up at this Conference, and its duties defined as follows:

"Said Commission is authorized, empowered and directed to represent the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in all questions of fraternity with other Christian denominations, and especially to cultivate the spirit of fraternity with the Methodist Episcopal Church, looking toward the ultimate union of these two branches of Episcopal Methodism."

Speaking for myself and representing what I believe to be the spirit of my Church, let me hasten to assure you that our desire for union with you abides. We have a common Methodism. Ours is a common ancestry; we hold a common faith, and live for a common purpose. Everything back of 1844 belongs to us alike. Wesley, Whitefield, Embury, Strawbridge, Coke, Asbury, McKendree, Soule, and that whole brotherhood of itinerants who through infinite toil laid the foundations of American Methodism—all are ours. Behind us there is a common history, before us a common destiny.

The baffling difficulties and grave dangers which to-day confront evangelical Christianity make it well nigh impossible for us to accomplish our task if we continue with divided ranks. For a time like this only united and mobilized experience and sacrificial devotion will suffice. What we have been able to do for the past eighty-eight years has not been because we were divided, but despite our divisions. If we have done well apart, we could have done better together. The extreme urgency of the present world situation summons us to a united front. It is a startling fact that it is entirely possible in this critical hour for American Methodism to fall short because of its lack of unity.

To win the wholehearted allegiance of the present generation we must prove that we are partners, not competitors. Wise and good people in our pews, both North and South, are weary of our divided policies and plans. Never has the indispensability and victorious power of united planning and action been so burned into the thinking and convictions of our people as now.

Our divisions are more than unfortunate. They are wasteful of time, energy and money. In many places we compete with each other. Such competition does not impress those who support our work as representing the wisest or the most productive use of the funds of the church. They do not object to large expenditures, but they do object to unnecessary duplication of effort caused by our unhappy divisions. The influence of American Methodism will be immeasurably increased by union. The Master prayed for the union of his people, not as an end in itself, but to insure the one great objective of his Church, namely, "That the world may believe."

As early as 1914, our General Conference, by enthusiastic vote, declared in favor of unification by the reorganization of the Methodist bodies in America. The first plan submitted was not acceptable to you. The next plan offered, while acceptable to you, failed to receive the necessary constitutional majority with us. Shall we now cease our labors and abandon our dreams? To do so is to perpetuate the misunderstandings of the past. Let us thank God for the progress we have made. Let us acknowledge to God that the day of discord is gone, prejudices of yesterday no longer sway us, and we can continue our labors in an atmosphere of good will. The differences that remain are infinitesimal when compared with the points in which we are agreed. To grow weary now and drift apart would be a tragedy in a day that cries aloud for a united Methodism.

We have had many noble declarations from General Conferences touching our divisions and the desirability of union. The chief difficulty has been in making a plan acceptable to both Churches. Each has been prone to lay the blame for failure of negotiations on the doorstep of the other group. We no longer need quotations from Uncle Tom's Cabin, nor rebel yells. Whatever the differences of days now gone, let them be buried in oblivion. Let the emphasis North and South be shifted from "What must my church give up?" to "What has my church to give to a new and larger Methodism?"

Twelve brief years and we shall have reached the one hundredth anniversary of our separation. Surely a century apart is long enough. Our spiritual children in Japan, Mexico and Korea are beautifully and effectively united. Maybe the promise that "A little child shall lead them" will prove true with us.

Let us resolve that each Church will at the earliest possible moment create a new Commission to work out another plan. Let our Commissions, with a like Commission from the Methodist Protestant Church, meet and with united desire and prayer proceed unafraid, undiscouraged, and with unwavering determination to seek for a just and lasting basis for a United American Methodism. Let us resolve that the one hundredth anniversary of our separation be devoted to a year of jubilee and a fresh girding for a mighty evangelistic and missionary advance around the world.

To that glad hour let us here dedicate our best thought, our earnest prayers and our constant endeavor, and by so doing illustrate the creed of Saint Augustine, "A whole Christ for my salvation, a whole Bible for my staff, a whole Church for my fellowship, and a whole world for my parish."

THE WORLD-WIDE UPHEAVAL

Your Conference meets in one of the significant and critical hours of history. Days and weeks have the fullness and significance of years and decades. Not in the lifetime of most of us has there been so much grave and deep apprehension. Sinister tides are running throughout the whole world. In this country there is almost universal economic prostration, and multiplied millions of our fellow citizens face life without employment and without the prospect of it. The political cauldron seethes with uncertainty. We face the kind of a situation in which former civilizations have gone down. Many of the causes and conditions which wrought havoc to other civilizations are resident and active in the world to-day.

To many balanced and competent observers, the very foundations of our social order seem to be crumbling. The structure which our fathers labored so patiently to build is trembling, if not tottering. It is a solemn hour, and we dare not be indifferent to the issue of events.

The disintegration of our home life, the break-down of authority, the unsettling of moral standards coupled with a growing paganism and increase of crime, reveal that the world of our day needs redemption. Our deliverance must come from God, or it comes not at all. A world groping for light and help amid the wreckage of a secular civilization turns to the Church of God for leadership and help. The age in which we live is at once our greatest danger and our greatest challenge.

I am concerned as to what shall be the mood and message of Methodism in this hour of world-wide upheaval. In the eighteenth century Methodism proved its power to purify and elevate the life of a people. The moral life of the country was at low ebb, external means had failed when the Wesleyan Revival came and changed the whole tone of English society. The Church was restored to life and spiritual aggressiveness, and the people given a fresh spirit of moral zeal.

Once again we must proclaim the message of Christ in supreme confidence. Admitting all the ugly facts, we must go forth facing every situation with triumphant confidence and undisturbed peace. We will be careful not to underestimate the difficulties nor blind ourselves to the strength of our foes, but looking beyond all these see the eternal and inexhaustible resources at the disposal of the Church of God. What, though obstacles are great and enemies are many, greater is He that is with us than all that are against us. It is our priceless privilege and sacred duty to sustain a mood of hope and courageous faith by declaring: "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore, will we not fear though the earth be removed and the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea. The Lord of hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge."

The darkness shall turn to dawning,
And the dawning to noon-day bright,
And Christ's great Kingdom shall come on earth,
The Kingdom of love and light.

THE MOOD OF METHODISM

From the beginning, the credentials of Methodism have been the evangelistic passion and the evangelistic message. We have always regarded ourselves as the heralds of the joyful message of redemption, both here and hereafter, for all who believe in Jesus Christ. In the face of the unbelief and shocking immoralities of the eighteenth century, John Wesley lighted our evangelistic fires. The early Methodists gave themselves with sacrificial passion to the telling of this good news. Their one mission was to bring men into a saving knowledge of the truth as it is in Christ Jesus. They felt that upon Methodism a very special responsibility rested for the conversion of the world.

From then until now the normal mood of Methodism has been the evangelistic mood. The stirring story of our advance across this continent is a story of resistless evangelism. We have always been the flying squadron of the evangelical groups. Our supreme emphasis has not been a philosophical theory nor even a theological system, but a prophetic call to sinful men to accept Christ and go forth to a new life of faith and self-sacrifice. We have every reason to be proud of our evangelical traditions.

This is still the supreme function of Methodism. God called us into being to be Christianity in earnest, and no Church can forget its divine mission and have bright prospects. There can be no effective substitute for the evangelistic passion. I do not claim this is the only business of the Church, but I insist that this is the supreme business of the Church. We can live without costly buildings, elaborate ritual or expensive choirs, but we cannot live before God without our hearts being on fire for the souls of men.

We will be recreant to our duty if we do not cry aloud and battle heroically against war, industrial oppression, ignorance, yea, all the social evils which afflict the race. Let us never fail to provide a voice for those who have no speech and a sword for those who have no weapon, but all the while let us strive to teach the boundless love of God toward all men. Our need for social and industrial reconstruction is great, is imperative, but our need for a spiritual awakening is greater and more imperative. Some of us are convinced that nothing will meet the exigencies of this hour except a revival of religion.

It is always easy to generalize about the failure of churches and the shortcomings of ministers. It is not so easy to bring in a bill of particulars with evidence sufficient to sustain it. We are agreed, however, that we stand in sore need of the recovery of a radiant passion for the redemption of the lost. Many of our churches are comfortable and complacent. There is a notable lack of the evangelistic note. Too few of our sermons are directed at the main business of preaching. Sylvester Horne, that prophet of modern times, said: "We have some faith left in education, but almost none in what our fathers called conversion." A new note is required in much of our preaching to-day if men and women are to be won to Christ. There must be more passionate pleading. Scholarly accuracy, literary finish and charm of style we will not despise, but these alone cannot probe the sore of sin or lead men out of bondage into spiritual liberty. The antagonism some would raise between evangelism and religious education is absurd. We must put more education into our evangelism and more evangelism into our education.

We are hearing too much about the blessings of moderation and the dangers of fanaticism. Our fathers could hardly control themselves as they proclaimed the truth. They told the story with an inexpressible rapture. Preaching was a daring romance, and they lived at white heat. The recovery of that passion will arouse a slumbering church and bring back the heroic and romantic features which marked the life of Methodism in the eras of its greatest glory.

Our soul, as well as the souls of those to whom we are sent, depends upon our faithfulness to this evangelistic message. If I speak with an unbecoming and presumptuous urgency, it is only because I am so deeply concerned that Methodism shall regain her place at the head of the marching battalions of God's army and be in the future as in the past a mighty instrument in the hand of Almighty God for the salvation of men and the building of a new world.

AN ADVENTUROUS AND HOPEFUL CHURCH

What an incomparable challenge comes to us as we face the present world situation! The Church alone is equipped to point the confused mind and groping spirit of the race to the place where light will break through the clouds. We must recover our triumphant spirit. Cease talking of strained resources and inadequate powers. With a new vision of the conquering Saviour, a more perfect allegiance to his will, a more complete surrender to his mastery, and a new yielding to his passion to redeem the world, let us go forth "daringly adventurous and gloriously hopeful."

We heed, O Lord, Thy summons,
And answer: Here are we!
Send us upon thine errand,
Let us Thy servants be.
Take us and make us holy,
Teach us Thy will and way;
Speak, and, behold, we answer.
Command, and we obey!

LATER

Ralph B. Urmy, Chairman of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates:

Mr. Chairman: A question of privilege is concerned with the courtesies in connection with the work of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates. Bishop Arthur J. Moore, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, whose presence here with us has been such a delight, is about to return to his work, and I ask for him the privilege of a word of farewell.

FAREWELL WORDS OF BISHOP ARTHUR J. MOORE

My Fellow-workers in Christ: I have no desire to detain you with another speech. My duties demand that I leave during the afternoon; and I did not want to go without attempting to say to you how much I appreciate your kindness and courtesy and reception you have given me during these days.

I think I go away from you thinking of your great Church like an old minister about whom I heard some years ago who for nearly a lifetime had labored in hard country places. The Bishop brought him into a great city and gave him a great church. On the first day of the first month the treasurer gave him a check for his salary in full. The old man had not heard of that, let alone experienced it; but he took the check to the bank and handed it to the cashier, and the cashier said to the old brother, "You must endorse this." And that was not familiar terminology to the brother, but he carried it over to the desk, and with trembling hand wrote across the back of the check, "I endorse this with all my heart."

I came to you as the Fraternal Messenger from the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, very much afraid. I am quite a young preacher, as you know, and I had never served in this capacity; and yet from the hour of my arrival, you have been so gracious and so brotherly and so good that I shall go back to my Southland, and to my Church, to tell them of your courtesy; and to say, unless you tell me not to say it, that what I had to say about the union of our two Churches was enthusiastically received and that I believe in 1944 we are going to have a great jubilee year in America celebrating the reunion of our two Churches.

Bishop McDowell: The presiding Bishop gives me the privilege of saying, in behalf of the General Conference and all of this Church represented here, to Bishop Moore that we are very grateful for his presence, for the high spirituality of the note he has struck in our hearing, for the way he has exalted Christ in his addresses; and, through him, to say to his great Church, that brotherly love continues.

It is the desire of the Commission on Interdenominational Relations that the Sesquicentennial which becomes our next celebration, in two years from now, shall inaugurate as the practical outcome of the celebration of the organization of Methodism, a movement for the union of all the Methodisms in America, anyhow by the year 1944, but whether we can get formal union immediately or any other nearer time, we shall still be joined in heart and hope to meet again.

God bless you.

THE KOREAN METHODIST CHURCH

See Journal, Pages 263, 264

Ralph B. Urmy, Chairman of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates:

Mr. President: It is a very happy thing that following these cheering remarks of Bishop Moore on the subject of Church union, we should turn in our thought to that newly established Church beyond the Pacific which is a demonstration of what the two great Methodisms can do when they get together.

In November, 1930, there was established, as you know, the Korean Methodist Church, so progressive and so adapted to modern times in politics as well as in doctrine, growing so rapidly, this daughter of the two Methodisms seems about to adopt as its motto, "Bringing up Mother," or "Bringing up both Mothers," for it seems to me that she stands out ahead of her parents at so great a distance as to be beckoning them to come on.

It is also a very happy thing that the Chairman of this morning was the Chairman of the Commission of the Methodist Episcopal Church who went to Korea that Fall to assist at the beginnings of this new Church. One of the ways in which the Korean Methodist Church differs from our own is that they do not regard the term Bishop and General Superintendent as synonymous. Indeed, they have no Bishop.

It is my happy lot this morning to introduce to you, Mr. President, Dr. Ju Sam Ryang, of Vanderbilt University and of Yale University, and of the Korean Methodist Church, who is no Bishop according to his own statement and confession of faith, but who is every inch a General Superintendent.

Fraternal Address of General Superintendent Ju Sam Ryang

Mr. President, Fathers and Brethren: It is a distinguished though unmerited honor to be permitted to bring to you the most affectionate greetings from your youngest daughter Church far away across the ocean, with the assurance of our gratitude and good will. Even though I should fail to express the true spirit of our people who have been praying during these months that I may be able to convey their gratitude and their cordial regards to you, may the Holy Spirit fill your hearts with gladness and satisfaction. While I am proud of the fact that I have been charged with this weighty responsibility, I regret to say that I have no claim to special fitness for this task, save that I have been nurtured by the hands of Methodist apostles and that I have been in the fold of Methodism ever since I learned the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

I say I have been nurtured by leading Methodist apostles. During the last twenty years I had the opportunity of being a disciple of some of your great bishops—Bishop James C. Baker during the last four years, Bishop Herbert Welch for twelve years previously, and the late Bishop M. C. Harris for another four years. They have been my friends, brothers, and counselors, and imparted their spiritual experiences to me beyond measure. Then when I was a student at Vanderbilt University, some twenty-one or two years ago, I was at the feet of Bishop McDowell, your senior Bishop, for a whole week when he was delivering the Cole Lectures on "The School of Christ." You can imagine what a spiritual feast I must have had then. Before I went to Vanderbilt, I was in San Francisco, preaching to our people on the Pacific Coast for a few years. One day I heard that Bishop David H. Moore, who was just returning from the Orient, was to preach in the Grace Methodist Church of that city on a certain Sunday evening, so I went to hear him. After the service, I went to him with two other Korean boys and told him that we were Koreans; whereupon the good Bishop grasped all three of us and gave us a big hug, showing his inward love outwardly, and he said, "I love you Korean people." In such love I have been nurtured.

There is still something more to tell you. Yonder, in Korea, some thirty-five or six years ago, when I was only a lad, I heard the love of Christ for the first time in my life from your own missionary, the Rev. Dr. W. A. Noble, who is still active in Korea to-day. So, though it is my first opportunity to come before you, I come not as a stranger, but as your own son in Christ, with a full Methodist heritage.

I have longed to have this opportunity, and now I am happy to stand before this General Conference in the presence of your Bishops and great leaders from all over the world. I thank God for Methodism, for what it means to the world, and I thank God for what it means to Korea and to me.

I want, first of all, to thank you very much for your kindness to me. I have no words at my command to express my deep appreciation. Your kindness has indeed touched my heart. I am so thankful for having this opportunity to get into the atmosphere of a true world brotherhood. When I return to Korea I will tell our people all about your kindness and I am sure they will appreciate it.

As it will take more time than I am allowed to consume, I am not going to tell you much about our work in Korea. I hope you will glance at the pamphlet which I have prepared and distributed to the members. That will tell you something about our work, but at this time I will tell you about the resolution which was adopted at our joint Annual Conference last March and which I will present to you directly.

I have been told that before I present some hard and dry facts to an American audience I must tell some kind of a joke, so that I may have a good and responsive hearing. But I regret to say that Koreans are naturally dry and thus I cannot conceive any joke at all. Some years ago, an American friend of mine went to Korea and had this experience. He tried to tell several jokes to a Korean audience, but he failed to get the response that he expected. So he said to a Korean friend of mine, "Look here, you Koreans are very dull. Nobody appreciated my jokes which I told this morning." "Well," said the Korean, "tell me one." "All right," said my American friend. "Have you ever heard about the big trees in California?" "Yes," replied the Korean. "I have read something about them." "You know," said my American friend, "the trees are so big that it takes three people to look at one. It takes one person to look at the top, another to look at the trunk, and still another to look at the bottom." "What?" asked the Korean, surprised. "Now," said my American friend, "you dull Koreans, you don't understand jokes." Whereupon the Korean said, "That's no joke; that's a lie."

Not knowing how to tell a joke, I will just tell you a few hard and dry facts.

Here is the resolution, which has been signed by 505 people—219 Korean preachers, 194 laymen and women, and 92 missionaries. It is a roll of 40 feet in length, and the resolution reads as follows:

"Resolved:

"1st. That we, the Second Joint Session of the East, Central and West Annual Conferences of the Korean Methodist Church, composed of 190 Full Members, 25 Probationers, 108 Associate Members, and 180 Lay Delegates, in session in Seoul on March 21, 1932, do hereby express our hearty appreciation to the Mother Churches in America for their benevolent work in Korea.

"2nd. That we sincerely request the Mother Churches to continue to help us with their spiritual experiences by sending their leaders to us as they have heretofore been doing.

"3rd. That we earnestly request the Mother Churches to send us more missionaries, both men and women, as the needs and opportunities have become greater in Korea in recent years."

There are three points in the resolution which I am going to explain to you briefly.

First, the resolution says that we appreciate the great work which our Mother Churches have done and are doing in Korea. The organization of the Korean Methodist Church did not come in any way for lack of appreciation of the work of our Mother Churches. The organization of the Korean Methodist Church was not for separation, but for union. It is the union of the north and south, the east and west, and men and women. The circumstances under which we have been laboring compelled us to have a united front, and we have believed that a united Methodism would be a great advance for the cause of Christ in Korea. So we presented the thought and you approved that we should be united in Korea, even though the consummation of the union of the two Mother Churches has been deferred. The first year's experience has shown that this thought on the matter has been justifiable, and we believe that the hand of God has guided us. But I must say right here that as soon as the two Mother Churches are united, we will come back into the great fold of Episcopal Methodism at once. This is not only personal feelings, but it is the common sentiment of all the Methodist people in Korea. The members of your Commission, Bishop Welch, Bishop Nicholson, Bishop Baker, Doctor Shaw, Doctor Sutherland, and Mrs. Avann, who helped to set up our Church in Korea, will certify what I am saying. We have made a few departures in polity from the Methodist tradition, but we believe that we are still an integral part of our Mother Churches. We do not believe in small groups of national churches, but we believe in the great Methodist Church of the whole world. We hope and pray that all the branches of Methodism may be united in one great family. May God hasten the day of great rejoicing in Israel!

Second, the resolution says that we request the Mother Churches to continue to send out leaders to impart spiritual experiences to us as heretofore. I have already stated that we do not regard ourselves as entirely independent of our Mother Churches in spirit or organization. We know that we need to share your expert knowledge of church work as well as your rich spiritual experiences. So we are yearning for your fellowship in the Christian experience, we are yearning for your partnership in the work of the kingdom of God, and we are yearning for your leadership in the plan of bringing the Korean people to the feet of Jesus Christ. Please continue to send as many good men and good women and as often as you can possibly afford. But above all, we want you to appoint a good Bishop regularly to us as you have been doing all these years. Your Bishops have done some wonderful works for us, which fact you know well. We hope you will send a good man like Bishop Welch and Bishop Baker. We need a Bishop on the field all the time, for obvious reasons.

The third point in the resolution is that we request the Mother Churches to send more missionaries, both men and women, to Korea. There are now 125 missionaries in Korea from the two Mission Boards, 90 women and 35 men. They have cast their lot with the Korean Methodist Church and become very important parts of the organization. As their work is so well known to you, I do not need to say much about them here, but I want to say that you have some wonderful missionaries in Korea. Whatever good has been done in Korea, all should be credited to them. The fruit of their labor is a hundredfold, yea a thousandfold! They are faithful and devoted Christian men and women who are worthy to represent the great Church and the great Saviour. If no other consideration had convinced me of the value of the Christian life, the Christlike work which the missionaries have done in Korea during the last forty-five years for the elevation of the Korean people would have made me Christian. I want to thank God and thank you for the service of the missionaries in Korea.

It may not be true, but I am afraid that the organization of an autonomous Church in Korea may have created a wrong impression that no more missionaries are needed. That is far from the truth. Missionaries are more needed in Korea to-day than ever before.

a. We need more missionaries for what has not yet been done. Some twenty years ago the two Methodist Boards solemnly agreed to take the responsibility of evangelizing certain sections of the country, about 28,000 square miles, which have a population of about six millions of people. Now, what has been done since? Methodism has won sixty thousand people for Christ up to date, that is to say, one per cent of the people whom Methodism has pledged to evangelize; and ninety-nine per cent are still waiting to be saved. Unless Methodism fulfills her responsibility and obligation, the six millions of people will not have a chance to hear the Gospel and to be saved. What a great responsibility Methodism has in Korea!

b. Then we need more missionaries for what has been done so far. Unless we have some more evangelistic missionaries in the districts which are superintended by the Korean preachers, no forward movement or pioneering work can be done.

All the Korean District Superintendents are, at the same time, pastors of large churches where they receive their salaries, so they have no sufficient time to look after the interests of the districts, which need close supervision. There are 26 districts, 19 of which are superintended by Korean preachers and 7 by missionaries. We must have two evangelistic missionaries—one man and one woman—for each of these districts.

c. Our institutions are doing very well so far. But they need more missionaries to re-enforce their staff, in order to carry on a full missionary program in them. The missionaries who are there now are so few and so tied up with the routine work which must be done that they have no time to do the work which the Christian institutions stand for. Our institutions must be kept Christian, not only in name but in fact also. Schools need Christ, hospitals need Christ, and stores and shops need Christ.

But without more missionaries, we cannot meet the urgent demands upon us.

Now let me tell you a very important fact in connection with missionary work in Korea. Some one of your statesmen has spoken lately on the world situation somewhat like this: "The Mediterranean Era died with the discovery of America. The Atlantic Era is subsiding since the World War. But the Pacific Era is just dawning, which will be the greatest of all Eras. During the next fifty years or more the eyes of the world will be centered around the Pacific basin." I think this is not a prophecy to be fulfilled, but it is an actual fact to be squarely faced. The whole world seems to be awakened to this fact and the statesmen of the world may spend some sleepless nights over this great problem. Right now the leaders of the nations are discussing this very problem at Geneva. The question is, whether communism, militarism, or Christianity shall rule the world. The entire humanity is at stake. Methodism at this crucial hour must do her best as she has been doing in the past, and an action of this General Conference may change the history of the world for the next fifty years. May God help you!

In the light of the present situation, we can see clearly that the peace and prosperity of the present world largely depend upon the peace and prosperity of the nations around the Pacific basin, and the peace and prosperity of these nations largely depend upon the condition of the Oriental countries, because more than half of the human race live there and all the major problems are centered there. But there seems to be no way to solve the problem. Justice and good will are the only means to permanent peace and prosperity, and these come only through Christian sources. If the Pacific Era is to be a good era for mankind, it must be made a Christian era; that is, Christ must be the Supreme Ruler. The Christianization of the Oriental countries seems to be the solution of the whole problem. It is a great task, and it is a world task. May God bless you, so that you may be able to carry out the world mission of Methodism!

Ralph B. Urmy, Chairman of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates:

Mr. President: The last fraternal delegate to be received this morning bears a name well known in this assembly. For a number of the sessions of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Dr. Hugh H. Cynn has been a lay delegate from our Church in Korea.

It is a matter of peculiar pleasure that one who has been a member of this body should come now duly accredited from that new Korean Methodist Church established so recently in the Far East.

I have great pleasure in presenting Hugh Cynn, Doctor of Laws, National Secretary of the Korean Young Men's Christian Association.

Bishop McConnell: I have great pleasure in presenting Doctor Cynn.

Fraternal Message of Dr. Hugh H. Cynn

As I stand before you this morning, I somehow have a guilty conscience without being guilty. I have the feeling of a young man or young son who met a young lady, eloped with her, got married, made a separate establishment for housekeeping, then came back to the parents' house and asked for the parents' blessing.

But the facts are far from the picture I have drawn. Four years ago, in Kansas City, the General Conference gave the blessing to the engagement. Two years later, in 1930, the Methodist Church sent a commission consisting of two Bishops, two ministers and a layman in addition to the Resident Bishop, to officiate at this wedding ceremony, and also to witness the union, together with the co-operation of a similar body appointed by the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

During these intervening months, we have struggled on in this new way of living, but we feel that the task is only half done. There are yet to be done a great many things, among which is the strengthening of the bond of union with the two Mother Churches in America. Perhaps my guilty conscience comes from the fear that there is some suspicion that underneath this union was a desire for separation and independence and freedom. As a matter of fact, the Methodists in Korea enjoyed the full freedom and independence as Methodists elsewhere. The necessity of uniting forces in Korea and meeting the needs of Korea and facing the onslaught of non-Christians brought about our union.

The same necessity compels us or impels us to hope that the Methodists not only in Korea or in the Far East, but Methodists everywhere shall bring about such a union that will unite the forces and make it a strong power for God and for humanity.

It gives me great pleasure and affords me great gratification to learn that so many Methodist bodies in this country have come to such a close understanding that in the near future a real organic union might be brought about. This, together with the Central Conference legislation that was enacted in Kansas City and the proposed Central Conference legislation before this Conference, gives us hope that the genius of Methodism will bring about certain organic relations that will be analogous to that that obtains in the British Empire. We are told that the British Empire is made up of nations, it is called a family of nations. Perhaps your genius and the genius of Methodists in other lands will work together for a family of churches under the banner of United Methodism.

In conclusion, I would like to revert back to Korea. Nearly fifty years ago you sent your messengers of the Gospel to Korea. They came to a simple people with simple problems. In those days, the problems of Korea and the Koreans were merely internal, but external forces from outside, and largely from the West, have been working on the Korean people. External forces of economics, of social theories, of political alignments, and so forth, they are.

It gives me much sadness to say that this vastness and the suddenness of the new problems have swamped the Koreans in the political world. Now the same difficult problems are confronting the church people in Korea. On the one hand, we are faced with autocracy; on the other hand, we are troubled with communism. On the one hand, we are troubled by fundamentalism, on the other hand, by modernism.

All these new problems are giving us lots of trouble, making our task tremendously more difficult. It requires almost a superhuman leadership. It requires unlimited resources to combat these new difficulties.

So my plea with you is this: You sent us Miss Fryes and Miss Clintons in the early days, and later you sent us Herbert Welches and James Bakers. We still want and we must have more of the leadership that was given in the early days. With our puny hands and empty stomachs, the task is too difficult for us, yet with the help of God and with the assistance of the Mother Church in this country, we feel that we are not going to be swamped as we have in the political realm. We are going to come out victorious in this religious realm. We are going to win our victory for God and for man.

THE AFRICAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

See Journal, Page 264

W. A. C. Hughes, Member of the Committee on Fraternal Delegates:

Mr. Chairman: When I go to a great white church and observe its massive grandeur, I say to myself: Religion is an art. If I am permitted to sit through an hour of worship, I leave the church feeling that religion is a cultural aspect of the white man's life.

When I go to my own church and hear my people pouring out their sufferings in their songs, when I find the anguish of their souls expressed in melody and rhythm that carries them to glory, I go away from that church with the feeling that religion is life itself. The fervor and the emotional nature of the early Methodists and Baptists appealed to my race so that these two denominations have ninety-five per cent of all Negro church members. I have told you that Methodism in America has about four million followers among my people. We still hold to the fervor and the hearty "Amen" and the "Hallelujah" of the Asburys and the Whitefields, holding to these until your return, which we hope will not be long.

The largest Negro denomination of Methodists is the African Methodist Episcopal Church, with more than a half million members. The Rev. J. R. Saint Felix Isaacs, pastor of the First African Methodist Episcopal Church of Los Angeles, California, will bring the greetings of that denomination to you at this time.

FRATERNAL ADDRESS OF THE REV. J. R. SAINT FELIX ISAACS

Mr. Chairman, Bishops, Fathers, and Brethren Beloved: I present myself before you to-day as the Fraternal messenger from the African Methodist Episcopal Church to convey to you, the Mother Church assembled here in your quadrennial conclave, greetings and felicitations of the membership, ministerial and lay, of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, I, though unworthy, feel myself highly honored in being selected to be the bearer of this message.

This distinguished audience, graced by the presence of your venerable college of Bishops and honored by the spirit and presence of Godly Fathers and brethren in the gospel, presents a picture similar to the one from which I have come—the General Conference of our Church, assembled in Cleveland, Ohio.

It is very significant that several major bodies of the Church of Jesus Christ meet simultaneously in different parts of the country this month. Each one represents a lofty height on which it stands to make its observations of the depth from which it has come and the conditions over which it has traversed to attain these heights, and from this vantage point of experience and opportunity looks backward through the reports that have been made of the progress of the Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ for the past four years, and from this very vantage point estimates the distance, height and progress to be attained spiritually and materially four years hence. This is truly a time for retrospection of the past, meditation for the present, and forecast or prediction for the future. Truly may we say with the "Sainted Charles Wesley":

Preserved by power Divine
To full salvation here,
Again in Jesus' praise we join,
And in his sight appear.

What troubles have we seen,
  What conflicts have we passed,
Fightings without, and fears within,
  Since we assembled last;

But out of all the Lord
  Hath brought us by his love;
And still he doth his help afford,
  And hides our life above.

Over the past we have looked with penitent and humble gratitude, and the present with firm and holy resolution and to the future with calm and earnest hope.

The African Methodist Episcopal Church mourns with you the passing of seven of your chief pastors in the persons of:

Bishops: L. B. Wilson, J. C. Hartzell, Theodore S. Henderson, Joseph F. Berry, Isaiah B. Scott, William O. Shepard, Richard J. Cooke.

These men have served well their God, their Country, the Church of Jesus Christ and humanity and have gone to inherit that crown which the Righteous Judge has reserved for those who have been faithful unto the end. That same messenger, death, has visited the bench of Bishops of the African Methodist Episcopal Church and has called from labor to their reward four Bishops in the persons of Bishops J. A. Johnson, John Hurst, Archibald J. Carey and Abraham L. Gaines. They have all fallen at the post of duty in the full triumph of faith. The passing of these leaders in both your Church and ours has emphasized the fact that God is no respecter of persons and we should be thankful that they, along with the large number from the ranks of the ministry and the laity, who have preceded us in the race of life will receive the "well done, good and faithful servant" from Him whom they served.
